WHIMSICAL LOPES HOME WINNER OF PREAKNESS STAKE

Filly Took the Lead at the Start of Gravesend Classic and Galloped Inside the Wire a Winner by Three Lengths.

BY T. O. PIPER.

GRAVESEND RACE TRACK, NEW YORK, May 22.—Whimsical galloped under the wire winner of the Preakness Stakes. The filly had the classical old race in hand all the way. Content, with a long price for place, took second money from Flipflap, an added starter.

Seven events were on the card, including the old-time Preakness Stakes, at a mile and seventy yards, with a good field of fast ones scheduled to make the affair not only a good betting event but an interesting one. Such good ones as Sly Fox, Hindus, The Parader, Bryn Mawr, Cairngorm and Half Time are among the previous winners of this stake.

Although Handicap day was thought to have satiated the racing fever in a degree, a crowd of fine proportions was on hand when the horses were called to the post to the first event. This was the customary five-furlong sprint for equine mademoiselles of two years, including Dolle Dollars, Grace George and Clare Russell, who won.

Jockey Clark Puzzled.

The field got off cleverly enough in the first, but several of the jockeys, not realizing that it was to be a start, pulled up, apparently. This was noticeably the case with Clark, the Pacific Coast boy, who rode Dolle Dollars. He pulled up and then started hot foot after the field, Grace George leading. Dolle lagged in the rear under a listless ride and finished in the rear. The money bet on her was burned up. Grace showed the way into the stretch, when Clare Russell and Saghallen set sail passing her, the first two having a hot fight of it to the wire, the clever Russell winning by a head ridden out. Saghallen was a length in front of Grace George.

Blandy Wins at Last.

Having worked into racing form in races at the expense of the public, Blandy from August Belmont's stable was ready for ring action to-day and his backers were not disappointed. Blandy assumed the lead rounding into the stretch after Von Tromp had led the field to that point, and the Belmont colt, coming away, won easily. Von Tromp beat Bad News a length for the place. Ormonde's Right sulked, as usual.

Big Field in Third.

An unwieldy field faced the starter in the third race, of which Shotgun was favorite. He passed through the rushing group like a champion and won at the end easily. Emergency outran the others in the stretch, getting second. Van Ness, which had raced all winter at New Orleans, came like a whirlwind and taking third place at remunerative "show" odds.

Easy for Whimsical.

That good filly Whimsical showed her competitors a thing or two about racing in the fourth. She got off in the lead and was so full of running that her rider never had to let her down. She led all the way, her head in the air, winning galloping by several lengths. Flip Flap, an added starter, essayed at the stretch turn, but then dropped back. Content finished second driving, with Larable third.

Frank Lord Pocketed.

But that Frank Lord was pocketed in the stretch when he was primed to run over the leaders a different tale would be told of the finish of the fifth race. He had the speed, but couldn't get through. Belcast, Mexican Silver and Fay blocking the way. The distance was too short to permit of another manoeuvre. Fay made the running like a house afire, and seemed to be on the easy side when Belcast and Mexican Silver closed resolutely, passing Fay and finishing in that order, the three heads apart.

Red Eye Was Right.

Johnny White's namesake, Giovanni Balerio, made the running in the sixth, followed by Red Eye, touted last time out as a fast one and ready. Red Eye allowed Giovanni to make the race on sufferance, and when prepared passed him in the stretch, winning cleverly. The Italian horse filled in second. Belgravia grabbing third place.

The Favorite Won Last.

The betting reflected the result of the final race, Bridgeman, the favorite, winning over the second choice, Single Shot. Moonshine was third.

AMERICAN LEAGUE PARK, N. Y., May 22.—After yesterday's mild exhibition of outdoor ping pong between the Highlanders and the White Sox, both teams went upon the field this afternoon determined to redeem themselves. The Chicago aggregation, however, lined up in bad form owing to various complaints of illness from different members, and even manager Jones could not tell up to the last moment just who would represent his organization.

