KICKED UP A BREEZE.

GEN. LEW WALLACE AND BEVERLY JOHNSON WILL NOT GO TO HAYTI.

Several Reasons Advanced Why They Will Not be Appointed Commissioners—A Protest Against Johnson Owing to His Past Record—Treaty Signed Between the Bolivian and Argentine Republics.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—It is explained that the reason the names of Gen. Lew Wallace and Beverly Tucker were withdrawn as special envoys to Hayti was not on account of the latter's anti-bellum record, but because it was deemed unwise to name but two of the three members of the commission at one time. Tucker's friends are very angry over the talk of his having any connection with the circumstances which led to the assassination of Lincoln, but they do not deny that he was charged with high treason and did everything he could to induce England to ally herself to the Confederacy during the last months of the war, and said he would have succeeded had the war lasted six months longer. As the appointment of these envoys does not have to be confirmed by the senate, it makes little difference what protests are made. Tucker will, it is stated, be one of the commissioners when a full commission is announced, although his appointment creates surprise.

Tucker Will Not be a Member.

It is stated that the appointment of the commission will not be renewed for some time. The explanation for this delay given at the White House is that Gen. Wallace is a member of the board of visitors to West Point and has made preparations to go there in the near future. It is not officially stated, but it is generally understood that Mr. Tucker will not be a member of the commission. Gen. F. V. Boynton, of the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette, called at the White House shortly after the appointment was announced to protest against Mr. Tucker's selection. It is stated that his protest and the protests of others determined the president to withdraw Mr. Tucker's name, and with it that of Gen. Wallace. It is stated at the White House that Mr. Tucker had his political disabilities removed by congress many years ago and that since that time he has held office twice under Grant's administration and once under the administration of Hayes. Two of these appointments were of a diplomatic character.

Another Theory.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—Another theory in circulation yesterday was to the effect that information had been received late Monday evening concerning the condition of affairs in Hayti which made it seem altogether likely that no commission would be needed, or could, in fact, be with propriety appointed. This information, it was said, conveyed the idea that Legitimo's government was about to be overthrown and as the Hyppolyte government had no representative here and was not recognized by the United States no representatives of this country could be accredited to it. Still another theory which had its supporters was founded on a story that when Walker Blaine was informed last evening that the appointments had been announced he expressed great surprise and hurried away to inform his father. On this slender thread was hung the theory that Mr. Blaine had not intended to have the appointments made public, and that it was at his request that the announcement of them was withdrawn.

Gen. Lew Wallace called on the president in company with Mr. Blaine. He refused to discuss the Hayitian matter. It is known that Gen. Wallace did not desire the appointment as commissioner and would be very glad to be relieved of its responsibilities.

Contracts Awarded.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—Contracts for furnishing the postoffice department with supplies of stationery, wrapping paper, twine and miscellaneous articles, were awarded to-day. The contract prices aggregate $225,000, about $5,000 less than was spent last year for the same articles.

Change in Canada Postage.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—The acting superintendent of foreign mails has issued the following order: "The Canada office has advised this department that, by an amendment to the postoffice act made at the recent session of parliament, the rate of postage applicable in Canada to letters addressed for delivery in Canada or the United States has been reduced from three cents for each half ounce or fraction of half ounce to three cents for each ounce or fraction of an ounce. Ordinary letters received from Canada prepaid in full at the rate of three cents per ounce or fraction of an ounce, are required, therefore, to be delivered to addresses in the United States without additional charge for extra postage."

Their Names Give the Soap Away.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—The statement has been made that the Indianapolis Committee of One Hundred had protested against the pardoning of Sim Coy by the president. An examination of the petition for his pardon, on file at the White House, discloses the signatures of Mr. Bowen, chairman of the committee; Solomon Claypool, the man who prosecuted Coy, and William Henderson.

A Treaty Signed.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—A cablegram was received at the Argentine legation in this city from the Argentine minister in Paris stating that a treaty had been signed by the governments of Bolivia and the Argentine Republic, by which the differences between the two countries, in regard to the boundary line between them, had been satisfactorily adjusted. Several times during the past few years war was imminent between these two South American republics over the boundary line dispute, and its amicable settlement is received with satisfaction by the members of both the Bolivian and the Argentine republics legations here.

Protesting Against Mahone.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—A secret meeting of about eighty representative Republicans from all sections of Virginia who are opposed to Gen. Mahone controlling the federal patronage of the state, met at the Ebbitt house here last night and discussed at length the situation. The meeting was in session from 8 o'clock until nearly midnight. Speeches were made by ex-Senator Riddleberger, Gen. Groner, Dr. J. S. Wise, Harry Libbert, J. Woods Barclay of Lexington, S. H. Patterson of Lynchburg, John Booker of Hampton, C. C. Clark and others.

FRANCO-HAYTIAN TREATY.

