SALVIDERE RUNS WONDERFUL RACE, WINNING SPECIAL

$40,000 Beauty Demund Blows Up After Having Good Lead—Travers Stakes, Saratoga's Second Feature, Goes to Gallavant.

By FRANK W. THORP.
(Special to The Evening World.)

RACE-TRACK, SARATOGA, N. Y., Aug. 11.—Salvidere won the Saratoga Special this afternoon like a true race-horse. Off none to well, he was eleven lengths behind the leaders on the far turn. He looked to have no chance at this stage. Yet he came through the stretch making up ground in wonderful strides, never faltering under the pace and finally winning by a length and a half at the finish. Had the race been seven furlongs he would have won in a gallop.

Salvidere can be hailed as the two-year-old of the year. This was his fourth successive win under all kinds of weights and conditions. Salvidere is king of the two-year-olds.

McCarter, who ran second, ran a cracking good race, but could not withstand the wonderful rush of Salvidere. Peter Pan was third, running his best race. Rockstone, the hope of the Sanfords, was off badly and had no chance. Salvidere was favorite at all times. The stake was worth $15,000 to him.

Track Turned to Mud.

The track finally turned to mud under a heavy shower after the special was run. Mohawk II. was a hot favorite in the Travers, but Gallavant hung to him all the way and finally came away in the stretch and won galloping by eight lengths. Mohawk II. was twenty lengths in front of Reidmoor. Fort Hunter, ridden by Sewell, broke down in the far turn.

The North American Steeplechase was an easy victory for Alfar. He went to the front after Kassil fell, made all the running and won at the price of 7 to 1. Delcanta beat Hylas for the place.

Ginette was a warm favorite in the opening event; she came home on the bit, galloping by half a dozen lengths and running the seven furlongs in 1.25. He could have beaten the track record easily. Memories came back to her best form and beat Rebo for the place.

Pool-Room Men Up a Pole.

At the south end of the track to-day there was erected a large pole. On top of the pole was a platform and on the platform were three representatives of the pool-room interests. Heretofore they had been content with a perch on the trees, but when the Association erected a canvas barrier they went the association one better and erected the pole.

Ginnette on the Bit.

Edna Jackson went to the front at the start, made pace, and was followed

Men, women and children were jolted off seats and hopelessly mixed up, glass was broken, and everybody shrieked.

An excited policeman ran to the Delancey Street station, across the way, reporting that a dozen people were injured.

The reserves were sent to the rescue and ambulances summoned from Brooklyn and Beekman Street Hospitals. Nobody was seriously hurt.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Washington Park, Aug. 11.—This was a delightful day for a game of ball, and as the Brooklyn and Chicago teams were slated to come together in their third game of the series, another large crowd of rooters came out to watch the nines struggle for the victory. Donovan's crowd was anxious to win out. They didn't think the Cubs could take three games from them.

Scanlon was picked by Donovan to do the twirling for the Trolley Dodgers while Chance selected Pfeister, his crack left-handed slab artist, to shoot them over at the Brooklyns.

Umpire Johnston was unable to officiate in the game to-day on account of sickness, and O'Day worked alone.

There were close to 8,000 rooters present when the bell rang for the teams to begin playing.

First Inning.

Slagle walked, then went to third on Sheckard's drive for a base. Schulte then smashed the ball to deep left centre for three bases, sending Slagle and Sheckard over the plate. Chance's foul fly was captured by Bergen. Steinfeld walked. Tinker bunted safely scoring Schulte and advancing Steinfeldt to second. Evers sent a fly to Hummel. Moran drove a high one to McCarthy. THREE RUNS.

Maloney out on strikes. Casey also out. Jordan was unable to find the ball. NO RUNS.

Second Inning.

Pfeister got a dose of his own medicine, being struck out by Scanlon. Slagle pushed a bounder to Alperman, who threw the "Midget" out in a hurry. Sheckard also gave Alperman a chance, and "Whitey" nailed him easily at first. NO RUNS.

Alperman banged out a high one, which Schulte captured. McCarthy lined the ball and stopped at first. Lewis

GIANTS' GAME WENT ON AFTER HEAVY RAIN STORM.

POLO GROUNDS, NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—New York sport lovers again poured into the Polo Grounds to-day, and at 2 o'clock standing room was at a premium. The grand stand was overflowing, and it became necessary to stop the sale of seats to that part of the grounds.

By the addition of two new gates the crush at the entrance was relieved. The exciting scenes of last Saturday were not repeated, as a number of police were on hand to prevent it. When the game began there were fully 20,000 people in the grounds.

A heavy shower of rain soaked the diamond at 2 o'clock and the contest began in the mud. It was another battle for second place. A defeat for the Giants meant a drop to third place, and they went after the game with the vigor they have shown for the last three days.

Fitzgerald, the catcher whom McGraw turned out to Utica several weeks ago, has been recalled by the Giants and was on the field to-day in uniform.

Secretary Knowles announced there would be a double-header on Monday.

First Inning.

Clarke dropped one safe on left foul line. Devlin thinking it would roll foul, did not touch the ball. Ganley tried to oust, but struck out. Seymour made a great running catch of Beaumont's high drive. Wagner forced Clarke out at second by a sharp grounder to Dahlen. NO RUNS.

Shannon soaked a long fly to Clarke. Browne then laced a long drive into left centre for two bases. McGann drove a slow grounder to Wagner, but Browne went to third on the out. Seymour, by a beautiful line drive to right, sent Browne home. Seymour stole second. Devlin sent a long fly to Beaumont, retiring the side. ONE RUN.

Second Inning.

Nealon got a pass. Leach sacrificed, advancing Nealon to second. Ritchey popped a short fly to Dahlen. McGinnity got Gibson's bounder and threw him out. NO RUNS.

Dahlen made a fast sprint on a bunt,

(Special to The Evening World.)

CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 11.—Baseball fans in Chicago are nearing the point of insanity. The victory of the White Stockings yesterday over the New York Highlanders in the 2 to 1 game in which Cheabro fanned nine men, has caused the fans to believe that the Chicago teams are likely to win both pennants this year, when the post-season games for the championship of the world would be the hardest fought in the history of baseball.

For a time to-day it looked as if the gates to the South Side Park would have to be closed. The crowd started early and by 1 o'clock the line-up at the box-offices extended for a block or more. At 2 o'clock the impatient fans were pushing and crowding and at times fighting for an opportunity to buy an admission card. At 3 o'clock the crush was at its fiercest, and all gates were jammed. The field was thrown open early and the grand stand was lined in front all the way round, and the line met again in the outfield back of the bleachers. Before the game was called questions of ground rules were discussed by Managers Jones and Griffith, but no announcement was made.

First Inning.

Hoffman out, Owen to Donohue. Keeler out the same way. Elberfeld out, Isbell to Donohue, the latter making a sensational one-handed catch of Isbell's wild throw. NO RUNS.

Hahn walked. O'Neill singled to left. Isbell popped to Elberfeld. Davis doubled to right, scoring Hahn and sending O'Neill to third. Donohue singled to short for Elberfeld to handle and O'Neill scored. Newton at this point replaced Hogg. Davis scored on a wild pitch. Donohue going to second. Dougherty out, Newton to Chase. Donohue going to third. Sullivan out, Newton to Chase. THREE RUNS.

Second Inning.

Chase singled to left and was out trying to stretch it into a two-bagger. Dougherty to Isbell. Conroy out, Owen to Donohue. Keeler to out. Tannehill to Donohue. NO RUNS.

Tannehill flied to Yeager. Owen out, Newton to Chase. Hahn out, LaPorte to Chase. NO RUNS.

Third Inning.

Yeager doubled to left. Kleinow singled and went to second on Dougherty's fumble, scoring Yeager. Newton grounded. Hoffman flied to Dougherty. Keeler out, Davis to Donohue. ONE RUN.

O'Neill out, LaPorte to Chase. Isbell singled past second. A fight among the fans lined up around first interrupted the game for a few minutes. Isbell stole second. Davis struck out. Donohue doubled to left, scoring Isbell. Dougherty flied to Conroy. ONE RUN.

Fourth Inning.

Elberfeld flied to Dougherty, who picked it off the grass. Chase out, Davis to Donohue. Conroy out same way. NO RUNS.

Sullivan fanned, so did Tannehill, and Owen went out via Laporte and Chase. NO RUNS.

Fifth Inning.

La Porte out, Tannehill to Donohue. Yeager flied to Davis. Kleinow flied to Isbell. NO RUNS.

Hahn out, Newton to Chase. O'Neill out, La Porte to Chase. Isbell doubled to right into crowd. Davis fanned. NO RUNS.

Sixth Inning.

Newton out, Tannehill to Donohue. Hoffman out, Owen to Donohue. Keeler out, Owen to Donohue. NO RUNS.

Donohue flied to Conroy. Dougherty fanned. Sullivan singled to left. Tannehill flied to Keeler. NO RUNS.

Justice Gaynor in Brooklyn Appellate Division Decides the Collection of a Second Fare by B. R. T. Is Illegal.

FIGHT FOR THE PEOPLE WON BY EVENING WORLD.

Charter Does Not Permit the Extortion, Declares the Court, and Passengers Have the Legal Right to Refuse It.

