SPORTING NEWS AND COMMENT

EDITED BY ROBERT EDGREN.

R. Edgren's COLUMN

LOTS of good things come out of 'Frisco. Here's the latest, which I confess to having taken, with the aid of a pair of shears, from the S. F. Bulletin. They know Billy Nolan in 'Frisco. "'Nuf sed."

"Billy Nolan began to suspect himself as soon as he made his first appearance in the cradle. He used to lie awake nights with both eyes glued on his milk bottle. He was afraid that he would rob himself of it if he went to sleep. All his life he has been watching himself to see that he does not hand himself a package of some sort. He still keeps his right mitt ready to bring over a haymaker on his left hand in case it tries to job him, and vice versa.

"By choice Billyus took up a dog's life. He was valet to the greyhounds down Ingleside way and managed to make a few friends among the purps until they got Tuesday to him. The upper class kennels hung out the 'Not at home sign' when they saw him coming.

"His stunts at the coursing park kept up the suspicions he held against himself. In those days they did some queer things with the bow-wows. Billyus put a few over himself. One night just before a hot favorite was to run, Bill took the notion that the purp needed exercise. He took the animal out and tied it behind a car going to San Mateo. Strange to say, the dog seemed tired the next day and ran like a Prohibition candidate.

'One year, when the grass was very short out at the coursing park and has was 'way up, Battling Nelson hove into view. Bill was eyeing some Ellis street free lunch dreamily when the Melancholy Dane dropped in.

"'I hear something making a noise like breakfast,' said Billyus. 'Do my ears deceive me or is it really a steak?'

"Bill's ears did not deceive him, though he continues to suspect them.

"'Me to hypnotize this,' said Billy, and he made a few passes with his mitt. The Dane fell for the layout as easily as Trilby. He is still under the spell. Though he lost the lightweight championship, Nolan has saved one thing for him. He is still the champion meal ticket of the world.

"The favorite song of the manager is 'Everybody's Wrong but Nolan.' He works a stunt like the old Greek gent with the whiskers who went out with a lamp trying to find an honest man. Bill is trying to dodge them. Just say 'Cheese it! Here comes George Washington,' and see him duck."

AS this correspondent seems to be worrying about my friend E. A. Adams's safety, I take pleasure in believing him:

"Robert Edgren, Dear Sir:

"There has been some talk between my friends and myself as to the plunge for distance. Some say that Adams, of the N. Y. A. C., plunged to a depth of sixty-eight feet or so, straight down in the water, but I don't see how it can be done. Yours, JOHN REILLY."

You are quite right. It can't be done. The most expert deep divers in the world are said to be the natives of Madagascar, who can go down into the water carrying sharp spades and clean a ship's bottom to a depth of twenty-five feet. South Sea pearl divers better this, but not very much.

The "plunge for distance" is different. The plunger dives into the water from an elevation, and goes as far, just under the surface, as he can without taking a stroke. In some cases a time limit is placed, and the plunge is measured at the moment this expires. This is to prevent injury to those extraordinarily game plungers who might stay under until they were strangled rather than lose a possible inch.

HERE'S another gentleman laboring under a misapprehension. A few days ago the following letter was answered in these columns:

"Sporting Editor Evening World:

"Did James J. Corbett ever fight a negro? By answering the above question you will aid in deciding a bet. Thanks. J. H. K."

Here is the answer, as printed:

"James J. Corbett fought a draw with Peter Jackson in California."

And here is the letter received today:

"Mr. R. Edgren, Evening World:

"By answering as you did that Jim Corbett fought a black man named Peter Jackson, you show your ignorance. Corbett always drew the color line. You'd better look up your dope and not make answers that make you look foolish before the sporting men who read your answers. "J. R. WEINER."

I TAKE it for granted that Mr. Weiner is very young, and so will forgive his criticism. If young Mr. Weiner had been a little older—had been what he terms a "sporting man" instead of a sporting child—he would have had a very distinct recollection of the great Peter Jackson. Probably the only Peter Jackson he ever heard of was the "Young Peter Jackson" who appropriated the big Peter Jackson's famous name. But you can't expect too much wisdom from the cradle.

I take the liberty of still insisting that Jim Corbett fought a sixty-one-round draw with Peter Jackson in California in 189.

PETER JACKSON was one of the greatest heavy-weight fighters that ever lived. John L. Sullivan drew the color line especially to prevent being forced into the ring with Jackson. I knew Peter well, and can say positively that he was a "black man." He was about three shades darker than Joe Walcott, who is as dusky as powdered coal dust. Peter came to this country from Australia, fought some good fights here, went to England for several years, where he became a popular idol, lost his physique through dissipation, returned to be knocked out by Jim Jeffries in three rounds (in San Francisco), and was shipped home to Australia to die, which he did several years ago.

POLO GROUNDS, NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—With the National League pennant for 1906 safely tucked away in their strong box, the Chicago Cubs paid another visit here to-day and opened up a series of games with McGraw's Giants. The day was ideal and one of the largest crowds of rooters to witness a single game here in some time attended. Manager Chance did not play with his team, but coached from the bench. Harry Gessler covered his position. Red Ames was selected by McGraw to pitch and Chance at the last moment put in big Overall.

