SOCIETY ATTENDS WESTCHESTER FAIR

William Rockefeller and Other Notables Among the Exhibitors at Big Show That Attracts Thousands

EXCELLENT RACING CARD.

Trotters Will Claim a Large Share of Attention, While Millionaire Firemen Will Be Seen in Tournament Events—Babies Entered

(Special to The Evening World.)

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Sept. 29.—The Westchester County Fair opened to-day, giving promise of a record exhibit and some fine trotting. The affair is to last until Saturday, but the throngs that began arriving early to-day and kept crowding the grounds this afternoon tells the keen anticipation of the people for their annual show.

As the horse show has been cut out, the racing will be the principal feature each day, to-day's card being exceptionally attractive. The schedule of track events follows:

To-Day's Racing Card.

2.14 Pace; Purse $300—Direct Fire, Thomas W. Murphy, of Mineola; Edmund, owned by Andrew Rohr, of Ossining; Tommy H., owned by T. H. Hart, of Hartsdale; Sloppy Weather, owned by Clarence Ware, of Mount Vernon; Annie Hothard, owned by E. D. Hallenbeck, of New York, and Susie G., F. D. Leroy, Tarrytown.

2.29 Trot; Purse $250.—Orphan Girl, owned by A. C. Hexamer, Stamford, Conn.; Faxie Belle, owned by Edward Calcagny, of Troy; Maggie Meyer, owned by C. O. Ganafraut, of West Nyack; Drone, owned by G. B. Lyons, of Englewood; Miss Hebbard, owned by J. F. Cockerel, of New York; Del Greggar, owned by D. W. Maloney, of White Plains; Manaloa, owned by Bob Davis, of Mineola; Alta Ford, A. T. Miller, of White Plains.

Society There.

The county fair is always the closing event for society people who live in big mansions along the Hudson and Sound, just before they leave for their town houses in the city, and a number of house parties have been planned. The younger set think it great sport to visit the fair and mingle with the crowd of country people while being "stuck" by a fakir or betting a couple of dollars on the races.

They will accordingly turn out in full force at the grounds, many arriving to-day in four-in-hand coaches, automobiles and other traps, to study cattle and vegetables and to visit the fakirs' stands and race track.

Millionaire Firemen.

An interesting feature of the fair will be Fireman's Day, which will be held to-morrow, when $350 cash prices will be offered in different competitions. The members of the Larchmont Hook and Ladder Company and the Union Hook and Ladder Company, of White Plains, which enjoy the distinction of having near a dozen millionaires as members, will take part in the carnival.

The fire chiefs in charge of the affair comprise Maynew W. Denison, of the Larchmont Millionaire Fire Department; Gilbert G. Angevine, of Mount Vernon, Chiefs Paulding, of White Plains, and Muicaney, of Yonkers.

On Saturday there will be a baby show and special prizes of silver cups and gold pins will be awarded to the prettiest girl and boy babies by competent judges. Mrs. C. Alvord, of Syracuse, wrote to Secretary E. B. Long, of the fair association, asking permission to be one of the judges of the babies as she takes a great interest in such affairs, and she has been invited to be present.

Rockefeller Exhibits.

Alfred Sweet, who has a large stock-farm at Glens Falls, has three carloads of fowl, horses and cattle at the fair, and is competing in nearly every class against the exhibits of a number of rich Westchester people.

Dean Ferris, of Peekskill; Howard Willets, the Westchester Horse Show patron, and William Rockefeller are among the other exhibitors. Thomas L. Watts, President of the Harlem River Bank, who lives at Scarsdale, has entries of cattle, while his daughters, the Misses Grace and Anna Watts, who are handy with the brush, have on exhibition a number of water-colors and fancy needlework, and will strive to win first prizes.

Miss Adelle Le Quin shows some of her hand-painted china; Miss Fannie Lester competes with the Misses Watts with water-colors, while Mrs. James S. Snedeker, William Rockefeller, Mrs. Nelson Puff, of Nyack, and other women have exhibits in Floral Hall.

