ASKS $25,000 FOR BROKEN HEART

Miss Nellie Keller, Formerly a Trained Nurse, Sues John H. Stinson, a Soldier, for Breach of Promise.

HE DISAPPEARED, AND SHE FEARS HE IS WED.

"Age Meant Nothing to Us," She Says; "He Always Was Sympathetic and Our Tastes Were the Same."

Some modern philosopher, allowing his playful fancy to dwell upon the uncertain pranks of the little winged myth with the love-tipped arrows, said that when the passion of love entered the breast of man or woman, discrepancy of age counted for naught. Miss Nellie Keller, formerly a trained nurse, and a woman who is said to have passed the half-century mark, believes in that erotic philosophy and because her heart has been damaged by the protestations of John H. Stinson, one of the young men who fought for his country in the Spanish war, she demands $25,000.

In an appeal for justice Miss Keller says that, as the man whose perfidy has made her a patient in the hospital where she was formerly a nurse, has changed his god of love for a god of money he ought to suffer and be made by the courts to reimburse her for the wealth of affection she bestowed upon him. Miss Keller yesterday filed papers in the Supreme Court for a breach of promise.

"Age Meant Nothing to Us."

"Oh, the perfidy of man!" cries Miss Keller in the anguish of her lacerated affections. "I am so upset because the man who for months told me his love with the warmth and fervor of a romantic suitor left me for another. Yes, I fear it is true he is married. And almost up to the day of his treachery he poured into my ears those words that a woman who can love wants most to hear. Age meant nothing to us. The soul capable of a grand affection knows no age."

Stinson is an employee of the Custom-House and lived until a short time ago at No. 117 West Ninety-sixth street. Then suddenly he disappeared. He told his landlady he was going to marry a Paterson girl and hoped ever after to be a happy man. Miss Keller had been in the habit of meeting Stinson near his home. His sudden disappearance confirmed a fear that had been gnawing at her heart for some little time.

The summons and complaint tell the story of the fervid wooing of the soldier. They tell of glorious nights with a full silvery moon casting his love-light upon banks of flowers and wafting the very breath of happiness into their hearts. The crickets chirped and even the chug of the ferry-boats that ply the broad bosom of the Hudson helped some for the romantic setting.

Under a Hypnotic Spell.

Then it was that the warrior clasped her hand and told her that love knows no calendar of births and deaths. The hypnotic spell of that love-inspiring night was too much for Miss Keller and she said "yes."

"For two years we saw each other constantly," Miss Keller says. "Always he was sympathetic and kindly. Our tastes were the same."

And there are exhibits to be introduced that will make interesting reading to Stinson. In one letter he bewails the few hours that have passed since he saw "her." A show and a supper later in the week will appease the suffering of their absent hearts, he tells her.

The other letters teem with endearments and declarations, calling for appointments and meetings in trysting-places. Kisses are forwarded with a recklessness and generosity that makes the present very bleak for the woman who has been prostrated by the unfaithfulness of her soldier suitor.

Miss Keller frankly admits that it is not "better to have loved and lost than never to have loved at all."

BIG PARADE, ONLY ONE BAND.

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—The marchers in the big centennial parade to-night will be compelled to tramp over the route without a musical note to cheer them. The Musicians' Union positively refused to take part in the parade or to have anything whatever to do with the centennial celebration if the Marine Band of Washington is to play at the mass-meeting in the Auditorium on Thursday night, which is to be the final act of the celebration.

The union declared that its constitution forbids its members to have anything to do with an event in which enlisted men in the Government service take part. The Committee of Arrangements informed the union that the invitation to the Marine Band would stand no matter what action was taken by the local musicians. The union answered that it could not recede.

It was promptly decided by the committee to go ahead, with or without music. The playing by the Marine Band Thursday night will therefore be the only music of the celebration.

SHE WOULD NOT FEED NEGRO.

PROVIDENCE, Sept. 29.—Annie Dunleavy, white, and George Jones, a negro, were fellow employees of the Hotel Hallett in this city. When Jones asked the woman to bring him his dinner to-day, she replied:

"Go to the chopping-block in the kitchen and get what the cook left there for you. I won't carry victuals to a black man."

Jones threw all the dishes at her that he could reach. One hit the woman. The negro then fled from the city.

TIME FOR A NEW HAT.

And Young's Is a Popular Kind to Get.

Fall has arrived. The calendar says so and the weather man supports the statement. With summer's exit there should be a corresponding movement on the part of summer wearables. Firstly the hat—that straw top piece has seen its best days and the smart derby or the graceful Alpine should take its proper place.

