FIGHTERS ON EDGE READY TO BEGIN SIX-ROUND BOUT

McGovern and Corbett Both Confident of Victory in To-Night's Battle—New Yorkers Off to Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 17.—Terry McGovern and young Corbett are here, resting up before the call to the ring of the National A. C., where they are to battle in a six-round bout to-night. Both are as fit as can be and both express confidence of winning.

A big crowd will see the fight. Already there are hundreds of New Yorkers here and every train from New York brings more. Betting, such as there usually is on a limited round fight, is brisk, with McGovern a favorite; but there are quite a few who are backing Corbett to land the sleep punch on the Brooklyn terror for the third time.

McGovern left New York before noon. Accompanied by his handlers, he made his way quietly to the Pennsylvania station. There was a disposition on the part of his handlers not to excite Terry. The old-time terror, however, seemed chipper and said he expected t owin in three rounds.

Accompanied by his manager, trainer, seconds and a rollicking crowd of a hundred friends "Young" Corbett left New York at 2 o'clock over the Pennsylvania Railroad.

After a short lunch at Shanley's the Denverite was hustled to the Twenty-third street ferry and there he ran into the arms of a horde of friends who made all ready to escort him to Philadelphia. The crowd filled a special car and with enough yells to suffice a football team pulled out at 2 o'clock for the battlefield.

The special will leave Philadelphia at 12 o'clock, and this will give ample time even if the fight goes the full six rounds.

Corbett and his managers were jubilant over the prospects of success as they left New York.

"Win?" asked Corbett. "Why, certainly I'll win. I have put McGovern out twice already, and I guess I can do it again. I am in as good condition as I ever was."

The admiring onlookers smiled at this, looked wise, reached to see if their bankroll was still in shape, and with a hearty "so long," the train was off.

BREEN LANDS HARD BLOW ON BOXING GAME

Manager of Long Acre Club Held for Trial for Conducting Fights.

Magistrate Breen in the Centre Street Court this afternoon landed another hard blow on the fighting game in New York by holding Michael Newman, manager of the Long Acre Club, of West Twenty-ninth street, for trial on a charge of conducting prize fights.

The Long Acre Club is the only organization in Manhattan which has been holding sparring exhibitions since the police shut down the clubs some months ago. The Long Acre is a regularly organized club under a State charter, and the entertainments have been for members exclusively. The police, however, arrested Manager Newman in order to have the matter threshed out in court.

"When sparring exhibitions are held at clubs and no admission charged the law is not violated," said Magistrate Breen. "But when men fight so fiercely that they are rendered unconscious it cannot be called a sparring exhibition."

Newman will have to face trial in Special Sessions.

STORM SWEEPS COAST; BARGE CREW MISSING.

NORFOLK, Vt., Oct. 17.—With the wind blowing between thirty-five and forty miles an hour and the seas rolling almost mountain high at times, no sailing vessels and but few steamships were venturing outside of the Virginia capes to-day.

No sailings have been received of the lost whaleback barge Berkshire, which is somewhere off this coast, with her crew of six. The Berkshire was lost from the tow of the steamer Bay State Monday afternoon.

The northeast storm which has been on for more than forty-eight hours is still sweeping the Virginia and North Carolina coasts to-day.

KING COOKED HIS WIFE AND SERVED HER FOR DINNER

Ruler of Annam Forced Courtiers to Eat Under Pain of Death.

HE PRESIDED AT TABLE.

Partook of Gruesome "Banquet" While Terror Reigned in the Palace.

(By Associated Press.)

MARSEILLES, France, Oct. 17.—The mail advices which reached here to-day from Indo-China brought another and more revolting story of the doings of

THE KING OF ANNAM.

King Thanh-Thai, of Annam, showing that he went to the extent of cannibalism.

After killing one of his wives, he caused the body to be cooked and served up for dinner, forcing his courtiers to eat it under pain of death.

Some of the Kings wives were bound and burned with boiling oil and subjected to other cruelty, while naked women were thrown into the cages of wild beasts, where they were devoured before the King.

Finally the French authorities stepped in and made a prisoner of Thanh-Tai, who has been adjudged insane by Dr. Dumas, of the French Conolial Staff.

The "royal guard" has been disbanded, the palace has been placed under the protection of 150 native soldiers and the terror-stricken inmates have been rescued from further suffering. The majority of the latter were women, who bore the marks of revolting tortures. Some of them were terribly mutilated, their faces being slashed and tongues cut out, while others had been suspended by pincers attached to the fleshy parts of their legs, to increase their agonies.

