"HUSBANDS" FACE WITNESS IN HER $100,000 ACTION

Mrs. Lees, Otherwise Pancoast, Otherwise Williams, Is Confronted.

Demanding $100,000 damage for the death of her husband, William Lees, who was a passenger on the Ninth avenue elevated train that was thrown from the track at Fifty-third street Sept. 11, 1905, Bertha Lees was rigidly cross-examined before Justice Handcock and a jury in the Supreme Court to-day.

She is a comely woman and admitted to John F. McIntyre, counsel for the Interborough, that she was the "Bertha Pancoast" who got an insurance policy on her life, July 12, 1904, naming as beneficiary "Harry B. Pancoast, my husband."

"He wasn't my husband, and I didn't notice that he was so named," she explained. "I got the policy for the benefit of our child, Juliette Pancoast."

The witness was married to William Lees in 1902, and in her complaint, reciting the heirs and next of kin of Lees, she concluded with "the plaintiff, his wife and a prospective heir." That child arrived a few weeks after the disaster.

Believed Williams Dead.

A record from the church of the Holy Cross in West Forty-second street, put in evidence, set forth that Marie Pancoast, born July 4, 1899, was baptized by Rev. Father Matthew J. F. Scanlon, July 8.

"And when you were married to Lees, in 1902, you told the minister that you were a widow?" asked Mr. McIntyre.

"I did."

"But you were already the wife of James L. Williams?"

"I hadn't heard from him in more than seven years, and heard he was dead."

"Do you know this man?"

The court room doors swung open and in stalked a tall man in army uniform. He is a private in the hospital service.

"I do not know him. I never saw him before," said the witness.

"What! Is not this your husband, James L. Williams?"

"He has changed in appearance so I wouldn't know him. He doesn't look like the man I married. I haven't seen him in twelve years."

The soldier withdrew and the Rev. Mr. Hendrickson stood up. Mrs. Lees declared he was not the man who married her to Williams.

Then Another One.

Then another man stood up at the bidding of Mr. McIntyre. Mrs. Lees acknowledged that this was Harry Pancoast, and the pretty child of eight beside her was their daughter Juliette.

Next came Detective-Sergeant O'Donnell and a couple of policemen. Mrs. Lees was asked to look at two photographs which one of the policemen had brought.

"I don't recognize them," she said. "Are not these photographs of you and Harry Pancoast?"

"I don't remember having that picture taken. No, I do not recognize either of them."

The pictures were from the Rogues' Gallery, and Detective-Sergeant O'Donnell was there to tell of arrests made by him of the original of those two photographs for working the "badger game."

Meantime Mr. McIntyre turned his inquiries to a fourth man, asking Mrs. Lees:

"Didn't you claim a man named Lynch as your husband at one time?"

"No, sir."

"Didn't you receive $5,000 from Lynch for his release?"

"He never gave me any money. He had no money. He was never anything to me for me to release him."

Achille J. Olshei, counsel for Mrs. Lees, on redirect examination brought out that she had been regularly appointed administratrix of William Lees. Thus, as Mrs. Lees sues as administratrix, no matter what her relations were to Lees or to other men the company cannot escape its liability.

WHALE CUT IN TWO BY STEAMSHIP PROW.

Admiral Farragut Ran Into a Shoal of Mammals Off Cape Hatteras and Hit One.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 11.—A whale was run down and cut in two off Cape Hatteras by the steamship Admiral Farragut, which arrived here to-day from Jamaica.

Capt. Mader of the Farragut stated that on Saturday afternoon, when off Cape Hatteras, a school of from fifteen to twenty whales was seen. He supposed that they would disappear by the time the vessel came near, but was mistaken. The sharp prow of the Farragut cut one about sixty feet long in two, one-half disappearing on the port side and the other on the starboard side.

Swift & Company's sales of Fresh Beef in New York City for the week ending Saturday, Nov. 9, averaged 7.97 cents per pound.

MUST STARVE TO DEATH IN A MINE UNDER HIS HOME

Will Take a Year to Reach McCabe, Entombed by a Cave-In.

