General Orders, No. 80.

Paragraph 1 of General Orders No. 149, dated December 22, 1868, from these headquarters, is hereby modified to read as follows:

"That the stay of executions against personal property, so far only as the same exists under laws lately in force, and which, by the provisions thereof, expired on the first day of January, 1869, shall be, and is hereby, extended until the first day of January, 1870, provided that the debtor shall have paid subsequent to January 1, 1869, and before August 1, 1869, one year's interest upon the principal sum due; but if before the last named date such payment of interest shall not have been made, no execution shall be further stayed against personal property as provided for in this order;" and provided further, that in cases where the principal debt is due to the estate of any minor, widow, or unmarried woman, or insane person as the beneficiary of a trust, whether in the hands of executors, guardians, administrators, trustees, commissioners in chancery, or other fiduciary, or invested by any such in his or their fiduciary capacity, in addition to the payment of one year's interest as above required, one third of the whole arrears of interest on the principal sum due shall be paid by the debtor on or before the first of September, 1869, and one half of the remainder of the said arrears of interest on or before the first of November, 1869, to entitle such debtor to the stay of execution provided for by this order.

PERPETUAL LIFE INSURANCE

Guaranteed After the Payment of One Annual Premium.

ALL POLICIES POSITIVELY NON-FORFEITING.

Branch Office New Jersey Mutual Life Insurance Company,

NO. 310 F STREET,

Between Fourteenth and Fifteenth Streets, (Law and Exchange Building,)

WASHINGTON, D. C.

A careful examination of our system cannot fail to convince all who have examined the subject of life insurance, that the NEW JERSEY MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY presents advantages that are not offered elsewhere, especially in the provisions of non-forfeiture made in the Policy by which no one can lose a Policy or fail in securing a portion of their insurance after one annual payment has been made.

The Agent takes pleasure in acknowledging the liberal patronage with which the Company has meritorious the citizens of Washington and vicinity, many of them being our leading business men. Grateful widows and orphans stand ready to acknowledge our promptness in the payment of all our losses. The popularity of our Company and the large increase of our business here may be seen in the fact, that although we have only been established in this Agency a little more than two years, and have made no noise about it, large advantage, yet we paid on the Corporation in Washington last year, (as the books of the Register will show) tax on a larger income than a large majority of the Companies doing business in this city.

All we ask is a careful examination of our system, and we feel satisfied we shall still have our share of the business.
