nouncing that he had seen the $500,000 note and also another given by the woman for $250,000, and that neither bears the name of Andrew Carnegie. There is no announcement of what names the notes do bear, but it is authoritatively stated that the paper is no good.

The authority for the statement that Mr. Carnegie's name appears on the note is George E. Ryall, one of the lawyers for Herbert D. Newton. Mr. Ryall said yesterday he had the positive assurance of Mr. Newton that he had seen the note and that it bore the signature: "Andrew Carnegie."

In his petition asking for a receiver for Mrs. Chadwick in Cleveland, Mr. Newton declared there was such a note and that it bore the name of a millionaire well able to pay it, but no name was given.

DENIES USE OF MR. CARNEGIE'S NAME.

Mrs. Chadwick herself to-day entirely eliminated Mr. Carnegie from the case. Philip Carpenter, one of the woman's numerous counsel in this city, said that Mrs. Chadwick had been much distressed at the introduction of Mr. Carnegie's name, and had authorized him to make the following statement:

"Mrs. Chadwick states that Mr. Carnegie has never had any connection with her affairs. The statements that have appeared in the press to the contrary are untrue. She is too ill to make any general statement at this time."

Some time ago Mrs. Chadwick, through President Beckwith, of the Citizens' National Bank, of Oberlin, voluntarily subscribed $25,000 to the endowment fund of Oberlin College and gave her note for that sum, payable Jan. 1 next.

SUICIDE MAY SOLVE ONE MYSTERY.

To further complicate an already complex situation, the news comes from Alexandria, Ind., that a woman known there as Mme. Alabe, committed suicide on Saturday last by taking carbolic acid. Before she killed herself she declared to one John Reynolds that her real name was Mrs. H. L. Hoover, that she was a fortune teller and had lived in Cleveland.

The remarkable thing about the situation now is that Mrs. Chadwick was a Mrs. Hoover. Mme. Devere notoriously used the name of Mrs. Hoover, the dead Mme. Alabe said she was Mrs. Hoover and all three women bear striking resemblances to one another. The accusers of Mrs. Chadwick based their charge on the resemblance of Mrs. Chadwick and Mme. Devere, and there can be no doubt of the resemblance between Mrs. Chadwick and Mme. Alabe.

Lawyer Edward W. Powers, of No. 220 Broadway, who is representing Mrs. Chadwick at present, made a vigorous defense of her to-day. He said that she was a much wronged woman and that every one of her debts would be paid as soon as she had time to straighten out her affairs He added:

MUCH WRONGED WOMAN, SAYS LAWYER.

"Mrs. Chadwick is a woman of large fortune and can settle her obligations. She has defrauded no one and does not mean to deprive anybody of what is his due. The assaults on her character are outrageous and she is a very much wronged woman She will not pledge her jewels to meet her obligations, because it will not be necessary. She has ample funds to protect her jewelry. That is all we have to say at present."

Mr. Powers was asked about the charge that his client is none other than Mme. Devere. To this he said:

"If the people who persist in accusing Mrs. Chadwick of being this notorious woman would pause and reflect I think they would desist. Mrs. Chadwick is thirty-six years old. If Mme. Devere is alive now she must be very much older than this. As a matter of fact, when Mme. Devere was indicted Mrs. Chadwick was but ten years old. This report is in line with other infamous things that have been said of this really estimable woman."

DID SHE USE NAME OF CARNEGIE?

It is charged in some quarters that Mrs. Chadwick, in securing some of the loans, alleged that she was a daughter of Andrew Carnegie. This is denied on all sides, and there is no direct evidence that Mrs. Chadwick ever did any such thing.

Mr. Carnegie's name is persistently brought forward in the case by the creditors, from which it is inferred that some use has been made at some time of his name. His own denial that he never heard of Mrs. Chadwick before now, and the statement of the Oberlin bank officials that his name does not appear on the notes in their possession, seem to effectually dispose of the story that the steel king was Mrs. Chadwick's endorser.

Three Pinkerton detectives are watching the Holland House to-day. It is said they are present in the interests of Mrs. Chadwick's creditors. In spite of the fact that Mrs. Chadwick is described as being very ill, it is known that she left the hotel last night for two hours. The Pinkertons, who were then on guard, followed her and returned when she returned.

FRITZI SCHEFF'S MISHAP.

