EDGREN'S COLUMN

WILLIE LEWIS was to have fought welter-weight champion Joe Walcott in Michigan Tuesday night. By the Governor's orders the fight was prevented. The fighters and a small number of spectators withdrew to an adjacent county to pull the scrap off in a neck of the woods. Walcott refused to scrap unless a purse was put up. While the matter was being discussed a sheriff stepped in, and the affair was definitely called off.

Now comes Willie Lewis with one of the funniest claims ever made in connection with a ring fizzle. Lewis says that Walcott forfeited his title by demurring to a match with no purse attached. Willie, therefore, begs to be regarded as the champion of the world by default.

Nay, nay, Willie.

Walcott signed for a match before a certain athletic club, for a certain purse. When that match was legally prevented he was under no obligation to go out into the woods, skip away from sheriffs and fight for nothing.

CHAMPIONSHIPS are not won in this country without fighting. Over in England a man can claim a title if the holder refuses to fight within a reasonale time after being challenged. A man who has never put on a boxing glove can claim a championship if the title holder refuses to meet him after a challenge has been issued and a suitable side bet posted as an evidence of good faith. Willie Hopp, the boy billiardist, could become heavyweight champion of England if he challenged the champion, posted two hundred pounds as a forfeit and had the challenge turned down.

But in this country we like to see championships earned in the ring. Battling Nelson won his lightweight honors by defeating all of the best lightweights in the country. Jim Jeffries won his by knocking out Fitzsimmons. Fitz took the light heavyweight title by whipping Gardner. Tommy Ryan fought his way through all of the middleweights in the game. Walcott won the welterweight crown by thrashing Rube Ferns in less than five rounds. Bowker outfought Frankie Neil and took his bantam title on the referee's decision.

If Lewis wants the title so badly he must make another match with Walcott somewhere else and then take it—if he can.

GUS RUHLIN, finding it impossible to drag Marvin Hart into a battle for the "championship" that Marvin claims, has retired from the ring temporarily. He is now teaching boxing in Billy Elmer's gymnasium. The Akron Giant says he will stay in good shape and will keep one eye open for anything that may turn up in the fighting line.

FITZSIMMONS and Jack O'Brien may fight for the heavyweight championship.

In my opinion no one now in the ring has a better right to battle for that title than Fitzsimmons.

He was the holder of it before Jeffries took it away.

Nobody else has ever beaten him or shown any superiority in the ring.

Fitzsimmons is still ready to fight whenever he can get on a good match.

He bars absolutely no one. The best suit him.

With Jeffries out of it the title must naturally revert to the former holder, Fitzsimmons, unless Fitz is beaten or retires from the ring.

THE Fitz-O'Brien battle will be a hummer. When they fought in Philadelphia O'Brien cut Fitzsimmons to ribbons for three rounds. Then Fitz pulled himself together and battered Jack to a standstill. The police jumped into the ring thirty-five seconds before the end of the sixth round to save O'Brien from a knockout.

Fitz was in poor condition to fight. He was drawn into a clever trap. After training for the original match he was told that the authorities had refused to let it go on. He went entirely out of training. O'Brien kept on working. Later Fitz was informed that the match could be held, but that the mayor would not allow anything but a mild boxing exhibition, and that there must be no real fighting. It was so advertised.

Fitz didn't train at all for this postponed bout, thinking that he would not need to be in shape for a mere exhibition.

Half an hour before going into the ring he was informed that there would be no interference after all, and that he would be expected to fight.

BUT Fitz has been out of the ring for a year now. He is a year older, and that counts at his time of life. O'Brien, on the other hand, has been fighting often. He has travelled all over the country. His fight only a few nights ago showed that he is in surprisingly fine shape. He is young. It may not be an easy thing for even Fitzsimmons to beat him.

NEW SWIMMING RECORD.

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—Oscar St. Cyr made a new world's record for swimming forty yards last night in the tank of the Chicago Athletic Association, covering the distance in 21 seconds. The record was made in a contest in which St. Cyr defeated three contestants.

COLUMBIA FEARS THE YALE ELEVEN

Local Boys Have Little Hope of Beating Players from New Haven.

As the time draws near for Columbia's struggle on the gridiron with Yale local enthusiasts are beginning to lose hope, for the great strength of the New Havenites is thoroughly realized. It is thought that the attack presented by Yale will be fully as versatile as that of Princeton and will have considerably more power. In addition to having two tackles to stop on formations with Forbes and Biglow carrying the ball, Columbia will have to defend against Tripp, too, for the guard has recently been used to advance the ball.