When one thinks of a hat they naturally associate the name of Young's with it. The long familiar sight of seven of Young's hat stores and the familiar sight the name-plate in the greater percentage of men's hats is a natural cause for this wide-spread confidence on the part of local inhabitants. Those whose minds ought to be refreshened with the fact Young's hat establishments can be found at No. 193, No. 603, No. 849, No. 1197 and No. 1359 Broadway, No. 506 Fifth avenue, or in Brooklyn at No. 371 Fulton street.

FORMER TRAINED NURSE WHO ASKS $25,000 FOR BREACH OF PROMISE.

APPLY TORCH TO ADIRONDACK CAMP

Incendiaries Imperil Lives of John C. Freund and Family to Take Revenge on Owner of Buildings.

OLD FORGE, N. Y., Sept. 29.—John C. Freund, a New York musical publisher, and his family had a narrow escape from being burned to death when the lodge he had rented for the summer at Island Camp, on Raquette Lake, was fired by incendiaries.

The nine occupants of the house were asleep when flames burst simultaneously from every building in the camp. Mr. Freund and the members of his household were lucky to escape in their nightclothes.

They were taken in boats to a neighboring camp and clothed by residents of the vicinity. The incendiaries are thought to have escaped in canoes after applying the torch.

It is not believed that the incendiaries were moved by hostility toward Mr. Freund, but toward the owner of the camp from whom he leases. Mr. Freund, his wife and two children and Miss Marjorie King of New York, three servants and two guides were occupying Island Camp, which consists of one large building and half a dozen smaller houses.

The camp is owned by Jerome Wood, superintendent of William Carnegie's preserve on Raquette Lake.

Mr. Wood has incurred the hostility of the woodsmen, and for several months he and his wife have lived in constant dread. Because of the feeling against them they gave up their camp and lived on the Carnegie estate, where they would enjoy the protection of the woodsmen employed there.

Coming so soon after the murder of Orrando P. Dexter, the burning of Island Camp has greatly increased the uneasiness of millionaire residents of the Adirondacks, and many of them have expressed a determination not to again visit their estates until the State takes vigorous measures to guarantee their safety.

ASTOR GIVES AUTO TO NEWPORT POLICE CHIEF.

That Functionary Doubts Whether He Can Accept the Gift with Propriety.

NEWPORT, Sept. 29.—Col. John Jacob Astor has given an automobile to Chief of Police "Ben" Richards, of this city. With the present was a note saying that it was in recognition of Richards's good work in protecting the cottage colony. The automobile is a powerful machine, fashionable in looks and up to date in mechanism.

Richards is in doubt whether the official proprieties will permit him to accept it. He has been taking lessons lately in the management of an automobile. There is no doubt that Col. Astor's motor would aid him in the performance of his duties. Whether the Chief will accept the gift or not could not be learned last night, for he left town yesterday afternoon.

President Jere W. Horton, of the Police Commission, said he could see no reason why Richards should feel compunctions about it.

Patrick J. Boyle, Mayor of Newport, said to-night he regretted that the Chief of Police had accepted the gift of an automobile from Col. Astor, and that he hoped he would return it. In the opinion of the Mayor, no city officials should accept any presents or favors from the people they serve.

Prominent Pupils at Smith.

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Sept. 29.—The entering class at Smith College, which opens on Thursday, will include a daughter of Col. Abe Gruber, the New York lawyer and politician; a daughter of William Blaikie, the author; a daughter of Mary Hartwell Catherwood, and two grand-daughters of Mrs. Lydia Pinkham.

DE LAVAULX TELLS OF BALLOON TRIP

"One of Most Magnificent I Ever Had, Getting Delightful Glimpses of England as We Sailed Toward Yorkshire."

LONDON, Sept. 29.—Count Henry De la Vaulx, the intrepid French aeronaut, with his companions—Count Hadeln of Quitremont, a well known Belgian balloonist, and Mr. Voyet—made light to The World correspondent of their remarkable aerial flight from Paris across the English Channel to Holderness, in Yorkshire—360 miles—in seventeen hours and three-quarters.

"We were greatly disappointed," Count De la Vaulx said, "that a change of wind compelled us to descend in Yorkshire, as we had hoped to continue our journey to Scotland.

"Our balloon—which is a double one, the outer envelope inclosing another—went splendidly and the trip was one of the most magnificent I have ever enjoyed.

"We reached the Channel at 1 A. M. and crossed in one hundred and ten minutes (an hour and fifty minutes). Then we floated over Kent, when the wind took us across the Thames between Greenwich and Chatham, then over the eastern counties, where we had delightful glimpses of rural England.

"When we reached the Wash the wind showed signs of shifting, but we held on until the strip of land between us and the sea grew so narrow we should soon have been out over the North Sea. So we descended.

