A FALL IN PRICES.

In the early days of Michigan, when one dealer was the source of supply for a large territory, a capitalist from the East suddenly bought up all the tobacco and whisky to be had in the State. There was no railroad communication; it was winter, and there was no navigation, and everything promised a big profit on the speculation. Prices began to creep up, and settlers to inquire and protest, and the capitalist was rubbing his hands and holding on, when something happened. He was on his way to church one Sunday, when he was seized by a band of tough-looking pioneers and carried to the river where a hole had already been cut in the ice. "What is the meaning of this?" he finally asked. "It means the old prices for whisky and terbacker!" replied the spokesman. "How?" They proceeded to enlighten him. Two of the band gave him a duck in the water, and he was plunged in and hauled out three times before he got his breath and said, "Gentlemen, tobacco has taken a great drop!" "Give him some more!" said the leader, and into the freezing cold water he went again. When they hauled him out, blue with cold and teeth chattering, he observed, "And whisky is ten cents a gallon less than the old price!"—[Wall Street News.

Its delicacy, aroma, flavor, and delicious, but gentle effects, proclaim it the nectar fit for the gods banqueting on Olympus.

Mix HUB PUNCH with Ice Water, Cold Tea, Lemonade, or Soda. It is unanimously pronounced unrivalled.
