EQUALITY EVENT WON BY FRANK GILL, 15 TO 1

Charles Edward Gets Second Place, Beating Roseben Under the Wire.

NOTASULGA WINS EASILY

Cairngorm and Rifleman Among the Other Victors at Sheepshead.

(Special to The Evening World.)—SHEEPSHEAD RACE TRACK, June 24.—Roseben is again beaten, this time at the mile essay, the great gelding failing to finish better than third to Frank Gill and Charles Edward. Frank Gill ran an excellent race in the Suburban, but the knights of the high stool took liberties with the colt, allowing his price to ascend to 25 to 1 in many of their books. "Lucky Jack" McGinnis, who watched the race from the club-house, played his colt.

Roseben made the running and disappeared in the fog still leading, with Tony Faust second and Charles Edward third. Tony Faust backed up quicker than Roseben, but Frank Gill, this time ridden by Knapp with rare judgment, forged to the front and won going away. Roseben weakened and Charles Edward got second.

Mountain, the rider of Half Sovereign in the third, entered a claim of foul against the winner, declaring that Radtke had rushed Notasulga across the field at the start, shutting off the other contestants. The claim was not allowed.

John W. Gates won $20,000 on the success of Confederate in the fifth race. E. E. Smathers, making his first appearance in two years on the race track, played Restigouche heavily in the last and lost.

Cairngorm Wins First.

A heavy mist rolled in from the ocean when the horses went to the post in the first race. The mist quite obscured the identity of the runners until they approached the far turn. Then Ginette, second choice in the betting, was in the van, with Sister Frances and Cairngorm, the only two other starters, running neck and neck. In the stretch Cairngorm, favorite at evens, left Sister Frances behind and challenged Miller on the favorite, settling down to a steady even drive. The French mare responded, however, to Radtke's call and made a strong bid to retain her lead. Cairngorm got on even terms and the pair without either having an advantage rushed for the line. Cairngorm being in better condition beat the mare, but only by a few inches. She will be hard for the best of them to conquer next time to the post. Sister Frances was not ready.

Fog Hid the Second.

The second race was a farce from a spectacular viewpoint, the fog having increased in density, rendering the horses invisible until within the last eighth. Herodotus, 50 to 1 in the betting, was leading the badly scrung-out bunch and appeared to be winning. Then Rifleman, ridden by Shreve, came strong, nipping Herodotus on the post. Troublemaker was third. Rifleman was at twenties at one time and was backed down to twelves. He ran a bang-up fourth recently and would have been a shorter odds but for the presence of Shreve in the saddle. Persons who were at the starting post reported that the send-off was atrocious.

Easy for Notasulga.

Notasulga won the Rosebud Stakes in a gallop, her rider, Radtke, sitting still and allowing the filly to make her own gait. The surprise in the race was the miserable performance of Meggs Hill, from the Keene barns. She ran absolutely last in the field of four. Jane Swift, a maiden, showing her and Half Sovereign the way. Jane was a good second over Half Sovereign. Rumors of other offers for Notasulga at extravagant prices were heard in the paddock after the filly's win.

Plunge on Confedcrate.

Confederate was the medium of a plunge in the fifth race, the colt being back from fifteens in some books to sixes at post time, and the Bridgewater colt made good. He won easily from Lancastrian, who beat Banker, third. Keene's Cabochon was made the target for plunges, play on the colt closing favorite at 6 to 5, but was never in the hunt. The Keene horses performed poorly to-day.

Many Tips in Sixth.

Tips were numerous in the last race, but form manifested itself. Live Wire won from Restigouche with Sir Cleges third. The fog had not lifted and the horses could not be seen until within the last three sixteenths pole.

CREWS ALL IN GOOD SHAPE FOR TWO BIG RACES

Athletes at Poughkeepsie Rest While Yale and Harvard Take Spins.

GALES FERRY, Conn., June 24.—Yale's Varsity crew took a spin of a mile and a half this morning, showing good form and speed in rough water. The crew went upstream and rowed back to their quarters. The freshmen and two four-oar crews also went upstream in short stretches.

The gentlemen's four, consisting of Godley, stroke; Payton, No. 3; Blair, No. 2, and Babcock, bow, defeated the Varsity four-oar crew in a race of half a mile, the men rowing down stream to a point off the crew quarters.

The men out of training won by about a length, and the race was witnessed by a large number of old Yale oarsmen.

This afternoon Capt. Ide, of the Yale crew, and Capt. Bacon, of Harvard, will toss a coin for positions in the varsity race Thursday, the two captains meeting at the Yale quarters.

REST AT POUGHKEEPSIE.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 24.—The crews had an easy time to-day. With Saturday the time trials and long rows ceased, and for the remaining two days the practice will be light.

"Jim" Rice took the Columbia boys for a long walk, according to his usual custom. They were not allowed their glass of ale, which is given to them on rowing days.

The Cornell squad combined a sail in their launch with running as their exercise. They crossed the river to the east bank and ran easily up the railroad track for two miles. They were again taken up by the launch and brought back to their quarters.

The naval cadents spent Sunday much as they pleased, some leaving the seclusion of the Everglades for a trip to Poughkeepsie on the torpedo boat Talbot, while others rambled about the country in the vicinity of Krum Elbow.

The Georgetown crew arose a little later than usual. In the afternoon Coach Murray Russell accompanied some of the boys in an automobile ride to Wappinger's Falls.

The Pennsylvania squad did not leave the seclusion of its quarters, with the exception of a few who wandered down to the river in the afternoon to see the observation train that had arrived in the morning. It is sidetracked opposite Highland Station.

URCHIN WINS RACE.

Stuyvesant Yacht Club Boat First Over Finish Line.

The yacht race of the Corinthian Yacht Racing Union from Belden Point, City Island, to Stratford Shoal Lightship and return, which was started at 4.30 P. M. Saturday, was not finished until nearly midnight last night. The Urchin, of the Stuyvesant Yacht Club, was the winner. The starters were the Waneta, Viking, Florence, Bedouin, Dixie, Ada, Whileaway, Ha-Ha and Urchin. The Dixie turned around Stratford Shoal Light in the lead at 11.51 A. M. Sunday in a very light wind. All day Sunday the boats moved slowly in light airs. The corrected time of the Urchin is unknown, but the secretary of the Corinthian Union declared that she has undoubtedly won, as she is the smaller boat.
