RE-ELECTION OF CONGRESS, CALL OF ROOSEVELT

President Says Country's Good Demands Republican Majority.

A letter written by President Roosevelt to Congressman James E. Watson, of Rushville, Ind., reviewing and approving of the work of the present Congress and declaring:

"To change the leadership and organization of the House at this time means to bring confusion upon those who have successfully engaged in the steady working out of a great and comprehensive scheme for the betterment of our social and civic conditions," was made public to-day.

The President also declared that such a change would result in a hurtful oscillation between the extreme radicals and the extreme reactionaries.

"If there were only partisan issues involved in this contest," the President writes, "I should hesitate to say anything publicly in reference thereto. But I do not feel that such is the case. On the contrary, I feel that all good citizens who have the welfare of America at heart should appreciate the immense amount that has been accomplished by the present Congress organized as it is and the urgent need of keeping this organization in power.

"The interests of this nation are as varied as they are vast. Congress must take account not of one national need, but of many, and must meet these national needs; and I speak with historic accuracy when I say that not in our time has any other Congress done so well in so many different fields of endeavor as the present.

"No Congress can do everything. Still less can it in one session meet every need. At its first session the present Congress, in addition to the many tasks it actually completed, undertook several tasks which I firmly believe it will bring to completion in its second session next winter.

"Among these I hope and believe that the bills to prohibit political contributions by corporations, and to lower the duties on imports from the Philippine Islands, each of which has been passed by one House, will be enacted into law. I hope, and I have reason to believe, that favorable action will be taken upon the bill limiting the number of hours of employment of railway employees."

The President spoke of the "patriotic" action of Congress in making the construction of the Panama Canal possible and then referred to the tariff, saying:

"We stand unequivocally for a protective tariff, and we feel that the phenomenal industrial prosperity which we are now enjoying is not lightly to be jeopardized; for it would be to the last degree foolish to secure here and there a small benefit at the cost of general business depression.

"But whenever a given rate or schedule becomes evidently disadvantageous to the nation because of the changes which go on from year to year in our conditions, and where it is feasible to change this rate or schedule without too much dislocation of the system, it will be done, while a general revision of the rates and schedules will be undertaken whenever it shall appear to the sober business sense of our people that on the whole the benefits to be derived from making such changes will outweigh the disadvantages; that is, when the revision will do more good than harm.

"Let me add one word of caution, however. The question of revising the tariff stands wholly apart from the question of dealing with the so-called trusts—that is, with the control of monopolies and with the supervision of great wealth in business, especially in corporate form.

"The only way in which it is possible to deal with those trusts and monopolies and this great corporate wealth is by action along the line of the laws enacted by the present Congress and its immediate predecessors. The cry that the problem can be met by any changes in the tariff represents, whether consciously or unconsciously, an effort to divert the public attention from the only method of taking effective action.

After recalling the passage of the meat inspection and rate bills, Mr. Roosevelt writes:

"Perhaps the peculiar merit of these laws is best shown by the fact that while they have aroused the deepest anger of the reactionaries, of the men who make a fetish of wealth, they have not satisfied the unwise extremists; and the present Congress in achieving this merit has acted in the exact spirit of Abraham Lincoln, who was never to be frightened out of going forward by the cries of those who feared progress, nor yet to be hurried into a precipitate advance by the demands of the crude thinking, though often well meaning, men who are not accustomed soberly to distinguish between phrase making and action. To the men who come in the latter category all we need to say is to bid them possess their souls in peace."

Speaking for an eight-hour law, he has this to say:

"We favor the organization of labor, as we favor the organization of capital; but on condition that organized labor and organized capital alike act in a spirit of justice and fair dealing, and with due regard to both the letter and the spirit of the law. We heartily favor trades unions and we recognize in them, as in corporations, when properly conducted, indispensable instruments in the economic life of the present day; but where either type of organization is guilty of abuse, we do not propose to weaken the remedial powers of the Government to deal with such abuse. We are anxious to help, alike by law and by executive action, so far as in our power lies, every honest man, every right-dealing corporation.

"But, as a corollary to this, we intend fearlessly and resolutely to uphold the law, and to strengthen it, so that we can put down wrong, whether done by rich or poor; if done by the most powerful corporation or the most influential labor union, just as much as if done by the humblest and least influential individual in the land."

BOSTON HOTTEST SPOT IN NEW ENGLAND.

BOSTON, Aug. 20.—Boston was the hottest city in New England to-day. The clouds which partly covered the sky this morning brought but slight relief from yesterday's intense heat, for the reason that the humidity was higher than on yesterday. In the middle of the forenoon the official temperature was 82, while thermometers in the streets recorded 86. The humidity at that time was 75.

Reports to the weather bureau from other New England cities indicated similar conditions.

