SPORTING EDITOR'S ANSWERS TO QUERIES

Kindly state in The Evening World whether Lee Tannehill, of the Chicago White Sox, is any relation to Jesse Tannehill, of the Boston Americans. T. D. M.

They are brothers.

To decide a bet kindly inform me through your sporting column the age of Lewis, shortstop of the Brooklyn Baseball Club. HENRY COHEN.

Twenty-one.

To decide a bet, will you kindly state in your column whether Christy Mathewson ever pitched two games in one day? M. BASSALOTTI.

No.

A bets that the Pittsburg team has not won a game with the Giants with Mathewson in the box in two seasons. B claims they have. Who wins? A FAN.

They have.

Kindly let me know through the sporting column how to figure a club's average. FAN.

Divide the number of games won by the number played.

Kindly state from what club and in what year did Frank Bowerman come to the New York National League baseball team. A CONSTANT READER.

Came from Pittsburg about 1899 or 1900.

To settle a bet will you tell me through your valuable paper who was the originator of the spit ball? Was it Chesbro or Stricklett? CONSTANT READER.

Stricklett discovered it, according to general opinion. Chesbro saw Stricklett use it at New Orleans, and by constant practice perfected it.

A holds 150 trumps and melds it straight without melding 40 trumps. Afterward he draws another queen of trumps, and, placing it with the king of trumps, already melded, calls 40 trumps. B says he cannot do this. Which is right? H. H. H.

The 150 meld includes the marriage of king and queen of trumps. A cannot meld a single queen or king of trumps later.

GOOD SCORES IN GARDEN CITY GOLF

Seventy-eight Starters in the Invitation Tournament To-Day.

(Special to The Evening World.)

GARDEN CITY, N. Y., May 10.—Despite the high wind and chilly weather, there is some very good golf being played in the Garden City invitation tournament to-day. COLD AND MUD SPOIL THE MORNING GALLOPS

SHEEPSHEAD BAY TRACK, May 10.—The atmospheric conditions at the track were most pleasant to-day, but the course was in a sad plight from the drenching it received yesterday, with the result that the exercises were much impeded. The trainers and racers were out in numbers. The rail birds, however, could not stand for the conditions and what little work was attempted went unnoticed by the clackers. A few were sent to breezing, the best of which folow:

CAMILIAN—A half mile in 0.55 1-2, breezing.

CROSS—Four furlongs in 0.56, galloping.

FURSE—A four furlong breather in 0.57, handily.

GOLDEN PHEASANT—A half mile in 0.55, on the bit.

IGEO—Four furlongs in 0.54 4-5, galloping.

JAMES N.—Three furlongs in 0.42, breezing.

SIR WILFRED—Six furlongs in 1.20, in a big gallop. Is as good in the mud as on the dry.

TIPTOE—Five furlongs in 1.10, breezing. Acted better than she did the other morning.

ESCUTCHEON—Three furlongs in 0.44, galloping.

GOLDEN WINE—Three furlongs in 0.42, breezing.

CHRISATELIS—Three furlongs in 0.43 1-2, breezing.

WORK AND PLAY—A half mile in 0.53, very easily. Tab him as being a mud runner.

PASS BOOK—Six furlongs in 1.21 1-2, galloping. In such footing as to-day this colt in cheap company can win.

FAR WEST—One mile in 1.55, breezing. Acts as if mud was his long suit.

BELLE OF THE BAY—A half mile in 0.54 4-5, easing up. Could have done much better if her trainer had called on her.

SALVISA—Three furlongs in 0.39 1-2, very easily. She can run in the mud.

OLIVER CROMWELL—One mile in 1.54, galloping. Is about ready for his best effort.

GRAVESEND GALLOPS.

GRAVESEND TRACK, May 10.—The weather was clear and cool and the track in very bad condition for the morning workouts, and in consequence there was very little work done. The best gallops follow:

OARSMAN—Six furlongs in 1.20 3-5, breezing; 105 pounds up. Doing well and nearly ready to race.