Yale has a fast set of backs and they should give even more trouble than did those of Princeton. The Blue is better equipped in the kicking line than were the Tigers, and besides Yale has Tad Jones, the star freshman quarterback, who will do valuable service for the New Haven collegians in carrying the ball.

It is more of a superstition than anything else that Columbia is likely to play a great game against Yale. Hitherto, the New Yorkers have been matched against the Connecticut team earlier in the season and Yale has not been in condition to roll up big scores.

WON'T LET THORP PLAY.

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 2.—Thorp, the football player who was recently dropped from Columbia University because of deficiency in his studies, has appeared at the University of Virginia and an effort is being made by the athletic association to play him on the Virginia team. President Alderman says, however, that he would not be permitted to play.

BOWKER PUTS OFF GO WITH ATTELL

English Champion Is to Be Married and Wants Quiet Honeymoon.

Abe Attell will not fight Jem Bowker, of England, for the international feather-weight championship until some time after the first of the year. Abe received a letter yesterday from Bowker, in London, announcing his decision in this regard.

The little Britisher's reason is a sentimental one. He is to be married within the next few days, and as his wife does not want to spend her honeymoon nursing him back to life, or with a bridegroom who has been battered out of the majority of his good looks, he has determined to defer to her wishes.

"Besides," Bowker naively writes, "you might trim me, and I want to be a champion all through my honeymoon."

SPORT QUERIES ANSWERED

Sporting Editor Evening World:
Kindly answer the following questons: Do extra bases made by a player increase his batting average? I understand that they count the same as a single hit in figuring a player's average. A friend of mine disputes this. Has Bresnahan, of the New York Nationals, made any home runs this season? If he has, how many? And, lastly, what is the scale of prices during this world's series between the New Yorks and Philadelphias at the Polo Grounds?
I. D. NELSON.
No. 145 West One Hundred and Twenty-third street.

1. No. All hits count the same. 2. Bresnahan did not make a home run. 3. $1.50, $1, 50 cents

Sporting Editor Evening World:
Did Britt ever hold the light-weight championship and did he win it from Joe Gans?
A. H.

No. He was light-weight champion of California only. He did not defeat Joe Gans, the latter winning on a foul.

Sporting Editor Evening World:
Kindly decide the following bet in your paper: A bets B that McGraw came to New York from Baltimore the latter part of 1902. B says that he came to New York the beginning of the season of 1902. ALBERT.

A wins. McGraw came here the latter part of 1902.

Sporting Editor Evening World:
To decide a bet kindly inform us did Manager McGraw, of the New York Giants, play in any game this or last season? A says he did not. B says he did. Thanking you in advance. X. Y. Z.

McGraw ran bases twice and played left field one inning, but did catch a ball or go to bat.

Sporting Editor Evening World:
Please answer in your valuable newspaper, The Evening World, about the world's series between the Pittsburgs and the Bostons two years ago. A bets the Pittsburgs won the first three games. B bets that they did not win the first three games. Who wins? A or B, and oblige CONSTANT READER.

Pittsburg won the first two; Boston second, Pittsburg third and Boston the next three.

Sporting Editor Evening World:
Please oblige and answer this question: A bets that John L. Sullivan was never champion of the world. B bets he was. Who wins? J. J. R.

All fight experts have agreed that he was champion.

Sporting Editor Evening World:
Please inform me through your valuable columns in The Evening World whether Roger Bresnahan's batting average was ever below .300 during the past season. Thanking you in advance, I remain, A. Y. McP.

It probably was, as was every other batter's. Batting averages are not figured officially except for the season. Bresnahan finished .302.

Sporting Editor Evening World:
Bet is made on a ball game, not knowing there were two games to be played. Each team wins a game. Who wins bet? A. S.

Score of first game decides the bet provided both bettors were ignorant of the fact that two were to be played.

Sporting Editor Evening World:
Kindly let me know if there were 32,000 people who attended any one of the four games played at Boston between Pittsburg and Boston.

No. Official figures do not show that 32,000 people ever attended a ball game anywhere.

BASEBALL NOTES.

Billy Gilbert, the diminitive second baseman of the Giants, it is said, will soon be married to Miss Blanche Althea, of the Althea Sisters, dancers. Gilbert is a switcher.

George McBride, of the St. Louis Cardinals, wants the National Commission to ascertain what proof there is against him on the charges made that he had thrown games in the postseason series between the two Mound City teams. McBride protests his innocence of any wrongdoing.

Sammy Strang and Bobby Operman, of the Brooklyn Club, have gone to Chattanooga, Tenn., where they are arranging for a big fox hunt. Strang is a veteran in that line of sport.

