FEEL BILIOUS? CALOMEL SICKENS! CLEAN LIVER AND BOWELS MY WAY

DON'T LOSE A DAY'S WORK! IF CONSTIPATED, SLUGGISH, HEADACHY, TAKE A SPOONFUL OF "DODSON'S LIVER TONE."

Listen to me! Take no more sickening, salivating calomel when bilious or constipated. Don't lose a day's work!

Calomel is mercury, or quicksilver, which causes pyorrhea of the teeth. Calomel, when it comes into contact with sour bile, crashes into it, breaking it up. This is when you feel that awful nausea and cramping. If you are sluggish and "all knocked out," if your liver is torpid and bowels constipated or you have headache, dizziness, coated tongue, if breath is bad or stomach sour just take a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone.

Here's my guarantee—go to any drug store and get a 50 cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone. Take a spoonful tonight and if it doesn't straighten you right up and make you feel fine and vigorous for morning I want you to come back to the store and get your money. Dodson's Liver Tone is destroying the sale of calomel because it is real liver medicine, entirely vegetable, therefore it can not salivate or make you sick.

I guarantee that one spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone will put your sluggish liver to work and clean your bowels of that sour bile and constipated waste which is clogging your system and making you feel miserable. I guarantee that a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone will keep your entire family feeling fine for months. Give it to your children. It is harmless; doesn't gripe and they love its pleasant taste.—Advertisement.

FEW AMPUTATIONS PERFORMED AMONG WOUNDED SOLDIERS

BULLETS WHICH DO NOT SPLINTER BONES SAID TO BE MAIN CAUSE FOR KEEPING LIMBS.

MAGNETS TO PROBE BULLETS

By Associated Press.

PARIS, Oct. 21.—The Journal this morning says that during the first month after the first aid station of wounded at the Val-de-Grace hospital, where the most important operations are performed, the average of the operations was 20 per day, out of 3000 cases treated.

Of these six hundred operations, no more than two were amputations and among the six were those of single fingers and parts of thighs only. Two legs, one side and one arm were all the actual amputations that proved necessary at this great hospital.

Wounds are Cleaner.

This very small proportion of amputations is connected with wounds at present not so numerous as then, due to the difference in the effects of modern projectiles which, while very, yet so much smaller in producing shivers of bone. The wound is more localized and clean cut than formerly. In the second place surgical science has progressed and wounds that would have necessitated removal the amputation of a member of forty years ago are now treated with a view to saving it.

Probing With Magnets.

In connection with the treatment of bullet and shrapnel wounds the Temps states that the experiments made in a Lyons hospital to extract bullet was extracted from a depth of three and a half inches in an obscure muscle, proved successful.

The magnet is also used together with radioscopy to locate bullets, splinters of shells, etc., under the flesh, rendering immense services to the surgeons.

There is less sickness in the French army after six months in the battle zone than in time of peace, due to the efficiency and preparedness of the military health service, according to Surgeon General Delorme, Medical Inspector-General of the army and a member of the Academy of Medicine.

Since the beginning of the war he has been on an official mission of inspection of field and other hospitals where the French wounded have been treated.

Sickness Exceptional.

"It established in the first place," says the Figaro, "that sanitary conditions in our army are perfect. The wounded Frenchman is a healthy man. Sickness is exceptional. During this war the number of cases of sickness is less than in time of peace."

Consequences from wounds cause the most serious trouble. They occur with surprising frequency and assume, says Professor Delorme, "Thus shells, which in Japanese warfare and because in methods of surgical water are effective to lethal cases, but are because injections of antiseptic serum are being used as a preventative. More than six hundred thousand doses of this serum have been forwarded since to the other health service by the Pasteur Institute since the beginning of the war. In this manner it is expected that the lives of thousands of wounded will be saved.

EMPHATIC OPPOSITION TO JUDICIAL RECALL VOICED BY AMERICAN BAR

COMMITTEES PRESENTED REPORTS FOR YEAR AT ANNUAL MEETING AMERICAN BAR ASSOCIATION.

