Griffith Lays Off Shortstop Indefinitely After Exhibition of Error-Making That Cost Loss of First Game.

Donovan's Wanderers Find Karger Hard Proposition in the Box, and Misplays Give Enemy Long Lead Early.

(Special to The Evening World.)

AMERICAN LEAGUE PARK, July 26.—The Highlanders took a brace in the second game of to-day's double header with Cleveland and started off as if they intended to wipe out the sting of the opening defeat.

Griffith gave his men a good, round talk between games about running wild on the bases.

Moore was picked of the Hilltop crowd for pitcher and Thielman pitched for Cleveland.

"Kid" Elberfeld, shortstop of the Highlanders, famed throughout the country for his scrappy playing, has been suspended by Manager Griffith for an indefinite period. Whether for indifferent playing or insubordination Griffith did not say, but it is undoubtedly the former, as for several days the shortstop has had a bad case of sulks.

The loss of the first game of the double-header was partially due to his errors, but, at that, he made a remarkable play at second, when he jumped in the air, caught the ball and leaped to the bag in time to catch a runner stealing second.

Williams threw out both Hinchman and Bradley, and Turner grounded out, Conroy to Chase. NO RUNS.

O'Brien threw out Hoffman. Conroy struck out. Chase fouled to Clark. NO RUNS.

Never was a leader wrapped up with his team as is Donovan.

MOB TRIES TO LYNCH ASSAILANT OF LITTLE GIRL

Infuriated Father of Harlem Child Rushes to the Rescue and Nearly Kills Man Who Enticed Victim Into Hall.

NEW OUTRAGES REPORTED FROM THREE BOROUGHS

Seventeen-Year-Old Virginia Barish Dragged Into Woods at North Beach—Thirteen-Year-Old Girl Abducted in Manhattan.

Two hundred determined men to-day tried to lynch a giant Polak who had assaulted a five-year-old girl on Staten Island. Two policemen with revolvers had all they could do to restrain them. About the same time the quick response of a policeman to an alarm saved the life of a man who attempted an assault upon a five-year-old child in Harlem to-day.

In the Harlem case a gray-haired old man, named Herman Neuman, of No. 307 East Eighty-fourth street, enticed Ellen Shea, of No. 121 East Eighty-eighth street, into a dark tenement hallway two doors from her home. The cries of the little one aroused the neighborhood before Neuman succeeded in harming her.

Dennis O'Shea, the father of the child, happened to be a home and he got to Neuman before the police did. If he had been allowed another two minutes he would have beaten Neuman to death. As it was the assailant of the child was sent to Bellevue Hospital for surgical treatment.

Mob Attacked Prisoner.

Down in Staten Island Joseph Iariha, a giant weighing 200 pounds, was identified in the police court at New Brighton by his five-year-old victim. As he left the court in the custody of Police Capt. Gorman and Patrolman Falkenberry an assembled mob made a rush for him. Gorman and Falkenberry drew their revolvers.

"My duty is to protect this man," said the captain, "and I am going to do it. I'd hate to kill any of you, but I'll shoot the first one who lays a hand on him."

The crowd surged around and howled and advised shooting and hanging to a telegraph pole, but Gorman and Falkenberry managed to get Isriha to a street car and lock him up in the Richmond County Jail.

Friend of Victim's Father.

The child in this crime is Annie Fowkowski, the five-year-old daughter of Andrew Fowkowski, an employee of the linpleum corporation at Linoleumville. Isriha is employed by the same concern and has been a friend of Fowkowski. They came from the same town in Poland.

The crime was the third and most brutal of a series of such offenses and the crowd assembled in the court-room when Isriha was arraigned. Magistrate Croak was boiling with indignation. This was accenfuated when the little victim, leaving her mother's side in the court-room, walked to where Isriha was standing, and pointing a finger at him said:

"Bad man hurt Annie."

Capt. Gorman gritted his teeth, and every man in the court-room groaned. The contrast between the giant and the child was so striking that the natural feeling of horror was intensified.

Hearing Was Adjourned.

There was only one interpreter procurable. Capt. Gorman learned that he was a friend of the accused man and had been heard to say that he would furnish bail. At the request of the police Magistrate Croak adjourned the examination until next Monday morning at 11 o'clock, when an official interpreter from Police Headquarters will be on hand.

The child disappeared late Wednesday afternoon. There was a hunt for her all of Wednesday night, in which it was noticed Isriah did not join. The little one appeared at the home of her parents in Pennsylvania avenue yesterday.

