The Clown easily best. Bellenicker, interfered with on far turn, refused to try thereafter. Waddell II., outrun easily, closed very strong. Bluecoat will not go this far and all his speed.

80 SECOND RACE—$400 added; maiden fillies and geldings two years old; one-half mile, old course. Start good. Won driving. Time—0:52. Winner, b. g., by Norwood—Lady Goda. Owner—J. E. Lane.

*Coupled.

Goodline was best; finished out good and game. Windfall showed great improvement. So did Wabash Queen. No excuse for Merry Lassie; she seems to be faint-hearted. Belle of Oakley balted into the fence at the start and unseated Burns.

81 THIRD RACE—$400 added; maiden colts two years old; four and a half furlongs, old course. Start poor. Won driving. Time—0:55. Winner, b. c., by Orlando—Hannabell. Owner—Chelsea Stable.

Black Knight, practically left, was best. Encore closed strong. Tileing a quitter. Tudor knocked out of the race on the far turn.

82 FOURTH RACE—The Southern Steeplechase. Pink Coat Handicap. $750 added; about two and a half miles. Start good. Won driving. Time—5:30. Winner—br. g., by Black Cock—Valorous. Owner—Mr. Cotton.

Gamecock is wonderfully game. Stood a terrific drive and was beautifully ridden. Oleroso, ailed he shedding and taking the shortest way around, had no excuse. Too much speed for Ironheart.

83 FIFTH RACE—The Amateur Cup; selling; three-year-olds and upward; gentleman riders; $500 added; six furlongs. Columbia course. Start bad. Won driving. Time—1:27 2-5. Winner, b. g., by The Proper—Hazel Land. Owner, Chelsea Stable.

RACE TRACK, BENNINGS, April 10.—This was a day of surprises here to-day. They started in the opening dash, when Waddell II., a 200 to 1 shot, "dropped from the clouds" in the stretch and finished bang up a length behind the odds-on favorite, The Clown. Loricate, at 60 to 1, was only a nose behind the "work your own ticket" horse.

Only three favorites got home, and the players of choices didn't get any the best of it. In the second race three outsiders split the money, although the winner, Woodline, was well backed from 10 down to 6.

The last race furnished another surprise, when Phoebus, who was as high as 20 to 1, squeezed home in front by a nose.

200 to 1 Shot Dropped from Clouds.

The players started the day right on their strides, putting over the Clown in the opening race, after backing him from even money to 3 to 5. Waddell, second, at 200 to 1, dropped from the clouds in the stretch and beat out Loricate a neck on the post for the place. The Clown, Bluecoat and Bellenicker raced on even terms to the far turn, where Bellenicker was shut in and dropped back fast. In the run home Bluecoat slowed.

Long Shots Split the Money.

Woodline, played from 10 to 6 to 1, took the two-year-old race by two lengths from Windfall, a 20 to 1 chance. Windfall was a neck before Wabash Queen, also 20 to 1. Merry Lassie, the favorite, made all the running to the stretch, where she stopped to walk. The Belmont pair broke well but could never keep up.

The Wrestler a Good Thing.

The Wrestler was a heavily played good thing in the third and staggered home a length before Tileing. Encore was third, the same distance away. Tileing made all the running and it was only because he stopped suddenly that the good thing got up. Black Prince, practically left at the post, closed a rushing fifth. Kerr, who rode Encore, claimed a foul against the winner, but the stewards did not see it that way.

The Southern Steeplechase set the crowd cheering as few Suburbans have done. For a mile Gamecock and Oleroso raced like a team. All through the stretch both were under the whip. It was a finish worthy of the best programme, and in the last few strides Gamecock, by sheer gameness and a wonderful finish by Mr. Evans, drew away to win by three-fourths of a length. Iron Heart was third. My Grace and Mr. Parrott came to grief over the last fence but one.

Mr. Tucker Wins Amateur Cup.

The Amateur Cup furnished an exciting finish, in which Mr. Tucker on Paprika was given the decision over Mr. Nicholas on Thomond. Dion Kerr on Castor was third. Thomond, Paprika, Castor and Pheon all swarmed down the stretch noses apart. When Mr. Tucker went to the whip on Paprika the latter swerved over to the rail, pinching out Thomond and Castor.

Phoebus at Last Gets Home.

In a nose finish Phoebus won the closing race from Grand Duchess. Setauket was a poor third. The pacemakers, Proceeds, Watercourse and Henry Waring all stopped to nothing on the stretch.

HIGGINS MUST SHOW HIS HAND ON TURF BETS

(Special to The Evening World.)

ALBANY, April 10.—Encouraged by their success in getting out the local option bill to-day, the representatives of the churches intend now to force favorable action on the bills to prevent gambling on race tracks, which is slowed away in committee.