The French Minister Denies Any Knowledge of the Existence of an Agreement.

BALTIMORE, May 28.—The Sun's special from Washington says: With reference to Hayitian matters it is now learned that upon the first rumors of a Franco-Hayitian treaty Mr. Blaine called the attention of the French minister to the subject. M. Roustan disclaimed in the most positive manner any personal knowledge of the existence of any such agreement. Next day he showed Mr. Blaine a cable dispatch from the French minister for foreign affairs, affirming that no such treaty as suggested had been concluded with Hayti. The best opinion in state and diplomatic circles is that the denial of the French government is technically correct, but at the same time it is firmly believed that France has been conducting secret negotiations with Hayti and is on the qui vive to take instant advantage of any opportunity to further its interests in that quarter. It was said at the French legation that France not only had not concluded a treaty with Hayti, but had no incentive to desire one.

MADDENED ITALIANS.

One Thousand of Them Invade a Coal Section and Order Deputy Sheriffs Away.

BRAIDWOOD, Ill., May 28.—The coal miners' strike assumed a serious aspect yesterday. One thousand armed Italians invaded the coal section of the Chicago, Wilmington and Vermillion Coal company, shooting their weapons and carrying the United States flag. They ordered the deputy sheriffs to clear out and dispersed about 100 men who were at work. They then filled the main and air shafts with pine props and dump cars, and cut the telephone and telegraph wires, after which they retired, shooting their guns and yelling like maniacs. Gen. Vance and the militia arrived late last night and no more trouble is expected until to-day.

A New Trial Denied.

SOMERVILLE, N. J., May 28.—Judge Magie this morning denied the motion for a new trial in the case of Maurice Nolan, recently convicted on his third trial of murder in the second degree for the killing of Farmer William Race, of Belle Mead, in March, 1888, and sentenced Nolan to eighteen years at hard labor in the state prison at Trenton.

Kilrain's Mother Dead.

BALTIMORE, May 28.—Jake Kilrain will be the recipient of sad news when he arrives at New York on the steamer Adriatic on Wednesday. His mother, Mrs. Hannah Kilrain, aged 68, died yesterday at the residence of the pugilist, No. 1610 Division street, this city. The funeral arrangements will not be completed until the arrival of her son.

Premature Announcement.

WASHINGTON, May 28.—The announcement was made at the White House that Lew Wallace of Indiana and Beverly Tucker of Virginia had been appointed special commissioners to Hayti, but the statement was afterward made that the announcement was premature.

Indications.

Fair, except showers along the lakes, followed by clearing weather; northwesterly winds, slight changes in temperature in southern portions, slightly cooler in northern portions.

BANQUET TO CLEVELAND,

TENDERED BY THE DEMOCRACY OF NEW YORK AND BROOKLYN.

Prominent Members of the Party in Attendance from Various Sections—The Ex-President Delivers a Speech on True Democracy Which is Enthusiastically Received—The Toasts of the Evening.

NEW YORK, May 28.—The banquet at the Fifth Avenue hotel last evening, tendered ex-President Cleveland by the Young Men's Democratic Club of this city, was in every way a successful and enjoyable event. The committee on arrangements included representatives from all the Democratic clubs and organizations in New York and Brooklyn, who joined with the first named club in doing honor to the ex-president. The guests included many scores of the leading Democrats of the nation. Among them were Governor Hill, Mayor Grant, ex-Minister Phelps, W. L. Scott, Chauncey F. Black, G. E. Russell of Massachusetts, Bourke Cochran, ex-Secretary Fairchild, F. R. Coudert, W. C. Breckenridge, ex-Governor Boutelle, P. A. Collins, D. S. Lamont, O. B. Potter, C. J. Canda, E. Ellery Anderson, W. R. Grace, E. F. Wheeler, F. S. Bangs, E. L. Stetson, George F. Peabody, E. T. Gerry, William Steinway, Gen. John Newton, and many others.

Letters of regret were received from ex-Secretary Bayard, Don M. Dickinson, Fitzhugh Lee, John W. Daniel and others.

The order of toasts was as follows: "Our Guest," response by President Arnold of the club; "The Administration of Grover Cleveland," response by W. C. P. Breckinridge; "The Democracy of the State of New York," response by Governor Hill; "Party Supremacy, Desirable Only While the Party Redeems its Pledges," response by ex-Governor Hoadley; "The Lawyer in Public Life," response by E. R. Coudert; "Our Congress," response by Hon. Ashbel P. Fitch; "Democracy," response by Bourke Cochran.

The ex-president was greeted with great applause on entering the room and received a flattering ovation when he rose to speak, the cheering lasting several minutes.

President Arnold introduced the guest of the evening and after the applause had subsided Mr. Cleveland said:

Mr. Cleveland's Speech.