LOTUS—Four furlongs in 0.58 3-5, galloping; 110 pounds up. Rounding to form; looks well.

SISTER ELNORA—Four furlongs in 0.52 3-5, handily; 105 pounds up. Has a nice turn of speed and is fit to race.

WING—Six furlongs in 1.25, galloping; 110 pounds up. A nice looking colt and ready.

SUBTLE—Three furlongs in 0.43, breezing; 100 pounds up. A nice filly and was never better.

ARABO—Seven furlongs in 1.35 3-5, breezing; 110 pounds up. Hardly worth considering as he is worn out.

EDNA JACKSON—Four furlongs in 0.52 3-5, breezing; 100 pounds up. A clever filly and is in good form.

KILTER—Three furlongs in 0.42, breezing; 100 pounds up. Has quite a nice turn of speed; is fit.

BELMERE—Five furlongs in 1.04 1-5, handily; 105 pounds up. Going well and was never better.

LITTLE FLEA — Five furlongs in 1.08 2-5, handily; 110 pounds up. Has speed but stops very badly.

WINNING HANDS—Five furlongs in 1.08 1-5, handily; 110 pounds up. Has some speed, but is of little account.

NO MARKS—Three furlongs in 0.42, breezing; 100 pounds up. Has some speed but not much class.

MISS OGDEN—Four furlongs in 0.55 3-5, breezing; 100 pounds up. She is ready to run any day.

JESSAMINE—Four furlongs in 0.56 2-5, breezing; 100 pounds up. She is fit and relishes the mud.

RED PILLAR—Four furlongs in 0.56, galloping; 100 pounds up. He is fit for what will be asked of him.

CINCHONA — One mile in 1.57 2-5, handily, 115 pounds up. Is at his best and can race any day.

HONORS AWAIT OLYMPIC ATHLETES

Honors are to be showered thick and fast on Martin Sheridan, the world's champion, and his comrades of the Irish-American Athletic Club when they arrive home in a few days after their splendid record in the Olympic games at Athens. Steamers will greet them down the bay and banquets will be given, at which their achievements will be blazoned in proper oratorical periods.

A committee of fifty members of the Irish-American Athletic Club has been appointed by President P. J. Conway to make the necessary arrangements. The committee includes representatives of every athletic and Irish society in New York. P. J. Conway is Chairman, M. J. Kenney, Secretary and W. P. McLoughlin Treasurer.

This is the most representative committee ever appointed for such a purpose in this city. It has been decided to hold the banquet in the large dining-room of the Hotel Astor, and 500 guests will be seated. The date has not been fixed, but it will be on or about May 25.

Sheridan's friends on the police force, of which he is a member, have decided on a big blow-out in his honor. Capt. Brennan, of the Tremont station, to which Sheridan is attached, has under way a dinner of the Bluecoats, where his prowess will be duly toasted. This celebration will take place immediately after the police parade on June 2.

BALDWIN DEFEATS GOODMAN AGAIN

(Special to The Evening World.)

BOSTON, Mass., May 10.—Kid Goodman met defeat last night when Matty Baldwin got the decision over him in a fifteen-round battle held at the Lincoln A. C., of Chelsea. It was the second time this year that the pair had battled in the same ring, the first fight going to Baldwin on a foul committed in the last round of a hard fight. Goodman knocked the referee out at the time, claiming that he had been robbed, but last evening the same referee officiated and accepted Goodman's apology, which was made from the ring.

Baldwin got a big lead over Goodman in the early rounds of last night's fight and the latter was never in the running up to the eighth round, when he began to show signs of his old self. The terrific battering of his head and ribs by Baldwin had worried him, but he recuperated splendidly and made a game effort to stall off defeat.

