ENRAGED CROWD TRIES TO LYNCH ELEVATOR MAN

Hundreds of Men and Boys Chase Louis Butler for Stabbing Louis Schlesinger.

VICTIM LIKELY TO DIE.

Assailant Found by Police Hiding in Basement at No. 80 Wooster Street.

Louis Schlesinger, a driver's helper, of No. 80 Ridge street, was stabbed in the stomach by Louis Butler, an elevator man, of No. 290 West Sixty-third street, at the cloth-sponging establishment, where both were employed, at No. 80 Wooster street, this afternoon. Schlesinger is likely to die before morning. Butler, the negro, fought off with an iron bar a crowd of several hundred men and boys before he was captured by two policemen.

Morris Moskowitz, of No. 86 Ridge street, came in with Schlesinger from a tour collecting cloth to be sponged at various wholesalers. Butler, the elevator man, quarreled with them for overloading the elevator. He had quarrelled with them before, and often boasted that "no white man was going to put it over" him.

Stabbed with a Knife.

The three got to calling names. Butler struck at Moskowitz and Schlesinger interfered with the blow and caught Butler about the waist. Samuel Schwenger, of No. 201 Eldridge street, an employee in the place, who was hanging around the fighters, says he saw Butler draw a jack-knife and plunge it into Schlesinger's abdomen. Butler pushed Schlesinger and ran up the hall. Schlesinger did not know he had been hurt until Moskowitz and Schweninger saw the blood on the front of his overalls. Moskowitz set out after Butler and chased him up three flights of stairs, where the negro caught up an iron bar and turned on him. Moskowitz tried to get past the bar, but was hit twice across the ribs and fell back.

Other employees of the factory began to gather. They howled and shouted and threatened, but none of them wanted to go near the negro, who was by this time crazy with rage and fright. When a hundred or more confronted him he made a dash for the stairs, striking wildly at every one within reach, and made for the cellar. He hid in the darkest corner of the sub-cellar.

By the time Policemen Rohrs, of the Traffic Squad, and William S. Price, of the Macdougal street station, arrived there were five or six hundred men and boys out in the street yelling: "Lynch him! Kill the nigger!"

Struck at Policemen.

There was no appreciable concerted movement to invade the cellar, or even to follow the policemen in. Butler did not see the uniforms at first and struck at the policemen in the dark. He saw lots of things for a minute or two after that. When they brought him out to the street he was very quiet and tractable. The crowd, maddened by the sight of young Schlesinger lying covered with blood on the factory steps started the lynching cry again. The police had no difficulty in holding everybody back.

Meanwhile an ambulance had been called from St. Vincent's Hospital. Dr. Hartigan, who came with it, said that Schlesinger's condition was critical, as the stab wound had penetrated the wall of the peritoneum and his entrails were exposed. Schlesinger was hurried to the hospital.

Butler was taken to the McDougal street station and then to Jefferson Market Court, where he was held without bail to await the result of Schlesinger's injuries.

SLAIN MAN'S FOE IS ARRESTED IN MURDER MYSTERY

Dominico Manco, Held Without Bail, Killed Brooklynite, Police Charge.

In the arrest of Dominico Manco, thirty-eight years old, of No. 480 Lefferts avenue, Flatbush, the Brooklyn police believe they have the murderer of Salvatore Melaro, whose mutilated body was found at Malbone street and Brooklyn avenue early Sunday morning. Manco was arrested at his home and after being arraigned in the Adams Street Police Court to-day, he was held without bail for a further hearing.

The police claim that they have positive information that Manco and Melaro had a row on Jan. 30, at which time Melaro slashed Manco's face with a razor. Melaro disappeared after this fight, and he was not seen around his old haunts again until early Saturday morning, the day prior to his murder. At that time, the police say, he and Manco were together in a saloon in Pigtown, an Italian settlement, a quarter of a mile from where Melaro's body was found.

Manco protests that he had no hand in the killing of Melaro, but said, when told of the murder: "It was God's hand that directed the blow that ended his life."

NOT MINE, SAYS UNCLE JOE.

WASHINGTON, March 30.—Fifteen hundred excursionists, mostly teachers from New England, crowded the galleries of the two houses of Congress yesterday. One of them, an acquaintance of the Speaker, asked him if they could "go in and see those unruly boys of yours in the House." "You can go in and look at them," said the Speaker, "but thank God they are no children of mine."