The Evening World has won the greatest victory for the people ever achieved by a newspaper in this or any other city. It has established legally the fact that the collection of an extra fare to Coney Island is illegal. Justice Gaynor, in a decision handed down this afternoon in the Appellate Division of the Brooklyn Supreme Court, upheld every contention the Evening World has made in its single-handed fight against the illegal extortion practised by the Brooklyn street and "L" railroad monopoly.

This decision wipes out the Barnett decision, which was obtained by collusion for the purpose of enabling the B. R. T. to demand an extra five cents for the trip to Coney Island. The fare to Coney Island to-day and to-morrow and hereafter from Brooklyn Bridge or any part of Brooklyn is five cents. Justice Gaynor upholds the right of any passenger to protest against paying more.

The tremendous victory for the people has been won by the Evening World alone. It took up the fight against the imposition on June 9 with the organization of the Five-Cent Fare League. It exposed all the subterfuges by which the B. R. T. has bulwarked itself behind a false legal shield and enlisted the aid of Borough President Bird S. Coler.

Law Now Established.

Stephen C. Baldwin, a Brooklyn lawyer of public spirit and legal learning, volunteered his services to the Five-Cent Fare League. He knew that the law makes the fare to Coney Island five cents, and contributed his learning and his time to establish the fact for the benefit of his fellow citizens.

Dr. MacFarlane, a resident of Brooklyn, returning from Coney Island, refused to pay a second fare when the conductor of the car on which he was riding demanded it at Kings Highway. The conductor was about to throw him off the car when John Lanigan, a special officer, in the interests of peace, placed Dr. MacFarlane under arrest.

Before he got to the Adams Street Police Court with the prisoner Lawyer Baldwin had secured a writ of habeas corpus calling upon Lanigan to produce Dr. MacFarlane in the Supreme Court. This "furnished an opportunity for argument over the right of the company to charge a decent fare to the ocean. William F. Sheehan argued for the B. R. T. and Mr. Baldwin for the people of Brooklyn.

Justice Gaynor had his decision ready before to-day, but held it until late this afternoon after the Stock Exchange had adjourned. Here is the language in which the learned jurist upholds the contention of the Evening World that the collection of two fares for a ride to Coney Island was robbery:

Connecting Lines, Too.

"The charter of the Brooklyn Heights Railroad Company permits it to charge only one fare for a continuous ride over its road (which is only about one-fourth of a mile long) and all of the connecting railroads which it operates and controls under leases or other contracts.

"A public service corporation bears a relation to the public similar to that of a public officer. It, like a public officer, is a servant of the public as an agent or arm of the Government and is no more entitled to exact a fee or a charge in excess of that prescribed by law than is a public officer.

"Five cents be a small fare for a long distance, also it is an excessive fare for a short distance, and will be found to be a large average fare. The fat and the lean must go together.

"The relator could not be guilty of a breach of the peace in disputing the right of the conductor to make him pay a second fare. He had the right to refuse to pay it and is discharged."

There is common sense, stripped of superfluous verbiage. Any passenger on the B. R. T. has a legal right to refuse to pay the second fare the monopoly demands at Kings Highway. Justice Gaynor's ruling stands unless it should be reversed by the Court of Appeals, to which the case will undoubtedly be taken by the B. R. T.

Deserve Thanks of People.

The thanks of the people of New York are due to Justice William J. Gaynor and Lawyer Stephen C. Baldwin, of Brooklyn, for clearly establishing the status of the roobing street railway monopoly of Brooklyn. Dr. MacFarlane and the other heroes who have made martyrs of themselves for principle are also deserving of the thanks of the people.

If there are any bouquets left the Evening World will not dodge them. With all due modesty we pat ourselves on the back this hot summer day in the proud consciousness that we have done something worth while for our army of readers and the public at large.

YOUNG MARQUIS CRAZY IN SPOTS, JURY'S VERDICT

Townshend Capable of Taking Care of Himself, but Insane as to His Affairs.

LONDON, Aug. 11.—The jury in the case of the Marquis Townshend, whose mental condition has been the subject of a legal inquiry all week, has delivered a typical English verdict. It finds that the young nobleman is able to take care of himself, but unable to take care of his money.

He will be protected by law from interference with his personal liberty, but a guardian will handle his property. The verdict amounts to the opinion that the Marquis is only half-crazy.

The Dowager Marchioness Townshend instigated the proceedings, alleging that her son's wife was detaining him a prisoner on the ground that he was of unsound mind. She asked to have him declared sane and able to attend to his own affairs.

U. S. VESSEL ON ROCKS.

PORTLAND, Me., Aug. 11.—The United States Quartermaster's Department steamer Henry Wilson in fog to-day ran on a ledge at Cushing's Island, this harbor. The United States Engineers' tug Weitzel made two ineffectual attempts to haul her off. It is feared the Wilson is badly damaged.
