HACK ARRANGES TO MEET GOTCH HERE FOR TITLE

"Russian Lion" and Yankee Will Wrestle Before Missouri A. C., of Kansas City—Says Rogers Will Be Easy.

GEORGE HACKENSCHMIDT, greatest of all the world's wrestlers, will soon be here. The "Russian lion" has agreed to wrestle a match with Frank Gotch before the Missouri A. C. of Kansas City.

We will be very glad to see Hackenschmidt in America again. He made a tremendous hit here when he wrestled and defeated Tom Jenkins, our American champion. Hackenschmidt will always make a hit among people who love sport for sport's sake. He is one of the very few wrestlers who never fake. He wrestles "on the level," and takes a genuine pride in his own honesty, as well as in his great ability. Physically George Hackenschmidt is the marvel of the century. Muscled like a Hercules, he still has the activity of an acrobat and the endurance of a distance runner. And he is a quiet, decent, well educated gentleman—a credit to the game he represents.

Here is a letter just received from Hackenschmidt:

"My Dear Edgren:

"The match between Gotch and myself is practically settled. I am only waiting for the signatures from Kansas City. It has taken a long time to settle, but I didn't know where I stood until just now.

"According to the contract I have to be in Kansas City from the 16th of March until the 5th of April, so I must be in New York at the beginning of March.

"First I meet Joe Rogers here, and I don't think he will be much trouble. I have not been at all fit for the last few months, having influenza and a severe attack of rheumatism in my hands, but I hope to be entirely rid of this before I leave for America. I remember with great pleasure your hospitality on the occasion of my former visit, and I wish sincerely to be in condition to satisfy the American public as well as I did in the match with Tom Jenkins in Madison Square Garden. Please give my regards to Mr. Jenkins, whom I remember as a most estimable opponent. I hope that Frank Gotch will prove equally interesting.

"Yours sincerely,
"GEORGE HACKENSCHMIDT."

HARRY BURTON, of Australia, has arrived in New York. Mr. Burton is champion in a game that will seem both odd and interesting to Americans. In London, recently, he broke the club swinging record of the world. His latest feat was the swinging of two three-pound Indian clubs for sixty-one and a half hours without stopping. While performing this feat he averaged 132 revolutions a minute. The record was made in a public competition held at the Olympia, in London, and on the final day of the test 200,000 spectators looked on.

This performance has some of the features of the six-day bicycle race. There is nothing dangerous or spectacular about it. It is a grind of the most brain-wearying sort, although in the sixty-first hour Mr. Burton increased the number of revolutions to 150 a minute, and worked in a number of fancy stunts.

Three men competed in the championship test, and after a few hours one fell unconscious to the floor from the effects of the strain.

Mr. Burton never drinks, smokes or indulges in any remark stronger than "fancy, don't y' know."

Club swinging endurance tests may and may not make a hit in New York, but no one can help marvelling at the grit of a man who will stand on his feet and keep two three-pound clubs revolving steadily for over two days and a half without stopping.

JIMMY BRITT is in love.

Willus Britt, who wants Jimmy to fight "Boer" Unholz, says that Jimmy will have to come out of the trance long enough to go into training. If Willus can show Jimmy a new flat the rest will be easy.

THIS "Boer" Unholz, by the way, must be a wonder if the descriptions in the California papers are to be taken seriously. I quote:

"Boer Unholz, who defeated Memsic recently with ridiculous ease, looks like a promising rival for Joe Gans. Unholz can make the lightweight limit easily. He is built so close to the ground that he can't be upset by a blow. He is as tall as Attell, has a chest as big as Sharkey's, arms like Jeff's, and a neck like Hackenschmidt's. When he stripped to fight Memsic the crowd wondered if a man could have so much muscle and still move around. But there wasn't any doubt when he started. He chased Memsic all around the ring, showing the speed and footwork of a cat cornering a mouse. Memsic hit him square on the jaw and didn't even shake his hair. Every time Unholz landed he nearly put his fist through the gent that Gans selected as champ when he retired.

"When the Boer was matched with Nelson Bat remarked that Unholz looked like a demon. The Boer replied to this bit of fairy persiflage by saying: 'Ja, yes—vot iss. You been nockked ouid, yes? Chust vait.'"