WOMAN SAVES INNOCENT YOUTH FROM WORKHOUSE

Aunt Had Young Davis Committed in Effort to Get His Wages.

HAD NO LEGAL CLAIM.

But She Mislead Court Till Miss McQuade, Probation Officer, "Got Busy."

To the watchfulness and womanly probation officer of the West Side Court, William Davis, a diffident English boy, owes his freedom from a term in the workhouse and possible deportation. Yesterday, his seventeenth birthday, he spent in the police court prison. To-day he is free from any suspicion of wrongdoing and completely happy for the first time since his arrival in New York.

Davis is a husky lad and an orphan. He came to this city eleven months ago from an interior English town to make his home with his aunt, Margaret Dalton, of No. 16 West Sixty-first street. Having had some experience in electrical work at home, he secured a job with Enos & Co., at Sixteenth street and Seventh avenue, dealers in electrical fixtures, at a nominal salary, which has been increased to $7 a week by voluntary action of the firm.

But Davis could not get along with his aunt. He says she beat and abused him. He left her home five months ago and went to board with a Mrs. Blaine, at No. 463 West Fifty-seventh street, mother of a boy who works with him in the factory.

Aunt Wanted Money.

His aunt found out where he was and bothered him a great deal, but the Blaines were loyal friends and protected him. Mrs. Dalton after repeated efforts to get the boy to give her part of his salary every week went to West Side Police Court on Sunday and told Magistrate Corrigan a moving tale of how ungratefully she had been treated by her nephew. On the strength of her story the Magistrate issued a summons commanding the boy to appear in court and answer to a charge of disorderly conduct.

William made his appearance yesterday all alone. He did not understand the nature of the proceedings. Mrs. Dalton, voluble and forcible, took charge of the situation. She said the boy was her sole support, that he had beaten her and deserted her and refused to provide for her wants. Young Davis, overwhelmed by the eloquence of his aunt, stood silent when asked if he had anything to say. His silence was taken as an admission of guilt, and as he had no friends in court to speak for him the Magistrate ordered him committed to the Workhouse until such time as the immigration authorities could deport him as an undesirable citizen.

Saved by Miss McQuade.

This was further than Mrs. Dalton had expected the law to extend. Her discomfiture and the dismay of the boy escaped the busy Magistrate, but not Miss McQuade, who made a point to visit the youth in the prison after the adjournment of court.

She found him in tears and despair. He told her his side of the story. She sent out and bought him a fine birthday feed and then busied herself in rounding up witnesses in his behalf.

Her labors were fruitful. She went before the Magistrate to-day with witnesses to show that Mrs. Dalton had no claim on the boy and that he was justified in leaving her. A letter from Enos & Co., stating that Davis was a faithful employee and of good habits was read. Mrs. Blaine testified that he was the best boy she had ever sheltered under her roof—as good as her own son. On the strength of all this Magistrate Corrigan revoked his sentence, dropped all charges against Davis and released him on probation. He will report weekly to Miss McQuade and his Aunt will be restrained from interfering with him any further.

PROGRESS.

From an Eminent Physician's Point of View.

"It was a great life-saving exhibition we have had," said the New York specialist whose father was an old-school country doctor, wise in his day. "Yes, time has changed nearly everything. Years ago a patient with consumption could not have any outdoor air in winter. The usual order was to keep doors and windows closed, rooms very warm and clothing was heaped upon the victim from head to heels if the window was opened five minutes every few hours.

"To-day patients are not allowed to breathe indoor air five minutes in twenty-four hours if, by any means, they can be kept in the fresh, cold air with the body warmly clad. Instead of sending our wealthy people to enervating Southern climates, we encouragingly ship them toward the North Pole—if they go anywhere. The home treatment is advisable in a large percentage of cases. The fat-eating people of the far North have, as a regular diet, the ideal food prescribed for the sufferer with tuberculosis. Fat supplies more working energy and power to the body than any other class of food—more than twice as much; and of all the fats, cod liver oil is the specific lung and mucous tissue food. Time has not changed that scientifically proven fact. In its predigested or emulsified form it is a perfect food in all lung diseases—grippe, bronchitis, pneumonia and tuberculosis. My father prescribed Scott's Emulsion thirty years ago; thousands of physicians have, and so we do to-day. I prescribe it as an essential part of the fresh air treatment. It greatly hastens the cure of tuberculosis, and a bottle taken occasionally through the year gives reserve power to the body. Take Scott's Emulsion. It is a preparation that Time has not changed only as it has gained in favor. You can obtain it at all druggists."