"The greatest height we reached was 6,000 feet. The ascent was nothing in point of height but, thanks to a favorable wind, it was very interesting. We had 230 kilos (about 500 pounds) of sand still in the car when we descended.

"Our original plan was to merely cross the Channel, but the conditions were so favorable we then hoped to go the whole length of England and make the trip from Paris to Scotland."

The aeronauts were dressed in furlined coats and soft brown felt hats. They intend to try again to accomplish the feat.

Count De la Vaulx has been called the champion balloonist because he has broken several ballooning records.

Three years ago he established his claim to the long-distance championship by sailing 1,153 miles in thirty-five and three-quarter hours, going from Paris to Korostichev, Russia. Part of the way the balloon was swept along at an eighty-five mile gait. The Count said afterward he could have gone to the Ural Mountains had he not been anxious to return to Paris for a competition.

Two years ago he broke another record by remaining in the air more than forty-one hours. This was in one of his two unsuccessful attempts to cross the Mediterranean from France to Algeria.

Santos-Dumont and Count De la Vaulx naturally are keen rivals, and their rivalry has developed into a mutual bitterness, which a year ago threatened to culminate in a gossip had it, in a duel.

Mr. and Mrs. George Gould made an ascension three years ago with Count De la Vaulx from St. Cloud in one of the aeronaut's largest balloons, remaining in the air two hours.

TYPE FOUNDERS STRIKE.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 29.—The employees in the Cincinnati branch of the American Typefounders' Company struck yesterday on orders from the headquarters in Chicago.

The men say that at noon an agreement was presented at the foundries throughout the country, and that a national strike was inaugurated because the company refused to accede.

The proposition that caused the strike reads:

"There shall be no discrimination against union men, and any journeyman who may be given employment to fill any vacancy or to increase the force shall be a member of the International Typographical Union, provided the union is able to furnish such journeymen."

The company say they are willing to concede all that is asked regarding wages and hours, but that they will not consent to relinquishing jurisdiction of their plants.

SPRCKELS SUED BY HIS DAUGHTER

He Will Oppose Her Attempt to Recover $400,000 by Alleging, It Is Said, that She Is Not Legally Thos. Watson's Wife.

HONOLULU, Sept. 29.—A sensational move has been made by the attorneys of Claus Spreckels in the suit which his daughter, Mrs. Thomas Watson, has brought for the recovery of property valued at $400,000 which she conveyed to her father shortly after her marriage to Watson in 1894. Mr. Spreckels's attorneys allege that Mr. Watson had been previously married in 1869 and that the divorce which he secured in Utah in 1876 was illegal and that consequently his second marriage, that which united him to Miss Spreckels, is void.

When the children of Claus Spreckels came of age he divided the greater portion of his property among them, but he never relinquished his right to dictate what they should do with the money. During this time "Tom" Watson, as he was known in San Francisco, was a friend of all the members of the family, and particularly of Claus Spreckels.

Watson was an elderly man with two grown sons, and the thought that he was in love with the only daughter of Claus Spreckels never entered the minds of the father or brothers of the girl. When they heard of the courtship the whole family united in opposition.

Went Off and Got Married.

The Dutch determination that characterized her father, however, seemed a prominent feature of the daughter's character, too, and one day she and Watson went quietly to San Jose and were married. They wrote to Spreckels asking forgiveness and the parental blessings and received no reply.

In a short time everybody on the coast began to talk about the marriage and to comment on the luck of "Tom" Watson, who had won such a great fortune with his young bride. The envious exaggerated his poverty, and it seemed that not a soul believed he had married the girl for herself and not for her money.

The bride and her elderly husband talked the matter over, and she decided to return the fortune her father had given her, and Watson is reported to have agreed.

Gave Back Fortune.

A letter was despatched to the father and to this Claus Spreckels replied by sending a lawyer and a notary empowered to transact the business. Mrs. Watson transferred the property and felt happy.

Shortly after this Watson and his wife went to Lower Kingsford, Surrey, England, to reside. Watson is an Englishman by birth, and is now chairman of the Parish Council.

Perhaps Mrs. Watson did not expect her father to take her at her word when she volunteered to return his fortune. At any rate, with the passing of time Mrs. Watson began to sigh for the fortune she had tossed away, and finally, in July last, she came to Honolulu and instituted suit against her father to regain possession of a business block valued at $400,000 and also for $100,000 damages for being deprived of the rents for five years.

Based on Hawaiian Law.

Her suit was based on the Hawaiian law by which it is provided that no wife may deed over her property to any one without the sanction and signature of her husband. At the time Mrs. Watson turned back the property to her father Mr. Watson did not sign the deed.

