"ALDERMEN NO GOOD," HE CRIED TO THE BOARD

Man Who Raised a Disturbance Thrown Out of the Chamber.

There was an uproar in the Aldermanic Chamber this afternoon just after the session began.

A gray-haired man, who had evidently been drinking, sat in the gallery. He was unable to hear exactly what was going on, and finally shouted:

"The whole damn Board of Aldermen is no good. I tell you it's no good."

A scene of wild disorder followed. President Fornes, who was presiding, hammered on his desk so hard that he almost reduced it to kindling wood. As the uproar continued President Fornes jumped up and down shouting, "Throw that man out!"

Two husky men who draw salaries from the city for just such work, got hold of the old man in a twinkling. The man was thrown into the park and his hat was thrown after him. He was recognized as a former follower of Hugh McLaughlin, of Brooklyn.

ARRESTED IN AUTO HURRYING TO SICK

Judge Suspends Sentence on Chauffeur Who Was Speeding Woman to Injured Husband.

MINEOLA, L. I., Oct. 3.—While speeding along the Jericho Turnpike in an automobile, which was carrying Mrs. Henry Schepping to the bedside of her husband, who was injured yesterday in an auto accident at Lakeville, and who is now in the Nassau Hospital, Frank Roswell, a machinist, who was driving the auto, was arrested almost in front of the grand stand which has been erected for the viewing of the trotting race on Oct. 14.

Roswell, according to the three constables who arrested him, was exceeding the speed limit. He explained that he was hurrying Mrs. Shepping to her husband, but the constables refused to free him, and they took him before Justice Tatem, in the office of District-Attorney Coles.

Roswell explained to the Judge his predicament, and he was allowed to go under a suspension of sentence.

ENGINEER LEAPS TO SAVE MAN.

Jumps Into Water After Victim Struck by Train—Man Dies in Hospital.

(Special to The Evening World.)

MOUNT HOLLY, N. J., Oct. 3.—The train which leaves here at 7.47 struck a man who was walking on the second railroad bridge above the station today. John Downs, the engineer, tried in vain to stop his train, but the man was hurled into the creek.

Downs sprang into the water and brought the man to shore. He was still living, and was hurried to the Burlington County Hospital, where he died in less than an hour.

It is thought the stranger, who is about fifty-five years old, had been working on the cranberry bogs. There was nothing about the body leading to his identity.

KNOCKED DOWN BY HIGHWAYMEN.

Youth Robbed of Valuable Watch and Chain, Ruby Ring and K. of P. Charm.

Theodore A. Dulfer, nineteen years old, a druggist's clerk, living at Morris and Grafton avenues, Woodhaven, is lying unconscious in St. Mary's Hospital, Brooklyn, from a blow on the head received from highwaymen.

Dulfer was on his way home before daybreak when he was attacked in Atlantic avenue just beyond the city line. In a moment of consciousness he told the police he remembered nothing but the impact of a blow that rendered him unconscious.

The highwaymen robbed him of a valuable gold watch and chain, a K. of P. charm and a gold ring set with rubies.

The physicians say Dulfer's skull is not fractured and he will recover.

PRIEST WITH GUN ROUTS 4 BURGLARS

Father Carrigan, Awakened by Noise at Window, Fires on Gang.

(Special to The Evening World.)

PAWTUCKET, Oct. 3.—The Rev. Edward F. Carrigan, pastor of St. Edward's Catholic Church, proved a brave defender of his home at 2 o'clock this morning, and put to flight a quartet of would-be burglars by firing three shots from his revolver.

Father Carrigan had retired for the night on the upper floor of the rectory at No. 58 Hancock street, when he was awakened by the noise of some one attempting to raise a window. Looking out, he saw four men.

The pastor seized his revolver and sent three bullets after the men, who took speedy flight.

Arthur Blatz Died in Convulsions After a Night of Suffering.

P. R. R. AGENTS GET A "RAZE."

Salaries of Ferry-House Employees Will Be Reduced Nine Per Cent.

