PEACE AND GOOD WILL IN THE EARTH

Object of Great Conference of Nations Which Opens At Washington

(By Associated Press)

Washington, Nov. 12—Fresh with memories of their soldier dead the conference on limitation of armaments met in its first session today to seek "a rule under which reason and righteousness shall prevail."

In the Memorial Hall of the Daughters of the American Revolution, the statesmen of five great powers and representatives of four more gathered about the conference table.

In opening the conference President Harding said:

Harding's Address

Mr. Secretary and Members of the Conference; Ladies and Gentlemen:

It is a great and happy privilege to bid the delegates to this conference a cordial welcome to the Capital of the United States of America. It is not only a satisfaction to greet you because we were lately participants in a common cause, in which shared sacrifices and sorrows and triumphs brought our nations more closely together, but it is gratifying to address you as the spokesman for nations whose convictions and attending actions have so much to do with the weal or woe of all mankind.

It is not possible to overpraise the importance of such a conference. It is no unseemly boast, no disparagment of other nations, which, though represented, are held in highest respect ,to declare that the conclusions of this body will have a signal influence on all human progress—on the fortunes of the world.

Here is a meeting, I can well believe, which is an earnest of the awakened conscience of twentieth century civilization. It is not a convention or remorse, nor a session of sorrow. It is not the conference of victors to define terms of settlement. Nor is it a council of nations seeking to remake mankind. It is rather a coming together from all parts of the earth to apply the better attributes of mankind to minimize the faults of our international relationships.

Speaking as official sponsor for the invitation, I think I may say the call is not of the United States of America alone. It is rather the spoken word of a war-wearied world, struggling for restoration, hungering and thirsting for better relationship; of humanity crying for relief and craving assurance of lasting peace.

It is easy to understand this world-wide aspiration. The glory of triumph, the rejoicing in achievement, the love of liberty, the devotion to country, the pangs of sorrow, the burdens of debt, the desolation of ruin—all these are appraised alike in all lands. Here in the United States we are but freshly turned from the burial of an unknown American soldier, when a nation sorrowed while paying him tribute. Whether it was spoken or not, a hundred millions of our people were summarizing the inexcusable causes, the incalculable cost, the unspeakable sacrifices and the inutterable sorrows, and there was the ever-impelling question: Who can Humanity justify or God forgive? Human hate demands no such toll; ambition and greed must be denied it. If misunderstanding must take the blame, then let us banish it, and let understanding rule and make good will regnant everywhere. All of us demand liberty and justice. There cannot be one without the other, and they must be held the unquestioned possession of all peoples. Inherent rights are of God, and the tragedies of the world organize in their attempted denial.

The world today is infringing their enjoyment by aiming to defend or deny, when simple sanity calls for their recognition thru common understanding.

Out of the cataclysm of the world war came new fellowships, new convictions, new aspirations. It is ours to make the most of them. A world staggering with debt needs its burdens lifted. Humanity which has been shocked by wanton destruction would minimize the agencies of that destruction. Contemplating measureless cost of war and the continuing burden of armament, all throughtful peoples wish for for real limitation of armament and would like war outlawed. In soberest reflection the world's hundreds of millions who pay in peace and die in war wish their statesmen to turn the expenditures for destruction into means of construction, aimed at a higher state for those who live and follow after.

It is not alone that the world can not readjust itself and cast aside its excess burdens without relief from the leaders of men. War has grown progressively cruel and more destructive from the first conflict recorded to this present day, and the reverse would more become our boasted civilization.

Gentlemen of the conference, the United States welcomes you with unselfish hands. We harbor no fears; we have no sordid ends to serve; we suspect no enemy; we contemplate or apprehend no conquest. Content with what we have, we seek nothing which is another's. We only wish to do with you that finer, nobler thing which no nation can do alone.

We wish to sit with you at the table of international understanding and good will. In good conscience we are eager to meet you frankly and invite and offer cooperation. The world demands a sober contemplation of the existing order and the realization that there can be no cure without sacrifice, but not by one of us, but by all of us.

I do not mean surrendered rights, or narrowed freedom, or denied aspirations, or ignored national necessities. Our republic would no more ask for these than it would give. No pride need be humbled, no nationality submerged, but I would have a mergence of minds committing all of us to less preparation for war and for more enjoyment of fortunate peace.