THEY are saying out on the coast that Bat has lost his money—well, all but a hundred thousand or so of his soaked away simoleons. Bat has been monkeying with the mining stock market.

Fighters always go wrong when they monkey with a game they don't understand. The mere fact that a man is clever with his fists and happens to possess an iron lined solar plexus doesn't prove that he can pick winners. Abe Attell has tried that game at the track lately, and the result is that he hasn't a copper to put up for a side bet when he makes a match. And Abe is a "wise" lad. At least that's his reputation.

KEENE'S COLTS ARE ALLOTTED TOP WEIGHT

Ballot Is to Carry 126 Pounds in Brooklyn, Suburban and Brighton Handicaps.

Colin Heads Three-Year-Old Division — Nealon Also Rated High.

HANDICAPPER Walter S. Vosburg crowned James R. Keene's Ballot and Colin the turf champions of the four and three-year-old divisions when he assigned them top weights in the three big eastern turf classics, the Brooklyn, Suburban and Brighton.

Ballot will be asked to carry 126 pounds in the trio of events, while Colin will have 111 pounds in the Brooklyn and Suburban and 112 pounds in the Brighton. This rates Colin three pounds better than Salvidere, champion three-year-old of 1906.

Charles Edward and Salvidere, two horses that have taken the measure of Ballot on one or two occasions, and who are of the same age, are given four and five pounds the best of it. Ballot is also asked to give Nealon one pound, although this horse is a five-year-old.

Nealon, the Suburban winner of 1907, has second honors, with 125 pounds. Charles Edward, while he is asked to carry 122 pounds, one pound more than Salvidere, the latter being a gelding and entitled to an allowance of three pounds, rates higher than the champion miler. Glorifier, winner of the Metropolitan and Carter Handicaps, and Montgomery, the hero of the Crescent City Derby last winter and the Burns Handicap at the Oakland track last Saturday, are in the first class of horses with 120 pounds each.

The handicap weights have been so nicely adjusted that no one horse seems to have a decided advantage to win at the weight. Each of the handicaps are worth $25,000. In the Brooklyn Handicap the horses carry the weight originally assigned, but for the Suburban and Brighton, penalties of twelve pounds is attached to the original allotment to every horse that wins a race worth $10,000 or more.

The list of handicap horses, with their weights, are:

NEIL MAY NOT MEET ABE ATTELL

Frankie's Dad Wants to Call Off Fight, but Son Says "No."

BY JOHN POLLOCK.

IT looks now as if the Nell-Attell championship fight at San Francisco may be declared off to-day, as Nell is said to be subject to dizzy spells. Jim Nell says the fight will have to be postponed, but Frankie says he will fight regardless of what his father says.

Dr. Apple, club physician, states that Frankie is in good physical shape, but there are indications that his stomach is not in the best possible condition. Frankie was called home last night by his father.

Attell is a ten to four favorite.

Lewis and Donovan Again.

Willie Lewis and Jim Donovan are going to fight again. Immediately after their contest at the Sharkey A. C. last night both fighters asked Manager Jim Buckley to put them on again, and Jim agreed. They will come together for six rounds at a stag to be held by the Sharkey A. C. a week from next Wednesday night. "I will be in good shape for our next battle," said Lewis as he left the clubhouse.

Goodman-Baldwin at Long Acre.

The six-round bout between Jack Goodman, the local lightweight, and Matty Baldwin, of Boston, which was to have been decided before the newly organized Herald Square A. C. on Tuesday night, will not come off at that club, but instead will be decided at the Long Acre A. C. a week from to-night. The Herald Square Club will not be ready in time, and Manager Mike Newman has decided to put the contest on at his club.

Fitzgerald at Dry Dock A. C.

Jack Fitzgerald, the husky Quaker City middleweight, who beat Walter Stanton, the California middleweight, in a six-round bout in Philadelphia a few months ago, has been secured by Matchmaker Joe Cain to meet Willie Lewis in the star bout of six rounds at the next stag to the Dry Dock A. C. on Monday night. Lewis had better do some work for this fellow, as he is liable to run up against a Tartar.

Martin to Box Walcott.

