CLOTHING.

STRANGE METAMORPHOSE.

Sure Bridget's me wife; and see she "me dear Teddy
Yer the joy of me life and I love yer already;
But much harder I'd love you from yer head to yer toes,
You swate Turtle-dove you, if yer'd got some new clothes."

So I wint down the strhate, just to hunt up a sthore,
Whin who should I mate but Timothy Moore:
"For new clothes I'm frettin', Tim, where shall I go?"
"Why yes sure yer'll be getting at Smith Brothers & Co."

Thin for fear I'd be late I made haste to Smith's sthore,
It is on Sixth street, sthrate, number four sixthy-four;
And for mighty few greenbacks I got a whole suit,
With none of yer seam-crack—and handsome to boot.

I hav'n't been drinking, but faix I must laugh—
Ha, ha, I am thinking of me faded bether half,
As I walked in me house, to me Smith Brothers suit;
See I "Kiss me, swate mouse"—see she "Get out, yer base brute."

She didn't know me from Adam, so to kape up the joke
See I "Me dear madam me poor heart you have broke;"
Thin she whacked me a scoring across me pug nose,
Out the blood came a pouring and ran down to me shoes.

"Och, Biddy, how cross! tis yer own Teddy yer've pounded,
Me nice clothing, swate jewel, yeresif has confounded."
If yer'd enjoy metamorphose, there's but one plan I know—
Get a suit of nice clothes at Smith Brothers & Co.

In addition to his varied assortment of likenesses, Mr. Brady has a COLLECTION OF VIEWS
of almost every point made historic in the recent conflict, which it may be presumed will be valued by not only those more immediately concerned, but their friends, as mementoes of the trials through which the nation has just passed.
Mr Brady always pays considerable attention to copying.
The new style of PORTRAITS IN PORCELAIN has been brought by Mr. Brady to perfection. ap2-tf

National Union Convention.

A National Union Convention, of at least two delegates from each congressional district of all the States, two from each Territary, two from the District of Columbia, and four delegates at large from each State, will be held at the city of Philadelphia, on the second Tuesday (14th) of August next.

Such delegates will be chosen by the electors of the several States who sustain the Administration in maintaining unbroken the union of the States under the Constitution which our fathers established, and who agree in the following propositions, viz:

The union of the States is, in every case, indissoluble, and is perpetual; and the Constitution of the United States, and the laws passed by Congress in pursuance thereof, supreme and constant, and universal in their obligation;

The rights, the dignity and the equality of the States in the Union, including the right of representation in Congress, are solemnly guaranteed by that Constitution, to save which from overthrow so much blood and treasure were expended in the late civil war;

There is no right, anywhere, to dissolve the Union, or to separate States from the Union, either by voluntary withdrawal, by force of arms, or by congressional action; neither by the secession of the States, nor by the exclusion of their loyal and qualified representatives, nor by the national Government in any other form;

Slavery is abolished, and neither can, nor ought to be, re-established in any State or Territory within our jurisdiction;

Each State has the undoubted right to prescribe the qualifications of its own electors, and no external power rightfully can, or ought to, dictate, control, or influence the free and voluntary action of the States in the exercise of that right;

The maintenance inviolate of the rights of the States, and especially of the right of each State to order and control its own domestic concerns, according to its own judgment exclusively, subject only to the Constitution of the United States, is essential to that balance of power on which the perfection and endurance of our political fabric depend, and the overthrow of that system by the usurpation and centralization of power in Congress would be a revolution, dangerous to republican government and destructive of liberty;

Each House of Congress is made, by the Constitution, the sole judge of the elections, returns and qualifications of its members; but the exclusion of loyal Senators and Representatives, properly chosen and qualified, under the Constitution and laws, is unjust and revolutionary;

Every patriot should frown upon all these acts and proceedings everywhere, which can serve no other purpose than to rekindle the animosities of war, and the effect of which upon our moral, social and material interests at home, and upon our standing abroad, differing only in degree, is injurious like war itself;

The purpose of the war having been to preserve the Union and the Constitution by putting down the rebellion, and the rebellion having been suppressed, all resistance to the authority of the General Government being at an end, and the war having ceased, war measures should also cease, and should be followed by measures of peaceful administration, so that union, harmony and concord may be encouraged, and industry, commerce, and the arts of peace revived and promoted; and the early restoration of all the States to the exercise of their constitutional powers in the National Government is indispensably necessary to the strength and the defence of the Republic, and to the maintenance of the public credit;

All such electors in the thirty-six States and nine Territories of the United States, and in the District of Columbia, who in a spirit of patriotism and love for the Union, can rise above personal and sectional considerations, and who desire to see a truly National Union Convention, which shall represent all the States and Territories of the Union, assemble, as friends and brothers, under the national flag, to hold counsel together upon the state of the Union, and to take measures to avert possible danger from the same, are speedily requested to take part in the choice of such delegates.

But no delegate will take a seat in such Convention who does not loyally accept the national situation and cordially endorse the principles above set forth, and who is not attached, in true allegiance, to the Constitution, the Union, and the Government of the United States.

A. W. RANDALL, Pres't.

O. H. BROWNING,
EDGAR COWAN,
CHARLES KNAP,

We recommend the holding of the above Convention, and endorse the call therefor.

(From the Snyder County (Pa.) Tribune.)

Great Union Meeting in Beaver, Pa., Endorsement of the President's Policy.

