DIVINE SARAH AGAIN BIDS US 'LAST' FAREWELL

Mme. Bernhardt Sails—Says in Public She Will Not Return.

On sailing to-day for France Sarah Bernhardt said this was positively her farewell tour of America. Sarah always says that.

About five minutes later she was promising William F. Connor, who acted as the manager during her recent Western trip, that when he built a Broadway theatre and named it for her she would come back and open it for him. So that relieved the situation, and the ship-news reporters who had gone aboard to interview her went away eased in their souls.

The French line's pier was much cluttered up with fellow country-people of Mme. Bernhardt when she arrived in several cabs. There was a forward rush and a vocal geyser of Gallic joy-words as she hurried across the pier to La Touraine. A factotum with bristling whiskers and several policemen fended off the enthusiastic crowd, and the actress got aboard in a jiffy.

So the crowd on the pier took it out in kissing one another. One stout gentlemen with a weak heart was so overcome that he fainted away just as soon as he could find a clean plank to faint on.

The actress had a suite de luxe on the starboard side of the steamer. Here, in a wonderful green gown, very tight in some spots and very loose in others, with a great golden chain around her neck and two dozen queer-looking rings on her fingers, she received the reporters, while the bewhiskered person hitherto mentioned, four maids in waiting and a property chaperon of matured years, shooed away the crowd of curious passengers who besieged the flower-laden stateroom.

When she told Mr. Connor that she would come back to open that theatre of his she slipped on one of his fingers a heavy old gold ring with a great robin's egg of a turquoise set in it. Somebody asked her what she thought of the Theatrical Trust, which had driven her into the circus tents and skating rinks out west. The Madame's shoulder blades went up and her eyebrows came down until it looked as if she was trying to button the blades to the brows.

"They are silent foes," she said in French, shaking her head of tawny hair.

Then she thought up some nice things about the American people.

"I find great change in the artistic spirit of your theatre-going public since my last visit," she said. "Formerly they came to the theatre simply to see; now they come to hear and to appreciate. Particularly is this artistic awakening true of the West, and most notably of all in Texas. That great Texas—I admire him very much.

"In Paris I begin at once rehearsals of my new play, 'Saint Hilarese,' by M. Mendes. I will come back to America no more. This is the farewell."

Positive dates of Mme. Bernhardt's next tour are not expected until fall, but Mr. O'Connor has her promise. As La Touraine pulled out the stout gentleman who had fainted on the clean plank, having now recovered, sat on a springhouse and mingled his tears with those of the brine of the North River.

There was at least one member of Mme. Bernhardt's company, and possibly two, who did not sail with the star and the rest of the troupe. It is certain that Dolores MacLean, the beautiful young woman who played Ophelia to the madame's Hamlet, did not go with the others and Leon Bary, who had small positions in some of the plays, may have stayed behind, too, although he had promised to depart these shores at once. About the time the liner left Miss MacLean was swooning in Jefferson Market Police Court, all because her mother and a lawyer or two wouldn't let her wed young Mr. Bary.

During the Western tour, it seems, the young couple fell in love. Mrs. Louise MacLean, the girl's mother, objected to the engagement, as her daughter is only seventeen years old. Yesterday Bary called at the temporary home of the MacLeans at No. 5 Second avenue, and delivered an ultimatum to the mother. Unless he was permitted to marry Dolores he proposed to kill himself.

Attorney Louis Mathot happened to arrive at the house on a call while the three-cornered interview was at its stormiest. He sided with the mother, and went to Jefferson Market Court and got from Magistrate Wentz a warrant for Bary on the charge of attempted abduction. The young actor was arrested at the Lyric Theatre during the matinee, and in the afternoon and again at the evening performance a detective sat in the wings while the prisoner went through his lines.

Mrs. MacLean agreed to-day to withdraw her complaint, providing Bary would leave the country. He consented. Miss MacLean promptly fainted. She revived, but fainted again when Bary departed ostensibly to catch the steamer. Her mother took her away in a cab.

Evils Resulting From Constipation

How This Trouble May Be Readily Corrected

You are drowsy, heavy, loggy, lack energy—every exertion is an effort—your head is not clear and it is hard to think, you have a full and oppressed feeling in your stomach and bowels—all your limbs and body ache—in fact, life seems hardly worth living under such conditions. Ask yourself, "Do your bowels move regularly?" If you feel as above your answer will be "NO"—that is the cause of your troubles. If not properly corrected this condition will lead to much more serious disorders of the blood and body, due to the poisons in the waste matter which should be promptly carried off. And it seems so foolish to suffer when Nature has provided her own wholesome and certain remedy in the pure Mineral Laxative Water—HUNYADI JANOS—from the famous Springs in Hungary. A tumblerful of this wonderful water, drunk on arising in the morning (slightly warmed for best results), will give you within an hour a delightfully pleasant and copious movement. This will clear your head, sharpen your appetite and make a new man of you. Try it and see. At all Druggists.

