Reasons for Corduroy.

Eight-year-old John had been sent along with his young aunt to buy a pair of blue serge school trousers. The salesman showed them several different pairs, but none seemed to suit John. Finally while the salesman was hunting for some others, John took occasion to say to his aunt: "Oh, auntie, please ask him to show us some corduroys. The principal at our school has a brand new piddle."

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Catarrhal Deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE acts through the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing may be destroyed forever. Many cases of Deafness are caused by Catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the Mucous Surfaces. ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE.

The Easy Way Out.

W. C. Bullitt, an expert on foreign affairs, was talking about the bolsheviks.

"The bolshevik leaders," he said, "are in a bad way. They will probably abandon the bolshevik game shortly, but first they will smash up everything."

"It will be like the case of the two boys who were sent out to buy a pitcher of milk," Mr. Bullitt continued. "The boys helped themselves to the milk freely on the way home; then at the last minute their courage failed them."

"Gosh," said the first boy, "we've drunk too much of it! What shall we do, Joe?"

"That's easy," said Joe. "We'll drop the pitcher."

A Salutary Lesson.

"You've been up in an airplane?" "Yes," replied the prominent citizen, "and it did me a lot of good."

"How was that?" "At an elevation of 7,000 feet in the air for the first time in a long and active career I realized how little I really amounted to."

Uncle Eben.

"A man dat keeps talkin' 'bout hisself," said Uncle Eben, "sometimes surprises you by de way he manages to make a purty good speech on a mighty slim subject."

A childless marriage is not a howling success in one sense of the term.

To Utilize Tidal Power.

In view of the shortage of British coal for export purposes it is reported that French scientists and industrialists are endeavoring to supply power by harnessing the tides. For several years French scientific men have declared that this was no fantastic dream, and already considerable data on the subject have been collected. In order to apply these theories to the test of practice, a small scientific company has been formed to carry out experiments at Ploomanach, on the Cotes du Nord.

TORPEDOED!

Don't blast your Liver and Bowels, but take "Cascarets."

You men and women who can't get feeling right—who have headache, coated tongue, bad taste and foul breath, dizziness, can't sleep, are bilious, nervous and upset, bothered with a sick, gassy, disordered stomach and colds.

Are you keeping your liver and bowels clean with Cascarets, or shocking your insides every few days with Calomel, Salts, Oil and violent pills?

Cascarets work while you sleep; they cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested, fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the constipated waste matter and poison in the bowels. Cascarets never gripe, sicken or cause inconvenience and Cascarets cost so little too.—Adv.

Airship Construction Complex.

Some interesting facts regarding the work required in building a large modern airship is given in a recent issue of the Engineer, which states that the general problems of design are closely allied to those of naval architecture; although the airship designer must be a highly skilled mechanical engineer and also must have a knowledge of textile technology. For the work of construction, owing to the multiplicity of parts required, a very efficient shop organization is necessary. In a rigid airship structure, excluding the machinery, there are 20,000 different parts, a total length of structural material of 20 miles of wire, and more than 2,000,000 rivets.

Entirely Incredulous.

"I can make you young again," said the doctor.

"I don't believe it," replied Farmer Cornstossel. "I used to think I was jes' as young as anybody when I was dancin' the tango up to the town hall. But it didn't amount to nothin', an' I don't believe the doctors is goin' to do any better helpin' me fool myself than the dancin' teacher did."

BLOUSE STYLES FAVORED FOR EVENING COSTUMES

It is evident that blouses and smocks are aspiring to rival evening frocks and the chances are that they are going to succeed. There is no end to the fanciful ways in which they are made and nothing is too extravagant in the way of trimming them. For dinner and theater wear they have advantages and they appear in brilliant and light colors, and in combinations of two colors in materials, with decorations that call into play many additional hues. The peplum blouse, the apron blouse and the smock have a gay future ahead of them.

Georgette crepe, chiffon and net with chantilly and gold-run laces newly recruited in their company are the filmy mediums in which evening blouses are made. Worn with skirts of black satin they achieve a toilette that may be worn with assurance.

Among color combinations, emerald or even more vivid greens with black are distinctive. Copper colored crepe with gold lace, champagne with black embroidery, peacock blue and light green show the fondness for virile colors. There is a new sort of decoration that looks like the finest beadwork done in many colors. But it is a sort of paint put on in dots set close together and appears in motifs on girdles of georgette like the blouse. Blouses in one color are enlivened with rich girdles of gold or silver brocade. Embroideries in silk and in beads, often used together, and occasionally mock jewels and gold tissue confess that nothing is too splendid for the blouse which is to be worn in the evening, and narrow bands of dark fur find themselves placed to the best advantage on lace and georgette.

Two pretty examples of the mode are shown here. In one of them crepe de chine appears with satin in an odd, original model with woodbine leaves in silk and beads, embroidered on the satin. It has an apron at the front, bloused at the waistline and bordered with the embroidered satin. The long sleeves flare at the wrist and are finished with a satin band. Pale gold and turquoise blue are, as always, happy together in the blouse at the right. Blue beads give a good account of themselves as a trimming and the sleeves challenge us to pronounce them the most graceful of the many styles that help to make the season interesting.

Velvet Becomes Satin's Rival

Just how it happens has never been explained, but it happens every little while that a certain style seizes the attention, simultaneously, of women all over the length and breadth of the land. Merchants wake up some morning to find that apparently every woman has made up her mind over night that she wants one kind of fabric, one particular color, one style. Just now it seems that every woman wants a velvet gown, in addition to the satin frock for which there has been a universal demand. It seems that the shops saw this wave of demand rolling in, and that designers and manufacturers were prepared for it.

Designers require supple materials for frocks and they have determined on chiffon velvets in very wide widths, and the finest grades of velveteen, as best suited to their purposes. These are used for afternoon and evening dresses. The heavier grades of velveteen will answer for suits, but the more flexible stuffs are liked for everything and chiffon velvets are in such demand that they bring very high prices. The best grades of velveteen are by no means cheap. By way of recompense, velvet frocks are very simply designed and fussy decorations are conspicuous by their absence on them; so that the minimum of goods is required.

These points are apparent in the pretty frock for afternoon, shown at the left of the two pictured here. It is of wide, light-weight velveteen in marine-blue. This skirt has six round plaits set on at each side—widening the lines—and this arrangement of the material is borrowed from a Paris designer who introduced it early in the season. Aside from this small vagary, it is plain. The bodice has a plain back and surplice front filled in with flesh-colored georgette. One side of the front is extended into a soft girde, finished at the front with a handsome beaded ornament. The long sleeves have a turned-back frill of velveteen. The small muffer collar is a separate affair that swatches the neck in soft folds and buttons at the side. It may be taken off indoors.

Satin gowns reveal that their designers are more or less devoted to draped skirts, the model pictured being among the simplest of these. In this frock a smock of satin, split to the waistline at the left side, is covered with a sunburst pattern and points made of silk braid coched on. The design is an Aztec inspiration pure and simple and a long girde of satin ending in tassels repeats it. A plain turndown collar and deep cuffs of the satin are important details in this frock and help to account for its distinction.

Batik decorations in all their high colorful effects will unquestionably be seen to a great extent in autumn blouses, overblouses and negligees of all kinds.