MAHANOY CITY, Pa., Nov. 11.—Down in the depths of Draper Colliery, several hundred feet under the surface and almost directly under his own home, Michael McCabe, thirty years old, of Gilberton, is entombed. He is behind thousands of tons of slush and dirt, alive, but doomed to death, beyond all hope of rescue.

He has been imprisoned since 1 P. M. Saturday, when he fired a blast which caused a cave-in extending to the surface, where the slush banks were situated.

He fled in the wrong direction and got into a blind shaft. A fellow workman managed to get out of that wing of the colliery before the roof caved in.

The mine branch extends to the surface, where it yawns sixty feet wide, right in front of McCabe's home, where his wife and six children vainly hope for his rescue.

Mine officials say it may be a year before it will be possible to reach the place where the man is shut up.

MAN SHOT; IS LEFT BY FRIENDS TO DIE

Took Coyle, Helpless, From Hospital to Room and Abandoned Him.

Deserted by friends, helpless and forced to go four days without food or drink after he had been shot in the right leg, Bernard Coyle, twenty years old, of No. 205 East Thirty-third street, is dying to-day in Bellevue Hospital.

On Coyle's ante-mortem statement last night to Coroner Shrady, Claude Martin, fourteen years old, of No. 152 East Thirty-eight street, was arrested on a charge of felonious assault. The shooting was on Oct. 18. Coyle would not tell who shot him until informed by the Coroner that he was dying.

The bullet wound is not directly responsible for the grave condition of Coyle. He was taken to Bellevue Hospital just after being shot. Several friends called the next day and took Coyle to a furnished room on Third avenue.

Then Coyle's friends forgot all about him and for four days he lay helpless in the room without food or drink.

Martin's account of the shooting is that it took place in the Third Avenue Theatre in the presence of John Carey, the watchman.

"Carey handed me a revolver," said the boy, "and told me it was not loaded. I pointed the revolver at the floor and pulled the trigger. There was a report and Coyle dropped, saying he had been shot."

MARINE FOUND DROWNED

Secured Shore Leave Twelve Days Ago and Did Not Return.

The body of the marine found in the East River off Pier 19 to-day, has been identified as that of William S. Conklin, twenty-seven years old, who was attached to service in the Brooklyn Navy Yard. Conklin enlisted in the service in March, 1906, at St. Paul, Minn.

Twelve days ago he secured shore leave for twelve hours. He did not return. The body had been in the water for several days. It was badly decomposed. There were no marks about the body to indicate that foul play had been used. Conklin's relatives in the West have been notified. His body is at the morgue.

STOCKS MAKE GAINS, BUT TRADING QUIET

Consolidated Gas, the Pacifics, Reading and Sugar Market Leaders.

Prices of stocks fluctuated narrowly in the early dealings to-day, while the transactions were on a meagre scale. Small gains predominated, but there was a sprinkling of losses. Northwestern declining a point. Consolidated Gas advanced 2 points, Union Pacific 1 1-8, Canadian Pacific 1 1-4, Reading 1 1-8, Sugar about a point, and Northern Pacific, New York Central, United States Steel preferred, Amalgamated Copper and the American Smelting stocks large fractions.

The market strengthened in later dealings, but business continued quiet.

Stocks were bought and sold in the afternoon in a desultory fashion and without any noteworthy price changes. Atlantic Coast Line rose 3 1-8 and North American 1. Dealing of Amalgamated averaged 500 a minute as compared with 71 the previous sale in March.

There were further advances in the final dealings, and the market closed at the highest of the day, but dull.

The total sales of stocks to-day were 394,200 shares, and of bonds $3,150,000.

TRUCK CRUSHES OUT LITTLE BOY'S LIFE

Child Becomes Confused and Drops Under Wheels of Heavy Wagon.

Four or five little shavers in their first class of free kindergartens were on their way home up Avenue A to-day from a school in Eighth street. As they started across Ninth street a big two-horse butcher's truck came along. The truck belonged to Frei Lessig, of No. 1608 Avenue A. The driver was Adolph Zuckerberg, of No. 423 East Eighty-first street.