Jim McGuire, the patriarch of baseball, unless he helps out some minor league this year, will not join another league organization. He will not be engaged by New York next season. Jim has a paying cafe and saloon at Adrian, Mich., and will likely stick to it.

James Hart says that when he first became connected with baseball the scorers only kept outs and runs. Their duty was to sit by the players and call out who was at bat and "on deck." The scorer's remuneration was the privilege of having his picture taken with the regular team.

BASKETBALL.

At a meeting of the Basketball Committee of the Metropolitan Association of the A. A. U., held at the office of Dr. Luther Halsey Gulick, chairman of the committee, it was practically decided to hold two classes in the basketball championships, senior and junior, the senior to be men of unlimited weight and the junior to be under 120 pounds. The weighing in shall take place immediately before each game. The championship shall be decided in February.

The question of reinstating Daniel Ahearn, Charles Carlson, Arthur P. Fourette, Frank L. Fourette and Frank L. Carlson, members of the Middletown Y. M. C. A., who were suspended for playing the St. George Field Club on March 24, 1905, came up and decision was reserved pending further information.

RACING ITEMS.

Rosebin, at 140 pounds, is top weight in the Bayview Handicap, seven furlongs, to be run at Aqueduct on Saturday.

Miller came back with his customary two winners yesterday, and, as it happened, he won on the two outsiders of the day, The Huguenot and Shenandoah. He had only two other mounts, and was second with Vanguard and unplaced with Cerulean. J. Martin, Scott, Jones and O'Neil each had one winning mount.

Briland appeared a false favorite in the second race. The old horse has hardly run a good race this year, but was supported yesterday in a most confident manner. Perhaps the long stretch at Aqueduct will be to his liking.

Willie Knapp, the jockey, will leave for California soon. He heads the list of winning jockeys for the season, but O'Neil is such a close second that in all probability he will be deposed before the end of the Aqueduct meeting.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

The high school football teams of Greater New York have played a sufficient number of games to give some line on their merits. In all probability the De Witt Clinton team, the Boys' High School team and the Commerce team will compete for the interscholastic championship.

Hockey teams are being organized in the following High Schools: De Witt Clinton, High School of Commerce, Boys' High School, Erasmus Hall and Manual Training High Schools.

Practice is being held in the gymnasiums of the various schools at present until the winter sets in.

The basketball teams of the high schools of Greater New York are preparing for a hard season. Last year the De Witt Clinton High School won the interscholastic championship and retained the trophy.

Manager Hurlburt and Capt. Clancy, of De Witt Clinton, have issued a call for volunteers to join the track team. Many veterans of last year are still on the team, and it is expected that Clinton will again win the interscholastic championship. The High School of Commerce and Boys' High School of Brooklyn are also reorganizing their track teams.

EASTERN BOWLERS SEEK PEACE IN THE A. B. C.

To-day in Chicago the executive committee of the American Bowling Congress holds its first session to consider plans for the next tournament and to ratify the work already accomplished by the Louisville Bowling Tournament Association, which has charge of local tournament matters. A very important message has been sent to the executive committee by the special committee of the New York Association. It relates largely to the matter of peace proposals, tending to re-establish harmony between the East and West.

* * *

Charles Ebbets, the peace envoy to the last National Bowling Congress, at Milwaukee, is chairman of the special committee, and his views on the peace matter are well understood. Having been personally involved in the matter of the first split between East and West at Buffalo, and, being an alley owner, with thousands of dollars invested, his position at this time argues well for a solution of the peace problem. It now seems to be up to Chicago to grip the olive branch, and if the alley owners there mean well for bowling, the Louisville tournament will be a success.

* * *

How the solution of the peace matter affects other cities may be learned from the following statement by H. Mills, President of the Eastern League and managing owner of forty-eight alleys in Philadelphia, the largest number under such control in the United States. He said:

"Philadelphia bowlers want to see Greater New York bowlers as represented by the New York Bowling Association, interested in the American Bowling Congress. The Association withdraws because of differences over the loaded ball and other matters which it believed should be controlled through local action. I do not propose to discuss the merits or demerits of the case except to say that in some cases local option will be found more advisable in certain matters.

"It has been proposed that the next annual tournament should be held in the East, and Philadelphia has been suggested as the place. Philadelphia alley owners and bowlers would like the tournament, and will give freely to make it a success, probably more than any city in the East. But I wish also to state most emphatically that I will vote and work against the tournament coming to Philadelphia if the New York Bowling Association refuses to make peace with the American Bowling Congress. Without the entries from Greater New York the tournament would not be a success in any respect, and a failure would hurt bowling all over the country.