Stage Apple Blossom Inhaled by Singer and Doctor Called.

Fritzi Scheff had a mishap at the Broadway Theatre last night. It would have been ludicrous had not serious consequences at first seemed likely. In the finale of the first act of "The Two Roses" the little prima donna, while about to emit a high note, inhaled one of the artificial apple blossoms that shower upon the stage. A stray petal from one of Farmer Knight's trees fell into her upturned mouth and was drawn into her windpipe.

The curtain came down and the prima donna ran coughing into the wings. Dr. L. F. Fitkin, of No. 911 Seventh avenue, was summoned and found the star in distress. He soon removed the interloping blossom, and Miss Scheff made her next entrance as usual.

LIFE TERM FOR A BOY.

Chicago Youth Robbed Restaurant Diners at Pistol-Point.

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—Orrin Cox, seventeen years old, son of respectable parents in Kensington, a suburb, has been sentenced to life imprisonment in Judge Chetlain's court on a charge of robbery. The severe penalty was inflicted because Cox, when committing the crime, was armed with a loaded revolver.

The crime of which he was convicted was committed on Sept. 18. Cox and two companions entered a Chicago restaurant. Revolvers were displayed and the customers robbed under threats of death. The youthful criminals secured $110 and made their escape, but Cox was arrested soon after.

WIDOW OF FREDERICK S. GIBBS AND MAN TO WHOM SHE WAS MARRIED TO-DAY AT LITTLE CHURCH.

Mrs. Henry Allen Jacobsen

H. A. Jacobsen.

MRS. FRED GIBBS' A BRIDE TO-DAY

Widow of Late Member of Republican National Committee Married to Harry Allen Jacobsen at "Little Church."

Mrs. Daisy Meade Gibbs, widow of the late Frederick S. Gibbs, Republican National Committeeman from this State, was married at noon to-day in the rectory of the Little Church Around the Corner to Harry Allen Jacobsen, who lives at the Chelsea, in West Twenty-third street, and has a decorating business at No. 228 West Twenty-third street. Dr. Houghton officiated at the marriage ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacobsen have gone to Montreal and Toronto on a wedding trip.

The marriage was quiet, attended by only a few intimate family friends. Magistrate Clarence Meade, the father of the bride, is confined to his home by illness and was unable to go to the church. The bride was given away by Fremont Cole, one of Magistrate Meade's closest associates.

Mrs. William C. Shields, of Newark, attended the bride and the best man was R. M. S. Miller. Mrs. Jacobsen wore a blue broadcloth gown with chinchilla furs.

The bridal party included Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Kennelly, Mrs. William B. Halsey, Miss G. A. Davis, the Misses Chamberlain and Mrs. Burton Hart.

Mrs. Jacobsen was married to Mr. Gibbs in 1895 from the home of her father, at No. 346 West Twenty-third street. She had two children by Mr. Gibbs, a son, aged seven years, and a daughter, aged two years. Since the death of Mr. Gibbs, on Sept. 21, 1903, the widow has lived with her children at Summit, N. J.

She was reared in the Chelsea section of New York and Mr. Jacobsen has lived in that section since he came to this country as a boy. They met twelve years ago and were always friendly.

Mr. Jacobsen is a member of Dr. Eckman's Methodist Church, at Eighty-sixth street and West End avenue. He is not identified with politics and belongs to no clubs.

The marriage of the widow of Fred Gibbs created a flutter of excitement around the Amen Corner of the Fifth Avenue Hotel. Every Republican politician in New York knows her. The home of her father and the home of Mr. Gibbs were centres of political activity at all times.

Mr. Gibbs left a comfortable fortune. His collection of paintings alone brought $92,000 at a sale held last February.

Called On to Tell What He Knows About Coal Strike Settlement.

Senator Thomas C. Platt was a witness to-day in a suit for $200,000.

The Senator was called upon to tell what he knew of an alleged plan for settling the late coal strike at which President Roosevelt was to arbitrate and through whose influence the strike was settled.

The suit, which was begun in Binghamton, is that of A. D. Wales against John Mitchell, President of the Mine Workers, for $200,000, which he alleged is due him from Mitchell for having furnished Mitchell a plan to bring the strike to an end.

As the Senator was too ill to appear at Binghamton the Court ordered a Commission to take his testimony here and it was before this commission that the Senator gave his testimony to-day behind closed doors at his office at No. 49 Broadway.