The higher hopes come of the spirit of our coming together. It is but just to recognize varying needs and peculiar positions. Nothing can be accomplished in disregard of national apprehensions. Rather we should act together to remove the causes of apprehension. This is not to be done in intrigue. Greater assurance is found in the exchanges of simple honesty and directness, among men resolved to accomplish as become leaders among nations, when civilization itself has come to its crucial test.

It is not to be challenged that Government fails when the excess of its cost robs the people of the way to happiness and the opportunity to achieve. If the finer sentiments were not urging, the cold hard facts of excessive cost and the eloquence of economics would urge us to reduce our armaments. If the concept of a better order does not appeal, then let us ponder the burden and the blight of continued competition.

It is not to be denied that the world has swung along throughout the ages without heeding this call from the kindlier hearts of men. But the same world never before was so tragically brought to realization of the utter futility of passion's sway when reason and conscience and fellowship point a nobler way.

I can speak officially only for our United States. Our hundred millions frankly want less of armament and none of war. Wholly free from guile, sure in our own minds that we harbor no unworthy designs, we accredit the world with the same good intent. So I welcome you, not alone in good will and high purpose, but with high faith.

We are met for a service to mankind. In all simplicity, in all honesty and all honor, there may be written here the avowals of a world conscience refined by the consuming fires of war, and made more sensitive by the anxious aftermath. I hope for that understanding which will emphasize the guarantees of peace, and for commitments to less burdens and a better order which will tranquilize the world. In such an accomplishment there will be added glory to your flags and ours, and the rejoicing of mankind will make the transcending music of all succeeding time.

AUTOMOBILE WRECK MAY RESULT FATALLY

Berea Vocational Students Seriously Injured When Car Break Wheel

Jasper Combs was probably fatally injured, and Robert Caldwell and O. C. Fletcher badly injured when an automobile in which they were coming to Richmond from Berea to attend the Legion-State football game broke a wheel and turned turtle about a mile out of Richmond shortly after noon Friday.

Combs and Caldwell were given first aid after being brought to Richmond, and then rushed on to a hospital at Lexington. Both are government vocational students at Berea College. Local physicians found that Comb sustained three broken ribs and a fracture of one of the small bones of his neck, besides other injuries and cuts and bruises. Caldwell is also hurt internally, while Fletcher had a hand and arm badly hurt. Oscar Rader sustained numerous cuts and bruises, also.

The accident happened on a turn, near the home of T. D. Chenault. Oscar Rader was bringing the boys to the game in his touring car, and they said it was running at a rapid rate when one wheel struck an obstruction as it made a quick turn and broke down. This turned the car completely over and it seemed a miracle that all were not instantly killed.

DR. BERRYMAN IS DEAD AT COLLEGE HILL

Dr. T. J. Berryman died at his home at College Hill Thursday morning after a long illness, age 76 years. He was one of the most prominent citizens in the community, having resided there the past 15 years. Prior to that time he made his home in Estill county. He was for many years an active member in the Baptist church. Funeral services were held Saturday morning at 11 o'clock, conducted by Rev. Godby ,of Cynthiana. Interment in College Hill cemetery. He is survived by his wife, two daughters, Mrs. Cecil Willoughby and Mrs. Dosie Ginter, and two sons, Messrs. Sam Berryman, of College Hill, and Clay Berryman, of Ravenna.

DEMOCRATS STILL HOLD FISCAL COURT

As a result of the election Tuesday the new Fiscal Court which takes charge of the county's financial affairs in January next, will be composed of four Republican magistrates and four Democrats. With County Judge elect Goodloe presiding, the Democrats will have the control of the county, should partisan questions arise, which is not often the case with Madison's Fiscal Court. The closest race in the whole election was staged in the 8th magisterial district where Jones, Republican, beat Teater, Democrat, by only 3 majority. Teater made a magnificent race against big odds. The official report on the magisterial races shows:

U. S. PROPOSES BIG DESTRUCTION OF SHIPS

Secretary Hughes Prezents America's Proposal To Secure Real Disarmament Program

(By Associated Press)

Washington, Nov. 12—A ten-year naval holiday in naval construction, involving a tremendous scrapping of ships now on the ways on contemplated, by the United States, Great Britain and Japan, was proposed to the conference on limitation of armaments by Secretary Hughes at the opening session today, as an American proposal.

Briefly, the proposal is that these powers immediately destroy the 66 capital fighting ships with a total tonnage of 1,800,000. The United States would destroy six battle cruisrs, seven battle ships on the ways and two battleships launched; Japan, seven new and ten old ships; Great Britain, would scrap all first and second line battleships up to the King George fifth class.