SEVEN FIREMEN MAROONED, CRAWL TO A HIGH LEDGE

Lay Eight Stories Above Street Till Water Wall Enables Them to Escape.

Fire Captain Callaghy and six men of No. 1 Engine Company nearly had their lives snuffed out by the deadly sweep of a back draught in the new Smith, Gray & Co.'s building, Nos. 236-238 Fifth avenue, to-day.

A back draught is a menace more dreaded by firemen than falling walls or caving floors. It is generally caused by the opening of a vent after a fire has been well started, which causes the direction of the flames to switch suddenly and come back upon firemen who a second before were fighting in perfect safety. Sometimes hot air currents forming in a building force the flames about with the same result.

It was the opening of a vent which put Callaghy and his men in their terrible plight to-day. The flames were working up towards the elevator shaft and the hall from the eighth floor, where a mass of necktie material was burning in the loft of Wells, Colburn & Wilkens. The flames seemed to be working forward and Callaghy put his men in the middle of the building to fight it back. The heat at the back cracked the rear windows. The air, rushing in, created the back draught, and the whole place was covered with a mushrooming cloud of flame in an instant.

The men of Engine No. 1 dropped to their stomachs and, gasping and choking, crept across the floor, each man guided by keeping in touch with the boots of the man ahead of him, to the front windows, where at the north side of the loft the flames had not yet arrived.

They crawled out of the windows and clung precariously to the outside ledge. Capt. Bryan, of Engine No. 26, wheeling into position in the street below, saw them perching on the window ledges and dashed up into the building with his own men and a line. By causing the hose to spray, he made a water curtain behind which the men of Engine No. 1 could scuttle back to the door and to safety.

MARION CRAWFORD BETTER.

SORRENTO, Italy, March 30.—F. Marion Crawford, the novelist, who has been ill for some time, was reported to-day to be very much better. All cause for alarm concerning his condition, it is announced, has disappeared.

CLARK CO., O., GOES DRY BY ELEVEN MAJORITY.

SPRINGFIELD, O., March 30.—With the heaviest vote in local history, Clark County yesterday voted "dry" by eleven majority in the local option election. The total vote cast in the county was 17,821. The election affects ninety-seven saloons in the county and three breweries.

The result was in doubt until the last precinct was heard from. The city had voted wet with a majority of 1,846. The country vote came in later and began piling up heavy majorities for the "drys" and overcame the big city lead. This is the largest county in Ohio that the "drys" have tried to carry.

CORONER HOLDS CHAUFFEUR.

Sutherland, Who Ran Down and Killed Tommy Tully, Gives Bail.

Harry K. Sutherland, demonstrator for an automobile company, who ran down and killed seven-year-old Tommy Tully, jr., in West Fifty-first street yesterday afternoon, was arraigned before Coroner Dooley this morning and released in $1,000 bail to await the inquest.

Dr. G. W. Greeff, of No. 24 West Ninety-first street, signed the bail bond. The parents of the Tully boy live at No. 738 Tenth avenue and the father is a repair man in the employ of the Fire Department.

A SPLENDID STOMACH TONIC AND CURE FOR INDIGESTION.

If your meals don't tempt you or you feel bloated after eating and you believe it is the food which fills you; if what little you eat lies like a lump of lead on your stomach; if there is difficulty in breathing after eating, eructations of sour food and acid, heartburn, brash or a belching of gas, you can make up your mind that you need something for a sour stomach and Indigestion.

To make every bite of food you eat aid in the nourishment and strength of your body you must rid your Stomach of poisons, excessive acid and stomach gas, which sours your entire meal—interferes with digestion and causes so many sufferers of Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Nauseous breath and stomach trouble of all kind; Putrefying the intestines and digestive canal, causing such misery as Biliousness, Constipation, Griping, etc. Your case is no different—you are a stomach sufferer, though you may call it by some other name; your real and only trouble is that which you eat does not digest, but quickly ferments and sours, producing almost any unhealthy condition.

A case of Pape's Diapepsin will cost fifty cents at any Pharmacy here, and will convince any stomach sufferer five minutes after taking one Triangule that Fermentation and Sour Stomach are causing the misery of Indigestion.

No matter if you call your trouble Catarrh of the Stomach, Nervousness or Gastritis, or by any other name—always remember that a certain cure is waiting at your Pharmacist any time you decide to begin its use.
