DRENCH BROKERS AS RIOT GOES ON

Traders Who Joined Messenger Boys in an Attack on Push-Cart Men Deluged with Water from Windows Above.

THE ENTIRE FINANCIAL DISTRICT IN AN UPROAR.

The Police Reserves Were Called Out, but They Did Not Arrive Until After Carts Had Been Wrecked.

The reserves from the Old Slip station and police stationed throughout the financial district were called out this afternoon to quell a riot in New street occasioned by a clash between the push-cart men and an army of brokers and messenger boys.

The trouble started when Arterxerxes Phillipopolis, a Greek peanut peddler, caught James McGinnis, A. D. T. No. 7632, in the act of purloining a handful of nuts. Arterxerxes forthwith kicked McGinnis in the slack of the trousers. Five seconds later Mr. Phillipopolis was sitting amidst the ruin of his push-cart and vainly endeavoring to ward off a shower of oranges and apples the followers of McGinnis seized from the carts of brother Greeks.

At first the Greeks fought bravely to protect their wares, cracking several heads with their push-cart stakes. This inflamed the wrath of the brokers' clerks, and 200 strong they rushed upon the Greeks and Romans, overthrowing their carts and seizing their many-hued fruit as ammunition.

Messenger Service Demoralized.

The encounter soon grew to the proportions of a riot and the shouts of the routed Greeks were carried to Broad street, upsetting the calculations of the curb market and demoralizing the Stock Exchange messenger service.

Navy blue and light gray uniforms were entangled with Greek and Roman legs in a snouting mass that occupied the entire breadth of New street. To add to the confusion struggling on the pavement the brokers of the Lords Court Building began dumping water upon the combatants from the windows.

This deluge was followed by a shower of ticker tape, and in five minutes the two score fighting push-cart men were wound in white paper ribbon. The Greeks fought valiantly for the recovery of their push-carts, willingly sacrificing their fruit and peanuts.

They endeavored to make a stand against their assailants until the curb brokers turned their flank and assailed them with all manner of missiles they had gathered from Broad street push-carts. By the time the struggle had become a riot hurry calls were sent to the Old Slip station from the Stock Exchange. Not a messenger could be found to deliver a message, and the noise of the conflict in New street made the shouts of the brokers on the floor inaudible.

The entire Consolidated Exchange suspended for fifteen minutes to watch the battle in the streets below. The police came from the Old Slip station on the run, but by the time they arrived the Greek and the Roman cohorts were in complete rout, fleeing madly toward Nassau street, with their dismantled carts before them.

When order was restored there was not a peddler in the financial district, and New street was six inches deep with the pulp of blood oranges and bananas.

COTTON MARKET.

The local cotton market opened steady to-day with prices unchanged to 1 point lower. Although the cables from Liverpool were satisfactory it was evident from the mood of traders that a bearish sentiment prevailed. Following the call an attack was made on July, in which it was lowered to 13.02 against 13.22 its final figure of yesterday. A few big stop loss orders were caught on the break and much heaviness was in evidence in the New Orleans market. The decline was checked on to the close of the first half-hour, however, by efforts of shorts to get profits, and July was quickly bid up to 13.10, where it held steady.

The opening prices were: May, 13.06 offered; July, 13.21 to 13.22; August, 12.84 to 12.85; September, 11.60 to 11.62; October, 11.16 to 11.17; December, 11.07 to 11.08; January, 11.08 to 11.10.

STEER SWIMS UP THE BAY

Long-Horned Visitor Lassoed at the Battery May Have Come from Staten Island or Texas.

Tiring either of the green fields of Staten Island or the wild grass of Texas, a big steer, red of color and long of horns, swam up the bay to-day, defied ferry-boats and tugboats to overhaul him, made half a hundred Italians working in the tunnel in Battery Park think he was a devil, and landed at last safe and sound in Manhattan.

