Fresh Outbreak in Wyoming Penitentiary at Rawlins.

CITIZENS ARE REPORTED SHOT

Prisoners Flee to Hills, Where Desperate Battle Takes Place—Appeal Made to Governor Carey for State Troops—Fight Rages Inside Walls.

Rawlins, Wyo., Oct. 14.—A fresh outbreak occurred at the penitentiary here, between twenty and thirty prisoners escaping, marching through the main streets of the town, and after killing one citizen, badly wounding another, and having one of their number killed by a deputy, fled to the hills surrounding the town, where a desperate battle is now being waged between the convicts and citizens.

It is reported that seven citizens have been killed in the battle with escaped convicts. Shots are heard at intervals from inside the penitentiary, and it is believed a battle is in progress inside the walls between guards and the remaining prisoners.

A second escaped convict has just been killed by the posse. Telegrams are being sent to Governor Carey, who is now at Sheridan, asking for state troops. The town is in a panic and citizens, heavily armed, are guarding their own houses and the homes of those who are in the hills battling with the convicts. Women and children are being gathered in the central portion of the town.

Saturday's Outbreak.

Rawlins, Wyo., Oct. 14.—Ten of the nineteen convicts, who, led by the notorious Jim Dalton, member of the Whitney gang of bank robbers, escaped through a broken fence in the penitentiary yard, are still at large and the possibility of their recapture was remote, since they are believed to have gained the hills north of the town before nightfall.

The town is being patrolled by armed citizens, and men and women sit in their homes with weapons close at hand, listening for intruders. The fugitives are known to be the most desperate of the penitentiary's inmates, led by the desperado Dalton, reported at first as recaptured, and will take a long chance to secure weapons and clothes.

The reign of terror which holds the town began when from the penitentiary burst a bodiam of shouts of convicts, and through the streets of the northern part of the town nineteen close-cropped, hard-featured men, in the prison uniform, ran in a body.

Horses tethered in front of saloons were grabbed by the leaders and bore them at breakneck speed through the town and away to the hills, outdistancing the guards that closed in on the rear of the fugitives after losing precious minutes investigating the cause of the uproar in the cells. Nine of the convicts were recaptured.

HOCKIN IN BRIDGE WRECK

Prosecutor Produces Evidence Tending to Confirm Confession of Clark.

Indianapolis, Oct. 14.—At the "dynamite conspiracy" trial E. L. Shipp, a hotel clerk at Cincinnati, told of the arrival in Cincinnati on May 1, 1908, of Herbert S. Hockin.

Edward Clark, who has pleaded guilty, said he was induced on that date by Hockin to dynamite a bridge at Dayton, O. The explosion occurred three days after Hockin's visit. When Clark was locked up after his arrest on the federal indictments, Hockin, according to the government charges, visited Clark in jail and asked, "Are you talking?" to which Clark replied, "No, but I understand you are." Later Hockin was charged with having "betrayed" his fellow defendants by giving information to the government.

ROSE ON WITNESS STAND

Declares Gunmen Secured for Rosenthal Murder on Becker's Order.

New York, Oct. 14.—Long hours of cross-examination failed to make "Bald Jack" Rose vary his story of the part he played and the part he says former Police Lieutenant Becker played in the murder of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler.

"Becker told me," he said, "that he wanted Rosenthal murdered, shot, croaked or dynamited. At his bidding I got the gunmen to kill Rosenthal. I hid after the murder. I saw Becker that morning and later talked with him over the telephone. I paid the gunmen $1,000 for Becker and told them he said not to worry, but to lay low."

"I gave myself up and became a state's witness because Becker deserted me like a dirty dog and was getting ready to throw me to the wolves."

RED SOX EXPECT TO WIN

Boston Team Arrives in New York Primed for Victory.

New York, Oct. 14.—The Boston Red Sox, lacking only one victory in the series with the New York Giants to become the world's baseball champions of 1912, were a happy lot when they arrived here. With three victories to the Giants' one so far, they expressed confidence as to the outcome of the game to be played this afternoon on the Polo grounds.

Manager Stahl said: "The boys feel pretty sure of the result and everything seems to be in our favor. Of course, we expect to win today's game, but if we should happen to lose we still have two more games in which to secure the fourth victory."

Inquiry among the players developed nothing to indicate who would be the Boston pitcher today. Opinion was about evenly divided whether Joe Wood, who has won both his games, would be selected. Those who thought it would not be Wood picked either Ray Collins, the lefthander, or Buck O'Brien as Manager Stahl's likely choice and said they thought Wood would be saved to pitch tomorrow, if necessary.

Manager Stahl himself would volunteer nothing on this point. Wood said in reply to a question: "I am ready to pitch if wanted, but I have not heard yet whether I am to be called on."

More than 500 Red Sox "rooters," headed by Mayor John F. Fitzgerald, arrived on a special train to be in at the finish," the mayor said. They were accompanied by a band.

Jerome T. Caffrey of New York Invests $30,000 in Golden Gains in Land.

In the opinion of the New York police, Jerome T. Caffrey, who is charged with the theft of $30,000 worth of gold leaf from the publishing house of P. F. Collier & Sons, is the most practical thief they ever caught.

A confession, which he is said to have made to Deputy Commissioner Dougherty, shows he invested the proceeds of his thefts in real estate, the value of which has increased so he probably will be able to make restitution to the Colliers and have a neat profit besides.

Caffrey, who has been a foreman in the book binding department, was arrested at his $12,000 home at Rockaway beach. His wife and five children were present.

PETTICOAT MAKERS FAIL

After an engagement lasting until midday the Montenegrins broke through the Turkish ranks near Tushi and invested the town, which is completely cut off from Scutari.

Many wounded Turks have been brought to Podgoritz.
