GIRL SLAYER AIDED BY WOMAN WHO TRIED TO KILL PHYSICIAN

Hannah Jensen Intends to Interest Trained Nurses of City in Case of Sara Koten, Whose Action She Warmly Upholds.

Sarah Koten, the friendless unfortunate who killed Dr. Martin W. Auspitz on the stoop of a flat house in West One Hundred and Thirty-fifth street last night, received aid and comfort from an unexpected quarter to-day. Hannah Jensen, a woman who tried to slay Dr. Auspitz a year ago, sent word to the woman who succeeded in killing him that steps would be taken to protect her interests. Miss Koten was sent to the Tombs from Harlem Police Court.

"I tried to kill Dr. Auspitz," said Miss Jensen to-day, "because he took advantage of my helplessness while I was a patient in his hospital. I believe every word Sarah Koten says of her experience with him. Her condition and experience will, I believe, warrant a jury in excusing her crime.

Will Appeal to Nurses.

"My means are limited, but I am prepared to give aid to Miss Koten. It is my intention to interest the trained nurses of the city in her case.

"She is a nurse who was victimized by a conscienceless doctor. Other nurses in private hospitals, such as Dr. Auspitz conducted at No. 157 East Ninety-third street, have had as horrible experiences. This poor girl, I understand, went to Dr. Auspitz in utter ignorance of the character of his business. He taught her the rudiments of nursing and took advantage of her in his own house.

"It seems to me that the nurses of New York ought to do what they can in the way of helping Miss Koten to establish her innocence before the law. Of course, there are few who would want their names mentioned in connection with the matter, but I will undertake to carry out any instructions given me in Miss Koten's behalf without revealing their source."

Miss Jensen lives at No. 107 East Eighty-ninth street. About a year ago she was engaged to marry Charles Crowninshield, a civil engineer. She went to Dr. Auspitz's hospital for treatment for an affection of the eyes, and after a few visits reported to her fiance that the physician had drugged and assaulted her.

Tried to Shoot Him.

They went to his office together. The doctor laughed at them when Miss Jensen made her charge. She drew a revolver and tried to fire it at Dr. Auspitz, but the trigger worked slowly, and he caught her hand and disarmed her.

On complaint of the physician Miss Jensen and Crowninshield were arrested. They were discharged in the police court. Miss Jensen gave a promise to the judge that she would not further molest Dr. Auspitz, and she kept her word.

Soon after the Jansen affair had faded from the public mind Miss Koten, attracted by an advertisement calling for a nurse, entered the employ of Dr. Auspitz at his lying-in hospital. She left last December, after a stormy scene in the hospital in which Dr. Auspitz his assistant, Dr. Hirtenstein, Mrs. Auspitz and her brother participated. Miss Koten charged the doctor with responsibility for her apparent condition.

Two months later she had the doctor arrested and indicted on a charge of assault. The trial occurred on May 20, in the Court of General Sessions, and lasted only eight minutes. Dr. Auspitz was discharged, because the girl's testimony was uncorroborated, and her case was presented only in a perfunctory way.

Heard Other Stories.

Miss Koten, an orphan, with no relatives or friends in New York, heard other stories about Dr. Auspitz. She heard that he had been co-respondent in the divorce case of George Deffa against his wife. She knew that Hannah Jensen had attempted to kill him, and gradually grew to regard herself as a chosen instrument of vengeance.

For the past six weeks she has been living with a family named Finkelstein, at No. 124 West One Hundred and Thirty-fifth street. The Finkelsteins say she has raved at times since the charges against Auspitz were dismissed in court. At times her paroxysms of grief were such that she would beat her head against the wall and scream. On several occasions she had to be restrained for fear she would end her life.

Miss Koten came to America six years ago from Russia, and after taking the training school course entered Dr. Auspitz's sanitarium.

Dr. Auspitz was thirty-one years old, and came to this city about eight years ago.

Pitiful Figure in Court.

Miss Koten was a pitiful figure when arraigned in Harlem Police Court today. The composure with which she spoke of her crime last night had deserted her. She was weeping as the Magistrate committed her to the custody of the Coroner, and policemen were compelled to support her steps as she staggered away from the bench.

"I have nothing to add to what I said last night," she told an Evening World reporter. "I killed Dr. Auspitz because he wronged me and the law refused to punish him."

The wife of the murdered doctor left the hospital to-day and went to the home of relatives in the Bronx. She is very bitter against her husband's slayer, and announced that she would spend time and money in aiding the District-Attorney to convict her.

