THE CITIZEN

How Mail Clerks Assist the Memory.

The railway postal clerks have a unique method, says a contemporary, for learning the routes on which post offices are located. Take, for example, the State of Pennsylvania, in which there are over 5,000 offices. The prospective mail distributer buys a quantity of blank cards—about the size of the ordinary visiting card—and on each of these he writes the name of an office. On the back of the card he writes the name of the route by which the office is served with its mail. Taking in hand a package of these cards—say from 50 to 100—he goes over them one after another studiously, looking at the back each time and getting the name of the route clearly associated in his mind. The second time he goes through the pack he finds that he knows the half of the route by reading the name of the office. It is a dull student who upon going over a pack of cards a dozen times does not know them thoroughly. The method is so simple and such an aid to memorizing that it is adopted by all railway mail clerks. By it clerks have been known to memorize a State like Pennsylvania inside of two months.

On all large routes clerks work but half time the other half being devoted to rest and study. The mail clerk at home, continually reminded of coming examinations, carries his cards wherever he goes, conning over them at every opportunity. One demonstrative clerk on the New York and Pittsburg R. P. O. is famed for having learned the State of Ohio in four days. As he shuffled over his cards he walked from garret to cellar, and visa versa, from dawn until the shades of twilight fell. On the fourth day he went to the examiner's office and separated Ohio without an error.

It is related that the wife of a postal clerk adopted the card method for increasing her vocabulary in French. On one side of the cards she wrote the French word and on the other the English equivalent to be learned. Another lady, hearing of this used the same system successfully for learning mythology, placing the word "Mars," for instance, on one side of the card and "war" on the other. The method has so many advantages over the old and tedious way of learning from the pages of a book that it might be utilized with advantage by teachers in search of imparting instruction.

How to Keep Cider Sweet.

Pure, sweet cider, that is arrested in the process of fermentation before it becomes acetic acid, or even alcohol, and with carbonic acid gas worked out, is one of the most delightful beverages. The following scientific method of treating cider will preserve its sweetness: When the saccharine matters by fermentation are being converted into alcohol, if a bent tube be inserted air tight into the bung, with the other end in a pail of water, to allow the carbonic acid gas evolved to pass off without admitting any air into the barrel, a beverage will be obtained that is fit nectar for the gods. A handy way is to fill your cask nearly up to the wooden faucet, when the cask is rolled so the bung is down. Get a common rubber tube and slip it over the end of the plug in the faucet, with the other end in the pail. Then turn the plug so the cider can have communication with the pail. After the water ceases to bubble, bottle or store away.

Enormous Enterprises.

The advancing years seem to produce an increase rather than a diminution in the number of gigantic schemes. We have all heard of the scheme for expending $40,000,000 in the construction of a monster dam in the vicinity of Newfoundland that would turn the Gulf Stream back on itself and give New England a tropical climate, so that the Granite State boys could climb palm trees to shake off the succulent cocoanut on their own bleak hillsides, while the Rhode Islanders would offer scant encouragement to the peripathetic Italian banana vender, as each and all of them would have a banana tree in close proximity to his own back porch.

A more recent scheme is the bridging of the English Channel between Dover and Calais. It is said that this scheme has gone so far that a company has been formed to secure the necessary concessions from the British and French governments. The cost of this bridge is something like $240,000,000.

The latest scheme is for roofing London and other large cities, and thus doing away with the umbrella trust. The projector has not yet considered any such vulgar and insignificant detail as the matter of cost, and hence has not enlightened the public on this point.

Such schemes are, adds the American Artisan, of course, largely visionary; but they indicate a tendency to grapple with the most stupendous undertakings that is in a manner characteristic of the nervous and progressive age in which we live.

Drunkenness, the Liquor Habit, Positively Cured by administering Dr. Haines "Golden Specific."

It is manufactured as a powder, which can be given in a glass of beer, a cup of coffee or tea, or in food, without the knowledge of the patient. It is absolutely harmless, and will affect a permanent and speedy cure, whether the patient is a moderate drinker or an alcoholic wreck. It has been given in thousands of cases, and in every instance a perfect cure has followed. It never fails. The system once impregnated with the Specific, it becomes an utter impossibility for the liquor appetite to exist. Cures guaranteed. 48 page book of particulars free. Address, Golden Specific Co., 185 Race St., Cincinnati O.

—"I wish," said a physician, "that people generally understood how important it is to their physical welfare that they should go up and down steps as little as practicable, and that they should do it properly when at all. By properly I mean slowly, never faster than a walk, and planting the heel firmly on each step. The novel heroine, tripping lightly down the stairs, looks graceful, but it is a bad thing for her nevertheless."

—The future of a Nation is the future of its young men and women. If they are educated towards an ideal in morality, in citizenship, in life, that ideal will come nearer to realization than if it were left to become the prey of loose morals and contaminating influences. Whatever tends to show a young man or a young woman the right way of living tends to the upbuilding of the Nation.

