FISHERMEN AGAINST FISH HATCHERIES

(By Associated Press)

NEW WESTMINSTER, B. C., Feb. 25.—Elimination of all fish hatcheries maintained by the dominion department of fisheries will be urged at Ottawa through a resolution passed recently by the British Columbia Fishermen's Protective association at a meeting here.

Hatcheries tend to make the fish smaller in size, it was contended. Furthermore, it was said, fish would be more plentiful if the spawning streams were cleared and free access to them given the salmon each year. Fisherman who had observed hatcheries declared thousands of fry were washed ashore and became prey of gulls.

SILK STOCKINGS NOT ALLOWED IN SHCOOL

(By Associated Press)

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 25.—The wearing of silk stockings by girl students at Shortridge high school here, will be prohibited, according to an edict of George Buck, principal of the school. Mr. Buck said the ruling followed suggestions that thin stockings were conductive of colds, and that the order would be enforced during the influenza epidemic.

COWMEN GOING TO CONSUMERS

(By Associated Press)

FORT WORTH, Texas, Feb. 25.—When the Texas Cattle Raisers association, often termed "the richest organization per capita in the world" meets in Houston next March in annual session, a solution of the meat price question will be offered by a committee headed by President W. W. Turney of El Paso.

This committee now is at work on a meat market plan, modeled on a market conducted at Amarillo last fall by cattlemen and which was declared a success insofar as it reduced the price to the consumer and helped the cattlemen too. It was this Panhandle experiment that led Marion Sansom of Fort Worth, formerly president of the Texas association, to suggest the experiment for the entire state.

Sansom also laid his plans before the American National Livestock association, which met in yearly conference recently at Spokane.

It is the intention of the cattlemen's committee to recommend that a chain of retail meat markets be distributed through Texas and that the cowmen sell direct to them from the range, the butcher shops doing their own slaughtering.

Should the plan be adopted at the Houston convention, a committee must be appointed to carry out the suggestion.

AUSTRALIANS DEFEND PLACE IN THE LEAGUE

(Correspondence Associated Press)

SYDNEY, Australia, Jan. 26.—Australia's claim to the right to have one vote in the council of the league of nations was defended by Sir Joseph Cook, minister of the navy, who was a delegate to the peace conference, in a recent speech here. Commenting on the attitude of a section of the United States senate toward the league, he said:

"America is making objection to clause X in the league's charter. The objection is political from first to last. I believe that when the presidential election is over all objection will end." On the question of Australian representation in the council of the league, Sir Joseph said:

"The Americans led by Senator Lodge say that the British empire should have only one vote. Senator Lodge's party objects to the empire having five or six times the voting power of the United States. It is not a fair statement. All the other states in America have one vote."

Sir Joseph enumerated under this head Bolivia, Brazil, Cuba, Ecuador, Guatemala, Honduras, Liberia, Haiti, Nicaragua, Panama, Peru and Uruguay, and pointed out that the populations of these countries were largely Indian or negro. "The South American states," he continued, "have twelve votes. How do the British dominions stand? New Zealand, Canada, Australia, South Africa, India each has only one vote.

"Australia's sacrifices in the war—60,000 dead—were greater than America's, and all died in an effort to make America safe. America was for three or four years out of the war while Australia was helping to keep her free.

"It has been said that there is no force by which to carry out the treaty. There is the force in the background, and other things—the penalty of ostracism and the boycott. No nation, unless it can conquer the world, can ignore these penalties."

TWO SIDES TO IT IN NOGALES

(By Associated Press)

NOGALES, Ariz., Feb. 25.—Bootleggers have little patronage in this town. They do not satisfy a long felt want. A Nogales resident who develops a thirst, having permission of the federal authorities to cross the border, merely steps across the street, enters a swinging door and names his liquor. It is as simple as ruling down to the corner saloon in the old days.

If he names whiskey he does not get it. Barkeepers in Nogales, Sonora, just across a narrow street from Nogales, Arizona, are not allowed to sell whiskey, the signing is partially. But he can get beer, wine or tequila and many an American unable to secure whiskey is now on terms of intimacy with the fiery liquor of Mexico.

Some of the bars on the Mexican side are elaborately equipped and operate handsome dining rooms in connection.

Americans who like beer with more distinct cause the owner an equal time.

One may buy liquor legally to be placed in Nogales, Sonora, for the most party. A goodly of this also is consumed in Nogales, Arizona, with Federal officials [illegible] the law in the high wage scale in the international street.