AUTOISTS GET PERMISSION TO HOLD BIG RACE

Supervisor Seabury Only One Against Vanderbilt Cup Contest.

(Special to The Evening World.)

MINEOLA, N. Y., Aug. 20.—The Nassau County Board of Supervisors to-day granted the application of the American Automobile Association to hold its third international road race for the William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., Cup on the public highway of the county.

Supervisor William Jones, of Oyster Bay, chairman of the Board, and Edward C. Willetts, of Northampton, voted in favor of it, but Supervisor Robert Seabury, of Hempstead, voted against it and in doing so said that his reason was "I don't believe that this Board of the legislature has any right to give away the public highways to be made a race course of."

The course will be as follows: The purpose is to begin at the intersection of Jericho Turnpike and Mineola avenue and run easterly through Jericho and East Norwich road to East Norwich at McQueens, then westerly along the Flushing and North Hempstead Turnpike to Bullshead Corner at Greenvale, then southerly over the back road, so called, to Old Westbury, then westerly to Mineola road, then northerly to the Flushing and North Hempstead Turnpike, then westerly over this road through the village of Manhasset to the junction of the Lakeville road, then southerly to Lakeville, then easterly to Searington, then southerly over Mineola avenue road to starting point.

It is also proposed to change the location of the grand stand from its old place, 300 yards west of the junction of Jericho Turnpike and Willis avenue, to same point along the pike between Mineola and Jericho.

This new course is looked upon with favor by many automobilists, especially the drivers, who have examined it and say that it will do away with the dangerous crossing at New Hyde Park, where they would now have to cross the trolley tracks of the New York and Long Island Trolley Company, which runs from Mineola to the city line, and also the dangerous "S" curve at Albertson Corner, where several accidents occurred during the last big race.

The Board of Supervisors give the privilege of the use of the road, with the understanding that the automobile association will put the entire course at once, which will give the public something, and also pay all damages for injuring work, as well as pay all accidents and damages caused by the race during the hours of 5 in the morning to 3 in the afternoon.

Sheriff Gildersleeve has been ordered by the board to take care of the police and to see that none of the crossings are neglected and that the public is well protected.

The report that the grandstand will be in the vicinity of the Bull's Head corner is looked upon by all with disfavor, especially as it will be unhandy for the people to reach there. The board gives permission for the use of the road on Sept. 22 for the Elimination race of American cars and on Oct. 6 for the final race of eighteen cars of all nations.

BANK MESSENGER SHOOTS FUGITIVE

Believed to Have Wounded Man with Whom He Quarrelled in Street.

A panic was narrowly averted at Fifth avenue and Eighty-eighth street to-day when Joseph Nehr, forty-seven years old, of No. 80 Hatfield street, Staten Island, driver for the Oriental Bank, at Broadway and John street, with a big revolver in his hand ran up the avenue after two men who were several feet ahead of him. He fired one shot and it is believed that one of the fleeing men was shot in the back. The man disappeared after the shooting and the police have been unable to locate him.

The street was crowded and men, women and children ran in all directions, their screams attracting the attention of Policeman Walsh, of the East Eighty-eighth street station. Nehr was arrested on the charge of discharging a revolver in the street.

The two men who escaped were John Boyce, of No. 175 First avenue, Coney Island, driver for the Wescott Express Company, and a man by the name of John J. Callahan.

According to witnesses, the three men had a quarrel as to which wagon had the right of way. Boyce was driving a Wescott Express wagon and Callahan was with him. Suddenly, it is said, Callahan jumped from the wagon and struck Nehr. Nehr grabbed a weapon from his wagon which contained money from the bank, and started after Boyce and Callahan. It is believed Callahan was the man who received the bullet.

Nehr was arraigned in the Harlem Police Court.

FOUR BLACK HAND MURDERS IN WEEK IN WESTCHESTER

Two Victims Meet Death To-day, One in Quarrel, Other in Attack.

(Special to The Evening World.)

MOUNT VERNON, N. Y., Aug. 20.—Two more murders were committed in Westchester County to-day, making four in a week. To-day's victims were Angelo M. Gladastoforna and Jovana Tuts. The former was slashed to death in front of a boarding-house at Kingsbridge road and Third avenue, this city, and the latter was shot near Cross River Dam in the northern section of the county.

The killing of Gladastoforna was the result of the slayer making a grimace at the dead man. Gladastoforna said he had been insulted and started a fight. The murderer ran into the boarding-house, secured a razor and, without warning, slashed Gladastoforna across the throat, almost decapitating him.

Although his jugular vein was severed, the victim crawled up two flights of stairs to his room before he dropped dead. The murderer, who is believed by the Italians in the neighborhood to be a member of the Black Hand society, which has committed many crimes in Westchester recently, escaped.

The police have not a single clue to the slayer, except a meagre description.

