VALET SUGDEN FOUND GUILTY

Convicted for Raiding the Residence of R. T. Wilson.

Sequel to His Acts in Getting the Handwriting of Two Suspected Men.

Having, as He Thought, Traced the Libelers of Miss Wilson, He Took His Payment.

Special Dispatch to THE CALL.

NEW YORK, N. Y., Oct. 8.—Albert V. Sugden, formerly valet at the house of Millionaire Richard T. Wilson, 511 Fifth avenue, father of young Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr., was found guilty in the General Sessions before Recorder Goff of stealing diamonds and jewelry worth $2000 from his employer. The jury recommended him strongly to the mercy of the court.

Ambrose H. Purdy, counsel for Sugden, said his client had taken the property of Mr. Wilson because he believed he had a right to do so. Sugden had a claim for $1300 against Mr. Wilson for endeavoring to find out who wrote some scurrilous anonymous letters to Miss Grace Wilson, now Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr.

A lawyer, he said, had told him (Sugden) that if he could get hold of any of Mr. Wilson's property he could keep it until his claim had been satisfied.

Sugden himself testified that he was told by Mr. Wilson if he would get the handwriting of a certain society editor he would be made a rich man.

Upon cross-examination he said he had taken the property upon the advice of Robert P. Noah. He admitted, however, that he had taken $130 from the room of Robert Goelet, who was staying at the Wilson House. He admitted, too, that he knew the money was Goelet's, and that Goelet did not owe him anything.

Mr. Wilson denied that he had promised $1000 to Sugden or an increase of his wages. He never commissioned Sugden to act as a detective to find out who wrote the anonymous letters to his daughter.

"He spoke to me often," said Wilson, and I paid little attention to him. I had become suspicious of him, for I thought he was giving out information about me to reporters."

Sugden did get a copy of the handwriting of a society editor and the superintendent of the Knickerbocker Club which he showed to Mr. Wilson. Both letters had been written to Sugden.

Robert P. Noah, a lawyer, denied that he had ever advised Sugden to get possession of some of Mr. Wilson's property.

The verdict was guilty of grand larceny in the second degree. Sugden was remanded until Wednesday for sentence.

A SUCCESSFUL CONCERT.

The Members of San Francisco Conservatory of Music Entertain Their Friends.

The San Francisco Conservatory of Music gave a concert last evening at the Metropolitan Temple. Several pretty selections were given, but the honors were easily won by the Conservatory Mandolin Club. This club is formed of players of mandolins, guitars and cellos. They played Brogini's "Vita Gaia" and some sweet Hawaiian melodies. R. McLean yielded his place on the programme to little Miss Eva Bolger, who sang "Scenes That Are Brightest," from "Maritana." This little lady is possessed of a very sweet voice, and she uses it to the best advantage, indeed it is seldom a voice so well developed is found in one so young. Following is the programme rendered:

FRAMING A CHARTER.

The Convention Labors Over the Board of Health Problem.

The charter convention resumed its labors last night over the framing of the proposed charter for the freeholders' deliberations.

The public utilities committee's report was disposed of, after which the Health Department question was taken up on the report of the committee. Sections from one to five were discussed by the committee of the whole, in which some trivial amendments were made, the principal ones being reducing the term of eight years residence in the city as a qualification for office to three years, in section one.

In section two the term of office was changed from six to three years, and also that the Board of Health should contain at least three physicians instead of four as drafted in the committee's report. Two of these should retire at one, two and three years for the first term, and none to hold office longer than three years, instead of six as provided for in the original draft.

Another change was made by the substitution of a layman for a superintendent of the City and County Hospital instead of a physician.

EATON ACCUSED BY MRS. BELL

Arraigned in Court at Napa on a Charge of Embezzlement.

Accused of Taking Furniture Valued at Two Hundred Dollars.

Warrant for His Arrest Issued at the Instance of a Detective.

Special Dispatch to THE CALL.

NAPA, CAL., Oct. 8.—The preliminary hearing in a case in which prominent San Franciscans are principals was begun before Justice Bradford to-day. The title of the case is the people vs. George R. Eaton, and the charge preferred is embezzlement.

The complaining witness is Mrs. Theresa Bell, whose participation in the Bell estate case is so well known, and the defendant is the Eaton who figured with her in the litigation.

Mrs. Bell charges that Eaton embezzled furniture valued at $200 belonging to her. The furniture was first stolen, she claims, by Ernest Geiger from this county. Geiger is now serving fourteen years at Folsom for the crime.