GIRL SLAYER'S PITIFUL STORY OF THE TRAGEDY.

"I did not love him. He never spoke a word of love to me. He wronged me, and I was alone in the world."

Passionate weeping broke the utterance of Sarah Koten's statements to Coroner Harburger in his office in the Criminal Courts Building this morning.

The Russian girl is handsome, in a crude, semi-barbaric way. Vivid red and black in her cheeks, eyes and hair relieve the coarsely moulded lines of a face, too young to be marked by the tragedy she has lived through in the past six months.

Coroner Harburger explained to the girl, who speaks both English and German as well as Russian, that he meant to question her, and that she need not make any answers she did not want to.

"Why not?" she asked. "I want to tell all the truth always. I have done no murder—it is he—only he—"

In reply to the Coroner's questions she told the following story, broken only by moments of uncontrollable grief:

"I came here from Russia in August, six years ago. At first I operated a sewing machine in a shop. Then I saw an advertisement that Dr. Auspitz would take probation nurses, and I went to his house. That was Nov. 18, 1907. I am not a graduate nurse.

"I had not much to do with the doctor. I thought nothing of him until one night—a Friday night—late in December, 1907.

"In the house there is a parlor, a reception room, and off that a bedroom, where I sept. On a Friday night late in December, 1907, I was asleep in my bed when I was awakened. When I struggled a man whom I recognized as the doctor put his hand over my mouth. I leaped out of the bed and was thrown violently back again. Then I fainted.

"The next day I went to my friends here, and told them what had happened. I did not want to stay in that house another day. I went to the doctor and told him so. He said: 'Now it is best to be sensible. You want to be a nurse. Say nothing about this. I am a physician and I can give you any help you need, and in a year I can give you a diploma.'

"I did not know what to do. I had no place to go. In a few weeks I learned my condition. Then I went to the doctor again.

"He gave me advice but I went to another doctor, who told me not to believe Dr. Auspitz.

"I then told Dr. Auspitz that I knew he wanted to get rid of me and that I would not trust him.

"Then I brought him into the Court of Special Sessions on a charge of assault. He brought witnesses who swore away my character. The Judges believed him, and not me, though they did not even ask the false witnesses if they knew me.

"After that I went to the editor of one of the papers.

"He gave me a note to Assistant District-Attorney Kroten. He told me the case had been decided and could not be reopened. I tried to see Mr. Jerome but could not. They sent me to Mr. Murphy, but he could do no more for me.

"Then I was like crazy. I was lost—I did not know where to go or to whom to turn for help. All went wrong—I failed. No one to defend my honor, to believe the truth—only I must defend it.

"I got a pistol somewhere in Third avenue. I don't remember where, a week ago. I knew on Sunday he was at home but I did not want to do any injury to any innocent person with the pistol so I sent the telephone message and waited till he got away alone. Then I shot him.

"But it was he who has murdered me, not I him. I have nothing to conceal. I have cleared my honor. He said I was a liar, a blackmailer. Now I have proven my truth, and my sincerity."

MISS CLEVELAND'S TRIP.

Ex-President's Daughter Taken on Automobile Tour.

Miss Esther Cleveland, daughter of the ex-President, Mrs. Daniel S. Lamont, Miss Lamont and Miss Bryant, daughter of the physician who is attending Mr. Cleveland, set out on an automobile tour through Rockland County, N. Y., yesterday.

The party stopped at Fort Comfort Inn, Piermont-on-the-Hudson, and then continued their explorations through the thickly wooded roads. Miss Cleveland appeared to be in fine spirits, and said that her father was getting along splendidly.

TRUCK RAMS TROLLEY CAR.

A team of horses harnessed to a dirt truck took fright early to-day, and after dashing along Clermont avenue, Brooklyn, collided with a Flushing avenue street car.

Richard Speckman, driver of the truck, who is fifty-three years old and lives at No. 143 Forty-third street, fell head first upon the street. He went home with a gash in his scalp. George Filtor, fifteen years old, of No. 57 Gretton street, a passenger on the car, was badly cut about the head and body.

BOY OF THIRTEEN HELD BY POLICE AS A FIREBUG

Maurice Hayes Arrested on Suspicion After Several East Side Blazes.