Within three months after making this agreement, the navies would consist of: United States, 18; Great Britain, 22; Japan, 10. In tons, this would be the United States, 500,000; Great Britain, 600,000, and Japan, 300,000, all approximately. Subject to the ten-year holiday limitation, the capital ships could be replaced when 20 years old, no replacement ship to have a tonnage over 35,000. Provisions are made for other war craft.

TELFORD TO PREACH TO FOX HUNTERS

Perhaps the first time that a sermon has been preached to the fox hunters at their national meeting at Crab Orchard Springs, will occur Sunday. Dr. R. L. Telford, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, of this city, will go over to the big meet and give the fox hunters some old fashioned religion Sunday. He says he appreciated greatly the invitation from the boys and is going to give them the best he has in the shop.

The opening scores of the Chase Futurity, the first big feature of the 18th annual meeting of the National Fox Hunters' Association, give the lead to Len Shouse's hound, Great Stride, son of Big Stride, the famous fox hound of Sam Walters, of Versailles, for which he has refused an offer of $1,000.

Eighty dogs were entered in the Futurity held under the auspices of a magazine of which Samuel L. Woolridge, of Versailles, is president, and Robert J. Breckinridge, of Lexington, is editor. Four foxes were seen.

A son of Scott, owned by Robt. Rodes, Bowling Green banker, was second in the feature, and 5 dogs were tied for third. They are owned by Alex Parrish, of Berea; T. V. Graham, West Virginia; Sam Walters, Versailles; Dr. D. E. Sevier, Ashland, N. C., and John Bramham, Chicago.

The judges were Wm. Redditt, Mississippi; Charles Rankin and Edward Powers, Kentucky; Sam Velsor, Long Island, and Dr. W. A. Patton, Alabama. All are veteran fox huntsmen.

Dolly Varden Flour—White as the driven snow—for sale at Richmond Welch Store. Price 90c.

BIBLE CLASS MEETING—TURLEY'S MEN

Turley's Men—the Men's Bible Class of First Christian Church—will hold its meetings in the ELKS LODGE ROOM by courtesy of the Elks Lodge, while the church auditorium is being decorated. Every member of the class is urged to be present at the Elks Lodge Room, Sunday morning at 9:30—D. W. Kennedy, President.

THE RIGHT TIME TO SECURE SUBSCRIPTIONS

$30 Worth of Subscriptions To Daily Register Means 25,000 Extra Votes For Workers

We cannot call attention too forcibly to the big offer starting in the Daily Register subscription campaign—$30.00 Period—the biggest period of the campaign. It is important that every candidate strive to secure all the subscriptions they can in the early stage of this period, because each 330 turned in now means 25,000 extra votes and the extra votes may make you a winner of a Dodge Touring car or a pretty Ford sedan, or one of the other big prizes being offeed you by the Daily Register.

Every candidate in this contest is requested to make a report each week and to turn in what subscriptions they may have collected, as we have heard of several who are working and securing subscribers that have not made a report in over two weeks. Please come and report.

This is a race for workers and all inactive candidates will be dropped after this week, so be sure and make your report by Tuesday, no matter whether it is large or small, for we want to know that you are interested in this race and are really trying.

The Way to Win

The way to win is to solicit and secure as many new subscribers and as many renewal subscriptions as possible for the Daily Register. This will not be hard to do, for every old reader is ready and willing to renew, and each day new subscribers are pouring into this office ,for everybody wants the Daily Register, for it is up-to-the-minute, with all the very latest news that everybody wants to read. So get these new subscribers and those renewals and get them in the first stage of the $30 Period, while the votes are 25,000 for each $30 worth of subscriptions.

Today's Livestock Markets

Louisville, Nov. 12—Cattle, 500 slow, tops $7; hogs 1,700, strong, tops $7.50; sheep 200, steady and unchanged.

Cincinnati, Nov. 12—Cattle, slow; hogs 15c lower; Chicago steady.

RUTLEDGE AND HORD WIN EASILY

The official count of the ballots as made Friday show that the people of the county school district appear pretty well satisfied with the work that Messrs. J. F. Hord and J. H. Rutledge are doing on the County Board of Education. They won by big majorities over Messrs. Golden and Todd, the vote having been cast on separate ballots, and only in the country precincts outside the cities of Richmond and Berea. The vote by precincts was:
