JEROME RAIDS NINE POOL-ROOMS FROM BATTERY TO FORTY-SECOND STREET

Peter De Lacy's Among the Places Visited—Veteran Protests that He Is Conducting a Legitimate Business.

NEW YORK'S METHODS ARE WORSE THAN RUSSIA'S, HE SAYS

Detectives Searched All the Places and the District-Attorney's Office Thinks the Final Blow Has Been Struck at the Syndicate.

The final blow at the pool-room syndicate was struck this afternoon by the District-Attorney's office, when nine raids were made upon places alleged to be pool-room information centres. The raids extended from the Battery to Forty-second street, and included the following addresses:

No. 52 Broad street, No. 46 New street, No. 121 Wall street, No. 34 Whitehall street, No. 38 Whitehall street, No. 221 Bowery, No. 148 East Thirtieth street, No. 38 West Thirty-third street and No. 125 West Forty-second street.

The latter place is said to have been conducted by Peter De Lacy. This raid was made quietly by Capt. Daly, of the West Forty-seventh Street Station, with a squad of detectives upon orders of Assistant District-Attorney Vandiver.

There was no one in the rooms occupied by Delacey but a woman, who opened the door and obligingly admitted the police. Delacey has the two upper floors. On one he runs a real estate office. In the rooms above the detectives found ten telephone trunk wires and seven telephone instruments, with a lot of paraphernalia of linemen, but there were no signs of recent occupancy.

Has to Wait for Delacey.

The policemen entered the place at 2.30 o'clock and waited patiently until a few minutes before 5, when Delacey appeared. There had been no excitement attending the raid and no one in the neighborhood knew anything about it, not even the other occupants of the building.

"What are you people doing here?" asked Delacey of the assembled cops.

"We are policemen," replied one of the men.

"I'm Peter Delacey," replied the veteran, "and I tell you now you have no right here. This is my private business and your intrusion is a high-handed outrage."

Assistant District-Attorney Vandiver says you run a pool room here," volunteered Capt. Daly.

"That's a lie," responded Delacey, hotly. "This is my real estate office. If I did run a pool room here I wouldn't be ashamed of it. I have as much right to bet here as they have to bet on the race tracks in Queens County or Brooklyn."

"You've been at this business long enough," said Capt. Daly.

New York Worse Than Russia.

"I'll stick in the pool-room business as long as I please," declared Delacey. "I'll bet on the races as long as Belmont bets. I'd be willing to go before a jury right now and admit that I run an open pool-room, and I'll bet they'd acquit me. New York has Russia beaten a mile for discrimination in favor of a set of gamblers who work inside a fence."

The argument continued for some time. Delacey insisted that Capt. Daly send away his policemen, two at a time, in a way that would not attract attention. He said if this was done he would open his safe and his desk and show everything he had. The policemen departed and Delacey opened up. No arrests were made, but the name and address of the woman who opened the door for the policemen was taken.

ONE MAN KILLED AND THREE HURT IN NEW BUILDING

Bags of Cement Fell Three Stories Upon Them—Two More May Die.

One man was killed and three were seriously injured in an accident in the new Broadway-Cortlandt Building in Cortlandt street at the corner of Church late this afternoon. Cortlandt street was crowded with commuters hurrying to the ferry at the time and such an immense mob gathered that the work of rescue and the taking of the injured to hospitals was interfered with.

Laborers were piling cement in bags upon the temporary flooring of the third floor. The supports were overloaded and tons of cement crashed down to the first floor and buried a small shack used as an office by the Post-McCord Company, the contractors.

James Pingle, of Richmond Hill, one of the engineers in charge of the work, was in the office at the telephone. He was instantly killed. Michael Mealey, of No. 332 East Fifty-eighth street; George A. Velter, of No. 607 East Sixteenth street, and Edward Wrikert, of No. 316 West Fourteenth street, fell with the cement. Velter and Welkrt may not recover.

TWO PAINTERS FALL FROM SCAFFOLD AND ONE IS KILLED.

One man was killed and another injured b ythe breaking of a swinging scaffold used by painters in Long Island City this afternoon. The scaffold was suspended from the roof of one of a row of ten five-story houses in course of erection on Nott avenue, between Van Alst avenue and East avenue.

Jacob Fullan, twenty-eight years old, of No. 137 East Tenth street, Flushing, first, and, according to Dr. Hanley, of St. John's Hospital, his neck was broken. The other man, Samuel Axfiord, twenty-one years old, of No. 216 Eldridge street, Manhattan, fellon top of his companion, and to that fact owes his life. He was bruised and sprained, but refused to go to the hospital.

AMERICAN LEAGUE PARK, NEW YORK, June 12.—The Highlanders lined up against Detroit this afternoon, this being the farewell appearance of the Tigers in this vicinity for a long time. During their stay here they have made it decidedly uncomfortable for Griffith and his crowd. As a victory for the Highlanders would make an even break in the series, Griffith selected big "Al" Orth, his only consistent pitcher, to do the twirling for his team. Jennings, being doubly anxious to make it three out of four, trotted out big Mullin, who was so effective against the Highlanders in a previous game of the series. About 2,500 people were on hand when the game began.

First Inning.

Jones gave an exhibition of club swinging at Orth's curves. Chase then made a great one-handed stop of Coughlin's scorching liner. Crawford drove a bounder to Orth, who tossed to Chase. NO RUNS.

