DROVE OFF WITH A TRUCK LADEN WITH WINE CASKS

Donnelly Imbibed Some of the Spirits and Tangled Up Traffic in Avenue.

Policeman William A. Denner, of the Traffic Squad, arrested a young man driving a large grey horse attached to a heavily laden truck, who disturbed the decorum and tangled up the precise traffic arrangements at Fifth avenue and Thirty-eighth street this afternoon by driving the vehicle northward on the wrong side of the street.

There were several narrow escapes from collisions with automobiles and carriages before Denner reached the head of the grey horse and led him into Thirty-eighth street. It was here that the policeman discovered that the wagon was loaded with casks of wine, and that one nearest the driver's seat showed signs of recent use.

He was more than sure of it a moment later, when the young driver threw a kiss at him and asked the traffic man if he wouldn't have some wine.

At the West Thirtieth street station the young man said he was James Donnelly, of No. 84 East One Hundred and Twelfth street.

"The fresh spring air made me feel good to-day," he told the police, "and while walking along Grand street I saw the horse and truck standing in the street without a driver, and I jumped on the seat. I was looking for an honest man to give him the rig when the policeman interrupted my drive."

The police learned that the horse and wagon and invigorating contents belonged to M. Halpin, a wholesale liquor dealer, of No. 2191 Eighth avenue.

Donnelly was taken to Jefferson Market Court, where an examination into his sanity will be ordered.

GEN. GRANT'S LUNCHEON.

Entertains the Japanese Ambassador and Other Officials.

Gen. Frederick Dent Grant, Commander of the Department of the East, entertained at luncheon in his home on Governor's Island to-day Baron Kogoro Takahira, Ambassador from Japan; Consul Midzuno, Lieut.-Commander Taniguchi, Japanese Naval Attache at Washington, and the First Secretary of the Embassy Nagai. The party took the ferry-boat Gen. Hancock on her 12.50 trip and were received by Capt. A. J. Bowley, aide to Gen. Grant, James Stokes and Gen. Hubbard, a veteran of the civil war and president of the Southern Pacific Railroad, were of the party.

At the luncheon there were present Col. H. O. S. Heistand, Gen. Grant's adjutant; Col. Allen, Commander of the Brooklyn Navy-Yard.

The battery fired a salute of nineteen guns.

GEN. M'ALPIN'S WIFE DIED AS HE RACED.

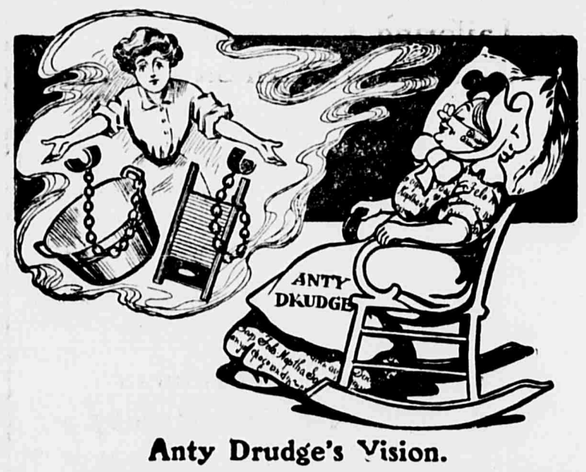
Expired at St. Regis Hotel Before Husband Reached Her Side From Pacific Coast.

While her husband was hastening to her bedside from California, Mrs. Anne Brandreth McAlpin, wife of Gen. Edwin A. McAlpin, died in her apartments in the Hotel St. Regis, of kidney trouble. With her when she died yesterday were her five sons, Benjamin B., the Rev. E. A., David H., Kenneth R., and J. Roderick McAlpin.

Gen. McAlpin was in Monterey when notified of his wife's serious condition, and is now on his way to New York. Mrs. McAlpin was born in Ossining in 1853, and was known all over the world for her philanthropy.

She was interested with Mrs. Russell Sage and Miss Helen Gould in building homes for sailors in ports in many parts of the world, and assisted Mrs. Ballington Booth in prison reform work.

She was founder of the Woman's Auxiliary of the International Committee of the Y. M. C. A., and, besides missionary enterprises in South Africa, supported a mission in Japan and an educational institution in India.



Anty Drudge's Vision.

Anty Drudge had finished her weekly wash before noon and she sat in her comfortable rocking chair and dozed.

And in a dream, she saw an unhappy woman bound with fetters, her right arm chained to a washboiler, her left arm to a washboard.

And the sun was setting and it was growing dark.

And she dreamed that she touched the shackles on each wrist of the woman with a bar of Fels-Naptha soap. And they fell off, and the woman arose glad and free—free from washday drudgery for evermore. And Anty Drudge, arousing from her slumber, knew that what she dreamed was true.

The greatest emancipation proclamation since Lincoln's is printed on the back of the red and green Fels-Naptha soap wrapper. It is the directions for using Fels-Naptha in washing clothes.

It is also a different way of washing. It has freed millions of women from washday drudgery for all time to come—from slavery to the old back-breaking, health wrecking methods which used to be thought necessary.

Are you still a slave to these old-fashioned methods, drudging away every washday, wasting your time and your work and wearing out clothes before their time? Then stop. Use Fels-Naptha. Wash your clothes in the new and easy way in cool or lukewarm water, summer or winter, without boiling or hard rubbing. Easy directions on the back of the Fels-Naptha wrapper.