A large delegation of clergymen, it is expected, will come to Albany the latter part of this week and appeal to Gov. Higgins to use his influence in favor of the measure. They contend that the Governor, in view of his favorable statements on the subject, should take an aggressive stand and call upon the leaders in the Legislature to line up in favor of the measure.

The representatives of the churches behind the bill declare that Higgins must indicate whether he is in favor of against betting on the race tracks, and intimate that they will make his alleged flop from the support of their measure to put a stop to betting an issue of the coming campaign.

A move will be made to-morrow or next day to take the betting measure from the control of the Codes Committee of the Senate, where it is being held by the vote of Senator Hill, of Buffalo, and secure a vote on it in the open House.

RAPID TRANSIT BILL GOES TO THE GOVERNOR.

(Special to The Evening World.)

ALBANY, April 10.—The Assembly this afternoon passed without a dissenting vote the Elsburg Rapid Transit bill. The measure now goes to the Governor for his signature.

POLO GROUNDS, NEW YORK, April 10.—Like sprouts after a spring shower the Giants bobbed up on the field to-day fresh and full of ginger. New York fans evidently feared there would be no game, for at the hour of starting the game against Providence not more than 200 persons were on the stands, consequently the game started late and the Champions spent the intervening time in practising on the damp field.

During the preliminaries McGraw played every position in the infield and kept the small crowd laughing with his many antics. Jack Dunn showed up with his Eastern League champions at 3 o'clock and Jack being a former member of McGraw's club was applauded as he walked across the field. Dunn has a strong looking team and from their practice performance the Giants had no cinch.

First Inning.

Pollard slapped the first ball pitched to Devlin and was thrown out. Harley followed with a grounder to Gilbert and suffered the same fate. Ames made easy work of Dunn. NO RUNS.

Bresnahan popped to Dunn. Browne laid a beautiful bunt in front of the plate and beat it with ease. Maddox threw wild to first and George sprinted all the way to third. Donlin walked. Donlin stole second. Browne came home on the throw. McGann popped one up to Dunn and Mertes went out to Dunn also. ONE RUN.

Second Inning.

Devlin threw out Brodie on an easy grounder and McGann got Rock's rollers, dissing it to Ames who covered the bag. Barton walked, but Krueger struck out. NO RUNS.

Dahlen walked and scored to third on Devlin's two-base drive down the right foul line. Gilbert singled to left, scoring Dahlen and putting Devlin on third. Ames struck out. Bresnahan sent a high one to Brodie and Devlin scored. Browne again hit safe, sending Gilbert to third. A moment later

NAPLES COLLAPSE KILLS 200 AFTER VESUVIUS HORROR

Refugees Buried in Ruins of Building Carried Down by Weight of Ashes from Volcano and People Turn in Wrath On Authorities.

NAPLES, April 10.—Two hundred homeless refugees from the volcano district were crushed to death this morning in the collapse of the great Mount Oliveto market place.

The great building had been turned into a barracks to shelter a part of those who have been driven from their homes by the eruption of Vesuvius. It was crowded to its capacity when the roof fell in from the weight of cinders and ashes from the volcano.

In addition to those killed, the number injured by falling timbers and crushed in the wild panic to escape runs into the hundreds.

Rioting followed the crash, the people who thronged about the ruins claiming that the building was not safe and the authorities knew it. There were clashes between the police and throngs who seemed demented by the horror they faced.

Bodies of sixteen dead persons were taken from beneath the ruins of the Monte Oliveto Market within two hours after the accident, and 175 injured persons were being cared for at the hospitals.

The wildest scenes followed the collapse. Physicians and military were summoned from all quarters. The soldiers worked heroically, spurred by the piercing shrieks of agony from the imprisoned victims.

King Hurries to Spot.

Cordons of police fought back the frenzied crowds to permit the physicians and priests to minister to the wounded.

GEORGE SUTTON BEATS CUTLER AT BILLIARDS

Chicago Player Easily Vanquishes Boston Man.

Cutler—3, 40, 0, 0, 0, 11, 4, 50, 0, 0, 61, 7, 0, 0, 1, 0, 1, 20, 0, 2, 7, 7, 1, 4, 1—Total, 220.

Sutton—0, 5, 0, 0, 6, 109, 5, 1, 0, 14, 30, 0, 17, 33, 0, 55, 1, 116, 5, 1, 51, 1, 4, 43, 3—Total, 500.

George Sutton, of Chicago, this afternoon defeated A. G. Cutler, of Boston, in the second match of the international billiard tournament at Madison Square Garden concert hall, by a score of 500 to 220. Sutton's highest run was 119, and his average 20. Cutler's high run was 61, and his average 8 20-32.