PARIS, Oct. 17.—The Minister of the Colonies this afternoon admitted that Thanh-Thai had been imprisoned in the Palace.

THINK PERINO MIGHT HAVE BEEN MURDERED.

Alfred Perino, the Frenchman who was found dead in his room at No. 343 East Twenty-first street, Monday, and whose death was reported to the Coroner by Capt. Hussey, of the East Twenty-second street police station, as not suspicious, was found to have died from a fracture of the base of the skull.

The autopsy was performed by Coroner's Physician O'Hanlon, who reported the fact of Perino's violent death to Coroner Harburger to-day. Coroner Harburger immediately ordered the police of the West Twenty-second street station to conduct an investigation.

Perino was a lodger in the house for four years. He had eleven trunks filled with a variety of dress and business clothes of the finest material.

Dr. O'Hanlon said the wound on Perino's head was as gaping and clotted with blood that it was a surprise to him that the police did not discover it.

MILLIONS COULD HAVE BEEN WON ON RACES TO-DAY

Five Long Shots Score, While Thousands Are Lost in Backing Red-Hot Favorites at the Belmont Track.

By FRANK W. THORP.

BELMONT PARK RACE TRACK, Oct. 17.—This was a field day for the long shots. A $5 parley on the six races would have netted $354,857,200. It is needless to say that no one took advantage of the opportunity.

Voorhees won the first race at 50 to 1. He was backed down to 20. A $5 straight bet would have netted $250. If this sum, together with the original $5, had been placed on Cressina at 30 to 1 in the second race it would have netted $7,905.

Kentucky Beau captured the third race at 12 to 1 and this race would have netted $102,765. This would have been increased to $3,285,715 when West captured the fourth race at 30 to 1, and when Orphan Lad took the fifth event at 4 to 1 the parley would have brought in $15,928,575.

Woodman won the last race at 15 to 1 and so the five dollar parley would have resulted in a net sum of $254,857,200.

If all this money could have been wagered, it would have put all the books out of commission.

Heavily backed favorites, who looked invincible, were beaten by long shots. W. H. Daniel, in the Champagne Stakes, was backed for thousands. Probably $50,000 was dumped into the ring on him, and he was regarded as a certain winner. Kentucky Beau, a 12 to 1 chance, neglected in the betting, nailed W. H. Daniel half way home and beat him easily, these two finishing in front of Ballot.

Newton Bennington waited a long time for Voorhees to get into the right spot, but he found it to-day and Voorhees won in a hard drive from Frank Lord. Voorhees was 50 to 1 at one time and was backed to 20 to 1 at post time. Klamesha was a heavily backed favorite, but was not better than third at any time.

Ginette was a prohibitive favorite in the second race, but was beaten. She was believed to be invincible, but Cressina nailed her in the stretch and came away easily winning by two and a half lengths. Cressina was a 30 to 1 chance.

Grapple was plunged on in the fourth race, the Farrell contingent dumping a chunk into the ring. Wes, the neglected outsider, won by a length and a half. The four defeats netted the ring a mint of money, and it was easily the most disastrous day of the season for the plungers.

Orphan Lad Closed Strong.

Ace High went to the front in the fifth and made the running to the stretch, followed by Blackmate and Orphan Lad. They held this order to the stretch, where Orphan Lad went to the front and stalling off a rush by Gild, won by a length. Gild was three lengths in front of Blackmate.

BELMONT PARK RESULTS.

FIRST RACE—Voorhees (20 to 1 and 8 to 1) 1, Frank Lord (2 to 1 for place) 2, Klamesha 3.

SECOND RACE—Cressina (30 to 1 and 3 to 1) 1, Ginette (out for place) 2, Lady Tarantella 3.

THIRD RACE—Kentucky Beau (12 to 1 and 3 to 1) 1, W. H. Daniels (1 to 2 for place) 2, Ballot 3.

FOURTH RACE—Wes (30 to 1 and 5 to 1) 1, Grapple (1 to 4 for place) 2, Security 3.

FIFTH RACE—Orphan Lad (4 to 1 and 8 to 5) 1, Gild (4 to 5 for place) 2, Blackmate 3.

SIXTH RACE—Woodman (15 to 1 and 4 to 1) 1, Cairngorm (even for place) 2, Holscher 3.