Keeler laced the ball over Downes's head for a base. Elberfeld popped one, on which Coughlin gathered in. Chase pasted one on a line to centre and rested at first. Keeler moving up to second. Laporte also welted the ball to centre for a base, scoring Keeler and advancing Chesbro second. Williams followed with a drive to left, scoring Chase, and on the throw home Laporte went to third and Williams to second. Conroy kept up the batting rally with a single to centre, sending Laporte home and Williams to third. Mullin was taken out of the box and Killian substituted. Hoffman struck out, and as Conroy tried to steal second he was doubled up by Schmidt by a throw to O'Leary. THREE RUNS.

Second Inning.

Cobb bunted to Laporte, who threw poorly to Chase, giving the batter his base. Rossman hit a slow grounder to Williams, who threw him out at first. Cobb advancing to second. Downes followed with a screaming single to centre, sending Cobb over the plate. O'Leary drew four balls, Downes going to second. Elberfeld made a miserable mess of Schmidt's grounder, filling the bases. Killian planted the ball in centre for a base, scoring Downes and O'Leary and promoting Schmidt to third. Jones made a scratch hit to the infield, the ball bounding away from Orth, scoring Schmidt and advancing Killian to second. Coughlin singled through Elberfeld, scoring Killian, while Jones went to third. Orth was taken out and Hogg substituted. Crawford singled to left, sending Jones home. Cobb hit to Elberfeld, scoring Coughlin, while Crawford went to third and Cobb to second. Rossman hit a slow grounder to Williams, who threw him out at first, Crawford scoring. Downes hit to Williams, who threw him out at first, Cobb advancing to third. O'Leary drew four balls. Downes going to second. Elberfeld made a miserable mess of Schmidt's grounder, filling the bases. Killian planted the ball in centre for a base, scoring Downes and O'Leary and promoting Schmidt to third. Jones made a scratch hit to the infield, the ball bounding away from Orth, scoring Schmidt and advancing Killian to second. Coughlin singled through Elberfeld, scoring Killian, while Jones went to third. Orth was taken out and Hogg substituted. Crawford singled to left, sending Jones home. Cobb hit to Elberfeld

Post time, 5.05; off, 5.06.

Royal Onyx just got up. It appeared from the stand as if Oyama had won by a good head, but the race was given to Royal Onyx. Oyama had all his speed, but tired. Arabo closed with a rush.

GRAVESEND RACE TRACK, June 12.—Court Dress easily captured the Gazelle Stakes this afternoon. Court Dress beat Yankee Girl, The Disguise filly leading all the way and having the race safe at every range. Yankee Girl could never reach the Keene filly. Estimate beat Adoration for third. The time was fast. The win was consoling to Mr. Keene following the defeat of Zambesi in the preceding race. He was sore after that defeat and loudly asked "where did they get that one from?" indicating Wexford, then running over the top of Zambesi.

R. L. Thomas, a wealthy lumberman from Kentucky with an inborn love for the race horse, can now retire from the turf after having earned added honors and wealth by reason of his gelding Wexford winning a clever race, third on the card to-day, from a good field. Incidentally Mr. Thomas is to retire from the turf not of his own volution, but because of the entreaties of his bride, who has asked him to quit the turf. He promised that after his gelding Wexford, by Woolsthorpe, had won a race and finished out his 1907 racing career, he would not only abandon the racing game but would retire the animal as well.

Wexford won easily to-day the mile and an eighth handicap, and none was more pleased than young Mrs. Thomas, who sat in the club house and applauded. It was at Bennings that Mr. Thomas met his bride during the spring meeting, and it was there she first saw a horse race. The gelding seemed inspired to-day. He romped off in front and led every foot of the way, easily defeating the favorite, Zambesi, and Tommy Waddell, the latter finishing third.

Incidentally Mr. Thomas made his final plunge, sending such a large wager into the ring on his gelding as to force the odds from 20 to 1 to 4 to 1.

Circulation of the duplicate badges, spurious creations manufactured on the track to defraud bookmakers and successful bettors, was discovered by the Pinkertons to-day after several bets had been paid off on the presentation of the fake badges. The plan is an old one. Bettors are overheard giving their wagers and numbers. With the winning horse known it was the plan to change the number of an old badge or badges to the winning number by the use of chemicals. Bookmakers were warned by the Pinkertons after the discovery, but several bets had been paid to the holders of the fraudulent badges.

Jockey Knapp Ruled Off.

Jockey "Willie" Knapp, known as "Bill," and also "Strong Arm Knapp," was ruled off the turf to-day, his license to ride being revoked. The announcement of the action of the Stewards of the Gravesend meeting, who referred their report to the Jockey Club, itself being tantamount to expulsion for life, created a sensation at the race track to-day.

Knapp rode Flip Flap, winner of the recent Westminster Handicap, in a race on May 8 at Jamaica, when the mare was an even money favorite. She was badly beaten by Dolly Spanker and Tommy Waddell, when she was counted upon as a sure winner.

First Won by a Nose.

Fully twelve thousand racegoers were gathered at the trackside when the horses were called to the post in the first race, a five-furlong affair for two-year-olds, and tips were handed in the race, Hiacko, Joe Nealon, Gene Russell, Ariel and Masson being among the touted ones. James B. Brady proved to be the best or the most fortunate. He won the race by a nose after getting away first from the barrier and making the running. Gene Russell, off none too well, managed to get up in the stretch to make the close finish, beating out Joe Nealon, third. "Boots" Durnell judiciously played Joe Nealon for the third hold and substantially. He told his friends before the race that the colt would certainly be in the money.
