SAID HIS FRIEND STOLE HIS WATCH

But That Was After Doyle of Dublin Had Been to Coney for the First Time and When He Woke Up He Was Sorry.

BOTH ARE ON THEIR WAY BACK TO IRELAND.

They Have Been to St. Louis Visiting the Fair and Started Out to Celebrate on Last Night in This Country.

James Fortune, one of the Fortunes of Dublin, and James Doyle, two young men who came to this country to see the sights at St. Louis and were afraid to return to the old country and say they had not seen Coney Island, appeared in Jefferson Market Police Court to-day looking very sad and both willing that a complaint wherein Doyle charged Fortune with stealing his watch should be dismissed.

Fortune and Doyle came back from "the Pike" yesterday to sail to-day on the White Star liner Arabic. John A. Thompson, a Spring street merchant, who is an old friend of Doyle, told them about the wonders of Coney, but they were not inclined to behold them until Thompson said something about American beer being better than any stout Dublin ever brewed.

So They Went to Coney.

"It cannot be," said Fortune and Doyle, but Thompson insisted that it was, and that any way they should visit Coney because if they went back home unable to say they had been to the Island their folks would never hold another good opinion of them.

Fortune and Doyle and Thompson went to Coney, and they hit nothing but the high places, coming down to earth only long enough to drink stout, until the early hours of to-day, when they boarded a trolley for Manhattan. Fortune fell asleep, and so did Doyle, but Doyle woke up first, and as they were walking across City Hall Park Doyle set up a yell that he had been robbed, and accused Fortune of taking his watch. Fortune protested, but Doyle would not back water and called a policeman, whom he addressed as constable.

Doyle Repented.

Poor Fortune was arrested, but when Doyle reached court his head was clearer than it had been earlier in the day, and he told the Court that he had undoubtedly made a mistake.

"That's Fortune's misfortune," remarked the Court.

"Sure, I'm sorry," said Doyle. And so the Court dismissed all hands, who went out to take a drink.

There used to be a joke in Dublin on the Fortunes, who are wealthy furniture dealers, that the man who married Miss Fortune married money. Miss Fortune was an estimable young lady, and when the fortunate man came along her father gave him a present of £20,000.

FOUGHT TO DEATH IN KNIFE DUEL

Workmen Battle Alone in Pavilion with Long Stilettos Until One Is Killed—Scores Near—Knew Nothing of Fight.

YONKERS, N. Y., Aug. 19.—There was a vicious fight between two Italian employees of the National Sugar Refinery, on Main street, here, to-day, which ended only when one man was killed and the other so badly wounded that he cannot live. Each used a stiletto, with a blade about a foot long. When the fight was over a pavilion near the refinery, in which the men fought, resembled a slaughter-house.

The dead man received a horrible slashing, there being one gash on his body extending from his collar-bone down to his waist. The knife, in its course, cut through the heart, completely severing it.

The wounded man was a mass of cuts and was bleeding freely when found. What the men fought about is not known.

A peculiar fact of the affray was that, although scores of workers were eating their lunch close by, the men fought to the death without attracting the attention of any.

The first intimation had by the other workmen was when the wounded man ran out of the pavilion waving his stiletto and shouting something in Italian. He appeared to be covered with blood, and the knife he carried was also blood stained.

Several of the Italians followed him as he ran down Main street. Policeman Robinson saw the man approaching, but before he reached him the wounded duellist, weak from the loss of blood, staggered and fell headlong on the sidewalk, unconscious. The knife fell from his hand and was picked up some distance further on.

An ambulance was immediately summoned and the unconscious man taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, where it is said he cannot recover.

Several of the workmen who did not follow the wounded Italian hurried to the pavilion and there found the other duellist dead.

The names of the men are not known.

BRITISH PRIMATE SAILS.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—The Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Davidson, and Mrs. Davidson, accompanied by two chaplains, were bidden farewell at the railroad station here to-day by a large number of friends on his departure to join the White Star line steamer Celtic, which sails for New York from Liverpool to-day.

It appears that the special permission of King Edward had to be obtained before the Archbishop could accept the invitation to visit the United States.

Secretary Henry White, representing the American Embassy, was among those who bade farewell to the Primate, who is the first occupant of that position who ever crossed the Atlantic.