In Maurice Hayes, held at the East One Hundred and Fourth street station, the police think they have the youngest person ever arrested on the suspicion of being a firebug, and when he is presented in the Children's Court to-morrow they expect to show that he has too intimate a knowledge of several small blazes along First and Second avenues.

Deputy Fire Chiefs Dougherty and O'Connor have been keen on the lookout for the firebug. Every blaze has started in rubbish heaps in the cellars of tenements. Friday Chief Dougherty noticed young Hayes at a small blaze on First avenue and was rather impressed by his excitement and his evident delight in watching the movements of the firemen. Saturday the Chief saw the lad again at a fire on Second avenue, and this time spoke to him.

"What are you doing here, little boy?" he asked.

"Aw, I'm goin' to a ball game," answered Maurice.

Chief Dougherty's suspicions grew when he answered a call from No. 2029 Second avenue this afternoon and found Master Hayes on the ground before the engine got there. The boy was jumping about and busying himself as if he were a whole fire department boiled down into one small urchin. The blaze didn't amount to much and was soon extinguished.

"Have a good ball game Saturday, son?" asked Dougherty.

"Where'd you git dat noise?" responded Maurice scornfully. "I ain't been to no ball game."

Whereupon the chief called Policeman Flynn and had the youth taken to the station.

"Why aren't you at school?" asked Capt. Crawford. "Where do you go to school?"

"I go to St. Cecilia's in a Hundred and Sixt' street," explained Maurice. "I left to-day 'cause de sister licked me an' cut me back wid a ruler."

They took off his blouse and there was no such awful wound on his back as he described, and when they questioned him he showed an exceptional knowledge of the methods of fighting fires, technical terms of the apparatus and so forth.

He said he was thirteen years old and admitted with some enthusiasm that he enjoyed going to fires, but would not admit any knowledge of the fires in question. A policeman was sent to St. Cecilia's, and the sister who taught young Maurice said the boy had left school without permission in the morning. She also said his mother, with whom he lives at No. 211 East One Hundred and Fourth street, had been to the school and asked the sister, in case Maurice was arrested, to say a good word for him.

"It's my opinion," said Chief Dougherty, "that the boy is possessed of a mania to see the department in action. I have known cases of this sort before."

WILL CONVINCE ALL SKEPTICS IN A HALF AN HOUR.

Cooper Says Any One Who Will Listen to Callers Thirty Minutes Is Converted.

The following statement was made recently in connection with the medicine being introduced in New York with such remarkable success by L. T. Cooper.

The statement is by Frederick Geist, of No. 251 Humboldt street, Brooklyn, and is as follows: "I have been sick for seven and a half years with gastritis and catarrh of the stomach and bronchial tubes. During this time I have consulted nine different physicians and taken all kinds of medicine. I do not remember receiving the slightest benefit from any medicine during these seven years. I have been completely discouraged for a long time and did not believe there was any chance for me to become well again.

"I first heard of this Cooper's new discovery from a street car conductor who said that it had cured him of stomach trouble and rheumatism. Then a friend of mine advised me to get it, and finally I heard a lot of talk about it in Brooklyn. Five weeks ago I saw Mr. Cooper and got the medicine. At the time I started taking it I was very nervous, did not sleep well. Had constant indigestion and gas on my stomach and could hardly bear the sight or smell of food. I also was tired and dull and had little strength. After I had taken the medicine a week I began to have an appetite and food tasted much better. At the end of the second week I was no longer nervous and slept soundly all night. For the past four weeks I have gained flesh and strength and I am now another man altogether. I look forward to my meals, eat everything I want, and when I do eat I have no signs of indigestion. I never thought there was a medicine on earth that could do what this has done for me."

Cooper stated Sunday afternoon that he would continue to meet the public in New York for some time. He said: "Two weeks ago more people were coming to talk with me than could be taken care of at one store. I therefore put my medicine on sale at the other Acker stores and at all druggists in New York. This has made it possible for people to get the medicine wherever they chose. A great many however, wish to talk with me or my assistants, and for this reason I shall continue to meet people each day at Acker's Broadway and Ninth street store for some time to come.

"It is certainly worth any one's time who is afflicted with this chronic, half-sick, no-ambitie, tired-all-the-time condition to spend a half hour at this store listening to what people say who have been taking my medicine and have come to tell me what it has done for them. If this won't convince anybody on earth that stomach trouble is the real cause of all this ill health I don't know what will."

DOG AND POTTED PLANT HELP TO SAVE BABY'S LIFE

Tommy Byrnes Escapes Injury, Although He Falls Off Top Fire Escape.