FREDERICK WESSON DEAD.

Business Man and Son-in-Law of Bishop Littlejohn Dies Suddenly.

Frederick Wesson, of No. 85 Joralemon street, Brooklyn, was found dead in his bed to-day. Heart failure is the supposed cause of his death, as he had not been ill. Mr. Wesson's sudden death brought an abrupt end to the coming-out preparations being made for his nineteen-year-old daughter, who was to have been introduced into society this week.

Mr. Wesson was graduated from Yale in 1867 and from Columbia Law School in 1871. He turned from the law, however, and became a member of the firm of Hoadly & Co., engaged in the South American trade. Later he built a railroad across the island of Jamaica. He was associated with the late W. C. Whitney in many enterprises. His widow is the eldest daughter of the late Bishop Littlejohn.

ON OATH, ADMITS WIFE'S CHARGES

Dr. Disbrow Would Not Defend Divorce Suit, but is Forced to Appear in Court as a Witness by His Wife's Attorney.

POSED AT CONEY ISLAND AS SECRET-SERVICE MAN.

Companion in Hotel There Not the Frail Little Woman Who Asked Court for Freedom from Him, Bell Boy Avers.

Dr. Frank I. Disbrow, defendant in the suit of his frail little wife, Mabelle Disbrow, for absolute divorce, was an uneasy and uncomfortable witness against himself in the trial before Justice O'Gorman in the undefended divorce calendar to-day.

Ever since the day Justice Barrett dismissed a case because it appeared that the defendant was in the city and had not been subpoenaed, lawyers for divorce suitors have summoned defendants when possible, and so Dr. Disbrow had been compelled by subpoena to appear.

Josephine Van Antwerp had testified that while touring Coney Island in July, 1903, she saw Dr. Disbrow with a strange woman enter the Albemarle Hotel. Archie Johnson, bellboy at the Coney Island hotel, testified to receiving orders from the proprietor to disregard the rule of the house and serve drinks to a couple in a certain room, as the man was supposed to be a Secret-Service man. The bellboy identified a picture of Dr. Disbrow as that of the "Secret-Service man," and said the pale-faced little brunette, Mrs. Disbrow, was not his companion at the hotel.

"Do you recognize any man in court as your guest of those July nights in 1903?" the lawyer asked, and Dr. Disbrow arose when the bellboy pointed him out.

The doctor is a well-kept young man, with a brown, smooth-shaven face, but is prematurely gray.

"Take the stand," commanded Justice O'Gorman, and when the abashed young physician had answered to his name and relation to the plaintiff Mabelle, the Justice asked:

"Is her charge against you true?"

"It is true," faltered the doctor.

"Leave the stand," said the Court, and he would hear no further witnesses in the case except the process-server who served the complaint on Dr. Disbrow, directing the wife's attorney to "hand up your papers."

STRAUSS CAUGHT IN TRENTON, N. J.

Confessed to His Part in Shooting His Father-in-Law and Mother-in-Law in Williamsburg a Few Days Ago.

A despatch from Trenton, N. J., today says that Detective Roland Mitchell arrested Harry Strauss, who is wanted in Williamsburg for shooting his mother-in-law and father-in-law. The man admitted the crime and was committed to the county jail. Strauss was caught as he stepped from a freight car.

Strauss said that his wife lived with her parents in Williamsburg, and he went to see see her last Saturday. He claims that as soon as he opened the door he was dragged inside by his father-in-law, and William Stors, who, he alleges, has been keeping company with his wife, confronted him with a revolver. The prisoner claims that he pulled a pistol and as he did so a bullet from Store's gun sped over his head and lodged in the breast of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Ammenworth.

He then alleges that he began firing in self-defense and Louis Ammenworth, his father-in-law, fell with a bullet wound. Strauss is twenty-two years of age and has several slight wounds in his head which had not been attended to and are seemingly inflicted from bullets. The Ammenworths reside at No. 225 Melrose avenue, Williamsburg.

Three chums who were with Strauss at the time are now under arrest.

WOMAN FOUGHT FOR HER LIBERTY

Court Officers Had Hard Time Getting Mrs. Immerblum Over Bridge of Sighs After Her Conviction.