HANNA THE ISSUE IN OHIO.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 29.—Charles P. Salen, Chairman of the Ohio Democratic State Committee, replying to Chairman Dick's letter sent from Columbus, says in part:

"The paramount issue of the Senatorial contest in this campaign is the public record of Senator N. A. Hanna and his unfitness by reason thereof to be returned to the Senate. If you are not aware that John H. Clarke has attacked his public record and joined issue with the present Senator upon his record, first, in fathering the Ship Subsidy bill, which seeks to take from the people's treasury $10,000,000 annually, and put it into the treasury of the steamship companies; second, in forcing through the Legislature the reactionary and expensive municipal code, which denies home rule to the cities of the State; and, third, in using his official position to secure for himself and associates franchise privileges to the injury of the people—you can get this information by inquiring of Senator Hanna himself.

"He is on record as saying that his public record has been outrageously attacked, and that when he goes upon the platform he will have something to say about it. I have asked you to arrange that Mr. Clarke may be present when he says it. You decline for reasons that would be readily guessed if you did not assert that candor compels you to give the real reason for declining a joint discussion."

EARL'S MOTHER BANKRUPT.

LONDON, Sept. 29.—The Bankruptcy Division of the High Court of Justice has made a receiving order against the Dowager Countess of Rosslyn, mother of the Earl of Rosslyn. Her liabilities are stated to exceed £50,000, in addition to which she is heavily indebted to a bank.

PRECINCT "ROTTEN," SAYS MAGISTRATE

Zeller Denounces Police Rule in West 125th Street and Says He Proposes to Complain to Commissioner Greene.

The growing dissatisfaction of City Magistrates with police methods was manifested again to-day when Magistrate Zeller denounced the West One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street precinct as "rotten" and proclaimed his purpose of complaining to Commissioner Greene. All of this grew out of an experience he had last night.

He was on a Lenox avenue car bound uptown from One Hundred and Sixteenth street when two drunken women got aboard. They sat alongside another woman whose respectability appeared to irritate them. With the apparent intention of annoying her they began to tell stories more appropriate to a gathering of men in a barroom than to the company present.

Policeman Ignores Disturbance.

The woman moved to another seat and was abused with a flood of profanity. There was a policeman in uniform on the car, but he paid no attention to the disturbance.

Magistrate Zeller, boiling with indignation, ordered the policeman to arrest the women. The policeman laughed at him. Then the Magistrate made known his identity, whereupon the policeman placed the women under arrest.

"Have them in Harlem Court in the morning," ordered the Magistrate, "and I will prefer a charge against them myself."

The women did not appear in court to-day and Magistrate Zeller sent over to the West One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street station to find out about it. He learned that the policeman had taken the women to the station-house, but that no charge was entered against them on the blotter.

Magistrate Will Prefer Charges.

Sergt. John J. O'Brien, who was on the desk when the women were taken to the station-house, was ordered by the Magistrate to appear in the court with explanations. He said the policeman had refused to make a charge and that nothing remained for him to do but send them home.

"You get out and rearrest those women," said the Magistrate. "Order that policeman to appear before me this afternoon at 2 o'clock."

Then he took Sergt. O'Brien into his private office and told him some things about the West Twenty-fifth street precinct, which he pronounced one of the "rottenest in the city." He said that he would prefer charges against the policeman and perhaps against the sergeant.

CLEANED A GIRL'S LUNG.

STAMFORD, Conn., Sept. 29.—Miss Lizzie Gremmel, of Exeter, N. H., died Sunday night in the Stamford Hospital after undergoing a unique operation, hoping for a cure of tuberculosis.

Miss Gremmel was twenty-eight years of age, the daughter of a rich man. She contracted tuberculosis while preparing for a musical life. After trying all remedies in vain, as a last resort she submitted on Sept. 5 to a desperate operation by which her right lung was opened, the cavities cleaned and drainage of the lung established.

The operation was performed by Dr. Biggs, of Stamford; Dr. Roland Hagen and Dr. Frederick Whitehorn, of New York, and Drs. E. E. Rowell, jr., and Root, of Stamford.

Miss Gremmel rallied, and for a time she was able to sit in an invalid's chair on the hospital veranda. A few days ago there was a change for the worse and she sunk rapidly. Her whole system seemed to be poisoned.

POPE TO LEAVE VATICAN?

ROME, Sept. 29.—According to the Tribuna, Pius X., on receiving the abbot of the celebrated Monastery of Monte Cassini, in the Campania, said:

"We shall soon meet, most reverend father, at Monte Cassini."

Then, observing the effect that his words produced—an impression that he would some day leave the Vatican precincts—he added:

"Pray, for all things are obtained by prayer."

The Pope is also said to have told the abbot of the Benedicine Monastery at Cava dei Tirriene, near Salerno, that he himself would inaugurate the jubilee of the Immaculate conception.