There were three or four members of the Westerners who acknowledged sickness, but none of them looked as sick as those of the spectators who witnessed yesterday's painful efforts. Davis had a lame arm, O'Neil averred his left leg was out of commission and Dundon's ailments were as numerous as those of a chronic reader of patent medicines. The warming up of the Highlander's pitchers, preparatory to the ceremonies, was a spectacular feature of the post slab action. It was apparent Griffith did not care for a repetition of yesterday's actions in the box, and he, with Newton, Chesbro, Hogg, Le Roy, Orth and Hahn went out for much preliminary work on the fancy fixed dirt. Laporte, who was hurt last week reported back to the job on third.

First Inning.

O'Neil went out, Elberfeld to Chase. Isbel was an easy out, Williams to Chase. Jones waited and got a base. Donohue went out on a grasser, Williams to Chase. NO RUNS.

Dundon fumbled Keeler's hit to short and Willie was safe. Elberfeld singled to left and Keeler went to third. Chase hit to Tannehill. Keeler was run down between home and third, Elberfeld going to second, while Willie was being run down. Laporte got a pass, filling the corners. Williams was out, Isbell to Donohue, Elberfeld scoring, Chase going to third and Laporte to second. Cronley went out, Dundon to Donohue. ONE RUN.

Second Inning.

Hahn went out, Elberfeld to Chase. Sullivan fanned. Tannehill was out on a long fly to Moriarty. NO RUNS.

Moriarity hit out the air three times. Kleinow went out, Tannehill to Donohue. Orth drove a double to right. Keeler drove a clean single over second, Orth scoring. Keeler went to second on a wild pitch. Elberfeld got a pass. Chase forced Elberfeld at second, Tannehill to Isbell. ONE RUN.

Third Inning.

Dundon got a pass. Smith singled over second, Dundon going to second. O'Neil bunted safely, advancing both runners and filling the bags. Isbell hit

(Special to The Evening World.)

CHICAGO, Ill., May 22.—The Giants' first victory over Chicago gave them a new lease of life and they went after the aspiring Cubs to-day with their old-time ginger in its most effervescing form.

The Cubs were fully as confident as the Giants of winning to-day's games, and as they went out to practice the crowd gave them the glad hand. Chance's club is certainly the candy kid out here and the Chicago fans honestly believe they will win the pennant. The people are intensely interested in the present series. Not a day has passed that ground rules were not necessary on account of the spectators taking up part of the field.

First Inning.

Bresnahan rapped a slow grounder to Steinfeldt, who nailed him by ten feet. Browne followed with another slow drive to Evers and died just as quick. McGann was more lucky and laced the next one against the left-field bleachers for two bags. Mertes was called out on strikes. NO RUNS.

Strang stood in his tracks and pulled down Slagle's long fly. Sheckard's hot rap knocked Gilbert off his feet and the ball rolled safe for a single. Shulte's roller to Devlin forced Sheckard at second and Chance expired on a bounder to McGann. NO RUNS.

Second Inning

Dahlen lifted a high one to Sheckard. Devlin's grass cutter was easy picking for Steinfeldt, and Gilbert perished on an easy slap to Wicker. NO RUNS.

Steinfeldt opened up with a long single to centre, but Strang was walking for Tinker and speared his liner just back of second. Evers popped a short fly to Mertes. Kling slashed a neat single into centre, advancing Steinfeldt to second, but it was no use as Wicker went out on a grounder to McGinnity, retiring the side. NO RUNS.

Third Inning.

Strang started out with a long drive to centre field fence for two bases, but was out trying to stretch it. Evers then threw out McGinnity. Bresnahan's rap bounced off Wicker's wrist and rolled safe. In attempting to recover it Wicker made a wild throw and Roger took second. Browne fouled out to Chance. NO RUNS.

Slagle sent a bounder to McGann, who passed the ball to McGinnity, who covered the bag, and he was out. Sheckard had another walloo left in his sleeve and slammed the ball to centre for a single. Shulte went out on strikes. Sheckard was out stealing second. NO RUNS.

Fourth Inning.