Mrs. Mary Immerblum, of No. 538 East Sixth street, tried to strike every policeman within reach when she was convicted in the Court of Special Sessions this afternoon of conducting an "employment bureau" without a license. Her screams were heard in every corner of the Criminal Courts Building, and she had to be carried to the Tombs, where she is to be imprisoned for twenty days in default of a fine of $75.

Two of Mrs. Immerblum's daughters attempted to interfere with the officers when they took hold of the old woman.

District-Attorney Jerome prosecuted the case personally, and he said that his department would bend every energy to accomplish convictions in the cases of persons of Mrs. Immerblum's class, who made a specialty of conducting "employment bureaus." He declared that many "theatrical agencies" were on a par with these bureaus, and that it was his desire that every one of them should be closed.

INTERBOROUGH DIVIDEND.

The directors of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company to-day declared a dividend of 3 per cent., making 5 per cent. in dividends declared this year. The directors also fixed regular quarterly periods for dividend payments in the future.

THE DOCTOR

SENT MR. HAYLAND TO COLORADO FOR HIS HEALTH.

Says His Life Was Saved by Vinol.

People of New York will be interested in the recovery of Mr. Hayland, as so many of our friends are continually being sent to one health resort or another as the only means of recovery.

In writing of his cure from Denver, Colo., Mr. Hayland says: "I believe that Vinol, the new cod liver oil preparation, has saved my life, and I wish to mention my case, as it may be of value to others similarly affected.

"I was sent to Colorado with what my doctor said would develop into tuberculosis, and was so weak I was unable to work at my profession. Since taking Vinol my appetite has returned. I sleep well, feel very much stronger and am sure I shall soon be restored to perfect health. I cannot recommend Vinol too strongly, as it has done so much for me when all other medicines had failed."

One of the following well-known druggists says: "The reason Vinol accomplishes such remarkable results when all other tonics and emulsions of cod liver oil fail is because it contains in a concentrated form all of the healing, curative elements of cod liver oil, actually taken from fresh cods' livers, but without oil or grease, and it does not upset the weakest stomach."

They also freely offer to return money paid them for Vinol in every case where it fails to cure chronic coughs, colds, bronchial troubles, incipient consumption, to make rich, red blood, increase the appetite, cure stomach troubles, give strength and renewed vitality to the aged, build up the run down, tired and debilitated, and make the weak strong.

Surely any person in New York who is in need of such a remedy should try Vinol, as it is a simple preparation with remarkable curative powers and won't cost you a cent if it does you no good.

Get Vinol from any of the following New York druggists:

We, the undersigned, retail druggists of New York, being Sole Agents for Vinol in this city, are prepared to guarantee it, in the strongest manner, and positively agree to return money to any one who buys Vinol of us and is not perfectly satisfied. Your money will be returned without red tape or embarrassing questions. This shows our faith in Vinol and that the purchaser takes no chances in trying it.

Mrs. E. J. Bell, 213 Walworth street, Brooklyn, says: "My daughter has gained over a pound a week since she began taking Mi-o-na. Her appetite is good and she enjoys her food very much. Her face and limbs are filling out, and she has a good color. She has also regained her spirits, while she used to be so melancholy that I thought at times she would lose her mind. They Say That Radium Is the Most Powerful Thing in the World.

Had you been in the Pulitzer Building about 9.05 Monday morning you would have been convinced that the most powerful thing in the "World" is a Want Ad.

Think of three little lines of type lifting 600 husky Sons of America up three flights of stairs in haste.

Have you ever seen a football rush? Talk about "going down the centre" on the gridiron!—but think of coming up the stairway, up the balustrades and down the hallway on the third floor! And all because of a little World Want Ad.

THE STORY.

The World's Want Ad. Manager has troubles of his own, but he knows the best way to rid one's self of them is through World Wants. He wanted some distribution work done, and desiring 10 men to do it he wrote the following:

WANTED—10 strong men to carry bundles. Apply Monday, 9 A. M., room 51, World Building.

This Ad. appeared in the Sunday World last Sunday.

Monday morning as the hands on the City Hall clock neared the hour of 9 very nearly SIX HUNDRED APPLICANTS for the place came to the Pulitzer Building.

They came from the North,
They came from the South,
From Brooklyn and 'cross the Hudson's mouth.
They came from near,
They came from far,
By "L" and "Sub" and surface car.