JEROME WILL PROSECUTE BRIBE-GIVING BUILDERS

After Sept. 1 He Will Enforce the Prince Law, Making the Man Who Pays the Money Equally Guilty as He Who Gets It—Weinseimer's Case.

After the Grand Jury adjournment to-day District-Attorney Jerome had a hot argument in the corridor with G. F. Johnson, jr., a member of the firm of Johnson-Kahn Co., which is building the Chatsworth apartment-house on which Phil Weinseimer is said to have called the strike which he is alleged to have settled for $2,700.

Mr. Johnson took exception to a statement that the District-Attorney has made numerous times to the effect that the man who gives a bribe is as guilty as the man who takes it, and that the employers of this city who submit to extortion are as bad as the labor strikers who levy it. Mr. Johnson declared that this was not so.

"I say it is so," retorted the District-Attorney, hotly. "You people don't come down here in the interest of justice. You come to settle a spite or get revenge in every case I have handled. Here you are complaining about money you say you paid eight months ago. You can't make me believe that there is any honesty in that sort of a proceeding."

Mr. Johnson talked some more, and so did the District-Attorney. In conclusion Mr. Jerome said:

Will Enforce Prince Law.

"Wait until Sept. 1 and I'll make it hot for you people. The Prince law will be in effect then, making the bribe-giver as guilty as the bribe-taker, and I intend to enforce it."

The Grand Jury adjourned this afternoon without taking any further action on the labor struggle question. Since the first witness was called from the office of the People's Security Company thirty have been examined by the Grand Jury. Frank Acer, the head lawyer of the concern, was questioned to-day.

Mr. Rand made the following statement in connection with the People's Security Company:

"No action against the People's Security Company is contemplated from the District-Attorney's office, and as far as the District-Attorney has any information the People's Security Company is organized for a perfectly legal purpose."

Want to Indict Bosses.

In retaliation for the indictment of Philip Weinseimer the attorneys for the Building Trades Alliance assert that they will seek to have indictments found against some of the bosses allied with the Building Trades Employers' Association. Frank A. Acer, Weinseimer's attorney, announced to-day that he would lay evidence before the District-Attorney that would force him to take action.

"I am going to see Mr. Jerome," he said, "and find out if he will be as willing to proceed against the bosses as he has been to proceed against the men."

The real war in the building trades begins Monday. Up to this time the movements on both sides have been mere skirmishes. The demand of the employers that the unions on strike shall return to work on Monday morning will not be complied with, save in scattered instances, and the bosses will resume work on all their emergency jobs with what union men they can obtain and with skilled laborers from other cities.

May Involve 100,000 Men.

It is said that the introduction of outsiders will be construed by the unions as the entering wedge to an open-shop condition, and that most of the unions that have kept at work will go on strike. This will precipitate a struggle involving possibly 100,000 men and paralyzing, temporarily, building operations all over the city.

At a conference held last night between the Board of Governors of the Employers' Association and delegates of twenty-three unions which have not up to this time been mixed up in the lockout or strike the proposition was made by the employers that non-union men should be used on certain jobs until the war is settled. Lewis Harding, who gives out the news for the employers, said to-day that a large proportion of the unions represented at the conference will not go on strike under any conditions.

There are five unions upon which the bosses bank for faithfulness—The Amalgamated Woodworkers, the Brotherhood of Painters, the Portable Engineers and the Structural Ironworkers; the bricklayers' organization has not come to a decision. Added to the five mentioned there are three unions that were allied with the Building Trades Alliance at the beginning of the trouble, but have deserted and gone back to work—the Waterproofers, the Metal Lathers and the Elevator Constructors.

Five Unions Will Stick.

Other unions will desert the Building Trades Alliance in all probability, but there are five that will stick until they are wiped out, and as they are organizations of workmen who go on buildings to complete them the leaders feel that they have the whip hand. These unions include the carpenters, tile-layers, plumbers, plasterers and electricians.

The indictment of Weinseimer has not dismayed the Building Trades Alliance if signs indicate the true condition of affairs. Thomas McCracken, sergeant-at-arms of the organization, said to-day that the indictment was only an incident and had simply served to embitter the struggle.

More Indictments Expected.

