NOT A DOLLAR LOST

Nor an Acre of Land by Any Official Act of R. C. Dunn When He Was State Auditor.

In regard to the reports made by Public Examiner Samuel T. Johnson as to the accounts and business of the state auditor's office during the administration of R. C. Dunn, after all is said and done, there is not a word or a charge which has been sustained that shows that the state ever lost one dollar in money or one acre of land through any action of Mr. Dunn; but on the other hand it has been shown beyond dispute that the state gained millions of dollars through the business sagacity with which Mr. Dunn protected its interests; that he collected more money from the sale of state timber during the eight years he held office than was collected in the thirty-one years previous, and that he collected ten times as much from trespassers on state timber lands than ever before collected in the history of the state.
