LAKESIDE, NEBRASKA

GOING TO LAW

Old Wax and I lived side by side and never had a row, until one day he lammed the hide of my old brindle cow. He said, she ate a suit of clothes that hung upon the line, and so I biffed him on the nose and he soaked me on mine. We owned our homes, were out of debt, had money in the bank that day he lammed my brindle pet and I gave him a spank. Awhile we stood around and cussed and wagged the fluent jaw, until, surcharged with deep disgust, we turned and went to law. Oh, that was bum and beastly sport! Our lawyers, smooth and deft, conveyed the case from court to court, and taxed us right and left. Now at the poor farm, Wax and I put in our fading years; I lean on him and heave a sigh and he bursts into tears. Sometimes we ramble up the road where once we did our biz; a lawyer lives in my abode, another lives in his. Then to the poor house back we go and seek our couch of straw, and think of joys we used to know before we went to law.—Walt Mason.

BILLY JONES ADVERTISED

There are various ways of advertising, some successful and some not. The following story illustrates a novel advertising scheme by a school boy: When the teacher was absent from the school room, Billy Jones, the mischievous boy of the class, wrote on the blackboard: "Billy Jones can hug the girls better than any boy in school."

Upon her return the teacher called him up to her desk.

"William, did you write that?" she asked, pointing to the blackboard.

"Yes, ma'am," said Billy.

"Well, you may stay after school," said she, "as punishment."

The other pupils waited for Billy to come out and then they began gaying him.

"Got a licking, didn't you?"

"Nope," said Billy.

"Got jawed?"

"Nope."

"What did she do?" they asked.

"Sha'n't tell," said Billy, "but it pays to advertise."

Send fifty cents to the Lincoln State Journal and you will receive that big state daily all the rest of the year. It will stop at the end of that time. The Journal is different from other state papers. It is independent, progressive and fearless, not in politics for its owners or friends, does not print liquor or nasty medical advertising, spends more money for state news, all of the Associated Press, splendid Washington service, and does things for the good of Nebraskans. It prints more columns of reading matter than any other state paper, has many high class special features, and Bixby himself is worth the fifty cents. Try it at this cut price. Including Sunday paper, 75 cents. 46-14-747

AVERTS AWFUL TRAGEDY

Timely advice given Mrs. C. Willoughby of Marengo, Wis., R. No. 1, prevented a dreadful tragedy and saved two lives. Doctors had said her frightful cough was a "consumption" cough and could do little to help her. After many remedies failed her aunt urged her to take Dr. King's New Discovery. "I have been using it for some time," she wrote, "and the awful cough has almost gone. It also saved my little boy when taken with a severe bronchial trouble." This matchless medicine has no equal for throat and lung troubles. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by F. J. Brennan.