In the thirteenth round Goodman managed to hand over the punch he had been waiting for, and as it caught Baldwin on the lower part of his jaw it simply lifted the Charlestown boy and dropped him to the floor in a heap. Baldwin succeeded in getting on his feet before the completion of the fatal count and with a wild rush clutched and stalled to the end of the round. The momentary rest did him a world of good, and in the fourteenth round he nearly handed Goodman the same dose.

In the fifteenth and final round the pair went at each other like young demons in their endeavors to hand out a free pass to the land of Nod. Both were too anxious, however, and lost several good opportunities by wild swinging. Referee McInnis gave the decision to Baldwin and a good pot of money changed hands on the result, as Goodman was a big favorite.

ALL CHAMPIONS AT GARDEN SHOW

"Jack" O'Brien Will Meet Gotch at the Benefit Tournament.

All the details of the great popular price athletic carnival, to be held at Madison Square Garden on Saturday night for the benefit of the San Francisco sufferers, are practically perfected. The indications point to a record-breaking attendance. Half the house has already been sold out. No such opportunity has ever been offered to patrons of the pugilistic sport. Practically every pugilist of prominence in this part of the country has volunteered his services, and a programme has been arranged that could not under any other auspices be offered to the public. The wrestlers have also come forward, and the best mat artists in the country will appear. James J. Corbett, the former heavyweight champion of the world, will referee all the contests. This is the card so far as it has been arranged:

"Kid" McCoy vs. "Bob" Fitzsimmons, "Philadelphia Jack" O'Brien vs. Frank Gotch, "Tom" Sharkey vs. "Gus" Ruhlin, "Jimmy" Britt vs. "Spider" Kelly, Young Corbett vs. Johnny Willick, "Harlem" Tommy Murphy vs. Young Otto, "Terry" McGovern vs. Danny Dougherty, "Tommy" West vs. "Joe" Walcott, "Eddie" Hanlon vs. Willie Lewis, George Gardner vs. Prof. "Billy" Murray, of Columbia University, and Professor "Mike" Donovan, of the N. Y. Athletic Club, vs. Pupil.

The wrestling programme will include such stars as Harvey Parker, "the little demon;" George Bothner, lightweight champion of the world; Alexander Swanson, the welterweight champion; Young Hackenschmidt, the "Bavarian tiger;" Joe Pansey, the Brooklyn strong boy; Fred Beell, John Plening, the American Graeco-Roman champion; Niel Olsen, the "Great Dane," and "om" Jenkins, the heavyweight catch-as-can-can champion, and many others.

LOCAL FANS GET THEIR LAST CHANCE TO SEE GIANTS TO-DAY FOR A MONTH

BY BOZEMAN BULGER.

Rain has cut some funny capers in its day, but the downpour of yesterday broke all records by transferring a ball game, and there will be nothing doing at the Polo Grounds this afternoon. Brooklyn has claimed the date, and her claim is very much to the good.

The last game in the East for a month will be played at Washington Park between the Giants and the Dodgers this afternoon. New York had a right to play off the other postponed game at the Polo Grounds on the first open date, but as the rain gave Brooklyn a postponement, that club has a prior right to the date on her own grounds. McGraw knew this, and gave in to the fellows across the bridge. So the Polo Grounds will remain in retirement until after the first of June. It's a pretty hard blow, but to baseball law we must bow the knee.

At 3:30 o'clock to-night both clubs leave for the West and the first hard campaign of the season begins. To-morrow will be an off day to allow all the Eastern clubs a chance to make the cross-country run.

The Giants open up in Cincinnati on Saturday.

It is reported that, with the exception of Chicago, all the Western clubs are in bad physical shape and are not playing the game up to their regular speed. This accounts for Chicago's great showing, and it may give the Giants a chance to get enough velvet on their to last them half way through the summer. Mathewson is now in excellent shape, and is ready to pitch in his best form whenever called upon. He is picking up weight every day and is growing much stronger. He said yesterday that he never felt better in his life.

