FARM AND GARDEN

CHINESE CABBAGE.

Unfamiliar but Interesting Vegetables That May Prove Useful.

Cabbage is a most important vegetable in the estimation of the Chinese, but it is not our cabbage nor any of its many forms, such as cauliflower, broccoli, kale or Brussels sprouts, but oriental species, now known by botanists as Brassica chinensis, B. petsai and B. juncea. The latter is more a mustard than a cabbage and is much used as a garnish or eaten raw for its pungent flavor, like cress. Good commercial "heads" of the two former species were bought in New York's "Chinatown" market at a cost of 15 cents per pound. The two heads weighed something over three pounds together.

These cabbages had been received by express in barrels from the vicinity of New Orleans, where, we are told, they are largely grown during the winter by a Chinese syndicate. Almost every large city has its group of Chinese truckers near by, growing the vegetables demanded by their compatriots. New York's supply comes chiefly in summer from Long Island, but in winter the south is depended on.

These cabbages are much used as an addition to soups and meat stews, evidently being added at the last moment, as they are so lightly boiled that the green color of the leaves and the crisp, pungent mustard-like flavor are well retained. Thus prepared by competent Chinese cooks they are exceedingly palatable and doubtless more digestible and nutritious than our species as generally cooked. There are considerable wastes in overcooking certain vegetables.

These Chinese cabbages are on sale all through the year and are comparatively cheap in summer, as they are easily grown. Pakchoi appears to be the favorite. It does not head, but has many smooth, dark green, wavy leaves, with broad ribs springing from the root.—Rural New Yorker.

Observe Before Reshoeing.

Does the horse's shoe fully cover the entire lower border of the wall, or is it too narrow or fitted so full on the inside that it has given rise to interfering, or has the shoe been nailed on crooked, or has it become loose and shifted? Is it too short or so wide at the ends of the branches as not to support the buttresses of the hoof? Does the shoe correspond with the form of the hoof? Are the nails distributed so as to interfere as little as possible with the expansion of the quarters? Are there too many? Are they too large? These are points the horse owner should ascertain in order that any faults observed may be corrected.

Magnerosa Tomato.

The New Jersey experiment station has a tomato, Magnerosa, which is a cross between Ponderosa—a standard, very large variety—and Magnus—a fine pink fruited sort. The cross has been carried through three seasons and is considered very desirable in form and quality.

The Newly Bought Hogs.

Newly purchased hogs should be carefully examined for vermin, and they should not be turned with the herd until they are known to be free from these pests.

Covering Potatoes.

When we plant potatoes, says an Ohio Farmer correspondent, we furrow with a plow drawn by two horses. When the furrows are made there are ridges in half of the spaces, and the other half are level (Fig. 1). When covering we use what we call a scraper. (See fig. 2.) It is made of a plank, tongue, handles and several braces and bolts. The length of the plank should be about twice the distance between the rows. The plank should have a strap of iron at the bottom in front for a cutting edge and to prevent wear.

The tongue should be fastened to the plank at right angles and securely braced. The handles, which may be taken from an old plow or walking cultivator, should also be fastened and braced to the plank. We let each horse walk in a furrow, but it is better to use a long doubletree or shafts and but one horse, so the potatoes do not get moved and tramped. The scraper carries some ground ahead of it, which it pulverizes.

The dawn of the future is announced to such as can read its signs, and we owe ourselves wholly to it.—Mazzini.

Creeping Salt.

Here is something in the course of natural phenomena that will interest and instruct the little folk if they look into it curiously: Into a tumbler half full of water dissolve just as much common table salt as can be held in solution. Let it stand for a few days and see how the salt creeps out of the water, up the inside of the glass and down the outside—just like a thing of life trying to escape from its environment. And when all the salt is apparently out of prison the water remains as salty as before! It is a pretty demonstration.

Lasting.

"This butter seems strong," said the young husband at their first breakfast at home.

"Yes," she answered, "I talked to the market man about that, and he said it was economy in the end never to buy weak butter. He said that even though this might cost a little more people could get along with less of it, and it would last longer."

Slander.

Slander is a poison which extinguishes charity, both in the slanderer and in the person who listens to it, so that a single calumny may prove fatal to an infinite number of souls, since it kills not only those who circulate it, but also all those who do not reject it.—Woman's Life.

Comes Easy For the Son.

A man can't fool his wife with the same excuse more than three times, but her son can fool her with the same promise 300 times, and it will not show the least signs of wear.—Cass County (Mo.) News.

DO YOU KNOW

That Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the only medicine sold through druggists for woman's weaknesses and peculiar ailments that does not contain large quantities of alcohol? It is also the only medicine, especially prepared for the cure of the delicate diseases peculiar to women, the maker of which is not afraid to take his patients into his full confidence, by printing upon each bottle wrapper all the ingredients entering into the medicine. Ask your druggist if this is not true.

"Favorite Prescription," too, is the only medicine for women, all the ingredients of which have the unqualified endorsement of the leading medical writers of the several schools of practice, recommending them for the cure of the diseases for which the "Prescription" is advised. Write to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for a free booklet, and read the numerous extracts from standard medical authorities praising the several ingredients of which Dr. Pierce's medicines are made, and don't forget that no other medicines put up for sale through druggists for domestic use can show any such professional endorsement. This, of itself, is of far more weight and importance than any amount of so-called "testimonials" so conspicuously flaunted before the public, in favor of the alcoholic compounds.

The "Favorite Prescription" cures all woman's peculiar weaknesses and derangements, thus banishing the periodical headaches, backaches, bearing-down distress, tenderness and dragging-down sensations in lower abdomen, accompanied by weakening and disagreeable catarrhal, pelvic drains and kindred symptoms.

Dr. Pierce and his staff of skilled specialists may be consulted free by addressing as above. All correspondence is treated as sacredly confidential. By consulting in this way the disagreeable questionings and personal "examinations" are avoided.

The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser contains some very interesting and valuable chapters on the diseases peculiar to women. It contains over one thousand pages. It is sent post paid, on receipt of sufficient in one-cent stamps to pay cost of mailing only, or 21 cents for a copy in flexible paper covers, or 31 cents for a cloth-bound copy. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce as above.

Dr. Pierce's Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. One laxative, two or three cathartic.

Vital Weakness and Prostration from overwork and other causes. Humphreys' Homeopathic Specific No. 28, in use over 40 years, the only successful remedy. $1 per vial, or special package for serious cases, $5. Sold by Druggists, or sent prepaid on receipt of price.

Humphreys' Med. Co., William & John Sts., N. Y.

Drying preparations simply dry up dry catarrh; they dry up the secretions which adhere to the membrane and decompose, causing a far more serious trouble than the ordinary form of catarrh. Avoid all drying inhalants, fumes, smokes and strong snuffs and use that which cleanses, soothes and heals. Ely's Cream Balm is such a remedy and will cure catarrh or cold in the head easily and pleasantly. A trial size will be mailed for 10 cents. All druggists sell the 50c. size. Ely Brothers, 56 Warren St., N.Y.

The Balm cures without pain, does not irritate or cause sneezing. It spreads itself over an irritated and angry surface, relieving immediately the painful inflammation.

With Ely's Cream Balm you are armed against Nasal Catarrh and Hay Fever.
