PROSPECTUS

OF a weekly newspaper to be published in the city of Vicksburg, to be entitled the Mississippi Sentinel and State Rights Expositor, edited and published by Drs. Green and Hagan.

The great and growing resources of Mississippi, and the rapid increase of wealth, population and business, seem to demand another paper in this city.

The political character of this paper will be indicated by its title. It will advocate the great principles of State Rights and State Remedies, and announce, from the watch-tower, every encroachment of the Federal Government on the rights of the States and the liberties of the people. By frequent recurrence to first principles and the doctrines taught by the framers of the Constitution, it will endeavor to impart clear views of the federal compact, that the people may be enabled to mark, and prepared to resist the advances of despotism and corruption.

The peculiar institutions of the South, and the present crisis, require energy, intelligence and organization on the part of the people. The wealth and luxury of Rome only stimulated the rapacity and avarice of the northern barbarians. We must not only, individually, become acquainted with the rights and interests of the South, but we must effect such a union of feeling—such a physical organization as will defy the bold schemes of fanaticism and the wiles of treacherous demagogues; and transmit to posterity our glorious institutions, pure as we received them from the hands of our forefathers.

Though there are times and circumstances when the laws may be dispensed with and summary punishment be resorted to, yet we are convinced that Lynch law has become quite too common all over the country. It has excited a furious and sanguinary spirit at war with civilization, and injurious the prosperity and happiness of our common country. It has in many cases enabled individuals to wreak vengeance for private griefs, at the expense of the peace and order of the community, and the life probably of the innocent. The Sentinel will uphold the majesty of the laws; believing that they ought only to be dispensed with in extreme cases, when public liberty and life are threatened by organized bands of conspirators.

The Sentinel will endeavor to present its readers with such views as will aid in developing the resources and increasing the wealth and prosperity of the State. Its columns will be open at all times to the mechanic as well as the merchant or planter; and every class of citizens when their rights and interests are assailed, can present their grievances to the public through the Sentinel.

A portion of the paper will be devoted to literature, notices of new works, &c.

A portion of advertising and job work is expected.