DR. BROUWER THANKS JURY FOR VERDICT.

TOMS RIVER, N. J, Oct. 17.—Public opinion seems to justify the verdict of the jury in acquitting Dr. Brouwer. There was a demonstration in the court-room as the verdict was read and the indicted physician was congratulated on all sides.

Dr. Brouwer expressed his pleasure and thanked the jurors heartily. The only surprise expressed was that the jury took an hour to agree upon its verdict.

JEROME SILENT ON INDICTMENT OF MRS. THAW

Prisoner's Wife Admits He Referred to Her as Possible Accessory.

FOR ALLEGED REMARK.

Not Permitted to Affirm or Deny That She Made It.

Evelyn Nesbit Thaw and her husband's lawyers agree that it was she to whom District-Attorney Jerome indirectly referred yesterday when he told Recorder Goff, in the course of an argument, there was a probability that some other person might be indicted as an accessory of Harry Thaw in the murder of Stanford White on the roof of Madison Square Garden.

Mr. Jerome was silent to-day when asked if Mrs. Thaw was the other person he had in mind who might be placed on trial along with the young millionaire.

It is learned that Mr. Jerome is basing his threat of indicting the young woman upon a statement which Evelyn Nesbit Thaw is alleged to have made to her husband as he was seized and disarmed immediately after the killing. It is understood that Mr. Jerome will attempt at the trial to prove that, rushing up to her husband, Mrs. Thaw cried out:

"Oh, Harry, I did not think you would do it that way."

To-day Clifford W. Hartridge declined to allow a reporter to ask Mrs. Thaw in his presence whether or not she had made such a speech. Mr. Hartridge, as chief counsel for Thaw, gave out a dictated statement in which he denied that Mr. Jerome had any evidence upon which to base an accusation against Mrs. Thaw. He characterized the Jerome speech of yesterday as "press-agent work."

The young wife showed no sign of uneasiness in her rounded face when she came to-day to the Tombs upon her regular visit to her millionaire husband.

"Yes, I read in The Evening World what Mr. Jerome said about Harry's case and about the possibility of another arrest," she said, "but I am not at all worried. That is all I can say—that I am not worried. If you want to know anything else you must see Harry's lawyers."

A. Russell Peabody, of counsel for Thaw, said:

"We have investigated to our own satisfaction, and we are sure that Mr. Jerome will have no reason to ask for a superceding indictment, holding another person besides our client for the death of White."

Surely Meant Mrs. Thaw.

"Is it your belief that Mr. Jerome meant Mrs. Thaw in his remarks of yesterday?"

"Certainly," replied Mr. Peabody, "that is the only natural and logical conclusion to draw from his language. We make that inference and so does Mrs. Thaw, but we have fully investigated the matter of the purchase of the revolver which Thaw used. That point is all closed up and all cleared up. Mr. Jerome ought to be in position himself to realize that we can prove all that we may allege at the trial in regard to the revolver end of the case.

"Evelyn Nesbit Thaw had nothing whatsoever to do with the buying of that revolver or any other revolver."

The reporter asked Mr. Peabody if Thaw himself had been disturbed by the accounts which he saw of Mr. Jerome's statement.

"He was a little bit worried at first," answered Peabody, "but as soon as Mr. Hartridge had gone to the prison and seen him he was convinced that the facts could not possibly warrant the Sunday World Wants Work Monday Morning Wonders.

Jury After Being Out an Hour Returns Verdict Clearing Physician of Charge of Murdering His Wife.

PRISONER SOBS AS COUNSEL MAKES HIS FINAL PLEA.

Children of the Prisoner, Believing He Has Been Busy in Hospital Far Away, Plan to Welcome Him Home To-Night.

(Special to The Evening World.)

TOMS RIVER, N. J., Oct. 17.—The jury in the case of Dr. Frank L. Brouwer, on trial for the murder of his wife, brought in a verdict of not guilty just before 6 o'clock to-night.

The dramatic feature of the day was the plea for the defense by Mr. Wilson closing, by urging them to do their duty and "send this man home to his aged mother and motherless children."

The foreman and two other members of the jury wept openly, and wiped their eyes with their handkerchiefs. The Rev. Dr. Rowland and ex-Sheriff Holman, who sat just behind the jury, broke down and sobbed. Many of the spectators were in tears. Dr. Brouwer himself had broken down and sobbed as his counsel had referred to the happy Christmas before Mrs. Brouwer died.

