SIX KILLED WHEN PASSENGER TRAIN HITS STRAY CAR

Eighteen Others Injured as Coaches Are Hurled From Tracks and Smashed.

DEATH LIST MAY GROW.

Pennsylvania Special Crowded and Going at Full Speed When Crash Occurred.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 6.—At least six persons were killed when the Titusville Express, southbound, on the Buffalo and Allegheny division of the Pennsylvania Railroad was wrecked near Kelly station, ten miles from Kittanning, at noon to-day by striking a freight car that had broken away from a northbound freight train. The engine was derailed and two baggage cars, a smoker and passenger car were wrecked.

Eighteen other persons were seriously injured, while a number additional suffered slight hurts and shock.

The dead so far as known are: Mrs. Alonzo Huff, Johnstown, Pa.; son of Mrs. Huff, Johnstown, Pa.; M. B. Irwin, engineer of the passenger train, residing at Oakmont, Pa.; his body cut in two was found under the tender; Christiore, Titusville, Pa.; Haffey, Kittanning, Pa., and a man not identified.

Among the injured are: Three daughters of Mrs. A. Huff, Johnstown, Pa.; John Gisslar, Emlenton, Pa.; Samuel Bing, Pittsburg, and Robert Michelton, Emlenton, Pa.

The train on leaving Kittanning was behind time, and it is stated that it was running at a high rate of speed for the purpose of making up this lost time. The accident occurred at a sharp curve of the road, which prevented the engineer from seeing any considerable distance ahead of him.

In some manner a freight car that had formed part of a freight train northbound had broken away from this train and had landed some distance from the northbound track and projecting over the southbound track. The express as it rounded the curve was sideswiped by this car, which derailed the engine and wrecked the four cars.

The train, a popular one, was to-day unusually well filled as it carried a delegation from the First M. E. Church, Kittanning, on a visit of inspection to a neighboring church. Another delegation consisted of the Armstrong County Committee, and on the train, among others, were: D. B. Heiner, Collector of Internal Revenue, Pittsburg; W. G. Heiner, his brother, of Kittanning; Dr. C. M. Allison, Kittanning; Mrs. Henry Chalfant, wife of Rev. Harry Chalfant, pastor of the First M. E. Church, Kittanning, and her young daughter.

These were slightly injured, but not enough to require medical attention.

Nearly all the passengers of the train suffered from shock.

Immediately upon receipt of the news of the accident, nine physicians were sent from Kittanning on a special train. Scores of people also hurried to the scene and rendered efficient aid in extricating the injured from the wreckage. These were carried to nearby houses, where first aid was given by the physicians until arrangements had been made for their removal to the general hospital at Kittanning.

MUST ANSWER FOR A MURDER OF 7 YEARS AGO

Slayer of Carrie Englehardt, Brought from California for Trial Here.

The murderer of pretty Carrie Englehardt, whose body was found in the basement of the house at No. 73 Delancey street on Oct. 7, 1900, is now in the Tombs and will be placed on trial before the snow flies. He is James Courtney, a notorious yeggman, whose police name is "Leadville Jimmy."

The prisoner was brought here to-day from San Quentin Prison, California, by Lieutenants of Police Reap and Grady. He had just been released after serving a seven-year term minus the good behavior commutation for shooting a San Francisco policeman.

"Jimmy" wore the suit of clothes furnished outgoing prisoners by the State when he was arraigned before Justice Foster in General Sessions. He looked very solemn. His one good eye—the other was lost in a free fight years ago—blinked as if the light hurt. The indictment had been found years ago, and it was only necessary for the Court to glance through it and commit "Jimmy" to the Tombs to await trial.

Carrie Englehardt was killed by the yeggmen for betraying certain of their doings to the police. She had been Jimmy's woman and the evidence pointed to him as her slayer. He is charged with homicide in the first degree.

A. C. YOUNG EXONERATED.

Bonds He Was Accused of Taking Were Safe in Bank.

Attorney Alexander C. Young, who has offices in the New York Life Building, was to-day exonerated by Magistrate Steinert when arraigned in the Centre Street Court, charged with the larceny of three bonds of the New York and Pittsburg Air Line from Donald Pursch.

It was explained toch Magistrate that Pursch left the three bonds in Young's possession to be placed on the market and that Young had turned them over to a bank official. While they were in the latter's hands for valuation Pursch called on Young to deliver them, and as the lawyer did not have them he was arrested.

The bank official was in court to-day with the bonds and corroborated Young's story. The bonds were returned unmarketed and the case was dismissed.

$12,000,000 BID FOR WORK ON THE ASHOKAN DAMS

John Pierce Company Appears to Be the Lowest for Great Work.

The Board of Water Supply, which is in charge of the project of bringing a sufficient amount of water for New York City's needs to the metropolis, opened bids this afternoon for the construction of the dams for the great Ashokan Reservoir near Brown's Station in the Catskill Mountains.

The Olive Bridge Dam will one of the largest in the world. It is to hold back the 170,000,000,000 gallons of water to be impounded by the Ashokan Reservoir. This reservoir will cover 16,500 acres and will be really a great lake.

The Ashokan Dam will be a thousand feet long on the main span and have a couple of wings of two thousand feet each. The reservoir will be a lake twelve miles in length and two miles in width.

There were five bidders, the O'Rourke Engineering Construction Company, No. 355 Sixth avenue, of which Andrew Freeman is Vice-President; Bradley Construction Company, No. 329 West Sixty-eighth street; McArthur Bros. Company and Winston & Co., of New York, a joint bid, the John Pierce Company, No. 90 West street, and the Stewart-Shanley-Kerbaugh Company, No. 527 Fifth avenue.