The complaint alleges that in January, 1896, Eaton, acting as agent for Mrs. Bell, came to Napa and claimed the furniture which G. E. Caldwell, as attorney for Geiger, had in his possession for delivery to the claimants.

Eaton shipped the goods to his ranch near Walnut Creek instead of to San Francisco, and upon his return to that city, told Mrs. Bell he could not find her property.

Eaton thereafter deserted Mrs. Bell's cause in the estate case, and at a time when she had a detective on the track of the furniture.

The detective claims to have found information of Eaton's guilt, and a warrant was accordingly issued for his arrest. Constable Allen of this city went to San Francisco two weeks ago and took him into custody.

Fred Bell, who opposes Mrs. Bell in the estate case, is here as a witness. The case will be concluded to-morrow morning.

TO BUY MINING MACHINERY.

Joseph Ladue, Founder of Dawson, Comes Here to Receive Bids.

Joseph Ladue, founder of Dawson City, Klondike pioneer, owner of rich claims and proprietor of the Dawson Sawmills, is at the Palace Hotel, having just returned from a visit to his old home in Plattsburgh, N. Y., and to the metropolis.

While in the East he succeeded in his plan of incorporating a big company to mine the new gold fields. The corporation is called the Joseph Ladue Gold Mining and Development Company and is composed of the following men as officers and directors: President, Joseph Ladue; vice-presidents, Hon. Smith M. Reed and Hon. C. M. McIntosh, who is Lieutenant-Governor of Northwest Territory; secretary, Elmer Francis Botsford; other directors, Chauncey M. Depew, president of the New York Central Railway; Hon. Thomas L. James, ex-Postmaster-General; H. Walter Webb, third vice-president of the New York Central; W. J. Arkell of Leslie's Weekly; Irwin C. Stump, mining man; J. Nesbit Kirchoffer, Canadian Senator, and John Carson, controller of the New York Central.

President Ladue is accompanied here by Secretary Botsford. They have come to receive local bids on mining machinery to be shipped to Dawson next spring. They will remain in this city several days and from here will go directly east.

They will take to Dawson both hydraulic and quartz mining machinery, which will be sent in by the Yukon River route, possibly in a special steamer to be chartered by them, but probably by the regular company steamers.

MAY BE CRIPPLED.

The Health Department Appeals to the Supervisors for More Funds.

The Health Department has appealed to the Board of Supervisors to divert money from other funds into that of the department to prevent the crippling of the department for the coming fiscal year. The communication is, in part, as follows:

We submit that should this appropriation of $50,000 prevail it will be necessary for the Health Department to proceed at once in the curtailment of its force of employes and the complete abandonment of several of the most important projects successfully inaugurated during the past fiscal year. It will be necessary to close the four food inspection stations and discontinue the system of milk inspection, now being carried out, and which your honorable board will admit has been of incalculable benefit to the city of San Francisco. It will be necessary at the same time to discharge almost the entire force of assistant milk inspectors in order to reduce the monthly expense of this department; furthermore, it will be necessary to abolish the chemical and bacteriological laboratories connected with this department, in both of which institutions continuous and conscientious investigations have been made since their establishment and which have contributed in a great measure to the enlightenment of the community on the subject of adulterations in foods and the existence in our midst of diseases dangerous to human life.

It is a little play which tells of a goat-herder who is madly in love with the daughter of a wine vendor, and his fate lies in the result of the year's product of grapes.

The music of the play was written by Mr. Maxwell, the leader of the Sonoma band.

BAD BREAKS AS TO THE BONES

Professor Dorsey Refutes Statements of Dr. Allport.

Points for the Defense of Luetgert Shattered in Rebuttal.

An Impeachment of Testimony Makes the Case Look Dark for the Sausage-Maker.

Special Dispatch to THE CALL.

CHICAGO, ILL., Oct. 8.—The evidence of the prosecution in the trial of Adolph L. Luetgert is now before the jury. The State rested its case this afternoon. The closing testimony was of the same impeaching character that marked the evidence on the preceding day.

Professor George Dorsey had his innings during the afternoon session of court, and made matters unpleasantly warm for Dr. Allport. Professor Dorsey could have talked for hours upon the subject of osteology, but the prosecution confined him to matters tending to contradict and refute the statements made by Dr. Allport, the chief expert of the defense.