Many incidents of my short residence in this good city have served to fill my cup of gratitude and to arouse my appreciation of the kindness and consideration of those with whom I have made my home. The hospitality for which the citizens of New York have long been distinguished has outdone itself in my welcome. The members of my profession have, upon my return to its activities, received me with fraternal greetings, and personal friends have not permitted me to feel like a stranger in a strange city. And yet I can truly say that none of these things will be more vividly or gratefully remembered than the opportunity afforded me by this occasion to greet the political friends I see about me. While I believe that no one is more susceptible than I of every personal kindness, and while I am sure that no one values more his personal friendships it certainly should cause no surprise when I say that these things are not more cherished than my attachment and loyalty to true Democratic faith and my obligations to the cardinal principles of its party organization. I have been honored by my party far beyond my deserts. Indeed, no man can deserve its highest honors. After six years of public service I return to you, my party friends. Six years have I stood as your representative in the state and nation and now I take my place again in the ranks, more convinced than ever that the cause of true Democracy is the cause of the people—their safeguard and their hope.

No Excuses Nor Apologies.

I come to you with no excuses nor apologies, and with no confession of disloyalty. It is not given to man to meet all the various and conflicting views of party duty and policy which prevail in an organization where individual opinion is so freely tolerated as in the Democratic party. Because these views are various and conflicting, some of them must be wrong. And yet when they are honestly held and advocated they should provoke no bitterness nor condemnation; but when they are dishonestly proclaimed as a mere cover and pretext for personal resentment and disappointment they should be met by the expense and contempt which they deserve. If with sincere desire and intent one charged with party representation has kept the party faith that must answer his party obligation, no man can lay down the trust which he has held in behalf of a generous and confiding people, and feel that at all times he has cast in the best possible way the requirements of his trust; but he is not derelict in duty if he has conscientiously devoted his efforts and his judgment to the people's service.

I have deliberately placed in close connection loyalty to Democratic principles and devotion to the interests of the people, for in my view they belong together and should mean the same thing. But in this day of partisan feeling and attachment it is well for us to pause and recall the truth, that the only justification for the existence of any party is the claim that in principle and performance its object and purpose are the promotion of the public good and the advancement of the welfare and prosperity of our entire country. There never was a party initiative or declaration of principles which did not profess these things and make them the foundation of party creed, and any body of men who should openly proclaim that they were associated together for the express purpose of getting supremacy in the government, with the sole intent of distributing offices and the spoils of victory among the associates, would be treated with ridicule and scorn. Thus we are brought face to face with the proposition that parties should, no more than individuals, be untruthful and dishonest.

Honest Differences of Opinion.

Of course, in the supremacy of party there are advantages to the members, and this is not a sin. But when high party aims and professions are lost sight of or abandoned, and the benefit of office-holding and personal pelf are all that [illegible] party activity, not only the confidence of those relied on for patriotic support forfeited all but the elements of cohesion and of effective and lasting political strength are gone. The honest differences of opinion that must always exist upon questions of principle and public policy should furnish abundant occasion for the existence of parties and point out the field of contrariety. The study and discussion of these questions cannot fail to result in more valuable citizenship and more intelligent and better equipped partisans. When we seek for the cause of the perpetuity of the Democratic party and its survival through every crisis and conspiracy, and in the face of all opposition, we find it in the fact that its carrier stood so hold in devotion to the rights of the people, and sympathy with all things which tend to the advancement of their welfare and happiness. Though heavily may sometimes have crept into the organization, and though party freedom may at times have been influenced by the shiftiness which is the habitual device of the opponents, there has always remained, deeply imbedded in its nature and character, that spirit of true Americanism and that love of popular rights which has made it indestructible in disaster and defeat and has constituted it a boon to the country in its time of triumph and supremacy.

The great founder of our party, as he consecrated himself by a solemn oath to the faithful performance of the duties of the presidential office, and pledged himself to the preservation, protection and defense of the constitution, after presenting to his assembled fellow-countrymen the causes of congratulation found in the condition of our country and the character of our people, impressively added: "With all these blessings, what more is necessary to make us a happy and prosperous people? Still one thing more, fellow citizens: A wise and frugal government which shall restrain men from injuring one another shall leave them otherwise free to regulate their own pursuits of industry and improvement, and shall not take from the mouth of labor the bread it has earned. This is the sum of good government and this is necessary to close the circle of our felicities." In the lexicon of true Democracy these words are not obsolete, but they still furnish the inspiration of our efforts and an interpretation of our political faith.

True Democracy Progressive.