One of the little shaps, five-year-old Charley Clancy, of No. 236 East Tenth street, became badly confused. He tried to run across the street and then halted directly in the path of the lumbering wagon. Zuckerberg tugged on the lines in a desperate effort to save the child, but it was too late. The little fellow dropped right between the horses. The hoofs of the team missed him, but as the wagon swerved, one of the rear wheels passed across his chest.

He cried out "Mamma, mamma" several times as two men were carrying him into a nearby drug store, but by the time Dr. Johnson arrived with an ambulance he was dead. The body was taken to the Fifth street station, where the driver had been locked up on a technical charge of homicide.

Concerning the Finer Sorts of Goods.

Very high class merchandise—particularly imported merchandise—is as much a part of our enormous stocks as the staples—the everyday necessaries—for which the MACY store has been headquarters for almost fifty years.

Our facilities for gathering the finer grades of merchandise are not surpassed by any other American organization.

Abundant evidences here of the thoroughness of our search of the markets of the world

FASHIONS FRESH FROM AUTHORITATIVE SOURCES, MASTERPIECES FROM OLD WORLD WEAVERS, RUGS AND CARPETS FROM THE FAR EAST, RARE OBJECTS OF ART—MARBLES AND BRONZES, RICH TAPESTRIES, ANTIQUE FURNITURE, CHOICE POTTERY, BRIC-A-BRAC AND CHINA; COSTLY JEWELRY AND INNUMERABLE NOVELTIES IN SILVER, LEATHER GOODS AND THE LIKE.

We have no monopolies of any of these lines, and we deny any other establishment that asset. We count the possession of these stocks of very high class merchandise merely matter-of-course—a detail of our storekeeping system.

But the fact of greatest concern to YOU is that we sell such merchandise at prices very much lower than others ask for similar goods. Frequently our prices are but ONE-HALF what others ask.

We have but one merchandising system for all lines of goods. IT GIVES US ABSOLUTE UNDERSELLING SUPREMACY IN THE HIGHER CLASS OF GOODS, our underselling supremacy in staple lines being conceded even by our competitors.

WE SELL FOR CASH ONLY, GIVE NO DISCOUNTS AND PAY NO COMMISSIONS. WE TREAT ALIKE THE MILLIONS AND THE MILLIONAIRE.

BURGLAR BREAKS IN TO STEAL CANDIES

Impatient Sweet Tooth Makes Him Taste Loot Under Policeman's Eye.

A sweet tooth and a policeman's sharp eye figured in a detective story before Magistrate Wahle in West Side Court to-day. The finale was the holding of James Maloney, nineteen years old, of No. 324 West Forty-eighth street, in $1,000 bail on a charge of burglary.

Patrolman Pyle was on the steps of the West Thirty-seventh street station last night when he saw a well-dressed young man strolling leisurely munching candy from a box under his arm. Strapped across his shoulder were twelve other small packages.

Pyle trailed him up Eighth avenue to Forty-first street, where he stopped him.

"Where'd you get the candy, Bill?" said Pyle, as he blocked his path.

"None of your business," said Maloney. Pyle showed him his badge and Maloney said a stranger had given him the stuff on the next block. Pyle took Maloney to find the stranger.

As Pyle passed the candy shop of Mandel & Weisman, at No. [illegible] Eighth avenue, he noticed the door ajar. Stepping cautiously in ahead, he entered. The shop was topsy-turvy. Choice morsels were scattered all about, the intruder evidently sampling the stock before selecting his favorite sweets.

Pyle found the boxes on Maloney's shoulder were of Mandel & Weisman make. He locked the store and arrested Maloney. In the prisoner's pockets were a jimmy, a chisel, a screwdriver and some keys. The door of the shop had been forced by a jimmy.

William Downing, Here Only a Few Months From Ohio, Goes to Sing Sing.

"I voted twice because I was drunk."

That was the only explanation William Downing, of No. 18 Chatham square, could give Judge Rosalsky in General Sessions to-day, when arraigned on an indictment for illegal voting.

Judge Rosalsky sentenced Downing to Sing Sing Prison for not less than three years and six months nor more than four years and six months.

On Election Day Downing voted at No. 4 Duane street under his own name. Thence, going to No. 494 Pearl street, he voted under the name of Martin Hadin.
