MAN IS BURIED IN QUICKSAND UP TO HIS NECK

After Struggle for Hours He Is Rescued by Fellow Workers.

For more than an hour to-day Frank Macy struggled for his life in a bed of quicksand at No. 243 Second avenue and was rescued only after fully two dozen laborers dug for him with shovels. He was injured internally and received many contusions from which he is suffering in Harlem Hospital.

Macy, also a laborer, lives at No. 233 East One Hundred and Seventh street. He with the others were at work digging the foundation for a big building which is to be erected on the Second avenue site. He wandered by mistake into the quicksand bog and at first sunk to his waist. Several of the laborers started to his aid, but when they found they would fare the same they constructed a platform over the sand.

He continued to go further down until his neck was reached, when the men finally succeeded in digging him out and bringing him to the street, where a crowd of several hundred persons had collected. An ambulance was summoned from the hospital. Dr. Berliner, the surgeon in charge, said it would be several weeks before the man would be able to return to his work.

TROOPS AWE MOB AS NEGRO IS HANGED.

(Special to The Evening World.)

NORFOLK, Va., June 8.—Gabriel Battalle, a negro, eighteen years old, and convicted of assault, was hanged at King George Court House to-day while troops guarded him to prevent a lynching. Battalle had been kept in jail at Fredericksburg for safety and the military guarded him on the way from that place to King George Court House and then held a crowd in check until the negro had been legally executed.

EDGEFIELD, S. C., BURNING.

AUGUSTA, Ga., June 8.—A telephone message to the Chronicle from Edgefield, S. C., early this morning reports the larger portion of the business section of the town aflame. Messages were sent to Augusta and Johnston for assistance.

THREE IN FAMILY MEET DEATH AS HOUSE BLAZES

Only Two Escape Flames that Destroy Home on Jersey Farm.

(Special to The Evening World.)

PORT JERVIS, N. Y., June 8.—A farm house at Walpach Centre, Sussex County, N. J., occupied by Mrs. Samuel Garrison and her family, was totally destroyed by fire early to-day.

Mrs. Garrison and her five-year-old daughter and Mrs. Garrison's aged mother, Mrs. Jacob Emory, were burned to death.

Jacob Emory, the father of Mrs. Garrison, together with a son of the woman, were the only persons who escaped the blaze.

GOULDS GOING ABROAD FOR A NEW AUTO TOUR.

Start Next Tuesday with Two Daughters, to Remain Until September.

Mr. and Mrs. George J. Gould will again tour Europe in an automobile this summer. Accompanied by their two elder daughters, Misses Marjorie and Vivian, Mr. and Mrs. Gould will sail next Tuesday on the steamship Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse and have planned to remain abroad until September.

In Paris they will be joined by Jay Gould, who has achieved fame as a court tennis expert on the other side. Mr. Gould's Mercedes touring car is awaiting him in Paris, and the party will immediately start for Southern France. After the unpleasant experience in Switzerland last summer, when Mrs. Gould was lashed across the shoulders by a Swiss peasant who disputed the right of the road to the party, it is not likely that they will visit that country this time.

The Goulds are now at Furlough Lodge, their country place in the Catskills. Mr. Gould and his son Kingdon recently took 500 trout in a day's fishing on one of the small lakes on the Gould preserve. Kingdon Gould, who has entirely recovered from his operation for appendicitis, is to spend the remainder of the month camping out at Litchfield, Conn., with several of his classmates at Columbia. He will spend the summer at Furlough Lodge with the younger Gould children—George J. Gould, jr., little Miss Edith Kingdon Gould and Baby Olga Gould.

Men's Suits That Are Style's Perfection, For Which We'll Credit You

No matter what size or figure the man, we fit him because we don't depend merely in having sizes from 34 up, but we have various shapes in each size, which results in more fitting success than the most expert merchant tailor can hope for, so that if we're given the opportunity we can supply suits of the most fashionable gray fabrics, in the model that is most becoming, the fit of which can be instantly determined and the durability of which we guarantee.

We know there isn't a merchant tailor who could give you a suit in every way as good for less than $35, but we'll be glad to charge one to you and have you pay in small amounts, and all we ask is