—Prof. J. S. Cilley, of Jericho, Vt., says: "I regard Hood's Sarsaparilla as invaluable for catarrh."

—The Philadelphia Inquirer remarks that it would be strange indeed if the World's Fair would work a revolution in the making of flour and set to going once more the small flour mills of the East whose business was taken away by the great mills of the North-west. A miller in Western Pennsylvania saw at the World's Fair a complete set of improved machinery for making flour which cost $3000. The miller examined it and thought it was the best invention ever made. He was told that the machinery was in operation in Mercer county, where on examination he found it was making 50 barrels of flour a day. If this be true it will not be long before the old mills in the East are refitted and at work again.

—Clifford M. Calvertley the high-wire walker crossed the gorge of the Niagara on a wire stretched between the cantilever and the railroad suspension bridges. His daring dive, catching by the knees and then the toes on the wire, and his wheelbarrow act caused the immense throng of people who lined the banks of the river to hold their breath. He wheeled the barrow out and lighted a fire in a stove which was on the barrow; then he toasted some bread took a bite and sent the remaining pieces sailing down into the rushing waters, 200 feet below. He carried a chair on his back, unstrapping it, placed it on the wire, sat down, pulled out a newspaper and a cigarette, lighting the latter and calmly read the former with his balance pole resting on his knee. His feats excelled those of the famous Blondin.

—The Chicago Record says that if florists keep on increasing the size chrysanthemums something will have to be done to increase the stature of the young men to wear them.

Pennsylvania the Tramp's Paradise.

Josiah Flint has an interesting paper on tramp life in The Century for this month. He joined the tramp fraternity and traveled, begged, smoked, and went to jail with them, all for the purpose of studying the tramp problem. After showing that most of the tramps follow their vagrant and vagabond life from choice, Mr. Flynt says of that Canaan of vagrants which a false benevolent sense has made of certain parts of this State.

It is in Pennsylvania, however, the tramp is best fed. I do not know of a town or village in the Keystone State where a decently clad roadster cannot get all that he cares to eat, without doing a stroke of work in payment. He can travel, too, more freely than elsewhere, for the railroads intersecting the State are the most friendly in the country. There is not one that does not harbor dead-beats at least at night. The jails are also a great bond to the fraternity. In the majority of them there is no work to do, while some furnish the daily papers. Consequently, in winter one can see tramps sitting comfortably on on benches drawn close to the fire, and reading their morning paper, and smoking their after breakfast pipe, as complacently and calmly as the merchant in his counting room. Here they find refuge from the storms of winter and make themselves entirely at home."

—An Atlanta paper relates that a teacher who was engaged in explaining the Darwinian theory to his class, observed that they were not paying proper attention. "Boys," said the professor, "when I am endeavoring to explain to you the peculiarities of the monkey, I wish you would look straight at me."

—An author on the just proportions of the human form, divine or otherwise, says: "The ears should be so placed as not to be higher than the tip of the nose." People who are dressing for a party should not forget this.

—Such a wonderful stretch of perfect autumn weather as that which still continues is scarcely within the memory of the oldest prevaricator.

Consumption Surely Cured.

To THE EDITOR:—Please inform your readers that I have a positive remedy for the above-named disease. By its timely use thousands of hopeless cases have been permanently cured. I shall be glad to send two bottles of my remedy FREE to any of your readers who have consumption if they will send me their Express and P. O. address. Respectfully, T. A. SLOCUM, M. C., 181 Pearl St., N. Y.

—When there is company in the house the members of the family begin to say "Good morning" to each other at breakfast.

—An exchange says that a man was fined $75 dollars for kissing a girl in Chicago recently, and on the same day another was fined $5 for kissing a half-dozen girls in Central Park, New York. Western kisses are valued highly. Perhaps they are sweeter than eastern.

—The people are gradually becoming aware of what the Legislature did in the way of law-making at its last session, through the enterprize of the newspapers in hunting up the acts and publishing them. In a number of states the laws are officially published in newspapers of each county as soon as passed, and it should be so in this state.

NOVEMBER DAYS.

November is a month of rainy, disagreeable days. The damp, cold air penetrates everywhere and cools the blood, laying the system open to the danger of colds, pneumonia and kindred complaints. There is but one remedy that stimulates the system and fortifies it against such attacks, and that is whiskey. Not such a whiskey as is generally palmed off on the public, but a whiskey of known purity and quality. Such a whiskey is Klein's Silver Age, Duquesne or Bear Creek Ryes. These whiskies have been before the public for many years and find favor wherever purity is required. Physicians prescribe them; hospitals use them, and every reputable dealer sells them.