It was a masterly closing to a masterly plea, in which the case of the State had been ripped into tatters, until there was left but the suspicions of two nurses and the evidence of a single medical expert, who never saw Mrs. Brouwer alive and never treated a living case of arsenical poisoning, that arsenic killed her.

At his home the two children and the aged mother of Dr. Brouwer are planning to welcome him home tonight.

The children do not know their father has been in jail for six months, and that for ten days he has been on trial, charged with the murder of their mother.

They have been led to believe he is far away in a big hospital treating many patients. But now they have been told by their grandmother, Mrs. Calveriy, that their father will arrive home this evening, and the two children are to-day planning a race down the street to meet him.

Expects Quick Acquittal.

After the taking of testimony last night, Dr. Brouwer from his cell in the county jail made this statement:

"I shall probably be a free man to-night. God knows I have been made to suffer indescribable tortures because of no fault of my own. This prosecution of me has been a political persecution. I have proof that it was brought about by one of the editors in this section who has been an enemy of mine and who used the local officials by promises of political advancement.

"As soon as I am free I shall commence the legal prosecution of the men who have made me suffer. You may state positively that I shall not move away from Toms River, but that I shall remain right here to face those who have accused me."

Frank McDermott began the summing up for the State.

"This defendant," he said, "is an expert in poisons, and, naturally, covered well his tracks. As a physician, he found it easy to murder his wife. It was while he was alone with her that he poured death into her body. He, himself, prepared the medicines for her, prepared some of them unnecessarily.

"Now, as to the motive, we believe the State has shown that Dr. Brouwer told Elizabeth Hyer he wanted to get a divorce from his wife. Did he not say he had lost respect for her? Did he not strike her? Has it not been shown that he was in great financial difficulties. That he wanted to get possession of his wife's estate?

"Much has been said about the meal Mrs. Brouwer ate just before she became ill. You have no proof that she ever ate it. Dr. Brouwer said she did and that is all you know about it.

"The defense says the meal made Mrs. Brouwer ill. Was anybody else

BOAT ON WHICH SILVEIRA FLED IS AT CURACOA

Carmelina with Fleeing Banker at Dutch West Indian Port.

The Associated Press reports that the steamship Carmelina, with Manuel Silveira on board, has arrived at the port of Curacao, the chief port of the Dutch West Indies. This port is handy to the coast of Venezuela, whence Silveira is said to be bound.

Manuel Silveira was the Havana agent of the New York banking firm of J. M. Ceballos & Co. He had charge of all the Ceballos interests in Cuba.

On Oct. 2, with his wife and family, he sailed from Havana on the cattle-steamer Carmelina, which belonged to a line he controlled. He announced that he was coming to New York. A few days later Ceballos & Co. assigned to William V. Rowe, of the firm of Sullivan & Cromwell. It was announced that the failure was caused by Silveira running away from Havana with $1,000,000 belonging to the bankers.

Since that time the failure has become befogged with mystery. Mr. Ceballos said that he felt sure Silveira was on his way to Venezuela to take refuge with his good friend, President Castro.

The Silveira bank in Havana has not closed, and Silveira's friends have been dropping dark hints of revelations he may make when he hears that he is accused of stealing $1,000,000.

The Carmelina arrived at Curacao on Oct. 1. Silveira, it is stated, started as soon as possible for Puerto Cabello, on his way to the interior of Venezuela.

STANDARD OIL DENIES BUYING MANHATTAN.

FINDLAY, O., Oct. 17.—Attorney-General Ellis, of Ohio, received a despatch from New York stating that the Manhattan Oil Company was to-day sold to the Standard Oil Company for $2,000,000.

Attorney Elliott, for the Standard Oil, on being informed of the telegram, wired New York. His telegram and reply follow:

"J. D. Archbold, New York:

"Attorney-General claims to have telegram to-day from one Underwood, New York, that our company purchased the property of the Manhattan Company yesterday. If untrue, I want a quick telegram denying it.

"M. F. ELLIOTT."

"New York, October 17.

"M. F. Elliott, Findlay, O.:

"Telegram received. We have no knowledge of the man Underwood, and there is not a particle of truth in his report to the Attorney-General.

(Signed.) "JOHN D. ARCHBOLD."

Another telegram, which came to Mr. Elliott from Mr. Archbold a half hour later, said:

"It would seem that Underwood must belong to the very large class of anonymous volunteer liars."