Happily, the party creed which we profess is not within such narrow lines that obedience [illegible] to be move abreast with the advanced thought of the century and to meet and test every question and apply a principle to every situation. True Democracy, stanch in its adherence to fundamental doctrine, is at the same time, in a proper sense, progressive. It recognizes our growth and expansion and the birth of new thought and sentiment. It will judge them all by safe standards, and in all phases of just and development it will be prepared to answer, as they arise, every need of the people and every popular wish. True Democracy, honestly affirmative, national, fraternal, to the end that all our fellow-countrymen may aid in the achievement of the grand destiny which waits on our nation, and it contains the element of liberality and harmony within whose portals all citizens are to be gathered, given way the inflammatory appeals to sectional hate and passion. It insists upon that equality before the law which secures the rights and protection of the humblest man in simple manhood and citizenship. It does not favor the multiplication of offices and salaries simply to make partisans, nor use the pension and removal of place for the purpose of silencing the press and bribing the people. It seeks to lighten the burden of life in every home and to take from the citizen for the cost of government the lowest possible tribute. We know that we have espoused the cause of right and justice. We know that we have not permitted party to country to wait upon the expediency. We know that we have not sacrificed our principles for success. We know that we have not deceived the people with false promises and pretenses, and we know that we have not corrupted nor betrayed the poor with the money of the rich. Who shall say that these things promise no reward and that triumph shall not follow the enlightened judgment and the sober second thought of our countrymen?

There are to-day no weak and weary and disappointed members of the true Democracy—and there should be none. Thoughtful attention to political topics is thoroughly aroused. Events are day by day leading men to review the reasons for their party affiliations and the supporters of the principles we profess are constantly recruited by intelligent, young and sturdy adherents. Let us deserve their confidence; and, assuming all honable practices, let us remain steadfast in Democratic faith and to the cause of our country. If we are true and loyal to these the day of our triumph will surely and quickly come, and our victory shall be fairly and nobly won, through the invincible spirit of true Democracy.

Governor Hill, in responding to the toast, "The Democracy of the State of New York," paid a very high personal and political tribute to Cleveland, using the most cordial and appreciative terms. He referred to the Democracy of the state as united and hopeful, and declared that the Republican national administration was making fatal mistakes and convincing the country that it was unable to fulfill its promises of good government and industrial prosperity.

FROM HARRISBURG.

Many Bills Signed and Vetoed by Governor Beaver.

HARRISBURG, May 28.—The governor has vetoed bills making an appropriation of $15,000 to the Mercy hospital of Pittsburg and $1,300 to the St. Michael and All Angels hospitals, Philadelphia, because, in his opinion, they are practically sectarian, although worthy institutions which are prohibited by the constitution from receiving state aid. The governor also vetoed the bill appropriating $1,300 to pay for glanders horses alleged to have been killed in Monroe county under the act providing for the payment of horses condemned, appraised and killed under the act of June 2, 1887, was disapproved, mainly because of exorbitant claims made.

Among the bills approved by Governor Beaver were the following: Western penitentiary, $70,000; Pennsylvania Agricultural college, Center county, $124,500; for construction and repair of fishways, $7,000; Western Pennsylvania hospital to cover defects, $61,753; Pennsylvania Reform school at Morganza, $45,918.70; Delamater's bill providing for the appointment of a revenue commission at an expense not to exceed $10,000.

He also signed the bill appropriating $150,000 to maintain the schools the next two years.

Testing a New Machine.

PITTSBURG, May 28.—At Moorehead Brothers & Co.'s mill, in Sharpsburg, an invention was tested to-day which if it proves successful will be a great saving to mill owners and do away with natural gas. The machine referred to is a coal pulverizer. It pulverizes coal as fine as powder by counter currents of air. It is the principle of the cyclone practically applied. In the experiment it will be attempted to reheat a ton of iron with 900 pounds of coal, at a cost of less than 50 cents. To do this work it would take $1 worth of natural gas. The machine makes the coal slack so fine that it is transmuted into heat easily and at once, making the hottest kind of a fire. It is said that the machine will prove a success.

ECONOMY IS WEALTH.

We understand what the people want. They want goods at the lowest possible prices.

They want to pay cash and save 25 to 50 per cent.

They don't want to pay enormous prices for the so-called "best goods in the market."

They don't want to pay their neighbors' debts when dealing with a credit store, which they are obliged to do because the dealer must put on enough profit to make up for his losses by those who don't pay.

But they do want to buy from a firm that sells only for cash and one price to all, which is the lowest possible price, and who buys directly from headquarters and pays the cash, thereby securing to the consumer the advantage of a large discount; also, saving a drummer's salary, and lastly, saving the consumer a discount for paying cash.

The policy of the Bargain Store is to give the buyer all the discount.

OUR POLITICS.

We believe in the Republican party with all our strength, and believing the honest enforcement of its principles as the highest and best guarantee of the public welfare we shall support them with all our strength at our command. While strong in asserting what we consider the best political interests of the country we shall always treat opposing parties with fair play and give them the consideration which opinions honestly expressed should always receive.

THE SOMERSET HERALD in worth, merit and enterprise certainly occupies a prominent position among the county papers of the State.