Professor Dorsey called attention to the fact that during his examination Dr. Allport had identified the femur of a gorilla as that of a man; that he had identified a human femur as a hog's femur; had declared that the sesamoid of a buffalo was the patella of a dog, and had given it as his opinion that a piece of the temporal bone of a shepherd-dog was the temporal of a monkey.

Dr. Allport listened to this evidence with a half incredulous smile playing upon his lips. Ex-Judge Vincent cross-examined the witness briefly without material benefit and let him go.

Then Judge Arthur H. Chestlain was called to the stand to add the finishing touch to the impeachment of Mary Siemmering. When the young woman was first arrested and charged with a guilty knowledge of the disappearance of Mrs. Luetgert, her attorneys applied to Judge Chetlain for a writ of habeas corpus. Judge Chetlain, sitting in chambers, had Mary Siemmering brought before him and questioned her. His Honor testified today that she told him that she had not made the application for release, but that her lawyer, Arnold Tripp, had done so and had set up the charge in the petition.

She told Judge Chetlain she had not been mistreated at the police station, and that she had gone to the East Chicago avenue police station voluntarily, as she knew she would be soon discharged, because she had done nothing wrong. Owing to this statement of facts Judge Chetlain dismissed the petition, and the young woman returned to the police station.

The evidence demolished the story of Mary Siemmering, who declared while on the witness-stand that she was subjected to indignities at the hands of Inspector Schaack, Captain Schuettler and other policemen. Angelica Schrader, a nurae, who was a member of Luetgert's household for three months, said that the missing woman was a most affectionate mother.

A sensation was created in the courtroom when a woman attired in mourning garb ascended to the witness-stand and held up her hand to be sworn. There were tears in her eyes as she sank into the witness chair. The woman was Mrs. Wilhelmina Miller, a sister of Mrs. Luetgert. So firmly impressed is she that Mrs. Luetgert is dead that some weeks ago she donned mourning in memory of her sister. Mrs. Miller testified while her brimming eyes were fixed upon the face of Luetgert. The big sausage-maker returned the gaze coolly. Mrs. Miller told of the kindly disposition of her sister and asserted that no mother was more patient or kind to her children.

Fred Miller, nephew of Luetgert, and Deidrich Backner, a brother of Mrs. Luetgert, testified to having been frequent visitors to the home of the Luetgerts and to the kindness they had witnessed Mrs. Luetgert bestow upon her children. This evidence was called out to combat and impeach the evidence of Mary Siemmering and Mrs. Mary Charles, who testified that Mrs. Luetgert treated her children cruelly.

Policemen were called to impeach certain witnesses for the defense who had identified a picture of Mrs. Luetgert as that of a woman in Kenosha, Wis., on May 3, 4 and 5.

Detective Edward Wallbaum testified that Matt Scholey of Kenosha had told some weeks ago that the picture did not look like the woman Scholey saw at Kenosha. According to the witness, Scholey said he had not noted the appearance of the strange woman he saw in Kenosha sufficiently to be able to identify her, much less a photograph.

Detectives de Celle and Dean gave impeaching evidence with reference to other Kenosha witnesses who had said the woman they saw was, to the best of their knowledge and belief, Mrs. Luetgert.

Professor Mark de la Fontaine was called upon to impeach the evidence of Professor Long of the Northwestern University with reference to bones. He expressed views on the subject directly at variance with the ideas of Professor Long.

With this evidence the State rested. Judge Tuthill at once adjourned until Monday morning and hurried away to catch a train for Nashville, Tenn.

Next Monday, ex-Judge Vincent announced, the sur-rebuttal evidence will be put on. The defense will undertake the unequal task of impeaching a Judge.

A witness will be called to testify in rebuttal to Judge Chetlain's evidence as to Mary Siemmering's statement to him. This witness will be a newspaper reporter, who is said to have heard the young woman's statement.

State's Attorney Deenen estimated tonight that the prosecution of Luetgert would cost the county about $5000. Over $3099 was saved by the State's attorney's own corps of stenographers taking the evidence for him. The cost to the county in this trial, lasting two months, is about one-fourth the cost of the Cronin and the anarchist trial.

ANOTHER EAGLE ARRIVES.

It Struck a Telephone Wire and Fell on Front Street.

A nearly full-grown eagle, weighing as much as a fair-sized turkey and with a spread of wing of nearly six feet, was caught at about 6 o'clock yesterday morning at Front and Sacramento streets. The bird was evidently tired out from a long flight, and as it sailed low past the corner it struck a telephone wire and fell to the ground, where it was instantly surrounded by a lot of market people thereabouts.

