BOXING GAME KNOCKED OUT BY RULING OF THE COURT

SIX LIVES ARE LOST BY FIRE IN A BIG TENEMENT

Five Perish in Flames, and a Baby, Slipping from Mother's Arms, Crashes to Death on Flagstones in Yard.

Three women and three babies met death in a fire which destroyed the big "double decker" tenement at No. 209 East Ninety-seventh street this afternoon.

One of the babies was crushed to death by slipping from the arms of its dying mother on a fire-escape and landing on the pavement below.

Two firemen were fatally hurt by tumbling from a ladder, and another was seriously injured in the same way. Many others were hurt in the struggle to escape from the building.

The blaze started on the ground floor. Within ten minutes it had swept up through the entire structure, following the stairways and cutting off the escape of nearly all within. The fire escapes were jammed quickly by a fire-maddened mob.

Men fought with the women for first place. They poured down into the first floor escapes till these were full, and then they jumped to the pavement below.

Many were hurt in doing this.

One woman tried to pass her year-old baby to a friend on the other fire-escape. She dropped the infant and it fell to the stones below and was killed.

Several of the women fainted and this added to the confusion.

Three policemen who saw the smoke ran to the scene. They were Healy, Enwright and Bachman, of the East Eighty-eighth street station. They drew their clubs and ran up through the building and out on the fire escapes, where they beat back the terror-stricken men and compelled them to wait till the firemen arrived and placed ladders. As soon as this was done the tenants descended to the street in safety.

One of the first men hurt was Fireman Vincent Cahill, of Truck No. 13. He was on a ladder at the third story when he was overcome by the black smoke that boiled out into his face. He reeled and before he could recover or his mates seize him fell backwards to the street.

He turned in the air and struck feet foremost. His left thigh was fractured and he received internal injuries. He was removed to the Harlem Hospital. Two other unknown men were hurt when they jumped from windows.

The sparks flew in a storm from the blazing building. They caught the awning of the store at No. 203 Third avenue and set it afire. The reserves from the two police stations were called out to keep the crowds in check.

There were twenty-four families in the big building, and feeling sure that all could not have escaped both police and firemen fought hard to get into the place.

More than 100 persons were taken down the ladders. Then the house was searched.

Three dead bodies were found on the fourth floor of the burning building. All were women and had been overcome after reaching the hall. Near by lay the bodies of two babies. All were badly burned.

While climbing up a thirty-foot ladder Fireman James Pauher, of Engine Company No. 36, slipped and fell to the street. He received several fractured ribs, a fractured hip and internal injuries. He was taken to the Harlem Hospital, where it is said he cannot recover.

Chief Croker was quickly in charge at the fire, and Capt. Gallagher and Inspector Smith had about fifty policemen on the scene.

The bodies of the dead were taken to the East One Hundred and Fourth street station.

BIG OCEAN LINER AGROUND WITH 1,000 ABOARD

Westernland Menaced by Storm Racing Up the Coast.

CAPE MAY, N. J., June 11.—The steamship Westerland, of the American line, plying between Liverpool and Philadelphia, while bound in with 1,000 passengers aboard, to-day ran on Somers Shoal, four miles off here, and was still fast at a late hour this afternoon. The sea is smooth and the vessel is apparently in no danger.

The pilot boat Philadelphia managed to move her bow, which is pointing direct in shore, but could not pull her off, and the vessel will be fast until midnight, at least.

The weather is clear and the sea easy, but there is a tropical storm working up the coast, due to-night, and the big steamer may get a bad pounding.

No effort has been made to take the passengers off.

The liner was noticed off shore and did not appear to be moving when suddenly she sent up signals of distress, which were answered from the shore. The pilot-boat Philadelphia, which was near at the time, sent a crew to the assistance of the stranded vessel.

The life-savers here were notified and they also put out to the Westerland.

Those who returned to shore from the ship reported that there was much excitement and a general rush for life-preservers when the steamer struck. The stampede was stopped and the passengers reassured. When quiet had been restored, life-preservers were handed but few took them.

PATRICK LOSES IN HIS FIGHT FOR NEW TRIAL

Recorder Goff Refuses to Grant Motion Made by Condemned Man.

HE MAY DIE NEXT WEEK.

Only Intervention of Higher Courts Can Now Save Him from Chair.

Recorder Goff, in an opinion handed down this afternoon, denied the motion of Albert T. Patrick for a new trial on the charge of murdering the aged millionaire, William Marsh Rice.

Patrick's fourth reprieve, granted by Gov. Higgins pending the result of the inquiry which Recorder Goff has just closed, expires next Monday. Unless he can secure grounds for another reprieve or take legal action that will bring about a stay he must die in the electric chair in Sing Sing prison next week.

Because of the unreliability and eccentricity of many of the witnesses brought forth by Patricks counsel to sustain his motion for a new trial, the adverse decision of Recorder Goff has been expected. One of these witnesses is serving a term in Sing Sing for perjury committed during the examination.

Prepared to Appeal.