An attraction of the fair this year is the exhibition of school work. The different schools in the county selected their best work and have it arranged in Floral Hall. To-day is children's day, when all under twelve years of age are admitted free. State Superintendent Charles R. Skinner is present and delivers an address.

Some Attractions.

There are twenty-five acres of buildings and tents, and in addition to a score of fakirs there is a wild man from Borneo, a long-haired monster, African dodgers, merry-go-rounds and a fruit column sixty feet high. This column contains tons of fruit and vegetables and is capped by a sheaf of wheat, while furled to the breeze from its centre is an American flag. The mainshaft of the column, made of pumpkins, beets and corn, is four feet in diameter, while at the very top are some big Bartlett pears that grew near White Plains.

The officers of the Westchester Fair Association comprise the following:

President, Moses W. Taylor, Mount Pleasant; Vice-President, George L. Miller, White Plains; Secretary, Edward B. Long, White Plains; Treasurer, Joseph B. See, North Castle; Directors, James H. Moran, White Plains; David A. Weed, Scarsdale; Theodore F. Tompkins, Yorktown Heights; Nicholas B. Brewster, White Plains; Samuel C. Miller, White Plains; Patrick Whelan, Yonkers; Finance Committee, William A. Sammis, White Plains; Livingston R. Purdy, White Plains; Alfred Romer, Tarrytown, N. Y.; Board of Managers, Mayne W. Taylor, Hawthorne; George L. Miller, White Plains; Edward B. Long, White Plains; Joseph B. See, Valhalla; James H. Moran, White Plains; David A. Weed, Scarsdale; Samuel C. Miller, White Plains; Nicholas B. Brewster, White Plains; Patrick Whelan, Yonkers; Theodore F. Tompkins, Yorktown Heights.

LOTS OF BUTTONS FOR LINDINGER

He Doesn't Look Upon His Candidacy for the Tammany Nomination for Sheriff as a Joke, Say His Friends.

Who said Fritz Lindinger looked upon his candidacy for the Tammany nomination for Sheriff as a good joke?" demanded the fat gentleman who is known as the press agent for the new President of the State Liquor Dealers' Association, and the press agent produced a document which said that the United German Societies, in which 151 organizations were joined, had indorsed Lindinger as "the logical candidate."

A Lindinger campaign paper has the glaring headline over a biography of its candidate: "Low Foredoomed to Defeat if Hon. Fritz Lindinger is Placed on the Democratic Ticket for Sheriff." It is explained in the sub-head that "to Mr. Lindinger is due the credit of bringing about conditions which will insure Democratic victory, and he has the support of German and American organizations with 200,000 voters." Anyway, Max A. Cramer carries a big pocketful of Lindinger buttons about him.

* * *

Chairman Mark A. Hanna, of the Republican National Committee, has the power to appoint a successor to the late Frederick S. Gibbs on the committee for the State of New York, and he will probably name George R. Sheldon, on the recommendation of Senator Platt.

* * *

Sheldon is the Wall street broker who was pictured on a hundred thousand fine campaign buttons as Odell's running mate last year, on Platt's promise that he should have the nomination for Lieutenant-Governor. The buttons were all ready for distribution and an Evening World reporter got one before the convention. But Odell wouldn't have it. He flatly refused to run with Sheldon, and Higgins was nominated. The beautiful buttons went into the scrap heap.

* * *

"How soon we are forgotten," was the mournful discovery of Rip Van Winkle, and John B. Sexton, leader for a dozen years of the Tammanyites of the Nineteenth, would have echoed Rip's sad cadence had he dropped in on the meeting of more than 2,000 of his former followers at the jubilee of his lately successful rival, James J. Hagan, with ex-Chamberlain T. C. T. Crain presiding, and his own former lieutenant, William A. Switzer, the chief speaker. A campaign committee was appointed by the new leader, composed of George Forms, Willis B. Dowd, James H. Warneck, James J. Hagan, Eugene L. Bushe, Michael F. Magee, T. C. T. Crain and Charles A. Brady.