PLEA IS MADE THAT CONGRESS APPLY SAME RULE TO INJUNCTION IN LABOR CASES AS TO OTHER CASES OF INJUNCTION.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, October 21.—Emphatic opposition to the judicial recall, a plea that Congress should apply the same rule to injunction in labor cases as to other cases of injunction, and references to Panama tolls and Japanese immigration, are among the questions treated in reports of committees presented today to the American Bar Association now in annual session here.

Concerning the status of judicial recall agitation, the committee to oppose Judicial Recall reports in part as follows:

"A perceptible change in sentiment toward the judicial recall is slowly but surely showing itself among the people of the different states. In many localities its true nature is not yet understood. In most states the average voter has as yet, insufficient appreciation of its baneful character. The work of education must be continued. The signs, however, of increasing enlightenment, due to persistent efforts of its opponents, are everywhere apparent. Former leading advocates of judicial recall are saying less about it. Some of them are now saying nothing about it. Some have apparently given up the idea of the recall of judges and have turned to the judicial decision recall as a substitute. Others, more adroit, have apparently given up both the recall of judges and the recall of judicial decisions and have retreated to positions less antagonistic to constitutional democracy."

Injunction Legislation.

Injunction legislation before the present Congress receives extended treatment by the Committee in charge of this subject. The provision limiting injunctions in labor disputes, originally incorporated in the anti-trust legislation of the House of Representatives, and later amended by the Senate, is criticised by the Committee, which says:

"The provision distinctly requires the court to apply to controversies in labor cases a different rule from that which is applied in other cases. To give special privileges to any class of men is opposed not only to the Declaration of Independence, but to the whole theory of our government. On this point all parties agree.

"When I have reported to the gentlemen who propose this legislation that if the courts cannot decide these controversies peacefully, they will be decided by force. The shocking results of the latter method we see plainly in Colorado. Would it not have been better to have the questions which have given rise to bloodshed there decided in an orderly manner by the Colorado courts?"

Not Opposed to Labor.

"Your committee is not opposed to organized labor. We freely concede to laboring men the same right to organize that their employers possess. We are persuaded that in opposing the proposed legislation we are the true friends of both."

The Panama tolls question and Japanese immigration are referred to in the report of the Committee on International Laws, as follows:

"The discussion arising between the United States and Great Britain and other countries as to free tolls for coasting vessels of the United States has been amicably terminated by the repeal of the free tolls by Congress by a statute carefully worded to prevent the loss of any rights of the United States.

"Our relations with Japan continue to be disturbed by the denial by some states of this union of certain rights claimed by her nationals. It is respectfully submitted that like all matters of foreign relations this matter must, by the rules of the Constitution and of expediency alike, be controlled and adjusted by the federal authorities as the interest of the whole country may seem to require."

Bills of Exchange.

The International Law Committee also approved the proposed international conference for the unification of laws relating to bills of exchange, and the proposed international agreement in respect to deck cargoes exported from the United States in the winter time.

The Committee on Commercial Law reports in favor of the continuance of the National Bankruptcy Act, and opposes all legislation to repeal the act.

Simplicity and clearness of laws, so as to be understood by the average citizen, is strongly urged by the Special Committee on Legislative Drafting. It refers in this connection to the "crowning monstrosity of the Income Tax Act," with its "involved phraseology and no attempt whatever at orderly arrangement." The formal defects of the Act are pointed out under nine heads, one of them showing "certain sentences so worded as to make no sense if literally interpreted." The Committee adds:

Laws Not Clear.

"Though we claim to be a democratic government, our statutes are addressed to lawyers and not to the people, a layman can hardly be expected to understand their phraseology. The principal German statutes, particularly the civil code, are published in cheap, popular and handy editions, are found in hundreds of thousands of homes. The extraordinary sense of legality of the German people is not entirely unconnected with the intelligibility of their laws."

The Committee on Taxation also submitted a report on the involved and confused form of the income tax law, and recommended its revision, as follows:

"Apart from specific defects the structure and language of the act as a whole is open to the gravest objections. A revision of the law should therefore extend to its form as well as to its substance. The entire act should be reconstructed and there should be placed upon the statute book an income tax law so arranged and expressed as to be convenient for reference, consistent in all its parts and capable of being understood by a citizen of average intelligence."

COUNTERFEITERS ON TRIAL.

Caller-Herald Special.