In anticipation of a denial of the motion, counsel for the condemned man have prepared an appeal to the United States Supreme Court for a writ of error and a writ of habeas corpus. This appeal would act as a stay. The final move will be an appeal to Gov. Higgins for a commutation of sentence along the lines of the appeal made last week to Gov. Guild, of Massachusetts in behalf of young Tucker.

The opinion of Recorder Goff, who presided at the trial of Patrick four years ago and sentenced him to death, covers fifteen typewritten pages. The Recorder is emphatic in the opinion that upon none of the grounds urged in the motion is there sufficient cause to grant a new trial.

Former District-Attorney William M. K. Olcott was the moving spirit in Patrick's attempt to be tried again for the Rice murder. Mr. Olcott, to support his motion, alleged three grounds, in brief as follows:

First—That new evidence has been secured; second, that the verdict was contrary to law; third, that upon the whole case a new trial would be a furtherance of justice.

The Recorder devotes most of his opinion to the alleged new evidence. Part of this relates to admissions Jones is said to have made to persons in Texas and part to discoveries made by medical experts.

Discusses "New" Evidence.

Jones, as a number of witnesses from Texas swore, has admitted repeatedly since the trial that he perjured himself when he said that he had chloroformed Rice at Patrick's suggestion or under duress or demand. Experts have been found to say that the use of chloroform renders impossible a decision as to whether or not a person was killed by the inhalation of chloroform.

Recorder Goff points out that Jones went on the stand in the trial at which he confessed perjury. He admitted that he had lied half a dozen different ways, but when he told his final story—the story that convicted Patrick—he insisted that he was telling the truth. He was on the witness stand for five days and underwent a close cross-examination which failed to shake his story. The Recorder also points out that Jones said he had told the truth to his counsel, Fred House, but Mr. Olcott refused to call Mr. House as a witness in his motion for a new trial.

The jury was charged again and again as to the fact and effect of Jones's protean facility as a witness.

"No new jury could," says Recorder Goff, "by any new discovery of more turpitude have a more comprehensive knowledge or measure of the quality or value of Jones's testimony than the jury which delivered the verdict."

On this point the Court of Appeals said: "The evidence, independent of the testimony of the accomplice, is fraught with a crushing implication of the defendant in the deliberate purpose to kill Rice in order to gain possession of his estate."

Hits at Texas Witnesses.

The Recorder dismisses the Texas witnesses who came here to testify with brief ceremony.

"From the first witness," he says, "who confessedly perjured himself, to the last there was little difference in either degree or kind. It would be taxing human credulity to a point beyond forbearance to even ask twelve men in a jury box to give credence to the witnesses who have testified to the alleged admissions of Jones."

LONG SHOTS SWEEP THE BOARD AT GRAVESEND

Acrobat, at 40 to 1, Captures the Bedford Stakes, and Three Others at Good Prices Romp Home to Victory.

BY FRANK W. THORP.

(Special to The Evening World.)

GRAVESEND RACE TRACK, June 11.—There was a slump in favorites at Gravesend this afternoon. The market opened off when Keator was beaten in the opening dash, was very weak when Dromedary was beaten and became panic-stricken when Masanielle and Bull's Eye both fell by the wayside. Then Master Lester was beaten, and the bank rolls of the faithful shrank to slim proportions.

The Bedford Stakes was the only feature, and it furnished a four-head finish with a 40 to 1 shot poking his nose home in front of the favorite. Berkeley, a hundred to one chance, rushed to the front and set a terrific clip, and after tieing the others all up in a knot, he blew to a walk. Then the others started a drive which lasted to the wire. Acrobat winning by a head from Master Lester, with Red River and Clare Russell heads away.

Rye won the opening dash, to the joy of the Sullivan clans. Rye is a pretty shifty sprinter. He beat Keator like breaking sticks.

In the jump Knight of Elway beat Dromedary in a gallop. Last time they met Dromedary beat Knight of Elway in a gallop, but that doesn't cut any ice in the steeplechase game.

Grenade made a runaway race of the third, profiting quietly by a jumble on the first turn and gaining a big lead. He just lasted long enough to beat Bullseye. The crowd numbered 6,000.

Miller Won on Rye.

Keator was a heavily backed favorite in the opening event, but was beaten. Nannie Hodge raced away in front and made the running, followed by Keator and Rye. They ran this way to the stretch, where Keator went to the front and stayed there to the furlong pole, where Rye, closing with a rush, took the lead and won easily by two and one-half lengths from Keator, who beat Nannie Hodge four lengths for the place.

Winner Held 'Em Safe.

Knight of Elway held the field safe in all stages. He indulged Mamie H with the lead for the first two miles, and then, taking the lead, came away

POLO GROUNDS, NEW YORK, June 11.—McGinnity's great pitching this afternoon defeated Cincinnati by a score of 1 to 0. The game was lacking in sensational features and at times lost interest, as there was little hitting on either side.

In one of the early innings, with Livingston on third and none out, McGinnity performed the remarkable feat of retiring Kelly on a short fly and striking out Seymour and Lobert.

