RUNAWAY GIRL IS TRACED BY POLICE

Says Teacher Under Arrest Induced Her to Elope from Pittsburg.

IS ONLY 14 YEARS OLD.

Lloyd Rogers, the Prisoner, a Former Instructor in Carnegie Technical Schools.

Edna Bugbee, the fourteen-year-old Pittsburg girl whose parents caused the arrest of Lloyd Rogers, a Carnegie Technical School teacher, at Coney Island, was to-day discovered working in Davis's restaurant, No. 120 University place. The young girl left her home on March 31, and Rogers is now held in the Tombs in default of $2,500 bail, charged with abduction and grand larceny.

Detective Sergeants Barnes and Downing took the girl to Police Headquarters, where she said she left her home, No. 239 Forbes street, Pittsburg, with Rogers, who, she said, had promised to marry her and gave her a ring engraved "From Lloyd to Edna." She said they went from Pittsburg to Washington and then came to New York, arriving here early in April.

Rogers took her to a boarding-house in East Forty-eighth street, near Third avenue, she said, moving later to No. 209 East Nineteenth street. The police have been looking for the couple on the request of Superintendent McQuaide, of Pittsburg, who charged that Rogers, after a short service in the Carnegie schools as teacher of electricity, had abducted the girl. The complaint said she was believed to be married and to have a family in West Hoboken. Detective-Sergeants Downing and Diefenthaler located Rogers Sunday night at a Coney Island exhibit.

The girl is a daughter of F. C. Bugbee, a traveling salesman, and said she was born in Adrian, Mich. She was taken to the Children's Society Rooms to be detained as a witness.

She is a strikingly handsome little brunette, who would easily pass for eighteen or nineteen.

DRIVER GETS $10,000 FOR LOSS OF HIS ARM.

PATERSON, N. J., May 23.—Frederick Cornhurst, who was employed as a driver by an undertaker here, has been awarded a verdict of $10,000 for the loss of his right arm in an accident which occurred nearly three years ago.

At the time of the accident Cornhurst was returning from a funeral when his hearse was overturned at a point where the trolley tracks of the Hudson River line pass under the Bergen County short cut of the Erie Railroad.

James Mayhew, the contractor, was making some excavations for both companies under a joint contract. It was shown that a number of stones had been left in the road, and when the hearse struck one of these it was overturned, throwing the driver out and injuring him so severely that his right arm had to be amputated at the shoulder.

Cornhurst brought suit against the Erie and Hudson roads and the contractor jointly, for $10,000, and the jury has just awarded him a full verdict.

OLYMPIC ATHLETES ARE DUE TO-MORROW

Magnificent Greeting Planned for the Hardy Chaps Who Won Honors Abroad.

The American athletes who competed in the Olympic games at Athens and carried off the honors in such brilliant style are expected to arrive on the steamship Republic early to-morrow. A brilliant reception awaits them. Several deputations from athletic clubs and other bodies will go down to meet them.

The big iron steamboat Sirius has been chartered by the Irish-American Athletic Club and will leave Pier A at 9 o'clock to-morrow morning. There will be a band and plenty of good things aboard.

On Saturday night the club will give a banquet in honor of the athletes at the Hotel Astor.

FOUND LOVE NOTES, SUES FOR DIVORCE

Mrs. Hewitt Also Has Alienation Suit Against Former Bosom Friend.

Mrs. Minnie M. Hewitt came from her home in Canada to-day to prosecute an action for absolute divorce from Robert J. Hewitt and will remain over to push an action for $25,000 damages against the co-respondent, Mrs. Marybelle Griffin, for alleged alienation of her husband's affections.

"These two women were neighbors and bosom friends," Jacob Rouss told Justice Greenbaum. "Marybelle Griffin has a ladies' hairdressing establishment at Third avenue and Fifty-ninth street, is beautiful and wealthy. Mr. Hewitt was in the stabling business in Fifty-sixth street. Mrs. Griffin went to Colorado and one day Mrs. Hewitt found in his bunch of twenty love letters in the hand of her absent friend, Mrs. Griffin, and addressed to her husband. They begin 'Dear Bob' and end with 'with love and affection from Your Own.' They are not signed. Mrs. Hewitt investigated and found that her husband and the statuesque hairdresser had been exceedingly intimate for a long time. He has sold out his business and disappeared. Mrs. Hewitt is living on her own income with her three children at the home of her father in Canada."

Decision was reserved.

DEAD TWO DAYS IN ROOM AT HIS HOTEL.

James Molloy, a sailor on the battleship Missouri, now lying in the North River, was found to-day dead in bed in the Transit Hotel, No. 256 Third avenue. It is thought he had been dead for two days. Gas was flowing from the jets over his head.

Molloy, according to the manager of the hotel, went there Monday. He had been drinking and was assigned to a room on the third floor. Nothing more was seen of him until today, when the watchman, attracted by the smell of gas, broke open the door to find Molloy stretched on the bed, fully dressed.

The police regard the fact that the man was not found for two days as rather strange.

WALL STREET.

WEDNESDAY, May 23.

Big traders who have heretofore paid little attention to Pennsylvania Railroad stock were to-day advising their friends to buy this stock because it was cheap. Some of the most active brokers undertook to offset the weak tendency of these shares by advancing the theory that the investigation of the system would probably bring about reforms that would result in increased dividends being paid by several constituent companies. The news that President A. J. Cassatt is returning from Europe expressly to take a hand in "a Pennsylvania housecleaning" was favorably commented upon. Mr. Cassatt is a very wealthy man and sensitive regarding his business honor. Some of his closest friends assert that he is indignant that confidential subordinates should have allowed themselves to be drawn into shady transactions.