FORM REVERSAL BY MARTIN DOYLE IN BRIGHTON RACE

Cabochon Ran Like a "Dead One" in the Feature Event—Jockey Miller Has Close Call in a Runaway.

BRIGHTON BEACH RACE TRACK, July 26.—Martin Doyle, at 5 to 1, was the winner of the card's feature here this afternoon. It was the first time on local tracks that the Turney gelding showed his real form. It was a form reversal, but it was as nothing compared to the showing of Cabochon.

The Keene colt was backed as if "in," but finisned last, absolutely.

The start may have had something to do with it, for Miller was last away, but at that he might have improved his position. He didn't, however, and ran disgracefully.

Martin Doyle won in the stretch run from Golf Ball, who led practically all the way. Ampedo was third.

Miller Has Close Call.

Jockey Miller had a close call in the opening dash. He was on Security, and there was enough money bet on the gelding to almost buy a racetrack. Security was behind the field at the start and never could get through. On the return to the judges' stand Security didn't stop as usual, but burst up the stretch, past the turn and into the rails and a quarter chute. He then swerved across the track and galloped straight at the inner rail.

"Miller is killed," echoed through the grandstand. Luckily there was an opening on the rail through which the work horses and harrows go. Security headed through this. Inside Miller soon got the gelding under control and finally prayed him back to the scales, with the crowd applauding.

There were all kinds of tips on the race, among them being Flaxman and Quadrille. Flaxman came within a couple of lengths of copping. He got his head in front in the stretch, after following the pace of Suffice, who soon blew up. Quadrille was far back to the stretch turn, but when straightened out he came like a five furlong horse and just got up. Don Hamilton came from nowhere, too, and beat out Flaxman for the place.

Nimbus at Good Price.

Even 13 to 20 was a good price against Nimbus in the second scramble, and it was no wonder that the "surething" man grabbed it. After the first sixteenth, Nimbus passed Earl's Court as if the Keene colt was tied to the rail, and thereafter just galloped all the way, finishing under wraps six lengths in front of Earl's Court. Miss Delaney was third to within 100 yards of the finish, when she swerved badly and little Eddie Dugan brought Keep Moving up in time to get the third money.

Jimmy Lane Won Steeplechase.

Jimmy Lane didn't bleed the day, and he won a fine race in the Steeplechase. Buckman ran a surprisingly good race, leading all the way, even over the last jump. On the flat Buckman swerved just a bit, enough to let Jimmy Lane in on the rail. A few cracks of the whip did the work and Jimmy Lane, once in front, came away easily. Blue Pigeon was third, five lengths back of Buckman. Woden went down early.

Ran to Real Form.

Flavigny ran to form in the fifth race, playing well right on the post and at a nice price. Lancastrian, coming like the wind, got second by a nod from Smiling Tom. The latter led all the way to the stretch. Coming around the far turn there was a jumble and Bobbie Kean and Filmnap went down. King Cole swerved to the outside from the start and never figured after an eighth of a mile.

Wise Money on King Sol.

All the "wise money" went on King Sol in the last race and although Walsh gave the colt's backers some uneasiness on the back stretch, the race was practically over when the stretch turn was reached. King Sol came away and won easily at the end from Slumberless with Banyah third. At the post Finn on Beardal was kicked and was carried to the paddock in an auto. After a long wait at the post G. Burns was substituted. The winner of this race was backed from 4 to 1 down to 3 to 5. Gates bet heavily on the winner as did Hugh Great Brown, the Wall street magnate. He won about $10,000.

Post time, 2.31; off, 2.35. Scratched—Workman, Robin Hood, Belle Strome, Akbar. Quadrille was in close quarters to the stretch, where he closed strong on the outside and just got up. Don Hamilton is a fair horse and due to watch. Flaxman always close to the pace. Flaxman had speed, but hung at the end. Security had a rough passage, but when clear closed strong.

655 SECOND RACE—Two-year-olds; $1,000 added; five and a half furlongs. Start good. Won galloping. Time—1.06 3-5. Winner, b. g., by Star Shoot—Lady Eide. Owner—W. Clay.

Post time, 2.50; off, 3.04. Scratched—Earl G., Putgada, King Sol. Nimbus outclassed this field and won galloping. Is a good colt. Earl's Court ran a greatly improved race, and is probably a better colt than his races would show. Keep Moving outrun in the early stages, closed strong. Miss Delaney is worth watching, as this filly is improving right along.

656 THIRD RACE—Selling; steeplechase; four-year-olds and upward; $1,000 added; short course, about two miles. Start good. Won ridden out. Time—3.55. Winner, ch. g., by His Grace—Anna Page. Owner—G. H. Tompkins.
