ODDITIES IN NEWS FROM ALL OVER THE WORLD

Short Stories of Unusual Happenings and Singular Experiences Picked Out of the Chronicles of To-Day.

Timothy Flood, who used to play on the Brooklyn baseball team, in in jail at Toronto, Canada, for the terrible crime of "sassing" the umpire.

While a game was in progress Flood, now second baseman for the Torontos, confronted Umpire Conway and in true Washington Park style blessed him out. Of course he was just bluffing, but—Conway called a policeman. Flood was marched to jail and the next day arraigned before a Magistrate.

"It is a grave offense," said the Court, frowning from his high seat.

Flood's American friends smiled, but Umpire Conroy came to the fore and explained how his dignity had been insulted, his feelings hurt and his person threatened.

The Magistrate shuddered for the bent, twisted and broken laws of the Dominion and made the sentence fifteen days.

Next time it might be serious, the Court intimated. Flood's friends are petitioning the Minister of Justice to pardon the player.

NEW YORK ACTRESS AFTER $20,000,000.

Mae Evelyn Hall, a New York girl who is studying for the stage in California, hopes to be worth $30,000,000 in a few days.

She has sued for possession of oil lands in the Indian Territory, declaring she is a native-born Cherokee girl, the daughter of J. Eugene Hall, formerly of this city. Her aunt, Jessie Mae Hall, is on the stage here.

She charges a conspiracy among oil speculators and others to defraud her.

200-POUND ACTOR OUTRAN HIS AUTO.

Arthur Deagon, actor, weight 200 pounds, outran his automobile last evening in a fair race.

He was riding along the Merrick road when the machine became unruly and knocked a grocery wagon, horse and driver into the ditch.

Deagon, who is Happy Johnny Hicks in "The Time, the Place and the Girl," was thrown out on his face, but the auto went on.

The actor bounced to his feet and took after the auto, catching it after a chase of half a mile or less. His nose was cut in the fall.

FAMILY WALK FROM HERE TO MISSOURI.

Abraham Allman, of New York, and his family set out on March 22 to take a walk. They passed through Indianapolis last night.

"We thought we'd walk out to Missouri and see our relatives," said Allman.

Allman hauls his two small children in a hand wagon.

CARRIE FELT BLUE, SO WENT SMASHING.

Carrie Nation has broken out again. She, with 250 followers, attacked a saloon in Washington and roughed it up in great shape, mostly with words.

She was arrested and fined $5.

"I felt depressed," she told the Court, "and just had to go out and save somebody from the liquor curse."

LOST TO HIMSELF, WANDERED 8 DAYS.

Albert Wolfe, treasurer of the Anheuser-Busch Brewing Association, at St. Louis, has returned home from an eight-day "dream trip."

He says he has travelled 2,600 miles, he doesn't know just where, and that during the entire time he was about half asleep and dreaming.

"Everything seemed strange," he told his young wife when he returned last night. "I felt troubled, but couldn't tell what it was about."

WOMAN'S REVOLVER ROUTS HEN THIEF.

Just as a chicken thief was bundling a dozen fat pullets belonging to Mrs. A. E. Hamilton, of Stamford, Conn., into a bag, the Hamilton dog barked.

Mrs. Hamilton, who was alone, seized her revolver, went to the hennery and opened fire. The thief dropped the chickens and ran, while the woman bombarded him and followed. He escaped, but the chickens were saved.

THIS BURGLAR A MOLLYCODDLE.

Exhibit A, Mollycoddle Burglar," was the way the police of Cleveland marked the discarded necktie of a thief who robbed the home of John Carter in that city last night.

The burglar was seen by Mrs. Carter, who was in bed.

He stood before the mirror in Carter's room, tried on Carter's collars, ties and trousers, mustache and was about to polish his moustache and was about to polish his nails when Mrs. Carter fired the family revolver.

The burglar jumped through a window, wearing Carter's tie and trousers with $18 in the pockets, and escaped. He left his old tie.

"POP" AND PEANUTS KILL WILD YOUTH.

Louis Pedse went out for "a good time" at Seattle last night. He started on a wild career by eating several sacks of peanuts and drinking two bottles of soda "pop."

The mixture developed ptomaine poison and killed him after four hours' intense suffering.