AMERICANS SLAIN BY TREACHEROUS CHIEF OF MOROS

Lieut. Bolton and American Planter Ambushed by Entertainer.

MANILA, June 14.—First Lieut. Edward C. Bolton, of the Seventeenth Infantry, Governor of the Province of Davao, Island of Mindanao, and Benjamin Christian have been murdered on the beach on the west coast of Davao by Chief Mungalayan, a Moro, and his two brothers. The murderers have not yet been captured.

A report received here by Gen. Wood from Gen. Weiss, who is at Zamboanga, states that Bolton and Christian passed a night at Mungalayan's house and were returning to Malita in the morning, Mungalayan's brothers acting as guides for the Americans, both of whom were unarmed. Bolton and Christian were ambushed.

Mungalayan has the reputation of being a cutthroat and murderer. He is second chief of the Tagacolas, who are non-Christian Philipinos.

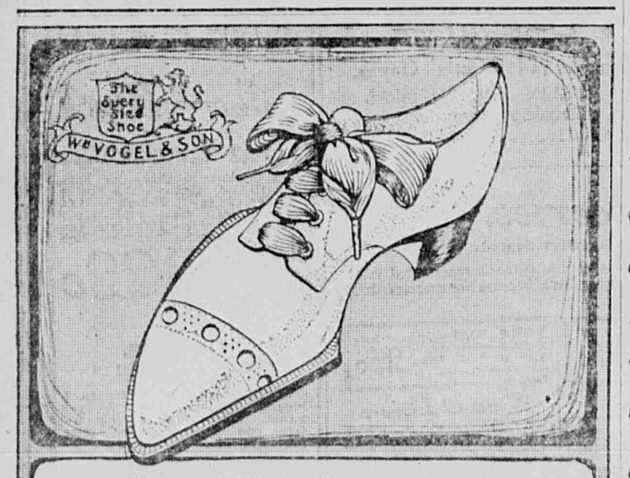
Lieut. Bolton was endeavoring to pacify the people by peaceful methods and habitually went unarmed. He was regarded as one of the best officials of the government in the islands, and had accomplished much. He had stopped at the Mugalayan house many times previously, but had never before been molested.

Christian, the other murdered man, was a discharged soldier, and foreman of the government farm at Malita.

A report of the murder received at constabulary headquarters gives the additional information that Mungalayan is the leader of a band of 200 religious fanatics who are terrorizing the country, and recently sacked a place known as McCulloughs, near Malalog. The Americans are gathering at Malalog.

One comapny of regular troops and one company of constabulary were despatched from Zamboanga at daylight to-day to scour the country, arrest the murderers if possible and restore order.

Capt. Langpore has been made Acting Governor of Davao and placed in charge of these operations.



"Every Size Low Shoes" Better Than Ever—and Still $3.

When you see shoe prices all about you soaring up to dizzy heights—we think it argues pretty well for our understanding of the shoe business to maintain the same high character in quality of leather and workmanship, and styles copied faithfully from custom models, and withal keep the price down to the low level—$3.

More than 25 new models comprise our present showing in every size and half size from 4 to 12 and every width from AA to EE. All leathers.

Friday, women's suits at $10.

That does not tell the story, though—not by any means. Here's the interesting part. They're all $25 suits for $10. A sale that is the result of one of those periodical departmental "clean-ups"—a time when we gather all the odd suits and marshal them in one large lot and price them to sell in a day.

Women's suits that sold regularly up to $25, at $10.

Those smart, handsome creations. Made up in the new outing materials, in pretty stripes and checks, shadow plaids and mannish mixtures. An ideal garment for vacation wear. They are made up in the new jaunty short polo coats—deep roll collar, edged with white pique—new plaited skirt; also several Eton models; all well finished at $10

The new outing suits—They've been selling right along up to $32, but to heighten the buying interest we include them in this sale; particularly adapted for outing and street wear. Smartly tailored—loose, boxy coats in fine quality Sicilian or light outing materials with black stripes. Just the suit for mountain or seashore wear. Extraordinary values while they last..... $14.75