The spectators numbered about 3,000.

First Inning.

Huggins hit a single to the infield. A moment later the little fellow was caught napping off the bag. Barry kicked on a strike and, after an argument with Conway, was put out of the game. Livingston took his place at the bat. The new man was thrown out on a grounder to Dahlen. Kelly was easy pickings for McGinnity and died on a sharp grounder. NO RUNS.

Bresnahan was called out on strikes, but by a strong effort held his tongue and went to the bench pulling his hair. Brown went out on a bounder to Schiel.

Application of Marlborough and Other Clubs for an Injunction to Restrain Sheriff Denied by Justice Giegerich.

LAW IS VIOLATED IN THE CHARGING OF ADMISSION.

Even If This Is Done Indirectly It Is Illegal, Says Court—Club Lawyers Attack Gov. Higgins for His Interference.

Justice Giegerich, in the Supreme Court, this afternoon, denied the application by the Marlborough Athletic Club, the Longacre Club and the Mobile Athletic Club for an injunction to prevent Sheriff Hayes, of the county of New York, and the Police Department from interfering with "boxing matches" given by them.

This action is the outcome of the order sent by Gov. Higgins to Sheriff Hayes two weeks ago directing him to enforce the law regarding boxing and prize-fighting in this county.

Former Assistant District-Attorney Maurice B. Blumenthal, counsel to the Sheriff; Assistant Corporation Counsel Terence Farley, and Deputy Police Commissioner Mathot appeared to oppose the issuance of the injunction; Mr. Farley, as counsel, assigned to the Police Department, and Mr. Mathot as the legal head of that department.

Abraham Schlein represented the Mobile Club; Charles Firestone the Long Acre Athletic Association and Henry J. Goldsmith the Marlborough Club.

Lawyer Schleimer was the first orator for the boxing clubs.

Just for Exercise.

"We have three hundred members in our club," said he, "and they have enough work to do in the day and come to the club at night for some pleasure. These young men have their physical exercises and among them are sparring exhibitions. A doctor will put on the gloves with a lawyer and a lawyer with a clergyman, and so on."

"Are the public invited to attend these exhibitions?" queried Justice Giegerich.

"Oh, no," replied Schleimer. "Our club is a bona-fide club, and we admit nobody but our 300 members. Ours is a legal corporation."

"They have their exhibitions in public," said Justice Giegerich.

"No one but a member can enter the place," Schleimer said. "On Wednesday evening we have a little game of basketball, and on another evening some other game. Then on another evening we have our sparring exhibitions. They are all very good exercises, and far better for our members than to have them standing around corners and other such places. We charge no admission fee and allow none but members in, and the investigation into the character of would-be members is very strict."

Pay Initiation Each Week.

"How often do your members pay their admission fees?" asked Justice Giegerich.

"Every week," promptly responded Schleimer, "we have rejected a good many applicants. Every member when elected puts up a certain amount, and we were getting along very nicely until Sheriff Hayes and the police interfered with us.

"Are you a member of the club?" Justice Giegerich asked.

"Not yet, but soon," Schleimer replied.

"What do your members pay a year?" then asked Justice Giegerich.

"Twelve or fourteen dollars a year."

"Fifty-two a year—$1 a week," interrupted Lawyer Blumenthal.

Lawyer Firestone followed.

He told the Court the dues in the Longacre Association were only $50 a year and they had a hundred members.

The Point of the Law.

Justice Giegerich asked that the section of the Penal Code dealing with prize-fighting be read, and said the point of the statute was that an admission fee could not be collected either directly or indirectly.

"How long is your club in existence?" he asked.

"Three months," said Firestone.

"Since this law came into existence," said Justice Giegerich.

Firestone charged that Gov. Higgins had permitted fights in Buffalo on the very night he had them stopped here.

"It was only when he saw the newspaper stories here," sneered Firestone, "that he wrote to Sheriff Hayes."

"I won't hear any such observations as that," said Justice Giegerich, sharply.

Lawyer Goldsmith argued that the Marlborough Athletic Club had been in-

SOUTH SIDE BALL PARK, CHICAGO, June 11.—New York's Highlanders hooked up with Comiskey's White Sox this afternoon in the fourth and final game of the present series. Griffith's team had outclassed the locals in most of the games played between them, having won four of the six already decided.

Chicago played in more than luck in winning yesterday, although it was by taking advantage of mispiays by the enemy that they proved successful. Any team that can score one run without the aid of a hit, when the whole club is held to one lone safety in the entire nine innings, and win out, is playing with luck as a big factor.

The hot, sultry weather of last week has passed and to-day was almost too cool for comfort on the bleachers. A chilly north wind swept the field, but the sun was out, bright and sheltered spots, eagerly sought by the fans, thawed them out.

First Inning.

Keeler tapped an easy one toward third that Tannehill fumbled. Conroy struck out. Keeler out stealing. Sullivan to Davis. Chase out, Smith to Donohue. NO RUNS.