Dawn was breaking when the big red fellow pushed his way through the waves off Staten Island and struck out boldly for New York. Ferry-boats stopped and attempts were made to rope the animal, but without success. Then whistles were blown and tugboats came. Still the steer, now and then with a deep bellow, swam on. He beat his way up East River and suddenly he appeared before the gang of Italians.

Few words were spoken when the long horns appeared above a wave and the steer gave a bellow that echoed and re-echoed through Battery Park. The Italians dropped shovels and picks and made off.

William Butler, of No. 109 East One Hundred and Eighth street, and William Johnson, of Tenth avenue and Twenty-seventh street, secured ropes and lassoed him. The steer was held until a derrick was brought. Then the visitor from Texas was lifted high and dry.

"What will I do with him?" Policeman Feeney, of the Old Slip station, asked the desk sergeant.

"Where did he come from?" inquired the sergeant.

"He hasn't said, but I am certain he came from Staten Island or Texas."

"Then to the pound, at One Hundred and Eighty-seventh street, for him," commanded the Sergeant. "Get a rope and lead him up there, officer."

Feeney got the rope and attempted to lead the steer, but the animal is not broken to lead and he refused to move. The steer is now roped in and resting in Battery Park. When he is better humored Feeney will attempt to lead him to the pound.

PISTOL SHOT ENDS BOYS' BEAR HUNT

They Start West, with Eight Cents, and Quarrel Over Possession of Pistol, Which Goes Off During Struggle.

Equipped with a rusty revolver, 8 cents in money and an unlimited supply of imagination, William J. Tierney, of No. 213 Powers street, and Frederick Decker, of No. 616 Berry street, two fourteen-year-old Williamsburg boys, started out yesterday morning to shoot bears and visit the St. Louis Exposition.

The boys left their homes ostensibly to go to St. Mary's Academy, on Leonard street, where they attend school, but in reality to call at the Tierney's grocery, where William got a bottle of olive oil on credit for the purpose of lubricating the pistol.

The adventurous pair walked across the Williamsburg Bridge and to the Cortlandt street ferry, where they spent six cents for ferriage. With the two remaining pennies they trudged bravely off toward the bounding West. Through some error in the geography, the boys eventually landed in Newark instead of Albany, where they had intended to pay their respects to the Governor.

After squandering their total capital of two cents for buns they quarrelled over the possession of the revolver. During the dispute the pistol was discharged and the bear-hunting partnership was quickly dissolved by the appearance of a policeman.

Both boys arrived home by different routes last night greatly to the relief of their parents, who had asked the police to send out a general alarm.

DOMINICAN REBELS ROUTED IN BATTLE

Five of Their Generals Fled from the Country, While Many of the Men in the Ranks Were Killed.

CAPE HAYTIEN, Hayti, May 19.—Dominican Government troops, commanded by Gen. Raoul Cabrera, and Dominican revolutionary troops, led by Gen. Pelico Lasala and other generals, met recently at Guayacanes, San Domingo, midway between Santiago de los Caballeros and Monte Cristi. In the fighting which followed the Government force had thirty men killed or wounded and the revolutionists lost heavily.

Five revolutionary generals, including Espaillat, sought refuge in the French and Venezuelan Consulates here and later embarked on the French steamer Olinde Rodriguez, bound for Porto Rico.

All is quiet at present in Hayti.

MANGLED BY A TRAIN.

Victim Met Death in the Erie Tunnel While Walking the Tracks.

Paul Allen, a track-walker, found the mangled body of a man at the east end of the Erie tunnel in Jersey City to-day. The victim, who was probably either a laborer or a tramp, had apparently been struck by a train as he was walking the ties.

The man was of middle age, medium height and weight, and had black hair and sandy mustache. He wore dark clothing, but there was nothing about him that would lead to his identity.

WHEAT MARKET.

Wheat opened a trifle higher to-day with trading fairly active. The July-September difference was unchanged from yesterday, both options advancing 1-4 of a cent. Corn started steady and a shade higher.

New York's opening prices were: Wheat—July, 91 7-8; September, 84 1-8. Corn—July, 53 7-8 bid.