* * *

One of Shakespeare's characters says something about events crowding each other so fast that one kicks another's chilblain. While the rest of the backers of Fusion are "cussing" Jerome, its most potent force in the campaign of 1901, and Fulton is writing to Rev. Paddock that he is a mental and physical wreck, ex-Senator Clarence Lexow, whose committee in 1894 exposed the Tammany of that day so as to make the first Fusion successful against Tammany, is "turned down" and turned out by the Republicans of Rockland County by more than two to one. Lexow has been the leader for years, but ex-Congressman A. S. Tompkins beat him in the primaries this time by 1,023 to 465.

* * *

The William Henkel Republican Club is going to try to give the Republican voters of Murphy's own an insight into the rudiments, so they can vote for Robert Fulton Cutting for Alderman against Alderman "Jim" Gaffney. A school for voters, such as Tammany has in every district, will be opened Oct. 9. Booths and sample ballots will be provided, and first voters and new citizens will be instructed how to vote.

* * *

The withdrawal of his declination of another term as Alderman by James Owens, of the Thirty-seventh Aldermanic District, makes dough of the cake for Martin J. Kane, "Tom" McClatchey and about a dozen aspirants who were making life a burden to Deputy Attorney-General John F. Cowan, the new leader of the south half of the Thirty-fourth Assembly District, in which the district lies. It is an unwritten law that a renomination is due once to every man.

* * *

There isn't a ghost of a show for the Republican candidate in this district, yet Aqueduct Commissioner William H. Ten Eyck, the Republican leader, has about a dozen followers who would like to try for it against Alderman Owens.

* * *

Out of the political fog which has penetrated even the Thirty-second Assembly District has been wafted the rumor that Stephen Hanley, Secretary of the Miami Democratic Club, is about to take the matrimonial plunge.

A committee of the following was appointed to investigate the rumor and report to Leader James J. Frawley: Peter Burns, Daniel Shea, Nat Rosenberg, Vincent Ganley and John Skelly, President of the Miami Club. Through a little third degree persuasion they secured a confirmation of the rumor from Mr. Hanley himself, but they are unable to discover who the fair one involved is.

It was rumored at the Club last night that Leader James J. Frawley has selected Alderman John Dietz to run again this fall. In view of the genial Alderman's popularity the people of his district regard it as 100 to 1 that his shining countenance will again grace the assemblage of the City Fathers.

ENGINEER'S BURNS FATAL.

Edward Ackerman, an engineer, was mortally burned by the bursting of a steam pipe on the tug Thomas Slattery early to-day. He is now in the Long Island College Hospital, where the doctors say he can live only a short time.

The tug was lying at the north pier, Atlantic dock. Ackerman was working at the machinery early to-day when one of the steam pipes broke. The room was filled with steam and when the engineer was dragged out his legs and body were frightfully scalded.

HEADACHE

"My father had been a sufferer from sick headache for the last twenty-five years and never found any relief until he began taking your Cascarets. Since he has begun taking Cascarets he has never had the headache. They have entirely cured him. Cascarets do what you recommend them to do. I will give you the privilege of using his name." E.M. The New ANGELUS Causes a Factory Clean-Up

Fifty-eight Splendid Piano Players More Than a Hundred Dollars Under-Price

The new Angelus Piano Player, just perfected a few months ago, has stirred up the factory to hurry out all the earlier models. Not "old" models, mark you—we've cleaned out the factory several times—the last time just two months ago.

This new group is composed largely of the style about which we were extremely enthusiastic last Spring. The cases are handsome. The famous Angelus expression devices are all on them. In fact, some of the new improvements of the last model, such as the factory could apply, have been made on these instruments before sending them to us.

About a dozen of the piano-players have the famous Angelus reed combination, so much admired by those who like the long notes with the shorter piano notes. These were formerly $275. The others were $250.

Today you may secure one of these splendid instruments—far superior to any other piano-players on the market excepting only the NEW Angelus—

For $145

If you have a dead piano at home, and have been hesitating to buy an Angelus because of the cost, this is your great opportunity.

If your old piano is unsatisfactory, we will take it in exchange at its actual value, and make an additional allowance of $25 on the combined price of a new piano with one of these Angelus Piano Players. Piano Store, Fifth floor.
