HIGGINS WARNS THE INSURANCE TINKERS TO STOP

People Demand that Bills Go Through as Drafted, He Says Officially.

(Special to The Evening World.)

ALBANY, April 19.—"The Legislature will have to stay here until it kills the White amendment to the Insurance bill, even if it takes all summer to do it."

This was the remark Senator Armstrong of the Insurance Investigating Committee made as a prelude to his fight to-day for a reconsideration of the vote by which the White amendment, emasculating the General Insurance measure was passed in the Senate.

The twenty-six Senators who voted yesterday against the interestts of the policy-holders, it is said, were ready to resist the efforts of Senators Armstrong and Brackett to restore the bill to its effective form.

Ex.-Lieut. Gov. Woodruff, it was reported, would be here to further promote the claims of the directors now in power. It was largely owing to Woodruff's activity that the amendment was put through yesterday.

Later Mr. Woodruff turned up in Albany and hurried to Gov. Higgins, with whom he had a talk on the White amendment. He met very little encouragement as was evidenced by the following statement issued by the Governor immediately after the conference, in which he declared himself squarely in favor of the Armstrong recommendation in opposition to the amendment. Gov. Higgins said:

"I learned with regret of the adoption by the Senate yesterday of an amendment to the bill amending the Insurance law generally, which took out of the bill the provision whereby policy-holders were assured of information as to the names and residences of their associates.

"The progress of the insurance legislation reported by the Armstrong Committee is followed by the people with the keenest interest. I feel that the public demands that these bills be enacted into law substantially as reported and looks with suspicion upon all efforts to amend them. It would, in my judgment, be a matter of serious concern and deep regret, if public opinion should hold that the work of this session on insurance was marred by the defeat of any of the committee's bills."

Senator Armstrong said this afternoon that he would move to reconsider the vote by which the White amendment was adopted and to restore the bill as originally drawn.

INVALID ENDS LIFE WITH ROPE OF SHEET.

Daughter Finds Mrs. Lippmann Dead, Hanging from Gas Bracket in Bathroom.

When Jennie Lippmann, nineteen years old, went into the bathroom of the flat where she lived with her parents and five brothers and sisters, on the second story of the tenement at No. 747 Fifth street to-day, she found her mother, Sarah, hanging from a gas bracket. The girl fled down the stairs into the street screaming.

A policeman cut the woman down. The body was still warm and he called Dr. Frank from Bellevue Hospital. The surgeon worked over the woman some time but she was dead.

Mrs. Lippman was fifty-five years old. She had been in poor health for many months. Then lately her husband, William, lost the little sidewalk soda water trade he had been long building up and this added to the invalid's sorrows. To-day, after all the others had gone to work, leaving only Jennie, the housekeeper, behind, Mrs. Lippmann made a rope of a sheet and swung herself from the gas fixture in the wall behind the bathroom door.

MRS. COLLIER WINS SUIT AGAINST HUSBAND.

"Willie" Collier, the comedian, in San Francisco, awaiting the sailing of his steamer for Australia, will get a message to-day, providing it gets through, from Isaac N. Jacobson informing him that his wife, Louise Allen Collier, has won her suit against him before Justice Kelly in the Supreme Court.

Mr. Jacobson sued Collier to compel a sale and Mrs. Collier needed her half property owned by him and his wife. He didn't want to sell, and contended that if sold the property should not be let go for less than $20,000. Louise Allen said $15,000 was probably all it would bring, and Mr. Jacobson declared that Collier had set $20,000 merely to prevent a sale and rMs. Collier needed her half of the money.

Justice Kelly gave judgment to Mrs. Collier to-day and will appoint a receiver with orders to rent the property and pay half the rent to her until it is sold for the best price obtainable, Mrs. Collier to receive half the proceeds.

MITCHELL TO MAKE LAST MOVE FOR PEACE.

(Special to The Evening World.)

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., April 19.—Officials of the Mine Workers' Union here received word to-day that President Mitchell will arrive next Tuesday and call a meeting of the district committee to discuss the strike situation. The result will be reported to the Committee of Forty-six, which will decide whether to make any further effort to continue negotiations with the operators or call a conference of the Mine Workers' delegates and make a report to the National Committee, so that the delegates may decide without further delay for peace or a strike.

The coal companies in this district continued to-day to rush preparations for working at several of the collieries and all the washeries.