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 21.—Eight Italians, caught in a round-up by the secret service agents, appeared in the federal court here today on counterfeiting charges. The men were run down after a raid on a farmhouse at South Walpole, Mass., where the gang had its headquarters. The house is situated in a lonely section, and for many months mysterious men had been seen approaching the place from different directions. The east became flooded with bogus coins, mostly half dollars and dimes, and the sleuths of the Treasury Department were put on the scent. The stores in the lonely cabin were still hot when the officers arrived and scraps unburnt showed that the counterfeiters had hastily destroyed some of their outfit. The sleuths found clues leading to the top floor of a house in the North End of Boston, and there the gang was found on Sunday, October 11th.

AUSTRALIA CAMPAIGNS TO DRIVE OUT "BEEF TRUST"

ACTIVITIES OF AMERICAN PACKERS IS CAUSING MUCH CONCERN.

(Correspondence The Associated Press)

SYDNEY, Australia, Oct. 20.—The governmental inquiry into the meat export business with particular reference to the activities of the American packing companies in Australia is still in progress. Justice Street who is conducting it, after hearing a large number of witnesses in Queensland, where the Swifts of Chicago have established themselves under the name of the Australian Meat Export Company, is now hearing witnesses in this city.

The tenor of the testimony has been that the packers in the United States have more or less intimate relations with several firms in this state and in Queensland, that their arrangements with these firms are not of recent origin, and that there is not on the surface at least evidence to show that the packers are working the Australian field in cohesion, and with the exception of the Swift Company the alleged members of the "beef trust" do not intend to set up plants in Australia at present.

The royal commissioner has had before him as a witness this week Sidney Kidman, known as the "Cattle King" of Australia. He testified that the total area of crown leaseholds under his control was some 30,700,000 acres. He himself owned over 150,000 sheep and 250,000 cattle, and was interested in thousands upon other ranches than his own. In answer to the question put by the government's lawyer he said he was not in any way interested in any meat packing or meat selling company in the United States.

Figures compiled by the Sydney Mail show that the money won in stakes during the recent turf season amounted to $1,589,250. Ten thousand races were held; the winning horses numbered 1452.

COLORADO MILITIA IS BEING REORGANIZED THROUGHOUT

RECRUITING COMPANIES TO FULL STRENGTH IN PROGRESS IN COAL CAMPS.

DENVER, Colo., Oct. 21.—Announcement by Governor Elias M. Ammons that the State militia is being reorganized and that Colorado will soon be able to manage her own affairs has revealed another startling example of the domination of state government by John D. Rockefeller.

When Colorado's militia and gunmen murdered and cremated nineteen men, women and children at Ludlow, Ammons gave out the statement that the National Guard was recruited among the most influential citizens of the state.

Evidently he thinks that this bluff is no longer necessary and is willing to have it known that the militia is composed of imported assassins of the coal operators and the scum of the earth gathered from all over the United States.

This time there is no pretense of recruiting its members from "the best families in the state."

The guard is being recruited to its full strength in the scab coal camps of the state. The federal troops are supposed to prevent anyone from carrying arms. The coal operators feared that the federal troops would be withdrawn before their gunmen and scabs were fully armed, so the governor did the job.

In each scab coal camp every strikebreaker has been made a member of the Colorado National Guard. As such they are being furnished with state equipment, including arms and ammunition. The imported murderers, many of them members of the Baldwin-Felts Detective Agency have been appointed officers of the new "militia" companies.

Lieutenant K. H. Linderfelt, one of the commanders of the gunmen and militia in the Ludlow Massacre is directing the work of organization. Major Pat Mamtrask, chief in command of the murderers is holding rifle practice at Golden preparing the thugs for another slaughter of laboring men of the state.

MONTREAL AIDS UNEMPLOYED.

MONTREAL, Oct. 21.—Arrangements have been completed to put to work next week 20,000 men who are out of work in this city. The city government has allotted to him these men for six weeks, and use them on the public works. The board of control is hurrying on the work and all sections of the city will be touched up during the campaign. In addition to the benefit to employment which the workers enjoy, it was decided to raise the pay from $2.25 per day to $2.50 per day despite many protests on account of the stringency of war times.

Americans may again see E. S. Willard, the English actor, who is considering a four-week tour in "The Silver King."