Tommy Byrnes, four years old, whose parents live on the top floor of No. 310 East One Hundred and Thirty-fifth street, tumbled out the front window of the flat this afternoon and down through the hole in the fire-escape.

On the third floor fire-escape was Florence, a setter dog, owned by Fred Putz, sleeping. Tommy plumped down onto Florence's back and bounced up in the air. He caromed so that he dove down through the hole in the third floor fire-escape, headed for the second floor fire-escape. People in the street below stood spellbound with horror.

But fortunately for little Tommy there was on the second floor fire escape a large pot of geraniums. On this he descended in what approximated a sitting posture. The geranium plant was ruined, but the life of little Tommy was saved. When kind neighbors carried Tommy up to his mamma and his little sisters, Minnie and Ellen, three and two years respectively, he was injured only on the forehead, where there was a cut.

But it was not a dangerous cut, and when Dr. Howley came from his home at No. 191 Alexander avenue he patched up the wound. Then they gave Tommy cake and fruit and things, for Tommy had not even whimpered.

BOMBS READY IN LISBON TO KILL ROYAL FAMILY

Anarchists Plan Deaths of Portugal's King and Mother at Religious Festival.

LISBON, June 8.—The police have discovered and frustrated a big plot, hatched by the Society of the Black Cross, to blow up with bombs the members of the royal family at a religious feast which is to be held on June 18. Among the ringleaders arrested are Jose Avila, Adao Duarto and Constantine Mendes, three notorious Anarchists.

The bombs which have been manufactured by the society were confiscated, and correspondence seized shows that the society, to which Manual Buissa, one of the principals in the assassination of King Carlos and Crown Prince Luiz last February, belonged, had close relations with Anarchists in Barcelona and Madrid.

The commission which is investigating the finances of the late King Carlos's reign has discovered that Dowager Queen Maria Pia received $40,000 from the State. The Queen Dowager does not deny that she received this money, but says that she was justified in using it on the ground that her allowance of $2,400 a year was not sufficient to maintain her in royal state.

$50,000,000 U. P. ISSUE RATIFIED

Bonds Will Be First Mortgage on Unincumbered Mileage of the Road.

The Board of Directors of the Union Pacific Railroad Company at a meeting to-day ratified the issue of $50,000,000 first lien and refunding mortgages 4 per cent. bonds.

According to astatement given out by the directors after to-day's meeting the new first lien and refunding mortgage 4 per cent. cent. bonds will be a first morgage on the unincumbered mileage of the Union Pacific consisting of 1,177 miles of main track and 146 miles of other track.

The bonds will be redeemable at 107½ and interest on Sept. 1, 1918, or on any interest date thereafter on not less than three months' notice.

SPRECKELS AND HIS BRIDE STOP IN PHILADELPHIA.

PHILADELPHIA, June 8.—The marriage of Adolph Spreckels, son of the millionaire sugar manufacturer, and Miss Alma de Brettville, of San Francisco, news of which leaked out yesterday, was officially confirmed to-day when the couple were located in this city. The couple are stopping at apartments in Girard street, a small thoroughfare one square in length in the business section.

Neither could be seen, but Mrs. Robinson, who conducts the apartment house, confirmed the report of the marriage and admitted that Mr. and Mrs. Spreckels were guests at her house. Mrs. Robinson, however, would not divulge the date of the marriage or where the ceremony took place.

OVERCOME BY SUBWAY HEAT.

The heat of the Subway was too much for Henry James, twenty-two years old, of No. 218 Anderson street, Jersey City, and he collapsed in a southbound train at the Grand Central Station. Passengers went to his aid and carried him to the platform and he was taken to Bellevue Hospital.

BELMONT DYING; FAMILY GATHERS AT HIS BEDSIDE

Physicians Give Up Hope and Say End Is But Matter of Hours.

The family of Oliver H. P. Belmont assembled at his bedside in Brookholt Villa, Hempstead, L. I., to-day, the physicians in charge of him having pronounced his condition as practically hopeless. He passed a bad night and was in a critically weak condition when daylight came.

A bulletin was issued after 7 o'clock in which Dr. Lanehart, the family physician, announced that his patient was sinking. The peritonitis, which followed the operation for appendicitis, had not cleared, and his stomach commenced to fail yesterday. For the past twenty hours Mr. Belmont has been unable to retain any nourishment.