Chief Engineer J. Waldo Smith said after the bids had been called off that it looked as if the John Pierce Company was the lowest. He said, judging by the larger items, the company was at least a million and a half dollars lower than any other company. Their bid appeared to be under $12,000,000 in the aggregate.

The John Pierce Company is the one now doing the New York Central work at the Grand Central Station.

The tabulation of the bids will be completed to-morrow.

BUTCHERED WOMAN'S BODY PACKED IN TRUNK.

MARSEILLES, France, Aug. 6.—A trunk belonging to a man and woman who arrived here to-day from Monte Carlo attracted the attention of the baggagemaster, who caused it to be opened. It was found to contain the body of a woman, cut to pieces. The man and woman owning the trunk were arrested.

They had asked to have it forwarded to London.

The couple, who are middle-aged and gave the names of Mr. and Mrs. Gold, residents of Monte Carlo, denied that they committed the crime, and informed the examining magistrate that they only knew the victim slightly. While the latter was at their home, the Villa Menesimy, on Sunday last, Mr. and Mrs. Gold added, the woman's suitor arrived there and blew out her brains. The Golds, fearing they would be compromised, tried to get rid of the corpse.

The head and feet were in the Golds' valise and the body was in the trunk.

The autopsy seemed to upset the story told by the Golds. It was shown that the murdered woman was seized from behind and held while she was stabbed to death. A commission has been sent to Monte Carlo to investigate the crime.

LOSES HIS JOB, THEN TRIES TO KILL FOREMAN

In Revenge Ironworker Shoots Man Who Discharged Him.

Half-crazed from anger because he had been dismissed from his place of employment in the Jacob Dungoro Iron Works, No. 130 Ten Eyck street, Williamsburg, William Attorkey, an ironworker, lay in wait behind a pile of castings in front of the factory to-day to slay Hermann Weissman, foreman of the place, who had told Attorkey that his services were no longer required.

Attorkey, whose home is at No. 173 McKibben street, recently decided that the men in the iron works had too long hours and that they were underpaid. He circulated among the men and endeavored to work up a strike. The other men were not in sympathy with the strike movement and refused to quit work. Attorkey persisted, and last Thursday Weissmann, the foreman, decided that Attorkey was a disturbing element and told him to draw what was coming to him.

Weissman lives at No. 137 Bushwick avenue. He left his home this morning and walked to the works. He had just got to the gate when Attorkey sprang out at him and, pointing a revolver at him, yelled:

"You will get me fired, will you?"

The first shot went wild, but the second passed through Weissman's right arm, breaking it at the shoulder. Again Attorkey fired, but the bullet only knocked off the foreman's hat.

Weissman, in spite of his broken arm, closed in on Attorkey. The two men struggled for a time, when Attorkey, using the butt of his revolver, sent Weissman sprawling from a blow on the head. Thinking he had ended the foreman's career, Attorkey took to his heels. Two blocks away he met Policeman Wilkinson, of the Stagg street station.

"You stop!" commanded Wilkinson.

Attorkey stopped and levelled his revolver at the policeman. Twice he snapped the trigger, but the cartridges failed to discharge. Then he took to his heels again. Wilkinson was close behind. Twice he fired at the fugitive, but his bullets did not carry true. Then Wilkinson closed in on Attorkey, and there was a sharp, hard fight which ended when the policeman swung his night stick and sent the ironworker down in an unconscious heap.

Attorkey was taken to Ewen Street Police Court, where he was charged with felonious assault. Weissman was taken to St. Catherine's Hospital. The doctors say that he is liable to lose his arm, as the bullet splintered the joint where the arm joins on to the shoulder.

"TEX" RICKARD'S CHILD DEAD.

Beatie Rickard, the five-year-old daughter of "Tex" Rickard, mining man and prize-fight promoter, of Goldfield, Nev., died last night at the Imperial Hotel, in this city, of blood poisoning, resulting from an operation for tonsilitis.

FINGER NAIL SCRATCH RESULTS IN DEATH.

A short time ago you may have read of the remarkable case where a simple scratch of the finger nail caused death by blood poisoning. At first it was only an annoying itch caused by summer rash. This was scratched by the finger nail to relieve the itch, but the skin was torn open, the irritation became worse and finally resulted in a fatal case of blood poisoning.

Do not scratch or rub the itch or irritation caused by summer rash, mosquito bites, hives, prickly heat or any form of skin disease or itch. D. D. D. Prescription, the best known remedy for eczema and all forms of skin disease, externally applied, will at once stop the irritable itch. It soothes and cools the skin and permanently cures the itch or disease. Infants and children are saved many hours of agony and torture from the unbearable itch if a few drops of D. D. D. are applied to the afflicted parts. Remember—the itch is instantly relieved.

And What Do You Get?

You get the Ramleh under its new name, "Helmar."

In the "Helmar" you get the same fine quality with the same "real tobacco taste" that won such tremendous popularity for the "Ramleh."

And you avoid the numerous imitations which attempted to trade on the success of the Ramleh by using names that sound similar to it.

The only way we could protect you against the substitution of these imitative brands was by changing the name "Ramleh" to one which, like the quality of the cigarette itself, could not be imitated.

The change in the name does not mean any change whatever in the cigarette, in which you will find the same original and distinctive flavor which has made it the favorite of so many thousands of smokers.

To be sure you get the same cigarette which has always given you such complete enjoyment and satisfaction, you need only remember that the name is now "Helmar," instead of "Ramleh"—and guard against the substitution of brands with names that sound like "Ramleh."

Where once you asked for the "Ramleh," now you get the same cigarette by asking your dealer for