They are for sale at $1.50, $1.25 and $1.00 per quart respectively. Send for a complete catalogue and price list of all liquors mailed free. All goods neatly boxed and expressed anywhere. Address

MAX KLEIN,
82 Federal Street, Allegeny, Pa.

—An exchanges sees a hitch in the fitness of things when a 25-cent dude blushes behind a 75-cent chrysanthemum.

—The Scientific American gives this recipe: "At the first indication of diphtheria in the throat of a child make the room close, then take a tin-cup and pour into it equal quantities of tar and turpentine; then hold the cup over the fire so as to fill the room with fumes. The patient on inhaling the fumes will cough and spit out the membraneous matter and the diphtheria will pass off." This remedy may be efficacious, but it requires much care, as turpentine is one of the most inflammable of fluids. Fire or flame must not be allowed to touch it.

—Rheumatism cured in a day—"Mystic cure" for rheumatism and neuralgia, radically cures in 1 to 3 days. Its action upon the system is remarkable and mysterious. It removes at once the cause and the disease immediately disappears. The first dose greatly benefits. 75 cts. Sold by J. C. Redick, druggist, Butler.

USE DANA'S SARSAPARILLA" 178 "THE KIND THAT CURES."

—The latest novelty in clubs is a club, composed of people who visited the World's Fair. The object of the club is purely to promote sociability, but we should think it would be anything but sociable. The members would all want to talk at once and there would be more discord in a minute than could be dispelled in a year. Then again give one member the floor and he would talk forever.

—Of the five Russian criminals who escaped from Siberia and were brought to San Francisco by the whaling bark Charles W. Morgan, after having been at sea ten days in open boats, three are murderers, one a counterfeiter and one a common convict.

—Host—I hate to send you in such a blustering night as this, old fellow.

Guest—It is raining pretty hard, I say, couldn't you loan me your umbrella?

—Host—Certainly; and—er—I guess I'll walk home with you myself. I really need the exercise.

—Some of the citizens of Soda Springs, Idaho, and other far Western towns, went to the World's Fair and took their families at small expense. The father, husband and brother shipped as a caretaker for cattle comming East, while the women of the family were conveyed in ordinary day coaches. The men received about $20 each and return trip tickets for their services as cattle tenders.

—"What are you reading, Johnnie?" inquired the boy's father. "A sea story about a man who was wrecked on a cape." "Read it aloud, Johnnie. I can sympathize with him. I have just been wrecked on sealskin cape myself.

—John M. Green, a farmer living near Bad Axe, Mich., has raised a "White Elephant" potato which weighs four pounds and six ounces.

FOOLING THE PEOPLE.

There is a clique of advertisers who are continually fooling the people. They have tooled them once too often with a pretense to give something for nothing. You may fool some of the people all the time—and all of the people some of the time, but you can't fool all the people all the time. In looking over the advertisements in the papers nowaday, I find I have lost my laurels. Now I will tell you the truth. You will see hundreds of such baits flung out for suckers to bite at, such as, "We can save you 25 per cent by trading with us," and some even go so far as to say 50 per cent. Men's fine suits worth $25.00 for only $9 99 Pants worth $8 00 only $3 99. Bankrupt Sales, Sheriff Sales Assignees Sale, &c. Now we ask you candidly. Can these concerns doing business at fabulous expense, sacrifice profits as a great many advertise to do? Are they as liberal as they propose to be? We answer no. The enormous sums required to meet current expenses must be met by liberal and in most cases by heavy margins. Profits they must have and trade they must get or sink in the whirlpool they have created by their own hands. There is no alternative, get the profit and get the trade, but how? In no other way than working on the weak minds of the people by flaming advertisements. They boldly and shamelessly claim to actually give the dear people $3 00 in value for one invested Such unprincipled actions are becoming not only tiresome, but positively dangerous to the welfare and interest of the buying public. On careful inspection you will find these $25 00 suits reduced to only $9 99 are dear at eight dollars I saw an ad. stating men's fine worsted suits reduced from $10.00 to $6.00. I called to see them and found our $3.75 cotton suit. When we offer you a suit for $10 00 that is all it is worth or ever was worth. We just give you one dollar's worth of goods for 100 cents

You want to see our immense stock of overcoats and suits for men, boys and children. Hats and caps in endless variety, shirts, collars and cuffs, and ties, any and every style to suit even the most fastidious; under wear, hosiery, overalls, jackets, gloves, mittens, umbrellas, suspenders, in fact anything in the furnishing line; also a fine line of ladies and gents gold and silver watches, chains, charms, pins, rings, collar and cuff buttons, scarf pins, initial pins, all at the very lowest cash prices. All we ask is an inspection of our goods and prices before purchasing. We have always done you good and feel confident we can do so again. To those who have been trading with us, we tender our most heartfelt thanks, and to those who never have, we would say, try us once and you will never regret it.
