Mrs. Olney's Discovery.

The wife of the secretary of state has found a new use for the special delivery stamp that is really Yankeelike in its ingenuity. The authorities had never heard of such a thing until Mrs. Olney started it, and it may prove useful knowledge to others. Mrs. Olney had a daughter living abroad. Letters from her were always received just too late to be answered by return steamer of the same date. After puzzling over it some time, Mrs. Olney, who was living in Boston at the time, queried the postoffice authorities as to whether a special delivery stamp placed on a letter mailed in a foreign country would be delivered any quicker for it on this side. The answer finally came that unless the special stamp was canceled before it landed here it ought to be delivered as any other letter similarly stamped. Accordingly one of the United States special delivery stamps was placed on the next letter mailed in Germany to Mrs. Olney. Under it in German was the direction, "This stamp is not to be canceled in Germany." The scheme worked perfectly. The letter arrived ahead of the time of previous ones, and answer was sent back by steamer sailing the same day. Many letters have since been sent in the same manner, and the special stamp does its work as desired. It is possible, of course, to state that when a letter goes from this side Mrs. Olney's plan doesn't work.—Washington Post.

Do You See Through This One?

The horse editor sneered.

"No," he repeated, "I fail to understand what is the practical utility of these cathode rays they are talking about."

"Why," retorted the snake reporter, who was a very envious person, "people will now be able possibly to see through newspaper jokes."—Detroit Tribune.