Joe Walcott will appear in another bout in Philadelphia to-night. He will tackle Terry Martin for six rounds at the show of the Broadway A. C. If Walcott wins he will get on some more matches there, while Martin has been promised a fight with Harry Lewis if he should be successful.

O'Brien Knocked Out.

(Special to The Evening World.)

ROCKLAND, Me., Jan. 30.—Dick O'Brien, of Lewiston, still wearing the title of middleweight champion of Maine and some thirty pounds more of flesh than when he won it, was knocked out by Dave Sawyer, of this city, in the third round last night.

Willie Fitz in Training.

Willie Fitzgerald has begun training at a gymnasium in Boston for his coming twelve-round battle with Tommy Quill, of Brockton, which will come off at the next boxing show of the Armory A. A., of Boston, on Tuesday night. Fitzgerald is his own manager now and claims that he is going right along the line meeting all the good lightweights that will take him on. Fitz will meet "Unk" Russell shortly in Philadelphia.

Gardner-Russell to Box.

A bout between Jimmy Gardner, the clever welterweight of Lowell, Mass., and "Unk" Russell, of Philadelphia, will most likely be arranged in a few days to be decided before the Sharkey A. C. in three weeks. Jim Buckley has secured the consent of both fighters to clinch the match for his club and he expects to arrange it without any delay.

Sharkey A. C. Raises Dues.

In the future the club members of the Sharkey A. C. will be assessed more dues for the club's weekly entertainment. The club's officials have come to the conclusion that it is just as well to have 500 members attend the stags instead of 900, and on that account the dues will be $2 ad $3 to witness the boxing bouts in the future instead of $6 a month for four shows.

BURNS'S WIFE SURE HE'LL FIGHT NEGRO

DETROIT, Jan. 30.—"Tommy will sign articles for a bout with Jack Johnson as soon as he lands in New York, and he'll make Johnson jump out of the ring before the fight is over," said Mrs. Tommy Burns, who has arrived in Detroit from London. Mrs. Burns is visiting her husband's sister here.

"He'd never fight Johnson if I had the chance to decide it," she said, "for I don't like him to fight with colored men, and he promised me when we were married he would never fight a negro. But he's sore over what has been printed about him and Johnson, and I'm positive that he'll sign up for the battle just as soon as he gets in America."

BIDS $7,500 FOR NASTURTIA

(Special to The Evening World.)

NEW ORLEANS, La., Jan. 30.—Nasturtia, the sensational Nasturtium-La Gascogne filly, which won such a hollow victory on Monday when she ran in the fastest time of any race run here this season, notwithstanding the fact that she was ridden by "Losing" Smith, has so impressed horsemen that numerous offers have already been made for her.

She is owned by Dr. William F. Mathews, a New York physician, and trained by Robert H. Shannon, a protege of John E. Madden.

Previous to her victory this filly worked the most sensational trial ever shown by any two-year-old at New Orleans, going the distance in fully a second better time than Notasulga, last year's champion. The time of this tryout was 11 1-5, 22 3-5, 34 3-5, with a heavy boy. Naturally this trial made the race a foregone conclusion, barring accidents.

Among other offers Trainer Shannon has received one from New York by telegraph of $7,500, but he states that nothing short of $10,000 will be considered.

The filly is heavily engaged in Eastern stakes.

Coulon Whips Murphy.

PEORIA, Ill., Jan. 30.—Johnnie Coulon, of Chicago, won the third and deciding battle over Kid Murphy, of New York, beating the Easterner on a decision in a ten-round bout. It was Murphy's fight until the fifth round, when Coulon started after the Italian vigorously and made even rounds of the fifth and sixth sessions. In the seventh Coulon rushed Murphy off his feet, and had the Easterner tired in the eighth. Repeated hard jolts to face and rights to the ribs gave Coulon a big shade in the ninth, and the final session found Murphy swinging wildly and holding in clinches to avoid punishment.

"The Merry Widow."

A serial romance, jolly and captivating as "The Merry Widow" waltz, and written by Albert Payson Terhune, will begin in Saturday's Evening World.

TWO STAGS TO-NIGHT.

