MRS. GOULD SAYS HUSBAND WAS THE ONE WHO DRANK

"I Never Was Intoxicated; He Was Addicted to Liquor," She Declares.

Justice Giegerich in Special Term, Part One, to-day heard argument on the part of the opposing counsel in the Howard Gould divorce suit, regarding the striking out of certain allegations contained in the motion on the part of the plaintiff, to secure $120,000 a year alimony and $15,000 counsel fees.

Mrs. Gould in her affidavit at one point says: "As a matter of fact throughout our married life the defendant has been the one addicted to intoxication and gross indulgence in liquors, and I have frequently cared for him and seen him ill from drink. I have never been intoxicated in my life, and have been extremely moderate in the use of any wine or liquor.

"When living in the country and spending most of my time in the open air I have drank a cocktail in sitting down to luncheon and generally a glass of white wine with luncheon. At dinner whenever I felt like doing so I drank a cocktail and a glass of champagne.

"We are always accustomed to have wine served at meals, but that is the extent of my drinking."

A Liquid Luncheon.

The affidavit further states that on one occasion when they visited the Botanical Gardens on the island of Jamaica she had asked the defendant to see that a luncheon was sent along.

When she opened the basket she found nothing but bottles of brandy and whiskey and several bottles of champagne. She also told of an instance of her husband's jealousy which occurred when she was visiting in Egypt. She had ridden in a carriage with Prince Mohammed Ali.

Mr. Watson, of De Lancey Nicoll's office, declared that certain allegations in the motion were irrelevant and scandalous and were similar in intent to certain portions of the original complaint, which had been ordered eliminated by the Appellate Division. He cited that in the original complaint the defendant was accused of having had "immoral relations with women of abandoned character," while in the present motion the wording was that the defendant "consorted with immoral women." This allegation, Mr. Watson held, was just as scandalous and irrelevant.

Some Fresh Charges.

He held also that the allegation which had been originally stricken out, referring to the opening of the plaintiff's mail by Maurice Malloy, the caretaker at Castle Gould, was again stated, but in another form of words.

Mr. Shearn, counsel for Mrs. Howard Gould, bitterly opposed the eliminating of any of the allegations, holding that "new issues had arisen" and that there were now "new pictures being thrown on the screen."

While in the expurgated complaint there were only cited two instances of cruelty, in the new affidavits there are a mass of such instances.

"I will cite an instance," said Mr. Shearn, "where when this man Molloy was ordered out of her home by Mrs. Gould, he laughed in her face, and blew a cloud of cigar smoke in her eyes, saying that he had a contract with Howard Gould, and that he knew just how long she, Mrs. Gould, was to remain there.

"We are justified in presenting these allegations, because the defendant's answer has now been filed, and he pleads justification in leaving my client, alleging her to be a woman of drinking habits and that it was impossible for him to live with her. This he gives as the reason the home was broken up."

"This," Mr. Sherman continued, "is the kind of evidence the other side wants stricken—evidence that shows an effort to bribe witnesses.

"We have here the affidavit of the Rev. Joseph A. Murray, a priest attached to St. Agnes's Church, on East Forty-third street.

"This clergyman tells of a visit made him by Michael A. Doody, a doorman at the Hotel St. Regis, who told the priest of his uneasiness of mind following certain detective work done at the instigation of Hotel Detective Kennedy.

"He had been asked by Kennedy to watch the movements of Mrs. Howard Gould and report to him whom she saw and talked with.

"He had done this for several days. It had worried him, because he had been asked to make an affidavit that Mrs. Gould had come out of the hotel intoxicated. He had not been sure that Mrs. Gould was under the influence of liquor, and he told his mother this.

"She advised him to go to the priest. He had made a written memorandum and given it to Kennedy because Kennedy had ordered him to do so.

"Kennedy told him there would be $2,000 in it for him and that Gould was going to give him (Kennedy) $5,000.

"Lawyer Watson remarked that his office, of course, knew nothing about either Mr. Doody or the priest mentioned.

The lawyers were ordered to file briefs on Tuesday.

Made in a Model Factory

P. & G. Naphtha Soap is made in the same factory as Ivory Soap.

In point of completeness, cleanliness and beauty, the Ivorydale factories of The Procter & Gamble Co. have few equals and no superiors.

It is there that Ivory Soap is made.

There, also, P. & G. Naphtha Soap is manufactured.

It is not necessary to tell you anything about Ivory Soap.

You use it; and you know that, for bath, toilet and fine laundry purposes, it is unequalled.

The same thing is true of P. & G. Naphtha Soap. For quick, easy washing, it is unequalled.

The price of "P. & G." is higher than that of ordinary laundry soap; but as one cake will last longer and do more work than two cakes of ordinary soap, it pays to use it.