The ticket agents and clerks employed in the ferry-houses of the Pennsylvania Railroad have been notified that on Nov. 1 their salaries will be reduced 9 per cent.

It was only two years ago that their salaries were raised 10 per cent. The road is doing more business now than it was then, but it seems to be the idea of the directors, according to those to be affected by the reduction, that it is up to them to retrench and cut down expenses.

Hafer was a cabman and the son of Harry E. Hafer, of Reading, Pa.

(Special to The Evening World.)

SOUTHAMPTON, L. I., Oct. 3.—Great surprise was caused here to-day by the finding of the body of a man who had died from alcoholism in an old barn in the rear of Roache McNally's house.

The town is "no license," and while it was known liquor was being illegally sold, its dispensation in quantities sufficient to cause death caused astonishment. Dr. George H. Schenke said the man had been dead thirty-six hours.

MRS. CHADWICK APPEALS CASE

Woman Convicted on Seven of Fifteen Counts Awaits in Jail Court's Decision—Faces Ten Years' Sentence.

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 3.—The petition for a writ of error for Mrs. Cassie L. Chadwick, charged with bank wrecking and convicted at Cleveland of conspiracy to defraud, was at the head of the calendar of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, whose fall term opened here to-day.

The record of the case is one of the most voluminous ever brought into this court, comprising 316 printed pages and giving in detail all the steps taken in the case. Mrs. Chadwick was convicted on seven of the fifteen counts in the indictment, and her attorneys, Dawley & Wing, brought the case to Court of Appeals on a writ of error, alleging that the initial court had erred in various particulars, that the alleged offense is not a crime under any statute of the United States, positioning for a new trial.

Mrs. Chadwick is now in the Cuyahoga County Jail awaiting the decision of the United States Court of Appeals. If the decision is against her she will at once begin her sentence of ten years in the Ohio Penitentiary, and a prosecution in the State courts on other indictments is threatened in case she gets clear of the charges made in the Federal Court indictments.

RAMSEY WANTS GOULD STOPPED.

Fight for Control of the Wabash Railroad Is Taken to St. Louis Court.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 3.—Suit for an injunction was filed in the St. Louis Circuit Court by Joseph Ramsey, jr., President of the Wabash, against the Iron Mountain and Wabash Railway Companies, the Mercantile Trust Company of New York, Walter S. Wilson, H. M. Walker and George J. Gould.

In his petition Mr. Ramsey asks the Court to grant him an injunction preventing the proposed annual meeting of George J. Gould and his associates at Toledo, O., where it is proposed to elect a board of directors and a President to control the Wabash road for the next year.

Judge Taylor, to whom the suit was assigned, ordered the defendants to show cause Friday next why a temporary injunction should not be issued.

F. W. Lehmann, attorney for Mr. Ramsay, said to-day:

"The importance of this action to the public is that it is a suit to enjoin rival companies of the Wabash from voting its stock and debentures."

DUBLIN THEFT A TRIVIAL ONE.

Denial from Ireland That a "Chicago Adventuress" Figures in Robbery of Antiquarian.

Stories of a gigantic diamond robbery committed by a Chicago adventuress and two Chicago crooks, who had been visiting in Dublin, were rife this morning.

John Mulhall, a wealthy antiquarian, it was said, had lost jewels of great value, after giving a large entertainment, to which the woman was invited. It was said also that the police of New York and Chicago had been asked to arrest the thieves and keep watch for the jewels, which were expected to be pawned in this country.

An Associated Press despatch from Dublin this afternoon says that the robbery was a trivial affair, only some curios and medals having been stolen. Some of the stolen articles were found wrapped in a handkerchief in the Grand Canal, Dublin. Others were discovered in the room of a man, and he and another man were arrested.

No adventuress from Chicago figures in the petty robbery.

HERE'S A BUSY CORNER.

It's Jackson's, and the Bargains Offered Delight Shoppers.

One of the busiest of the shopping centres along Sixth avenue is at the corner of Seventeenth street, where the new Jackson's store has been opened to the autumn shoppers with an elaborate line of suits, cloaks, skirts, waists and the many articles of wear which appeal to the feminine eye.