Chicago's opening prices were: Wheat—May, 97; July, 86 1-2 to 86 5-8; September, 80 1-8 to 80 3-8. Corn—December, 42 7-8; July, 48 1-8 to 48; September, 47 3-8 to 47 1-2.

New York's closing prices were: Wheat—May, 99 bid; July, 92 5-8 bid; September, 84 3-8 bid; December, 84 1-8 bid. Corn—May, 60 1-8; July, 54 3-8; September, 53.

Chicago's closing prices were: Wheat—May, 99; July, 87 5-8; September, 80 1-2; bid. Corn—May, 48; July, 48 1-8 to 48 1-4; September, 47 3-8 bid; December, 42 3-4. May for 1905, 42 3-8.

STOCKS ERRATIC IN DULL MARKET

Steel a Factor, in the Trading, Keeps Prices See-Sawing in Queer Fashion, All the Leaders Being Affected.

A more irregular or a duller stock market than that of to-day would be hard to imagine. There was a little business and prices were first up and then down, and some were going up while others were going down, and then those that had been climbing began to fall and those that had been falling began to climb, and all this apparently without rhyme or reason. The loss of more than $11,000,000 by the banks during the week had a depressing effect, but this had hardly had time to have an effect when better crop news created a better tone. Then came the poor railroad earnings and considerations of gold exports and a further decline set in, and so on, prices being low at the closing.

The opening of the market was irregular, and then it became strong on the excellent support of Steel issues. Weakness in Steel caused a general weakness in the market. Later this stock strengthened again, and the market as a whole began to advance. Realty preferred early made a substantial gain on the report that rearrangement of the finances of the company would redound to the credit of the preferred stock.

At noon commission houses entered the market as sellers and had quite a little influence in depressing prices. Sugar declined with the remainder of the market, but was checked on good buying. London in the late dealings sold Atchison and word came from abroad that the long expected and oft denied bond issue will soon be announced. This accounted for the weakness in the stock. The selling has seemed very good lately and as London often gets news in advance there are many who are inclined to believe that a bond issue is certain.

A decline in New York Central was due to the bad report for the March quarter. Western Union was weake on the cutting off of the racing service as this means a loss of $5,000,000 a year in revenues. The saving in expenses by the dropping of the men who gathered the racing news, while a big item, does not begin to offset this.

The total sales of stocks were 182,500 shares and of bonds $1,255,000.

POLICEMEN GET IT IN BIG DOSES

Commissioner Lindsley Fines One Offender 35 Days' Pay for Being Drunk—76 Culprits Up for Trial To-Day.

The biggest batch of policemen called on any one trial day since Commissioner McAdoo took office thronged the trial room in Police Headquarters to-day. There were seventy-six depressed coppers waiting to take their punishment when Third Deputy Commissioner Lindsley took his seat.

Most of them were complained against by "shoo-fly" roundsmen. The complaints were generally based upon the absence of a policeman from his post or extended conversation with persons on the beat. Fines were imposed in nearly every case brought by a "shoo-fly," ranging between one day's pay and five days' pay.

Commissioner Lindsley has adopted a plan of hearing the evidence in serious cases, taking the matter under advisement and imposing the penalty the following week. Last week he heard evidence against Policeman Thomas J. Hickey and to-day Hickey was on hand to take his medicine.

He got it—thirty-five days' pay, amounting to nearly $125—on two intoxication charges. After he was fined, Hickey was sent to Commissioner McAdoo, who had expressed a desire to have a heart-to-heart talk with him. Hickey's reputation for sobriety, according to Commissioner Lindsley, is bad, but otherwise he is a good policeman, and the Commissioner has taken a personal interest in him. He was told that if he ever appeared again on an intoxication charge he would be dismissed.

Policeman Patrick Mallon, of the Leonard street station, was dismissed from the force. His whereabouts is unknown, but he is believed to be in Ireland. Some weeks ago he was arrested on complaint of a little girl, gave bond and jumped his bail.