The case had developed such a dangerous phase this morning that Dr. Henry F. Walker was summoned from this city to Hempstead to consult with Drs. McCosh, Lanehart and Bull.

Mrs. Belmont sat at her husband's bedside throughout the night and was with him when oxygen was administered as a forlorn hope of maintaining vitality.

This morning there were gathered in the dying man's room his wife's two sons, William K. Vanderbilt, jr., and Harold Vanderbilt, Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, jr., and Mrs. William Jay, wife of Col. Jay.

Mr. Belmont was operated on last Wednesday. Twenty hours after the operation peritonitis developed. The doctors sad then that recovery was doubtful, but on Saturday the patient rallied and showed surprising strength. Then yesterday afternoon a relapse came that the physicians and nurses in charge battled in vain to overcome.

NEW SEA FIGHTERS WILL BE NAMED FLORIDA AND UTAH

Wyoming Will Also Share Battleship Fame, Secretary Metcalf Announces.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Secretary Metcalf to-day announced that the two new battle-ships authorized at the last session of Congress would be named Florida and Utah respectively.

He said that the next battle-ship authorized would bear the name Wyoming.

The name of the monitor Florida will be changed to that of some city in that State. This announcement was made after a conference between the President and the Secretary.

MURDER SUSPECT SURROUNDED IN WOODS BY POSSE

Connecticut Men Shut Off Escape While Police Are Rushed From Danbury.

DANBURY, Conn., June 8.—A posse of citizens and constables have surrounded a man supposed to be Edward Schirrman, wanted here for the murder of Ida Potter in the woods on the outskirts of Newton, ten miles east of here, and a force of police have been rushed from that city in an automobile.

CONFESSES WIFE MURDER.

Matthew P. Olwell Pleads Guilty When Arraigned.

Matthew P. Olwell, who in December last kicked and beat his wife to death in their appartments on Grand street, Jersey City, to-day entered a plea of guilty to murder in the second degree when he was arraigned before Judge Blair.

After murdering his wife Olwell entered a saloon close to his home and told several men of the crime he had committed. He was hurried off to jail before violence could be done him by the crowd that quickly gathered.

The maximum penalty for murder in the second degree is thirty years imprisonment in State Prison. Olwell will be arraigned on Thursday next for sentence.

TOWER'S GREAT SOCIAL SUCCESS CAUGHT KAISER

German Ruler Thanks Ambassador for Brilliant Way He Maintained Embassy.

POTSDAM, June 8.—Charlemagne Tower, the retiring American Ambassador to Germany, was received by Emperor William in farewell audience at the palace here to-day. Mr. and Mrs. Tower, accompanied by Herr von Schoen, the Imperial Secretary for Foreign Affairs, came out to Potsdam on a special train placed at their disposition by the railway administration.

After formally announcing his recall to the Emperor in the presence of Secretary von Schoen, Mr. and Mrs. Tower had luncheon with the Emperor and Empress and other members of the imperial family. After the luncheon, while Mrs. Tower remained with the Empress, the Emperor and the American Ambassador walked up and down the terrace for an hour or two. In parting with Mr. Tower, the Emperor said:

"I thank you for the exceedingly able manner in which you have managed the affairs between our countries for the last five years, as well as for the very great service that you have rendered in strengthening the friendship between us, and the brilliant way in which you and Mrs. Tower have maintained the Embassy in Berlin."

Mr. Tower will turn over the charge of the Embassy to-morrow to John W. Garrett, Second Secretary of the Embassy, who will act as Charge d'Affaires until the new Ambassador, Dr. Hill, assumes his post.

The last official despatch sent by Ambassador Tower to the State Department contained the announcement that Germany is quite willing to enter into a treaty of arbitration with the United States and intends to do so. This communication was made to Mr. Tower by Herr von Schoen at the last of a series of conferences at the Foreign Office on this subject, in which Ambassador Tower was acting on instructions received from Washington some months ago. Certain details of this convention are still awaiting a report from the legal department of the German Foreign Office, but these give no doubt as to the certainty of an ultimate agreement being reached satisfactory to both countries.

FALL FROM WINDOW KILLS FLUSHING WOMAN.

Mrs. Nora Jones, thirty-eight years old, of No. 74 North Twentieth street, Flushing, fell from the second story window of her home to-day, and died about an hour later in the Flushing Hospital.

