THREE OF THE WITNESSES WHO TESTIFIED AT THE INQUEST INTO THE SLOCUM DISASTER

Don't O'neill.

MISS HALL

Everett Randolph

sailors were tired in their bunks.

The witness retold the story of the coiled hose and of the barrels of glasses packed in hay. He denied that there had been a fire on the boat the day before the disaster. He told of the goods stored in the forward cabin, where the fire started. According to him there was everything inflammable, including oils, kerosene, varnish and waste, with wood shavings.

Q. How was that cabin lighted? A. By a hanging lamp.

Q. Was it lighted? A. No, only when some one wanted to go in there.

Q. Then it would be necessary to light a match? A. Yes. I was on the port side in the midship gangway, when the fire started. The mate was with me and Corcoran was there. He was reeving a watch tackle. The first I knew of the fire was when I heard some one crying "Smoke!" We made a run for the fire hose and got it down. The way it was coiled made it kink and when the water was turned on it burst. Corcoran had the nozzle. I stood right behind him. Flanagan shouted to bring another hose and I turned to get one. Just then the second engineer came running up to us with a rubber hose, the hose that we used for washing down. The hose that burst was a canvas one. The fire was coming too hot then to do anything with the hose and I ran to the starboard side aft.

THEN HE JUMPED.

Q. What did you do when you saw the appliances were useless? A. I signalled to a Pennsylvania tow-boat to come up, and it didn't. Then I jumped.

The second witness was Edgar Brandow, second engineer of the Slocum. He said he secured his position through Chief Engineer Conklin, who also lives in Catskill.

Q. What equipment was there on the Slocum for fighting fire? A. There was a donkey engine and pump.

Q. Were there arrangements for flooding the five compartments with steam? A. Yes.

Brandow was the first witness who remembered a fire drill aboard the Slocum. He told a juror that two drills were held last season. The assistant engineer jumped overboard from the Slocum, forward, after she struck.

Q. Did you see any one with life-preservers on? A. Yes, sir; after I got on the beach I pulled a little girl ashore and took a preserver off her.

Q. Had she sunk with the preserver? A. She was unconscious. She couldn't sink. The water was too shallow there. The life-preserver had forced her head under water, I think.

USED ACID ON ACCOUNT BOOKS.

Miss L. C. Hall, of No. 36 West Eleventh street, bookkeeper for the Knickerbocker Steamboat Company, testified:

"I gave Mr. Atkinson, for Mr. Barnaby, bills for life-preservers. I made the erasures on the b s. The manufacturers always charged the life-preservers ordered by the company to the Grand Republic, although they might be intended for the Slocum. I have always tried to keep the accounts separate, and for that reason I would erase the name 'Grand Republic' from bills for preservers intended for the Slocum and write over it the name of the Slocum."

Q. When did you make these erasures? A. I don't remember.

Q. In the last month? A. I don't know.

Q. Two months? A. I don't know.

Q. Don't the books show that no life-preservers have been charged against the General Slocum since 1895? A. I couldn't say.

Q. Well, then, since 1902? A. I don't go back further than that, and any way I would have to see the ledger.

The ledger for 1902 was handed to the witness and she said: "I find no life-preservers charged against the General Slocum for 1902."

Miss Hall identified the five bills she had given President Barnaby yesterday for life-preservers.

"Yes, I erased the name of the Grand Republic with acid intending to put in the name of the Slocum."

Q. Why did you use acid when you could have drawn a line through it? A. I don't know.

Q. Who told you to use acid? A. No one.

HER SYSTEM OF BOOKKEEPING.

Q. Then why did you not mark them so? A. Well, they would not be in the ledger if they were not paid.

Q. That's your system of keeping books, is it? A. Yes.

Q. Will you identify all those bills on which you admit you used acid and tell us to what boat the life preservers were sent? A. I identify them but I cannot tell to what boat they went without looking up my other books.

Q. Are they here? A. No.

Q. Will you get them? A. I'll try.

Q. Will you go with Detective Jacobs, here, at the noon recess and get those books? A. I will go with him and look for them.

Miss Reba Goldberg, bookkeeper and bill clerk for David Kahnweiler, manufacturer of life preservers, followed Miss Hall and identified the erased bills as having been written by her.

"Capt. Pease ordered the 350 life-preservers which we sold to the Knickerbocker Steamship Company," said Miss Goldberg.

Q. Did he say which boat the life-preservers were to be charged to? A. He did.

ORDERED FOR GRAND REPUBLIC.

Q. Which? A. The Grand Republic.

Q. Where were they sent? A. To Hoboken.

Then Attorney Garvan read to the jury the receipt for the 350 life-preservers signed by Capt. Pease and said that the goods were delivered in good order aboard the Grand Republic.

Miss Goldberg said that she had searched the books of her firm as far back as 1895 and she had been unable to find an instance where charges had been made against the Gen. Slocum. She had been bookkeeper for the Kahnweilers since 1901 and she never had made a charge for any goods against the Gen. Slocum.