The Jacksons' establishment is not entirely new, but during the past few weeks the firm has been reorganized under the direction of M. A. Steinberg, managing partner, and the building has been stocked with a large line of the finest domestic creations and French and English importations in the way of fall and winter suits, cloaks and furs.

The store occupies a roomy and remodelled building, five stories high, with an area of 25,000 square feet of floor space. Thousands of shoppers pressed their way into this building yesterday, and overflowed among the counters and tables loaded with the showings of new goods and new ideas. The special force of clerks was rushed throughout the day, and when closing time came the store was still filled with interested shoppers, examining and buying.

The new long coats which will be seen along Fifth avenue this season, Oriental lace waists, Panama and chevlot skirts were shown in an elaborate variety of style and fabric that made one wonder at the efficiency of the new store's buying force, and the many bargains offered by the management were snapped up in a most gratifying way. ***

COTTON BREAKS ON CROP REPORT.

The publication of the October bureau report, showing the condition of cotton to be 71.2 per cent. against 72.1 per cent. last month and 75.8 per cent. last year, was followed by a sensational break in the cotton market to-day.

Prior to the publication of the report expectations of a bearish showing had caused a decline of about 10 to 15 points, and inside of fifteen minutes after the figures were known the decline was increased to from 35 to 44 points on active months, with December selling at 10.15 and January at 10.19.

This was about a cent and a quarter a pound below the high level touched early in July.

Chicago's closing prices were: December wheat, 84 3-8 to 84 1-2; May, 85 5-8. October corn, 49 3-4; December, 43 5-8 to 43 3-4; December, old, 44 5-8 bid; May, 43 1-8.

STOCKS MIXED ON THE LONDON EXCHANGE.

LONDON, Oct. 3.—Money was slightly easier in the market to-day in consequence of the release of dividends, &c., but foreign demands prevented a material decline. It is stated that $4,000,000, being practically all the bar gold in the open market, was bought up for America yesterday, resulting in a hardening of discounts.

Americans opened irregular and dull and mostly below parity. The movements frequently were lower on realizations. The market closed dull.

Foreigners generally were depressed. Japanese Imperial Sixes of 1904 were quoted at 106 1-4.

BANK BALANCES' TOP MARK

All Records Broken as Wall Street Puzzles Over Last Week's Report.

Balances of the Clearing House banks to-day were greatly in excess of all previous records, amounting to $42,831,709 as against $39,995,793 on Saturday last, which was the previous high record.

The large figures of the past few days are a further reflection of recent financial operations. These include heavy October disbursements for interest and dividends, payments for Pennsylvania and Atchison syndicate undertakings and other operations not yet disclosed. The banking community is still at a loss to account for last week's illogical bank statement. A careful analysis of the statement made to-day showed that a large amount of the entire surplus reserve was held by one bank.

TUESDAY, Oct. 3.

Record-breaking figures from the Clearing House to-day augmented the gradually improving monetary situation. Students of the ticker tapes who are basing hopes of a big market movement on a copious inflow of cash into the New York bank vaults read these Clearing House figures with great elation.

The balances at the New York Clearing House to-day aggregated $42,831,000, the largest in the history of this institution. Furthermore, the total clearings for the day—$499,592,000—have been exceeded only a few times in the history of the Clearing House. The record debit balance at the Clearing House was made to-day by the National Bank of Commerce, the amount being $37,661,000. This formidable aggregation of deposits represents payments made on different bond subscriptions. The National City Bank, which is New York City's principal depository for moneys received for taxes, had a debit balance at the Clearing House to-day of $10,545,000.

The stock market remained relatively dull, for the reason that the heaviest operators are waiting until normal monetary conditions have been actually restored. Pool managers kept up a semblance of activity in order to sustain prices, but no concentrated efforts were made to put the quotations up. There were some special movements, such as the 2 per cent. advance in American Smelters. Such advances, however, were the results of pool activities a little out of the ordinary.