McGraw figures that he has called the turn on the spitball's finish, and it looks as if he had. "Do you remember what I told you about the spitball a year ago?" asked McGraw yesterday. "Well, wasn't I right?" A nod from the listener and he continued: "As soon as I first saw it pitched I knew it would put a pitcher's arm on the bum and I warned all my pitchers to use it. To-day I can see all of our pitchers in good shape. What do you see in the men who have made the spitball a specialty? Several of them are complaining of sore arms and very few of them are getting away with their games. Other clubs who want the spitball can have it, but it won't be used by the Giants."

McGraw certainly did have the dope right there, for he told the writer exactly the same thing a year ago. Chesbro insists that it was not the spitball which hurt his arm, but, anyway, he had trouble of some kind all last season. Al Orth is one of the few pitchers whose arm seems not to have been hurt by this peculiar curve. Orth says he likes the spitball, because it doesn't require so much twisting of the wrist as the curve ball and the drop. It is a trick but at the same time the spitball is a hard strain on the shoulder muscles, and it requires immense force to give the ball enough speed to make it effective.

So great has become the rivalry of the billiard-players on the Giant team that a tournament is being arranged to be played at nights while the club is on the coming Western trip. The players are anxious for the contest, but the only trouble is in the handicapping. Alex Smith is easily the best billiard-player in the team, and will have to be the scratch man. The other good cue-handlers are Taylor, McGraw, Mathewson and Secretary Knowles. One or two of the baseball writers who travel with the club regularly will also enter the tournament if it is arranged. Elliot was the star pool-player, but since he has gone to Louisville it will be a fight between McGraw, Browne and Mathewson. Donlin is the club's star bowler.

One scientific team play on which McGraw and Clark Griffith do not agree on is the celebrated squeeze-play. McGraw does not like it, and will not allow his club to use it. He believes a team loses more than it gains by it, his argument being that in case of failure it robs the club at bat of the numerous opportunities to score by a long fly, a grounder or an error. It is presumed that the reader understands that this play is only attempted when a runner is on third with only one out.

On the other hand, Griffith claims that it worked eighty times out of one hundred last season, and that it must be good. Griff has found out, however, that it must never be attempted, except when the right batter is up. That is, a man who is certain to hit the ball somewhere when he tries. It will fail nearly every time with an uncertain batter up. Any pitcher who is on guard can break up the play, it is said, by pitching out so far from the plate that the batter cannot reach the ball, but he generally is not expecting it. In case everybody does not understand the squeeze-play we will explain. A runner is on third with one out. As the pitcher winds up the runner starts as if to steal home. The batter then merely bunts the ball, and if he meets it the runner is across the plate before the ball can possibly be fielded to the catcher. If the batter happens to miss the ball the runner is made to look like a "sucker." He is caught ten or twelve feet from the plate.

The advantages and disadvantages of this play are productive of much interesting discussion.

O'ROURKE TO RUN BOUTS HERE

He Has Organized a Club and Intends to Bring Off 20-Round Bouts.

BY JOHN POLLOCK.

Tom O'Rourke is to break into the fighting game again in New York. He informed the writer last night that he had decided to organize a club in a few days, and as soon as he could secure a suitable place to bring off his shows he would hold twenty-round bouts between the best pugilists in the business. O'Rourke further stated that he would be ready to give his initial show in about four weeks, and that his clubhouse would be located in the heart of the city. He has not decided whom he will put on in the star bout, but he says the principals will be topnotchers.

O'Rourke Is Making Bad Move.

While O'Rourke is as much entitled to run boxing stags in this city as any other person, it certainly would be a wise thing for him not to try and bring off twenty-round bouts just yet. Other club matchmakers have used good judgment in not pulling off bouts of this duration, for fear they would cause a howl from the ministers who are opposed to the sport. O'Rourke would help along the sport if he started off by giving ten-round bouts instead of twenty.

McCarey Cables Bowker Big Offer.