Two boxing stags will be held in town to-night. At the Long Acre A. C. the principals in the main event will be Eddie Carter and "Kid" Locke, the rugged welterweights of the Quaker City. They fought a great battle in Philadelphia some time ago and should repeat that good scrap this time. Five other bouts will precede it.

At the Olympic A. C. Mickey Gannon, of Pittsburg, and George McFadden, of this city, will clash in the star bout for six rounds. This bout should be a hummer.

MANY CHAMPIONS IN MEET

CHAMPIONS of nearly every branch of athletics will be seen in competition at the Irish-American A. C. carnival in Madison Square Garden Saturday evening, Feb. 8. Although the entries do not close until Monday the list has already reached record proportions, including as it does all the star performers of the East. For instance, in the sixty-yard dash Eaton, of the Boston A. A., perhaps the fastest indoor sprinter in the world, will toe the mark against the best of the metropolitan district performers, and possibly Dan Kelley; in the high hurdle event Leavitt and Smithson will have it out with the local cracks; in the shot-put the great Wesley Coe will try to overcome handicaps of good weight men; in the high jump Moffett, the intercollegiate champion, will find among others a strong rival in Gibney, of Boston.

The one mile intercollegiate race has Cornell, Pennsylvania and Yale as early entries, with teams of four men each. Even without any additional entries this event should prove a big feature in itself. In addition to their relay teams, Cornell, Pennsylvania and Yale have entered four other men in the various events, thus lending an intercollegiate flavor to the carnival. The 600-yard race is expected to furnish the race of the night. Hillman, Taylor, White Broimalow, Charlie Bacon and Paul Pilgrim are the most prominent of the entries. This race brings about a third meeting of Taylor and Hillman. Each has beaten the other in previous starts. Hillman is in grand condition just now, as he showed by his performance in the Pastime games, and Taylor says he never was better. The programme provides for a relay race of ninety-five-pound teams of schoolboys of the Greater City. Teams has been liberally entered. These boys are coming stars of the athletic world and their efforts should be encouraged. Some of the most valuable prizes ever donated for an athletic meet in the country go to the successful men in the various events.

The two-mile relay race for members of the Military Athletic League to be decided at the annual midwinter games of the Sixth Regiment, March 2, should bring out the best middle distance runners ever seen in one race at an ordinary meet. Each regiment will be represented by teams of four men, and each man will run half a mile. This practically means that there will be four races in one. In addition to this novel relay race, the Sixty-ninth games programme includes ten events. Among the open competitions are the sixty-yard dash handicap, the 300-yard run handicap, the 440-yard run for novices, the 880-yard handicap, the one-mile run handicap and a handicap at three miles. The United States is making rapid strides in the distance games and this latter event is likely to bring out a big field, with Tom Collins as the scratch man. The Sixty-ninth numbers many star performers on its rolls, for whom provisions have been made in the following events, open only to members of the regiment: The 300-yard run handicap, the one-mile run handicap, and eight-lap heavy marching order relay for four-men teams, each to run two laps, and a handicap twelve-pound shotput. Dennis Horgan will be a competitor in the shotput.

The prizes for the various events are all gold. For the open events there are gold watches to first, gold cuff links to second and gold stick-pins to third. The military relay race prizes are gold, silver and bronze medals for first, second and third teams. Gold, silver and bronze medals are the prizes for the closed events. Entries close on Monday, Feb. 24, with John J. McHugh, No. 412 East Fiftieth street; Lieut. Michael A. Kelly, No. 119 East Twenty-fourth street, and Dieges Clust, No. 23 John street.

"A Waltz Dream" will be given in the Magazine Section of next Sunday's World. Piano music, by arrangement with the publishers and owners of performing rights. Authorized, copyrighted music. Order next Sunday's World to-day.

HUESTON HOLDS EMBLEM

(Special to The Evening World.)

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 30.—All his old time luck came back to Hueston last night, and in one of the most exciting pool games ever played in this city he for the third time successfully defended the world's championship trophy, and the emblem now becomes his personal property.

When he started out to play last night Hueston had only 322 against Keogh's 406 points. The final score stood: Hueston, 600; Keogh, 584.

Hueston last year defended the trophy against Loon, and two years ago he won the emblem from the then champion, Horgan.