Even the aggressive strength of the coal road stocks early in the day failed to infuse spirit into the Pennsylvania shares. The corroboration of the statement that this company has effected a bond sale in Paris had an additional bearish influence. About noon a rumor was sprung in the exchange that the U. S. Steel Corporation was arranging to issue $50,000,000 of new bonds in connection with the construction of its extensive new plant at Gary, in Indiana. This caused a wild break in prices extending practically through the entire list. The U. S. Steel shares lost more than a point, New York Central dropped 2 points, Union Pacific 1-2, Northern Pacific 4½, Amalgamated 1 3-8, Anaconda 3 1-4, St. Paul 1, and Brooklyn Rapid Transit 1 1-8. The latter broke through $1 to 79 5-8. Reading held up stubbornly just a fraction below 133.

As soon as Chairman Gary of the U. S. Steel directors heard this rumor he denied it emphatically. "The question of a bond issue has not been considered by the U. S. Steel Corporation," he said. "Thus far the expenditures on the new Indiana plant have been made out of earnings, and they are likely to be for some time to come. At present this corporation is not in need of money and never was so easy in respect to its finances." This statement stopped the wild selling pressure and the market at once began to recover. Reading and the coppers speedily regained all that they had lost and gave a much firmer tone to nearly all of the active stocks.

Persistent efforts to force the price of Interborough-Metropolitan below 50 were met with a liberal supply of buying orders for this stock at 50. At least two firms apparently had instructions to take all of the stock offered at this price. There was a report that George Stern offered to bet E. Walsh, on the floor of the Exchange, $1,000 that Interborough-Metropolitan will not break through 50 this month. The Stock Exchange Clearing House has ruled that Clearing House allotments on Interborough-Metropolitan when issued are to be settled by new contracts and not by the delivery of new securities.

Tennessee Coal and Iron continued the advance which was begun yesterday. The first sale of 500 shares to-day lifted the price to 148 7-8 as compared with yesterday's closing quotation of 147 1-2. Notwithstanding the very moderate increase in the net earnings of this company as shown in the annual report just issued the new owners are enthusiastic over the prospects. A very heavy increase in the production of iron ore is looked for this year.

The directors of the Corn Products Refinery Company are to meet next month to consider the question of its initial dividend on the preferred stock. Their action is looked forward to with much interest in view of the adverse influences of recent labor troubles and the sharp rise in the price of corn. President Bedford says that betterments will be considered before dividends. This company has advanced prices of its products 10 points because of the advance in the price of corn.

TURNED FROM HOME SHE DRANK POISON

Mrs. Gavigan, Given Shelter by Neighbor, Is Found Dead from Carbolic Acid.

Mrs. Maria Gavigan, forty-five years old, whose husband put her out of their flat last night, and whose son had not spoken to her for six months, died in Bellevue Hospital to-day, after having taken carbolic acid while she was the guest of Mrs. Corcoran, housekeeper, of No. 83 Catharine street, where the Gavigans live.

The story of the suicide was told by Mrs. Corcoran to-day.

"It was too easy going and gentle was poor Mrs. Gavigan," said the housekeeper. "Last night I went up to the top floor, where James Gavigan, her husband, has the flat, and I found Mrs. Gavigan sitting on the stairs. She was crying and I knew she had her troubles, poor soul, for it was only Sunday I saw bruises on her body.

"'And what is the matter now?' says I. 'My husband won't let me come in,' says she, crying like a baby. 'He put me out,' says she, 'and now I'll have to sleep on the stairs.'

"'Never a bit of that, my dear,' says I, and I rapped on the door. 'Who's there?' yells James Gavigan. 'It's Mrs. Corcoran,' says I, 'and you ought to be ashamed not to let your wife into her own home.'

"And then he tells me to go away, quick. Poor Mrs. Gavigan was crying and I made her come right down to my flat. I made up a bed for her, and the last I saw of her was when she was telling her beads. This morning when I got up there she lay on the sofa with her mouth all swollen and her eyes staring. She couldn't speak and I thought she was after having a spell. So I sent my daughter Katie out for a policeman and she came back with Dinny Wright from over to the Madison street station.

"'Carbolic,' says Dinny as soon as he looks at her and off he runs to telephone for the ambulance. Then I found the bottle. The poor dear must have got it herself, for the label was scraped off so you couldn't read the name of the drug shop. And now she's dead, and when I went up to her flat her husband had gone out. He don't know about it, but I'm the woman to tell him about it when he comes back tonight."

Gavigan is in the ash removing business and owns several horses and wagons, being fairly well-to-do. He could not be found at his home or at the stables. His only son, Thomas, lives with his aunt, a Mrs. Dowling, at No. 65 Catharine street, only a few doors away.

TOOK ACID AFTER QUARREL.

Doctors Save Life of Paterson Girl Who Tried Suicide.

PATERSON, N. J., May 23.—After a quarrel with her mother Miss Mamie Rudner, eighteen years of age, left home and attempted to end her life by swallowing carbolic acid in the Straight street station of the Susquehanna Railroad. Her moans were heard by the station agent, who telephoned for an ambulance.

The girl was taken to the hospital, where it was said to-day she would recover. Miss Rudner told the doctors she purchased the poison after leaving home.