Jacob Pachett, employed by Eveleth & Nash at that corner, grabbed a handy chicken-net and clapped it over the flapping but partly disabled bird. It was dragged into the store, caught by the wings and covered with a chicken-crate. It attracted much attention yesterday, where it was displayed on the sidewalk in a wooden cage. During the day its appetite and ambition returned with a rest and it disposed of a dead rabbit and a piece of beef.

UNDER WATER FOR TWO HOURS

Successful Test of the Submarine Wrecking Boat Argonaut.

Sunk at the Columbian Dry-Dock With a Party on Board.

Plenty of Air and Light Furnished and the Men Enjoyed Themselves Under the Surface.

Special Dispatch to THE CALL.

BALTIMORE, MD., Oct. 8.—The Lake submarine wrecking-boat Argonaut had a test at the drydock of the Columbian Iron Works to-day, remaining under water for two hours. Those in the boat were Simon Lake, inventor of the boat; Edward L. Peacock, John McInnes and Alexander Cochran, who are connected with the Columbian Iron Works; S. T. Champion, secretary of the stock company which is building the boat, and Mr. Wilson, an experienced diver from Washington.

From the exhaust for the gas engine used in the boat a rubber hose led to the surface. Through another hose attendants in a rowboat conversed with those inside the submarine vessel.

The depth of the water in the dock was twenty-one feet, and when totally submerged the highest part of the Argonaut was less than five feet below the surface. When she rested on the bottom of the dock messages were sent from above to those below through a tube in a copper cylinder. Replies were received from those confined under water, telling their friends that everything was working satisfactorily.

Electric lights, generated by the gas engine, gave plenty of light, and the quantity of compressed air was said to be sufficient for the number in the boat to have subsisted until to-morrow morning. Just before she came to the surface the air inside was so fresh that those sealed up within smoked cigars with comfort.

GRAND CONCERT AT SUTRO'S.

Fritz Scheel's Symphonic Orchestra Will Appear To-Morrow Afternoon.

Fritz Scheel's big symphonic orchestra is announced to appear at Sutro Baths to-morrow afternoon. A popular programme has been arranged for the occasion, which promises to be one of exceptional interest to all lovers of good music. The orchestra numbers seventy-five pieces and its personnel is said to be superior to any of its size in the country. Scheel's magnificent qualities as a director are too well known to require any supplementary mention, and his happy faculty of judging the popular taste insures a programme both delightful and artistic. Some of the selections that proved so popular during the Midwinter Fair will be interpreted Sunday, and the eminent director's versatility will once more be impressed on a San Francisco audience. The concert will begin at 2:30 o'clock.

THEIR TICKET IS COMPLETED

Republicans Ready to Open an Important Campaign.

Success Means a Good Government for Greater New York.

Every Nominee Receives the Unanimous Vote of the County Convention.

Special Dispatch to THE CALL.

NEW YORK, N. Y., Oct. 8.—The Republicans have completed their nominations and they will be the first to open the campaign for good government in Greater New York. Arrangements are complete for the monster ratification meeting to be held in Cooper Union to-morrow night, at which General Tracy and Senator Foraker will speak.

The candidates for county offices nominated last night at the adjourned session of the County Convention are accepted with great satisfaction. Every nomination was made by unanimous vote of the convention, and the ticket is regarded by leaders as an exceptionally strong one.

W. M. K. Olcott and Thomas L. Hamilton, candidates for District Attorney and Sheriff respectively, are two of the most popular young men in the Republican party in this city. Both are vigorous campaigners, and they will take the stump in a few days and lead the fighting.

General James R. O'Beirne, nominee for County Clerk, has been prominent in local politics for many years and always been a consistent Republican. He has a large personal following and is very popular with the rank and file of the party.

The ticket from top to bottom represents straight Republicanism. There have been no deals or compromises with political bushwhackers who demanded offices for an unnumbered and uncertain following. Several factions were represented in the original anti-Tammany conferences, but when the Republican leaders found that the leaders of these factions were merely seeking places on the ticket for broken-down political hacks they refused to recognize them in any way, and put up straight party candidates. The men nominated on both the city and county tickets have no records to explain.

The Tammany situation is unchanged.

TROUBLE IN GEORGE'S RANKS.

Indorsements That May Cause the Citizens' Union Ticket to be Knifed.