Joseph Ramsey, jr., who is fighting to wrest the control of the Wabash Railroad system away from the Goulds, reawakened public interest in his fight to-day by applying for an injunction to prevent George J. Gould from voting the Debenture B bonds at the annual meeting of stockholders to be held on Oct. 10. There are $26,500,000 of these bonds, and each $100 is entitled to a vote. These bonds, together with the Debenture As, which also have a voting privilege, practically stood in the way of the sale of the Wabash road to the Vanderbilts a few years ago. The only thing that the holders of the Debentuhte Bs enjoy is the right to vote. These bonds are subsidiary to the first and second general mortgage bonds and are entitled to 6 per cent. interest "when earned." Thus far no interest has been paid. The Vanderbilts declined to invest heavily in Wabash stock, knowing that the voting power of $26,500,000 of stock could be nullified by an equal amount of non-income debentures.

The much talked of "melon" in Northern Pacific did not materialize at the stockholders' meeting to-day. The most interesting feature of this meeting was the election of J. Pierpont Morgan, jr., to succeed the late Daniel S. Lamont as a director. Nearly all of the old directors were re-elected.

Sir Thomas Shaughnessy's observations concerning his trip over the Canadian Pacific Railway, of which he is President, throws some light on the recent extraordinary market movement of Canadian Pacific stock. London is buying all of this stock that it can get and a few American shareholders, headed by Jefferson M. Levy, are putting forth daily efforts to add to their holdings. President Shaughnessy says that the millions of dollars spent in improvements of late years have made the Canadian Pacific the best road that crosses the continent. The company now has more than 600 miles of new lines under construction. Money to help pay for these extensive improvements is constantly flowing in from profitable sales of lands granted to the company by the Canadian Government. Mr. Shaughnessy says: "There is such a wave of prosperity flowing over the Canadian West that nothing can impede it. The production of wheat in Canadian Pacific territory has increased to a phenomenal extent." The stimulated stock market interest in Canadian Pacific within the past few days has been accompanied by a revival of the stories of a friendly alliance in the Northwest between James J. Hill's Great Northern Railway and the Canadian Pacific.

President Edwin Gould's annual report of the operation of the St. Louis & Southwestern Railroad for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1905, apparently justifies the roseate claim now being made by the Gould group of brokers regarding the prospects of the entire Gould Southwestern system. The St. Louis Southwestern has a total surplus of $3,145,155, an increase of $802,950 during the past year. President Gould says: "This company is absolutely free from floating debt and has no outstanding notes or bills payable of any kind, and on the other hand the amount of cash and other working assets is largely in excess of the amount of current liabilities."

The professional tipsters have been for the past two weeks industriously talking up a boom in the Gould stocks. Already a Missouri Pacific pool of considerable strength and scope has been formed.

Curb brokers had a dull day. No substantial features developed, and the sensational flurry in Chicago Subway stock appears to have completely subsided.

HAS 15 CHILDREN, SEEKS DIVORCE

After Twenty-seven Years of Married Life Mrs. Perillo Wants to Obtain Release from Her Marriage Ties.

The fifteen children born to Mrs. Perillo did not appear in court in her suit for separation against Vincent Perillo, but they were, nevertheless, silent witnesses in a way against her. Justice Dowling in the Supreme Court is of the opinion that since she lived with her husband long enough to bear so large a family she is rather late in discovering that he is intolerable.

The Perillos live at Crotona and Pelham avenues, in the Bronx. Perillo is a well-to-do contractor. The couple were married in Italy and came to this country in 1887. There were fifteen children born, and then after twenty-seven years the wife decided that her husband and she ought to separate. She began suit. In it she alleged that her husband pulled a mattress out from under her one night and made her sit up all the rest of the night because he liked to see her suffer. She also alleged that her husband struck her.

She sued for counsel fees and alimony, and the case was set down for trial by her lawyer, Herman H. Baker, of No. 61 Montague street, Brooklyn.

Justice Dowling in his decision says: "Every allegation in her moving papers is, in my opinion, successfully controverted by defendant, and I am unable to see any prospect of plaintiff's ultimate success in the action. Motion for alimony and counsel fee denied."