Mrs. Jones was employed as housekeeper for Joseph Niss, whose wife is undergoing treatment in the hospital. Mrs. Jones, it is thought, was tired out after the care of the Niss children last night, and after putting them to bed sat in a chair by the window and while asleep fell out. Niss is employed as a motorman and was at work last night when the accident happened. The woman remained where she had fallen for some time before she was found by a passerby.

HUGHES LOSES A VOTE AS RACING FIGHT RESUMES?

Turf Contingent Claims One of the Reform Senators Will Switch Around.

ALBANY, June 8.—The Legislature will reconvene to-night after a nine days' recess, the general expectation or hope, at least, being that this will be closing week of the extraordinary session. The present plan is to adjourn without day at 2 P. M. on Thursday in order to permit most of the Republican members of the Legislature to leave on Friday for Chicago, where the Republican National Convention is to be held the week following.

Although there are many other subjects before the Legislature, some of them likely to be the subject of interesting controversy, interest centres with increasing intensity upon the question of the abolition of gambling on race tracks, which is certain to become the crux of the whole session. On the surface, the fate of this legislation, which the Governor is expected to recommend to-night or to-morrow, seems to depend upon whether Senator Otto G. Foelker, of Brooklyn, who has been absent throughout this session so far, convalescent after an operation for appendicitis, is able to attend this session, as he has assured Gov. Hughes he intends to do.

With the additional vote of Senator Wallace of the Forty-seventh District, and the 25 votes (including Foelker's) which were cast for the anti-gambling bills at the regular session, they would undoubtedly be passed.

Few persons about the Capitol believe, however, that the bills will pass the Senate. The representatives of the race track interests express a degree of confidence which is impressive that at least one Senator who voted for the bills at the regular session will fail to do so when they come up again. They decline to give names. Tuesday or Wednesday is expected to be the day of the "big fight," and there are active rumors that another absence will offset the return of Senator Foelker and the gain of Senator Wallace.

STAATSBURG, June 8.—Senator Otto G. Foelker, of Brooklyn, who is convalescing here after an operation for appendicitis, will not be able to attend tonight's session of the Legislature at Albany, nor is it expected that his condition will permit him to attend the session this week. A member of the family stated to-day that the Senator is still very weak and his heart action not all that could be desired. He arises for a short time daily in the hope of gaining strength, but is not able to remain out of bed long. Although it was said the Senator might make an effort to go to Albany the latter part of the week, doubt was expressed of his ability to make the journey.

HURT BY FALL FROM BICYCLE.

While riding a bicycle down Broadway to-day Dr. Enrico Adrimende, sixty-five years old, of No. 256 West Ninety-second street, got bewildered in a tangle of traffic near the corner of Forty-seventh street and tumbled off on the asphalt. His right shoulder was dislocated and he was so badly shaken up that he was taken to Roosevelt Hospital.

CURE BY CUTICURA AT CITY MISSION

Young Woman Found in Awful Condition with Scabies—Body a Mass of Sores from Scratching—Tried Many Remedies for Seven Weeks—Result Was Discouraging, But

ITCHING TORTURES YIELDED TO CUTICURA

"While I was doing missionary work in the lower portion of several cities I found it necessary to know a little of the efficacy of a few medicines and after a while I found that a little knowledge of Cuticura was about all I needed. One of the very bad cases I had to deal with was that of a young woman who had come to us not only broken in spirit but in a most awful condition physically. Our doctor examined her and told us that she had scabies (the itch), incipient paresis, rheumatism, etc., brought on from exposure and the effects of her ragged-edged life. Her poor body was a mass of sores from scratching and she was not able to retain solid food. We tried many things, a good tonic was prescribed and baths with a rubbing of lard and sulphur. We worked hard for seven weeks and you can imagine how discouraged we were when, after all that time, we could see so little improvement. One day I happened to see a Cuticura advertisement telling how a little baby had been cured of a bad case of skin eruption, and although I had but ninety-seven cents with me, I bought a cake of Cuticura Soap and a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent. When I reached home I was like a child with a new toy, and we bathed our patient well and gave her a full dose of the Resolvent. She slept that night better than she had since she had been with us and the next day I located the price of a box of Cuticura Ointment. I am not exaggerating when I say that in exactly five weeks this young woman was able to look for a position, being strong enough to work and full of ambition. In another month she left the home, and now has a good position in a nice family where she is respected and is strong and well. You may refer any one you wish to me, personally. Laura Jane Bates, 85 Fifth Ave., New York, N. Y., Mar. 11, 1907."