NEW YORK, N. Y., Oct. 8.—The most sensational event of the day in the municipal campaign was the action taken tonight by the Henry George campaign committee.

The Citizens' Union County ticket in New York County, the McLaughlin Democratic County ticket in Kings County, the McLaughlin Democratic County ticket in Kings County, the Mullen Democratic ticket in Richmond and the Madden Democratic county ticket in Queens County, all are to be indorsed. At 11 o'clock it was said that the assembly and aldermanic and borough tickets of these same organizations had also been indorsed, but this could not be verified. The Georgeites started in to name a city ticket of their own, and by 11 o'clock Charles Frederick Adams, for the president of the council, was the only man chosen. It is understood that he will withdraw as a candidate for the Court of Appeals against Judge Alton B. Parker, the regular Democratic candidate.

What the effect will be is hard to forecast, but to-night it looked as if it would demoralize Mr. George's forces. The United Democracy, which first nominated George, declared to-night, through its leaders, that it was done with the George movement. Secretary Stover of the Democratic Alliance was equally outspoken and said his organization would knife George if the ticket was forced on it. The Populists seemed to take the same view.

Later it was said that Charles Frederick Adams has not been chosen for president of the council, although he will probably be. It developed, as was admitted by Citizens' Union leaders and Georgeites, that there was a deal on between the two.

In the gardens around London there are more specimens of the cedar of Lebanon than on Mount Lebanon itself.

NEW TO-DAY.

NEW CURE

FOR ALL DISEASES!

In this age of deep thought, profound reasoning and scientific research, almost every day gives birth to some new invention or valuable discovery. In the great battle of health against disease, our stands pre-eminent and alone. It is unequaled, and is the most advanced and successful method of treatment for all classes of diseases ever known.

There are many diseases which are positively incurable through electrical or medical treatment alone, but which readily and quickly give way before the combined influence of these two great agents which form our

NEW ELECTRO-MEDICAL CURE.

This wonderful combination of electricity with medicine is mighty and magical in its action—one penetrating the system from without and the other from within, hand in hand, and ferret-like, they hunt the most minute lurking places of disease, find it, annihilate it, and exterminate it, vitalizing the entire system, quickly healing and restoring the most forlorn and despairing patients to grand and glorious health.

SCHOONER BRYANT SAILS INTO PORT

Vessel Which Many Feared Was Lost Casts Anchor on the Sound.

No Mishap Encountered After She Had Been Dropped by the Tug Holyoke.

Special Dispatch to THE CALL.

PORT TOWNSEND, WASH., Oct. 8.—The schooner W. J. Bryant, which started to St. Michael in tow of the tug Holyoke, but parted her hawser in the storm of September 21 near Unimak Island, sailed into port this morning safe and sound.

R. A. Turner, who went north as chief engineer on the steamer Eliza Anderson, returned on the Bryant. Speaking of the storm of the 21st he said:

"After the steamer Eliza Anderson broke down and was deserted in Dutch Harbor I began to look for some way to get myself and wife back to the Sound. The first opportunity was that afforded by the schooner Bryant, in tow of the Holyoke and en route back from St. Michael. As the room on the tug was limited we boarded the schooner and started on the 20th of September. That day a terrible blow came on, and the tug with the schooner in tow hove to. I have been going to sea all my life and never saw seas run as high as at that time.

"In the midst of the storm the hawser parted, and it was well it did, as the rolling of the schooner when attached to the hawser was tearing the gunwale off her bow. If the hawser had not parted we should have been compelled to cut loose or to lose all the schooner's fore gunwale. After parting from the tug we lay-to that night and all next day, expecting the Holyoke to pick up us again, but we never caught sight of her. Captain Smith then started for the latitude of Cape Flattery."

Clew to the Angels Stage Robbers.

MILTON, CAL., Oct. 8.—In the course of his investigation of the recent stage robbery on the road between Milton and Angels Camp, Deputy Sheriff Oxendine concluded to-day that the padlock on Wells, Fargo & Co.'s wooden box, which was rifled at the time of the hold-up, had been forced with a coldchisel. This discovery has given the officer an important clew to the identity of the highwaymen, the search for whom is still being vigorously made.

RANDSBURG, CAL., Oct. 8.—Stuart Fulton, a recent arrival from Cripple Creek, Colo., was stricken by apoplexy this afternoon and died within forty minutes. He was a practical miner and prospector and a member of the G. A. R.
