Lincoln Man Has Gained 10 Pounds

SAYS RUN DOWN CONDITION WAS QUICKLY OVERCOME AND HE NOW FEELS FINE.

"Tanlac seemed to be exactly what I needed, for after taking two bottles I am entirely relieved of my troubles and have gained ten pounds in weight," said J. H. Castle, of 2753 Dudley street, Lincoln, Neb., collector for the American Express Co.

"Before I began taking Tanlac I had been in a badly run-down, weakened condition for more than six months," he said. "My appetite left me almost entirely and my stomach became so badly upset I could not eat a single meal without suffering from it afterwards. After nearly every meal I would be up with gas, which pressed on my heart and lungs until I could hardly breathe. I was also troubled a great deal with constipation, nearly always had a dull headache, and often became so dizzy I could hardly stand up. I just felt miserable all the time, lost a lot of weight, and had little life or energy left.

"Tanlac had been so highly recommended to me I decided to give it a trial, and I am certainly glad I did, for in a short time I was feeling simply fine. I now have a splendid appetite, and my stomach is in such good shape I can eat just anything I want without suffering from it afterwards. I am never troubled with constipation and have not had a headache or dizzy spell since I first started taking Tanlac. I am full of life and energy, and am enjoying the best of health in every way. After what Tanlac has done for me, I can not say too much for it, and I am always recommending it to others."

Tanlac is sold in Dakota City by Neiswanger Pharmacy, in South Sioux City by McBeath's Pharmacy, in Homer by Brassfield & Jensen, in Hubbard by Duggan & Heffernan.—Advertisement.

A most shocking accident befell John Carpenter, merchant at Willis, Neb., early Sunday morning, when his general store in which he and Joe Hendricks, an employee of the elevator company at that place, were sleeping, was destroyed by fire, and Mr. Carpenter was burned to death.

The two men were awakened during the night by the smoke fumes and Mr. Hendricks succeeded in reaching the front entrance of the building, where by the aid of William Mackey who lives just across the street, he was rescued from the from the burning structure. By that time the interior of the store was a mass of seething flames and it was impossible to enter it and rescue Mr. Carpenter, who was overcome by the heat and smoke. His body was recovered the following morning, and was burned almost to a crisp. The fire is supposed to have started from an oil stove which had been left burning under a bunch of green bananas in order to ripen them. Mr. Carpenter lived on a farm a mile or more from the store, and often slept in the building. A "better sires—better stock" campaign is being conducted by the farm bureaus of forty Nebraska counties in an effort to improve the quality of stock kept on general farms. Many farmers realize that it pays to use nothing but purebred sires. It costs no more to feed an animal of good breeding than it does a scrub, and the results are much more gratifying. The use of purebred sires to produce animals for the feed lot is of much importance, as most feeders realize. To encourage the use of better sires, farm bureaus award an emblem to farmers who use nothing but purebred sires.

PUBLIC OPPOSES GOV'T OPERATION

Canvass of 5,154 Editors Shows 4,466 Communities Against Socialistic Experiment.

OPPOSITION GROWING

Eighty-seven Per Cent in 1920 as Against 83 Per Cent in 1919
Think Public is Opposed to Radicalism.

The American public is more intensely opposed to Government operation than it was a year ago, according to the newspaper editors of the country. Out of 5,154 editors replying to a questionnaire sent out by the Press Service Company of New York, 4,466, or 86 per cent, gave it as their judgment that the people of their communities were overwhelmingly against the Government competing in business with its own citizens.

In 1919 the Press Service Company conducted a similar canvass of editors on the government operation of railroads. That questionnaire showed that 83 per cent of the editors considered their communities against Government operation of public utilities.

Apparently, then, if editors estimate public opinion accurately, that opinion in a year, considered by communities, has swung 3 per cent farther away from socialistic experiments.

Eleven Million Circulation.

The combined circulation of the papers whose editors replied is 11,428,817, which means, according to the usual estimated ratio between circulation and readers, a constituency of at least 44,000,000. And this constituency is pretty evenly scattered throughout the country, no considerable section of any state being unrepresented. The estimate of opinion based on this thoroughly diffused 44 per cent of the country's population may, therefore, be considered a fair representation of the people as a whole.

Another feature of the result is its evident lack of partisan bias. The major political affiliations of the papers represented are fairly evenly divided, being 1,857 Republican and 1,350 Democratic. There are also 1,485 independent and 462 miscellaneous, including labor organs, etc.

How little the results are affected by the politics of the papers is shown in an analysis by sections. In the Southern section, for instance, where replies came from 65 Republican papers and 389 Democratic, the percentage against Government operation was 88; in the Great Lake section, with conditions reversed, 478 Republican and 155 Democratic, the opposition was 87 per cent.

Replies from the West, Middle West and Southwest show that it is a mistake to consider those sections vastly more favorable to radical Government experiments than the East. The radicals can get little comfort out of the 89 per cent of thumbs down—2 per cent above the average—in the Southwest, including Arkansas, Louisiana, Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas. Texas, once supposed to be much given to Government regulation experiments, returned 92 per cent of unfavorable replies. Out of the 244 editors replying from that state only three edited Republican papers. The 82 per cent opposition of the Northwest, including Iowa, Minnesota, Montana, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota and Wyoming, and the 83 per cent veto of the Far West group, including Arizona, California, Idaho, Nevada, New Mexico, Oregon, Colorado, Utah and Washington, are significant of the prevailing conservative sentiment on this question even in the more radical sections.

Judgment Apparently Unbiased.

The questionnaire closes with a request for the editor's personal opinion on certain concrete cases as follows:

"Do you personally believe that the Federal Government should own and operate competitive industries to provide: (a) Fertilizer? (b) Clothing? (c) Automobiles? (d) Farm implements? (e) Foodstuffs?"

Substantially all the editors who gave estimates of their readers' opinions also expressed their own by replying to this last question. Proof of considerable effort to avoid personal bias is found in the fact that in many cases the editor differed from the opinion he credited to his community. The percentage of "nos" ran: (a) 70; (b) 83; (c) 86; (d) 82; (e) 70.

While the questions were based on general principles involved in the Government participating in competitive business, the so-called Muscle Shoals Bill now before Congress was used as a concrete example of a Government operation scheme. Under this bill a Government-owned corporation would be given broad powers to operate and develop Government plants and properties. It would produce at Muscle Shoals various fertilizer products and sell them in competition with producers and merchants in the fertilizer business.

The strength of the opposition to Government operation is indicated by the replies from Alabama, where the Muscle Shoals war plant is and where, of course, there is intense interest and local pride in getting its expected peace-time operation under way at the earliest possible date. Fifty editors from that state replied, of whom 88 were opposed to Government operation, 8 in favor and 4 doubtful.