"It cost us $450 more to send a five-men team to the Milwaukee tournament last year, and I doubt that but for the short distance between Milwaukee and Chicago the event would not have had half the interest it received. It was the most successful ever held. Philadelphia would get a few teams from the North Washington and Baltimore. New York would send 300 teams to Philadelphia, and Brooklyn probably 200 more. That means success, and the greatest boom bowling ever had, although at this time the sport was never in better shape or the alley-owners more prosperous.

"This is a hint of what the latter ought to do at this time. The matter of harmony between East and West is a subject of vital importance, and whether the next annual tournament should go to Philadelphia, Boston, Washington or any Eastern city, it must depend upon what the New York Bowling Association is willing to do to make a harmonious and settled feeling to the question which for the best interests of bowling should and must be settled at Louisville in March."

SMITH DEFEATS ALLEN.

Jimmy Smith retains his honors as champion bowler of Brooklyn so far as the result of his series with Bert Allen is concerned. They met in the second series of games at the Angelica alleys last night, and Smith won six of the eleven games. The scores:

Smith—183, 170, 190, 184, 220, 213, 208, 220, 198, 188, 204.
Allen—252, 188, 202, 200, 157, 202, 201, 199, 165, 172.

In this series Allen had seven splits and ten errors, and Smith ten splits and two errors.

After the main match Smith rolled Allen two series—best three in five games for a series—with the following result. First series: Smith—187, 225, 191; Allen—201, 189. Second series: Smith—210, 225, 245; Allen—198, 214, 232.

Otto Hellias, of Brooklyn, has challenged Smith and posted a forfeit for a series of contests, the challenge having been accepted. Smith announced after the games last night that he is open to roll any man in America, but that all matches must be for at least $50 a side.

NEW YORK BEATS PHILA.

New York defeated Philadelphia bowlers in the Eastern League series at the Morningside alleys last afternoon and evening, the Manhattan people taking a large majority of the contests, being defeated only in the three-men competition, and in that only by sheer hard luck. The scores:

Individual Matches—Voorheis, New York—216, 199, 167, 258, 208. Trucks, Philadelphia—234, 214, 176, 175, 202.

Five-Men Teams—Rand and Voorheis, New York—322, 462, 463. Dunbar and Trucks, Philadelphia—387, 370, 405.

Two-Men Teams—Hicks, Wakefield and Voorheis, New York—538, 582, 640; Dewey, Dunbar and Trucks, Philadelphia, 534, 624, 553.

Five-Men Teams—Barnett, Byrnes, Douglas, Wakefield and Voorheis, New York—979, 1,017, 929. Denny, Barnes, Horne, Dunbar and Trucks, New York—959, 948, 924.

BOWLING GAMES TO-NIGHT.

New York Royal Arcanum League, Morningside Alleys—Tuxedo, Our, Colfax.

Pastime National Tournament, Eighty-fourth street and Third avenue—Sticker, Onawa, Harlem.

Broadway Tournament, Broadway and Myrtle avenue, Brooklyn—Gotham, Uncas, Suydam.

Harlem League, Kahlsdorf's—Belvidere, Enterprise, Sequoyah.

Greater New York Tournament, Brooklyn Palace—Logan, Pessy.

Broadway League, Schwartje & Arps—Broadway, Berckmann, Tuxedo.

Riverside League, Siever's, One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street—College, New Jersey, Orchard.

Amphion, Broadway, Brooklyn—Lakewood, Universal.

Jewellers' League, Universal, Brooklyn—N. H. White & Co., Cross & Beguelin.

Grand Central Tournament, Washington street, Brooklyn—Prosperity, Universal, Amphion.

National Provident Union League, Universal, Brooklyn — Centennial, Unity 2, Garfield 1.

Eastern Five Lady Championship, Harlem Circle—Bronx, Independent, Oleander, Poodle.

HEARD ON THE ALLEYS.

H. Mills, of Philadelphia, and one of the largest alley owners in America, after watching Voorheis roll in the Eastern League individual contests, yesterday said: "In his present form Voorheis is undoubtedly the best bowler in the United States. I know of none who can beat him."

* * *

Trucks rolls from the extreme right-hand edge of the alley with a fairly strong curve to the 1-3 pins. Voorheis has a three-quarter ball which strikes the alley about six or eight inches from the gutter.

* * *

Charles Ebbets, the peace envoy to the last national bowling congress at Milwaukee, is chairman of the Special Committee, and his views on the peace matter are well understood. Having been personally involved in the matter of the rst split between East and West at Buffalo, and being an alley owner with thousands of dollars invested, his position at this time argues well for a solution of the peace problem.