The District-Attorney undoubtedly expects that more indictments will be found in connection with the case against Philip Weinseimer, President of the Building Trades Alliance. The indictment of Weinseimer yesterday did not stop the investigation by the Grand Jury and hints of sensational developments were floating around the headquarters of the Building Trades Employers' Association.

Seven young women from the office of the People's Security Company were before the Grand Jury to-day. They were questioned about Weinseimer and other matters relating to the labor business of the concern.

It is reported that the Building Trades Employers' Association has raised a fund of $30,000 to assist in the prosecution of Weinseimer and other labor leaders who have been active in the present fight. That the employers do use a fund for this purpose is proved by a statement made by Benjamin Traitel, a prominent member of their organization, at a dinner given last winter at Pittsburg.

$34,000 to Convict Parks.

"It cost the Building Trades Employers' Association of New York," said Mr. Traitel, "$54,000 to lick the structural iron-workers last summer, and it cost another $34,000 to send Sam Parks to prison."

This statement was called to the attention of Assistnat District-Attorney Rand to-day. He conducted the Parks prosecution.

"I don't know how the money could have been spent," he remarked. "None of it came to this office. The cost to the county for the conviction of Parks did not exceed $10."

Subpoenas have been issued calling for the presence of William Ulwater and Daniel Finn, walking delegates of the Plumbers' Union, at the District-Attorney's office. Other subpoenas will be issued to-day.

FELL THREE FEET; DYING.

Bricklayer Tumbled from Low Scaffold, Fracturing Skull.

While at work on a platform only three fet above the ground on a stable being built for the New York Contracting Company, in East Seventeenth street, between Avenues A and B, this afternoon, a bricklayer, whose name is said by his fellow workman to b Brown, fll ovr backward, and struck his head o the sidewalk.

He was unconscious when picked up. Dr. Parce, of Bellevue Hospital, who was summoned by a policeman, said that the man was suffering from a fracture of the base of his skull, and will probably die. He is now at the hospital, still unconscious.

SECRET LETTER LEADS TO ARRESTS

Treasurer of Big Lead Concern Charged with Getting Naturalization Papers by Fraud—Fails to Satisfy Officials.

As the result of an anonymous letter sent to Superintendent of Elections George W. Morgan, Melville O. Weir, Treasurer of the Colwell Lead Company at Pearl and Centre streets, has been arrested on a charge of fraud in obtaining naturalization papers, and Gustave Pratt, of the New York Telephone Company, who lives in East Orange and swore to the truth of the allegations on which Weir secured his papers, has also been arrested as a partner to the fraud.

The anonymous letter to Mr. Morgan states that Weir secured his papers by fraud and perjury, in that he alleged that he established a residence in this country while a minor, when as a matter of fact he was not. It wound up by saying that the writer and his friends were going to watch the papers to see if there was one law for the poor and another for the well-to-do.

Weir, who lives at No. 151 State street, Brooklyn, was summoned before Deputy Stowell yesterday and he made affidavit that he was born in Nova Scotia March 7, 1876, that he established a residence in Boston and then went back to Nova Scotia after three months, returning here two years later.

eH claimed that his three months' visit here established a residence for him. Mr. Pratt, who had taken the same view, made a similar affidavit.

Mr. Stowell decided that both men were guilty of fraud, holding that Weir's three months' visit did not constitute a residence at all. Commissioner Shields held the men in $500 bail each for trial. Bonds were furnished by President Jesse T. Duryea of the Colwell Lead Company.

Remedy for Hay Fever.

After Trying Other Treatments Hyomei Was Used With Perfect Success.

Prior to the discovery of Hyomei the only advice a physician could give to a hay fever patient was to go away from home, but now any one who expects the disease can, if Hyomei is used, stay at home without fear of the annual attack of sneezing watery eyes and other discomfort.

J. F. Forbes, a well-known Western railroad man, whose home is at McCook, Neb., writes: "I have never had relief from any remedy for hay fever, even temporarily, until I discovered the merits of Hyomei. I will always recommend it whenever occasion requires."

There is no offensive stomach dosing when Hyomei is used. It is a reliable remedy for the cure of all diseases of the respiratory organs and is breathed through a neat pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit, so that the air taken into the throat and lungs is like that of the White Mountains or other health resorts where hay fever is unknown.

Hegeman & Co., 200 Broadway agrees to refund the money to any hay fever sufferer who uses Hyomei without success.