Matchmaker Tom McCarey, of the Pacific A. C., of Los Angeles, Cal., has cabled an offer to Joe Bowker, the English champion, to come to Los Angeles and fight Abe Attell, the American feather-weight champion, for twenty rounds for the feather-weight championship of the world on July 4. McCarey is willing to hang up a purse of $5,000 for the boys to battle for, which is just double the amount the National Sporting Club, of London, has offered the lads to battle for on Derby night.

Charley Sieger to Box Again.

Charley Sieger, the Hoboken light-weight, who can always be depended upon to furnish a hard battle, will engage in another bout in this vicinity to-morrow night. He will meet Sammy Smith, the clever Philadelphia light-weight, for four rounds at the stag of the Central A. C., in Masonic Hall, in East Fifty-sixth street, near Third avenue. Smith recently outpointed Johnny Carroll in a six-round bout, and is in good shape.

O'Rourke Says Keyes Is a Wonder.

If "Hock" Keyes, the Australian light-weight, is as great a fighter as Tom O'Rourke says he is, then he must be a wonder. O'Rourke, paid a visit to Philadelphia on Wednesday and saw Keyes don the gloves with a good boxer in the Quaker City. O'Rourke says that Keyes is one of the cleverest boxers he ever saw put up his hands, and besides is a stiff puncher with both hands. "Keyes is a cleverer boxer than Young Griffy was in his palmies days," said O'Rourke.

'Young Corbett' to Train Six Weeks.

"Young Corbett" is to try his hand at fighting again. Before doing so he will go away and will indulge in six solid weeks of training. Corbett tried to get on a bout before the Twentieth Century A. C., but Manager Pollok informed him that he would not give him a bout until he trained as he should do for a battle and got himself in perfect shape. Corbett will train with Joe Gans, who is to box Willie Lewis May 18.

FIGHTS TO-NIGHT.

At Long Acre A. C., No. 158 West Twenty-ninth street,—Star bout will be between Bert Keyes and Kid Slinger for six rounds. They fought a great battle before the same club last week. In the semi-windup Jig Stone will meet Kid Stein, of Philadelphia. The other bouts are Jack Raymond vs. Max Freeman, Harry Engel vs. Owen Flynn, Young Goldman vs. Charley Lucas and Bobby Moore vs. Young Frenchy. All of these bouts will be of four rounds duration.

At Critic A. C., Lyric Hall, Sixth avenue and Forty-second street,—Star bout will be for six rounds between Tommy Murphy, of Harlem, and Johnny Allen, of Philadelphia. There will be three other bouts of six rounds.

N. Y. A. C. PLANS LARGER HOME

Members of the New York Athletic Club will meet to-night at the clubhouse, Sixth avenue and Central Park South, and vote upon the acquirement of the property adjoining their present building. This is the Coronet apartment house at the northeast corner of Fifty-eighth street and Sixth avenue, the value of which approximates $1,000,000.

The club for several years has leased the upper floors of the apartment house, and the increased membership in the organization, now the largest of the kind in the world, has made it necessary to secure additional room. President John R. Van Wormer, together with the leading officers and members of the club, have carefully developed plans as to the manner in which the property may be acquired and carried financially by the club.

$5 A DAY IN PRIZES.

To-day a new serial, "The Mysteries of Manhattan," begins in The Evening World. Each instalment will contain some familiar photographed scene in New York connected with the story itself. A prize of $5 will be paid to the readers who identify these scenes. For full particulars see announcement accompanying to-day's instalment.

Fordham Team Plays To-Day.

The baseball teams of Georgetown University and Fordham College will play the second game of their scheduled series at Fordham Field to-day. When these teams met three weeks ago Georgetown won by a score of 8 to 1. Since then, however, Fordham has shown marked improvement, and the local collegians believe they can even up matters to-day. Egan will pitch for Fordham, while either Mayor or Mudd will be in the box for the visitors.