Henry Lundburg, U. S. Inspector of Steam Vessels, was the next witness. His attorney, A. S. Gilbert, refused to permit him to testify on the ground that he might incriminate himself and at the same time the attorney said the newspapers and attorneys, judges and jury might try to misconstrue his answers.

This brought Mr. Garvan to his feet with exception. Mr. Garvan said: "Here is a government officer saying his own statements might incriminate him. If he has done nothing wrong he has nothing to fear."

The witness was asked if he had received money from anyone for his favorable inspection of the Slocum.

"No sir," he replied.

"Then what have you to fear?"

Lundberg, who was at first indisposed to answer any questions, soon found himself answering every question, much to the disgust of his counsel.

Mr. Garvan insisted that Lundberg be sent to the House of Detention. His counel pleaded but it was of no avail. Coroner Berry holding that a Government officer who refused to answer questions of his official conduct on the ground that he might incriminate himself should be kept in custody. Finally bail was fixed at $500, and Mr. Gilbert Counsel said he would provide it. In the meantime Lundberg was placed in charge of a police officer.

Coroner Berry announced this afternoon that Capt. Van Schaick, of the Slocum, was in such bad shape physically that he might not be able to appear at the inquest for several days.

300 SHOOTERS IN GRAND AMERICAN

INDIANOPOLIS, June 21.—Three hundred contestants faced the targets today in the opening events of the National shoot, preliminary to the Grand American Handicap Thursday. There were ten events, of twenty targets each, at unknown angles, all contestants shooting from the sixteen-yard line. Each purse approximated $500.

For the Grand American Handicap a book has been made with more than 300 entries; odds ranging from 10 to 1 to 300 to 1. The favorites are Fred Gilbert, of Spirit Lake, Ia., and W. R. Crosby, of O'Fallon, Ill. These are the only two scratch men and will shoot from the twenty-two-yard line.

Of the three women entered, Mrs. Butler is 250 to 1. Mrs. Burnett, and Mrs. Burroughs are each 300 to 1.

"PRO" GOLFERS IN FOUR-BALL MATCH

(Special to The Evening World.)

GLEN COVE, L. I., June 21.—A four-ball match among the leading golf professionals of the Eastern States began this noon at the Nassau County Club for a large purse, contributed by the members. Those here are Willie Anderson, open champion of the United States; Alex Smith, Western champion; Stewart Gardner, Garden City; Willie Smith, Apawamis; Nicholls, Hollywood, and Willie Smith, Paterson. The course was in the best of condition.

Walter J. Travis's local record was equalled yesterday by an amateur, and several new marks are promised. A four-ball match is down for this afternoon.

YEARLINGS BRING SMALL PRICES

(Special to The Evening World.)

SHEEPSHEAD BAY, June 21.—The yearlings from the Elmendorf Stud, property of J. B. Haggin, were offered at auction to-day and they did not bring any better prices than the youngsters which came from the Rancho del Paso. Bidders are apparently fighting shy of the Haggin sales this year. The prices are as follows:

Ch. f., by Rapallo—Beauty; Columbia Stable, $100.

B. c., by Ben Holladay—Boise; A. J. Joyner, $1,100.

B. c., by Greenan—Dawning; S. A. Malone, $450.

Ch. c., by Greenan—Democrate; M. Chase, $250.

Ch. c., by Juvenal—Fair Helen; M. Byrnes, $350.

Ch. c., by Arkle—Florator; F. Farrell, $500.

DISFIGURED WITH ECZEMA

Under Physicians Five Months. Went from Bad to Worse.

CURED BY CUTICURA

Wonderful Change in One Night In a Month Face Was Clean as Ever.

"I was troubled with eczema on the face for five months during which time I was in the care of physicians. My face was in such a condition that I could not go out. It was going from bad to worse and I gave up all hope, when a friend of mine highly recommended Cuticura Remedies. The first night after I washed my face with Cuticura Soap and used Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Resolvent it changed wonderfully, and continuing the treatment it removed all scales and scabs. From that day I was able to go out, and in a month my face was as clean as ever." THOMAS J. SOTH, 317 Stagg St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

The above letter was received in 1898 and he again writes us Feb. 19, 1903, "I have not been troubled with eczema since."

The agonizing itching and burning of the skin as in eczema; the frightful scaling, as in psoriasis; the loss of hair and crusting of scalp, as in scalled head; the facial disfigurement, as in pimples and ringworm; the awful suffering of infants, and anxiety of worn-out parents, as in milk crust, tetter and salt rheum—all demand a remedy of almost superhuman virtues to successfully cope with them. That Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Resolvent are such stands proven beyond all doubt. No statement is made regarding them that is not justified by the strongest evidence. The purity and sweetness, the power to afford immediate relief, the certainty of speedy and permanent cure, the absolute safety and great economy have made them the standard skin cures of the civilized world.

Sold throughout the world. Cuticura Resolvent, $1. (in form of Chocolate Coated Pills, per vial of 60, 25 doses, $1). Soap, 25c. Ointment, 50c. Depots: London, 27 Charterhouse Sq.; Paris, 5 Rue de la Paix; Sydney, 339 George St. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Proprietors, Boston.
