MOTOR SALES CORPORATION ANNOUNCE THE

ARRIVAL OF

SAXON "SIX"

A big touring car for five people

Those who have ridden in the best of the high priced motor cars will find marked similarity in the performance of Saxon "Six." Idling as low as a mile and a half an hour or racing at fifty the flow of power is smooth and vibrationless. The motor has been refined until it wrings the last inch of mileage from each drop of gasoline. Twenty-one to twenty-six miles per gallon is its average.

In this car you will find more roominess than is common in cars of equal wheelbase—112 inches. The seats are wide and restful. There's more usual leg-length. All five passengers have ample space. Comfortable upholstery and long resilient springs and cantilever springs contribute further to the luxury and comfort of riding in Saxon "Six." The price is $875 f. o. b. Detroit.