The Chicagos won to-day, making 107 wins this season, a new record in professional baseball.

First Inning.

Slagle fanned. Sheckard also fanned and the rooters gave Ames an ovation. Hoffman's bounder nearly knocked Ames down and Danny got his base. He tried to steal second and was caught, Bresnahan to Strang. NO RUNS.

Shannon got first on Evers's wide throw to Hoffman. Tinker made a great running catch of Browne's line drive and by a fast throw to Hoffman doubled up Shannon. Seymour lifted one to Sheckard. NO RUNS.

Second Inning.

Gessler singled. Steinfeldt also singled. Tinker bunted to Ames and forced Gessler at third. Evers belted the ball to left field, scoring Steinfeldt, and on the throw to the plate Tinker reached third and Evers second. King singled, sending Tinker and Evers home. Overall fanned. Slagle thrown out by Strang. THREE RUNS.

Bresnahan strolled. Devlin also walked. McGann singled, filling the bases. Dahlen hit to Steinfeldt, who threw to Kling, nailing Bresnahan at the plate. Strang's liner was knocked down by Overall and Devlin was forced at the plate. Dahlen battered for Ames and walked, forcing McGann. Shannon struck out. ONE RUN.

Third Inning.

Taylor replaced Ames in the box for Giants. Sheckard lined to right and stopped at first. Hoffman sacrificed. Gessler fanned. Steinfeldt walked. Tinker drove a hot bounder to Strang and was out. NO RUNS.

Brown strolled. Seymour smashed a long fly to Slagle. Bresnahan walked. Devlin forced him at second, Tinker to Evers. Brown reaching third. Devlin was caught stealing second, Kling to Tinker. NO RUNS.

Fourth Inning.

Evers walked and tried to burglarize second, but was nailed, Bresnahan to Dahlen. Kling smashed along third base line for two bags. Overall's fouly was captured by Devlin. Slagle beat his grounder to Dahlen and stole second, and on Bresnahan's bad throw Kling scored. Sheckard flied to Seymour. ONE RUN.

McGann drove a high one to Gessler. Dahlen walked. Strang hit to Overall, who threw to Tinker, forcing Dahlen at second. Taylor struck out. NO RUNS.

Fifth Inning.

Hoffman slammed to deep left for three bases. Gessler out, Strang to McGann. Steinfeld fanned. Tinker filed to Shannon. NO RUNS.

Just at this moment the score of the Highlander-Chicago game was posted, and the rooters went wild over the locals's great victory. Shannon's fly went to Shreckard. Browne walked, but was doubled up with Seymour, Evers to Tinker to Hoffman. NO RUNS.

Sixth Inning.

Evers's fly, just inside the right foul line, was good for two bases. Kling singled, scoring Evers, but was nipped stealing second, Bresnahan to Dahlen. Overall struck out. Slagle filed to McGann. ONE RUN.

Bresnahan singled. Devlin hit to Steinfeldt, forcing Bresnahan at second. McGann filed to Slagle. Dahlen walked. Strang fouled to Kling. NO RUNS.

Seventh Inning.

Shreckard retired by Strang and McGann. Hoffman reached first on Devlin's bad throw and stole second. Dahlen muffing Bresnahan's good throw. He went out stealing third, Bresnahan to Devlin. Gessler filed to Seymour. NO RUNS.

Burke batted for Taylor and struck out. Shannon singled, but Browne forced him at second. Tinker to Evers. Seymour was disposed of by Hoffman unassisted. NO RUNS.

Eighth Inning.

Ferguson took Taylor's place in the box for the Giants. Steinfeldt got first on Dahlen's fumble. Tinker's foul-fly was grabbed by Devlin. Evers forced Steinfeldt at second, Strang to Dahlen and Evers was nailed stealing, Bresnahan to Strang. NO RUNS.

Bresnahan out. Tinker to Hoffman. Devlin walked, but McGann forced him at second, Tinker to Evers. Tinker's fumbled Dahlen's grounder. Strank out, Evers to Hoffman. NO RUNS.

Ninth Inning.

Kling flied to Shannon. Overall also filed to Shannon. Slagle fanned. NO RUNS.

Gilbert batted for Ferguson and walked, making the tenth man to get a base from Overall. Shannon filed to Sheckard. Browne hit to Evers and on time hitting a wild throw to Tinker. Gilbert got to third and Browne second. Seymour singled, scoring Gilbert. Bresnahan was hit by a pitched ball, filling the bases. Devlin hit to Steinfeldt, forcing Seymour at third, Browne scoring. On Steinfeldt's wild throw to first Bresnahan scored. McGann filed to Tinker. THREE RUNS.

WASHINGTON PARK, Brooklyn, Sept. 21.—The trials given young Reardon in right field yesterday and the day before have indicated to Manager Donovan that he has a "find" in the new man.