McGann started off with another clean single into left. Mertes whacked another in exactly the same spot, sending McGann to second. Dahlen tried hard to bunt, but fouled the last one and died. Devlin cracked another single into right, and the bases were all populated. Gilbert laced a nice single over second, scoring McGann and Mertes. Devlin taking third on the play. Strang walked, filling the bases. McGinnity then slammed a long drive into the right field crowd for three bases, Gilbert, Devlin and Strang scoring. Bresnahan fouled out to Kling. Browne ended the agony with a grounder to Tinker. FIVE RUNS.

Chance struck out. Steinfeldt drew a base on balls. Tinker helped it along with a long single to right. Evers was also good for a short single and filled the bases. Not to be outdone in the hitting line, Kling soused a hot one into centre for one bag, scoring Steinfeldt and Tinker. Wicker struck out, but Bresnahan dropped the ball, and on his throw to first the other two runners advanced. Slagel sent a line drive straight to Browne and the side was out. TWO RUNS.

RACING MOTOR CYCLIST HURLED INTO AN AUTO

Harry S. Lyon, Noted Athlete, Meets with an Unusual Accident.

While speeding his high-powered motor-cycle at a terrific clip over the old Post Road near Rye, N. Y., Harry S. Lyon, a champion athlete of the New York Athletic Club and a well-known member of the Automobile Club, was hurled with the force of a projectile over the handle-bars of his racing machine and into the front lamps of an automobile when the two machines, tearing along at top speed, crashed together. He was removed to the Ladies' Hospital at Porichester, where he is dying from a fractured skull and calling in his delirium for more speed.

According to Lyon's friends the driver of the big machine made no effort to avoid the smash. As the two machines crashed together Lyon was sent hurtling head first into the front of the automobile, while his machine was smashed into splinters and hurled several feet away. The driver of the car attempted to escape when he saw the serious nature of the collision, but Lyon's friends detained him. They put the injured man into the auto and started for Port Chester. There the intelligent constable locked up all three.

The chauffeur, who gave his name as Joseph Krause, said the machine belonged to F. J. Laney, of Rockbridge, Greenwich. It was some time before the Port Chester police let Lyon's friends communicate with his relatives in New York.

Lyon is one of the best known athletes in America. He is the holder of the Weeks Trophy and of many other historic cups and medals. At the New York Athletic Club he was regarded as their best all-round athlete.

Child Wife on Stand Relates Life of Torture and Abuse by Relatives Which Drove Her to Insanity and Murder.

CRUEL AUNT TOLD HER TO DO BRUTAL UNCLE'S BIDDING

Many Women Crowd to Court to Hear the Unprintable Narrative of the Child's Shame, Degradation and Final Vengeance.

Josephine Terranova went on the stand to tell her life story to the jury of fathers trying her for the murder of her aunt before Justice Scott, of the Supreme Court, this afternoon. She was paler than usual, but showed no nervousness.

The railbirds, the female buzzards who are attracted to every murder trial in which a woman figures, craned their necks and cupped their hands behind ears lest any word of the terrible story, with its many unprintable details, should be missed.

In a firm, clear voice the girl related her story from the time the Riggios, her uncle and aunt, who had stood sponsor for her at baptism in Italy, sent for her to come to this country, when she was ten years old, to the day, seven years later, when, driven insane by the shame and degradation they had forced upon her, she stabbed both to death.

GIRL WIFE, CALLED TO STAND, TELLS TERRIBLE LIFE STORY.

She sat erect in the witness chair, holding her handkerchief in one hand in her gray skirt and white waist she made rather an attractive picture. She was rather paler than usual, but there was no sign of nervousness about her. Occasionally she fingered the little pearl chain around her neck. In musical, slightly broken English, she answered Judge Tamburri's questions in a good, loud, full, clear voice.

"I am seventeen years old," she said. "I was born in Italy. My father, he die when I am four years old. I remember about coming to America. On the steamer coming over, I fall down in a faint and am sick three days. My aunt and uncle write to my mother, saying they would send me to school and give me a home. They started me to school, but [illegible]