A very large and enthusiastic meeting of the friends and supporters of the President and his Administration was held in Beaver on the 5th inst. The large Court House was filled—packed to overflowing with Union, Johnson Republicans.

The Hon. Archibald Robertson, a life-long Whig and Republican, was called to the chair, who, upon taking his seat, delivered a few brief but interesting remarks, referring to our late lamented Chief Magistrate, and concluded by introducing Maj. Charles H. Shriner.

Maj. Charles H. Shriner, of Union county, Pa., addressed the meeting, in a speech replete with eloquence and argument. Mr. Shriner was an elector for the Fourteenth Congressional District, (Harrisburg,) at the last Presidential election, and cast the vote of his district for Abraham Lincoln and Andrew Johnson. He spoke for two hours, and held the audience wrapped in interest by his statistics, references to the Constitution, resolutions of Congress, proclamations of Mr. Lincoln, etc. He proceeded to say that President Johnson was but carrying out the policy of Abraham Lincoln. This he elucidated by the position of Mr. Lincoln at the commencement of the war, and at a subsequent period, when the war was in full progress; and lastly, at the time the war was closed, just prior to his murder.

2d. He showed that President Johnson's policy was endorsed by the National Republican Convention at Baltimore, against the protest of Thaddeus Stevens; and practically, by admitting the delegates from the States of Tennessee, Arkansas, Louisiana, and Missouri by a vote of 492 against 27.

At the close, Mr. Shriner offered the following preamble and resolutions, which were adopted unanimously:

Whereas, the American Congress did on the 21st of July, 1861, with but two dissenting votes, resolve that this war is not waged on our part in any spirit of conquest or subjugation, but "to maintain the supremacy of the Constitution, and preserve the Union with all the dignity, equality and rights of the several States unimpaired; and

Whereas, the lamented Abraham Lincoln did, on the 8th day of December, 1863, put forth a solemn proclamation containing his plan of reconstruction, based substantially on the above resolution of Congress; and

Whereas Mr. Lincoln did further, on the 11th of April, 1865, only three days before his assassination, reiterate and argue said plan of reconstruction at length, and with great ability and power; and

Whereas Andrew Johnson is now striving to carry out the policy thus begun by Abraham Lincoln; therefore,

Resolved, 1. That we recognize in Andrew Johnson the pure patriot, the great statesman, and the eloquent champion of the rights of the people, and that for his efforts to preserve freedom for us and our children from the dangers and encroachments of a centralized military despotism, he deserves the heartfelt gratitude of every friend of constitutional liberty.

2. That this Lincoln-Johnson reconstruction policy having been endorsed by the Union National Convention at Baltimore, and ratified by the people, we regard the faith of the nation as thereby pledged to its faithful execution and performance.

3. That we are for this policy of reconstruction, not merely because Mr. Lincoln originated it and bequeathed it as his dying legacy to the American people, but because it is in itself right, and the only policy, as we think, that can save us and our posterity from the horrors of such centralized despotism as now crush France, Russia, and Austria.

4. That the right of the people to make their own State laws subject only to the Constitution of the United States, is a right dear to them, essential to their liberties, and "dangerous to tyrants only."

5. That President Johnson has endeared himself to the hearts of all true friends of liberty by his veto of the Civil Rights Bill (so-called,) and of the Freedmen's Bureau Bill, the former of which denies to the people the right to make their own State laws, and imposes fine and imprisonment on State judges and juries for enforcing laws made in pursuance of rights guaranteed to the people by the Constitution.

6. That Hon. Edgar Cowan, by his able and manly defence of the Lincoln-Johnson policy, has shown himself the eloquent champion of the people's rights—the bold and fearless enemy of consolidation and despotism—and that his name shall be green in the hearts of the people long after those of his enemies are unhonored and forgotten.

SAMUEL DAVENPORT, Secretary.

The International Sculling Match.

Hamill is daily watched on the river at Newcastle by several hundreds of eager spectators, whilst during the intervals when he is not in his boat the curiosity-mongers are going about the town greedily seeking any information they can get concerning the affair. Matters too, are beginning now to assume a more businessl-ike aspect. Harry Clasper has now got the new boat finished for Hamill, and the latter, during the last few days, has been taking his regular breathings in her. She is a beautiful craft, measuring 30 ft. 2 ins. long, and 12 ins. wide in the centre, her depth being 4 1-2 ins. forward, 2 1-4 ins. aft, and 8 3-4 ins. amidships. She is built entirely of cedar wood, is beautifully polished, and weighs 33 1-2 lbs.

The American champion has also just issued his colors. Although being unused to the practice of having colors, a custom which is never observed in the States, Hamill at once determined to follow suit with the English rowing men. The design was made by himself, and certainly reflects very great credit upon his taste and ingenuity. The device is a white ground, with a linear border of red and blue. In the centre is a representation of a stone arch, as symbolical of the Union, the State of Pennsylvania—of which Hamill is a native—having its acknowledged chief place as the keystone of the structure. In each corner are nine stars in red, white and blue—so as to preserve the international character of the device—representing the thirty-six States in the Union. Above the arch is the name of the Keystone State, "Pennsylvania," whilst worked under the curvature of the arch is the inscription: "James Hamill, Champion of America."

The production has been very much admired by those who have seen it, and already several investments have been made in securing a memento of one—whatever may be the result of the competition—who had the pluck and the hardihood to travel so great a distance to contend against the aquatic champion of England.

Little or no betting has taken place on the event here up to the present time.—London Sportsman, June 16.