Tuts, the other murder victim, who was employed in building roads near Cross River Dam, had been threatened with death unless he contributed money to the Black Hand Society, and he had stubbornly refused to give up a cent. He was walking to his shanty early today, in company with a friend known only as "Pietro," when he was attacked in a lonely spot on the Mount Holly road. He fought desperately for his life, but his assailant fired on him, the bullet entering his head back of the left ear and then ploughing through the brain. He died instantly.

Pietro took a hand in the fight, and the bandit slashed him with a razor, almost killing him, and managed to make his escape.

Coroner Russell held an inquest today at Mount Kisco into the murder of Pasquale Sapa, a keeper of a boarding-house, who was murdered last Saturday by an agent of the Black Hand. Sapa was called to the door of his home about midnight and fired upon.

His daughter, Rosina Serpa, since the murder has been working to avenge the death of her father, and she has been gathering evidence to convict the slayer. As the result of her efforts "Jim" Racio, alleged to be a member of the secret society, is under arrest. Rosina knew that the prisoner had a 38-calibre revolver, and it was this size of the bullet that killed her father. The police will use the evidence she can find to send every member to jail for

"I am determined to avenge the death of my father," said the girl to-day. "I am not afraid of the Black Hand Society and I shall get all the evidence has gathered against the prisoner, life if possible."

NEGLECTED WIFE FOR CONEY'S JOYS

A Beach Photograph Brings Upon Errant Husband Scorn of Magistrate.

"Any woman who is good enough to bear children to a man is good enough (decidedly too good) for him. The trouble with you, Weinstein, is that you have become Americanized, and the wife whom you took before you could speak English—the one who bore your child—you are trying to cast off. This is shameful! I'll put you under bonds to give her $4 per week. Now you'll not be allowed to desert her and leave her helpless."

This was the denunciation Magistrate Wahle in the Essex Market court gave to Nathan Weinstein, arrested for threatening to desert his wife and eight-months-old baby.

The woman had a photograph of her husband and two girls taken at Coney Island, and when Magistrate Wehle saw it and the smile of satisfaction Weinstein wore, he delivered the scathing denunciation.

The defendant is a tailor, and lives at No. 289 Cherry street. He was arrested Sunday night by Policeman George Lübwig, of the Eldridge street station, as he was leaving his home with his trunk, clothes and pictures.

Weinstein's employer furnished his personal bond, and his wife will get $4 per week out of Nathan's $9.

$60,000 FIRE IN BUFFALO.

BUFFALO, Aug. 20.—Fire last night burned out the store of Ryan & Laird and the local establishment of the Welebach Light Company. The loss is $60,000 and is covered by insurance.

TWENTY WHALES RAM BIG LINER OFF THE COAST

So Passengers Say, but Wise Bo'sun Says It Was Only Play.

A school of twenty big whales furnished lots of excitement to the giant liner Minnehaha for several hours east of the Nantucket lightship yesterday afternoon, according to a party of inland sailors who arrived to-day on the Atlantic Transport liner, and sought to sink the ship.

When the vessel docked these maiden voyagers, who are mostly from Indiana, Illinois and Iowa, besieged the marine reporters with startling stories of a battle with the whales.

"One of them dived under the bow of the ship," said an enthusiastic miss, who might have been a schoolma'am, "and came up like a submarine torpedo boat under the keel. The Minnehaha reeled as if she had been struck by the torpedo, and I really thought we were going to sink."

"Yes, and the others would take a long run and butt into the side of the vessel like a ram on a battle-ship, trying to beat in her sides," added the prosperous keeper of the general store at Peaceful Valley, Ind. "They kept up the attack for over an hour."

"But the captain was a skilful dodger, and when he would see a mass play in the whales' big spouts he would back up to make the jolt as easy as possible," said a confiding elderly lady.

But the ship's officer, and the crew, to tell.

"Them whales? Oh, yes, we caught up with quite a mess of them," remarked Bo'sn Markham, who has sailed the deep for forty odd years; "they were a frisky lot. Fight? Naw. They's just a-playin' with us. Kind-a mistook us for one of their tribe, only a little bigger.

"They come so close you could a-dropped a biscuit on their backs. They was just having a pleasant time with us. Rubbed noses with our boys in a sort of 'how-dy-do' way and splashed around as though they'd like to get better acquainted.

"When a few of them would come alongside smiling and wanting to be friendly, the dry-land sailors amongst the passengers would take a fit and yell that they were a-goin' to sink, sure. First whales they ever saw. They were as much fun as the whales.

"Yes, one of the whales did dive under our bows. He was a bum diver, though, and came up too soon and got his back scratched on the keel. Didn't hurt him much. Wonderful how them whales know how to steer clear of a ship's propeller.

"After they'd followed us a couple of hours and found we wouldn't play with them, they shouted off toward the lightship to have a game of tag."