Cutler won the bank and took the white ball. He made a good opening, but retired after a bad kiss with a score of three. Sutton missed and Cutler on his seventh shot got the balls under control. His thirteenth shot was a line-up, but by brilliant masse the player extricated the balls for a good position, gradually working them out for centre table nursing. The twenty-sixth shot was a very accurate two-cushion drive. His position work was clever, stroke well nigh perfect and judgment good. He fell down on the fortieth shot, which was a difficult long three-cushion draw.

Cutler opened with a three-cushion, round-the-table shot which brought the balls into good position on the upper corner rail. He quit on a difficult final shot with five, but left the balls safe in this and the following inning. In his fourth Sutton scored a blank on an easy carom. A successful two-ball drive gave Cutler an opening in the sixth, but he fell down at eleven on a close "go-around," leaving the balls in good shape for Sutton.

An End to End Drive.

In this run he did some admirable nursing, and it was not until his thirty-seventh shot that he was compelled to make an end to end drive. This gave him back his upper end rail position and he went on with his nurse play. At fifty he was in full control of the balls, and played strong billiards. At sixty-five he got the balk-line position for the first time and played it up to eighty-three points. Then followed some very delicate carom work in the open spread up to ninety-seven, when the balls were again brought to the side rail, where he kept them under good control.

He stopped at the tournament high run record of 109.

Sutton drew a blank in his tenth inning and Cutler came to the table with the balls in fair position. He tied the score of Sutton on his thirty-ninth shot, his playing being a mixture of nursing and driving of merit.

Up to this point the playing had been of a greatly superior sort of billiards over that of Monday night, indicating that, as usual, the afternoon games are of a kind that experts cannot afford to miss.

Sutton Got Fair Lead.

Sutton got a fair lead in the fourteenth inning and, playing them well on the lower rail, ran up thirty points, leaving the balls frozen in the upper right hand corner. Cutler, by a fancy kiss shot, excited applause. His cue ball traveling across the table length and back and the red ball to the side rail both meeting in the centre. One point was all he got in this inning, however, and then after both players had missed Sutton again, by clever upper rail or short table and line nursing, running his score up to fifty before breaking for a drive across the table.

In the eighteenth Sutton made a run of 116. The score then stood: Sutton, 392, and Cutler, 198.

Sutton scored his 500th point in the twenty-fifth inning.

George F. Slosson will play Louis Cure, of Paris, to-night; Jacob Schaefer, of Chicago, will meet Ora Morningstar to-morrow afternoon and Willie Hoppe and A. G. Cutler will meet to-morrow night.

FALSE RAID RUMOR DREW A BIG CROWD

Almost as Much Excitement as Though a Real Raid Was in Progress.

In some unaccountable manner a rumor started in the neighborhood of Sixth avenue and Twenty-eighth street this afternoon that Capt. Hodgins, of the Tenderloin station, was raiding a suspected poolroom in a house in Twenty-eighth street, a few doors east of Sixth avenue.

Again 1000 persons swarmed into the block. Their presence and the threatening attitude of some intimidated the four policemen on duty. Word was sent to the station. Capt. Hodgins, Sergt. Roundsman Anderson and the reserves in a patrol wagon to the scene. The wagon tucked up to the door of the suspected house, as it would do in a real raid, and the reserves jumped out and began pushing the crowd back.

The appearance of the patrol wagon started the raid rumor again. The crowd was greatly augmented. It was half an hour before the squad of policemen could convince the crowd that no raid was in progress.

During the excitement Henry Rogers, of No. 659 Claremont avenue, Bronx, and George Munroe, of No. 18 Second avenue, got into a dispute and began pummelling each other. They were minus teeth and plus black eyes when Detectives Murphy and Brosnan, of the Tenderloin station, tore them apart and locked them up on charges of disorderly conduct.

OLIVE LOGAN, OLD AND INFIRM, GOES TO COURT

Bent with age, shabbily dressed and her face seamed with years of sorrow, Olive Logan, once a noted beauty of the stage and gifted authoress whose talents had won her the friendship of such men as Augustin Daly and Alfred Tennyson, pleaded before Magistrate Cornell in the Harlem Court to-day to help her reform her husband.

"I love him still, Judge," she declared, "but if he continues to drink he will kill every spark of the affection I have always had for him."

The Magistrate looked at the sorrow-stricken figure of the woman on the bridge and at the sodden-faced man who peered up at him from the prisoner's bar.

"Are you the same Olive Logan who wrote plays for Daly?" he asked.

"Yes, Your Honor," was the response. "But I am poor now, and have not been able to write for many years."

Magistrate Cornell said that he would put the case over till to-morrow to investigate. In the meantime the woman's husband was taken to the court prison and she returned to the flat they occupy at No. 253 Seventh avenue. Mrs. Logan said she had married her husband, who is younger than she, fourteen years ago, after he had been her office boy for some time. She met him in London.
