EXPLANATION OF LIGHT

The mysterious light observed over the North Platte Valley by trainmen on recent nights, concerning which a news article was printed in last week's Herald, has been explained. The Scottbluff Republican, in its issue of Tuesday, December 11, reprinted the Herald's article and below it gave the following explanation:

"The lights which have been seen by the various people of the valley and which the above article refers to aroused no little anxiety when first seen here, but upon inquiry made by a representative of this paper, it was found that the light was from a balloon which is maneuvering at Fort Russell, Wyo., and that in the various flights of the corps in practice, they come quite close, or close enough to make their lights very plain here. We are informed that this practice takes in a radius of 100 miles around the fort, and that the trip is made during the evening, and lasts from two to three hours. While we have heard of no one who has seen the lights in this immediate vicinity, touring parties going from Scottbluff to Torrington, Wyo., and to Henry, Nebr., have had a splendid view of them upon various occasions. Going or coming, the balloon shows but one light, which has the appearance of a large star, but when turned sideways, from three to four lights are visible.

WEEKLY WEATHER REPORT

F. W. Hicks, official weather observer for Alliance, renders the following chilly report for the past week. It will be noted that the temperature has dropped to below zero every day or night during the week except on the 6th. On the 9th the minimum was 17 degrees below. On two days there was one inch of snowfall, a precipitation of .04 of an inch of moisture. Every day of the week was partly cloudy.

Bingham News

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Thompson were Alliance callers on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Perl Davidson spent last week visiting relatives at Henry, Nebr.

J. C. Skipper who has been sick the past week, is somewhat improved, but still unable to work.

Elmer Brammer and Frank Anderson installed a milking machine this week at the Branner dairy farm.

We understand that F. A. Williams will put in a new floor and otherwise improve his building this winter.

Miss Bessie Wintermute came from Alliance Saturday for a few days' visit in the S. R. Edmondson home.

The families of R. R. and M. L. Kincaid, J. F. Sellers and L. E. Balingier, were in Ashby Saturday on business.

W. E. and Paul Yack returned Thursday, having spent several weeks in the eastern part of the state husking corn.

Owing to the severe weather on Sunday the attendance at church was small. Rev. Mr. Davis was accompanied by his wife.

Mrs. W. A. Gilbaugh was called to her parents' home in Omaha last week on account of the serious illness of her father.

Conserving Farm Machinery
During the present winter Nebraska farmers should give more attention than ever to repairing all machines which can be of service next spring, according to the department of agricultural engineering of the University of Nebraska. The machinery situation also demands that all orders for new equipment and repair parts be placed as soon as possible. All machines should be housed, but if that is impossible, the bearings and all bright parts should receive a coat of heavy oil or grease to prevent rust. Pieces of serviceable equipment, which have been outgrown, may be disposed of to smaller farmers in the neighborhood.

Since the war insurance plan became operative in October more than 45,000 soldiers have applied for insurance, amounting in all to nearly half a billion dollars and averaging about $8,000 a man.

WHAT VICTORY MEANS.

(Contributed by Booth Tarkington to the National Security League's campaign of Patriotism Through Education.)

A victory for Germany—that is, a conclusive victory and a "German peace"—would mean that Germany had defeated the world, including what the world believes to be the better part of Germany itself. Prussia would be cock o' the walk, and the world would be the waik. The United States would be merely part of the waik, and Prussia would walk upon it.

The United States would be first a defeated nation and then a conquered nation. It would take orders from Potsdam—promptly. Eventually it would parade at the goose-step. At its head, on horseback, would be not an American President, but a German Kaiser.

The ages of steam and electricity have made the world a smaller place. It has grown so small, in fact, that now it must begin to live under one government. What that government is to be is the issue of this war. If Germany wins, the government of the world will be a German Kaiser; if America and the Allies win the government will be all the rest of us. Those Americans who wish to govern themselves are "for" the war. Those who wish to be governed by a Kaiser are against it. The lukewarm and the indifferent are asleep; they do not know what threatens them in this sleep of theirs. They may wake to night, mares of reality worse than those of sleep.

The struggle cannot end, and can but temporarily abate, until either a Kaiser rules the world or the people of the world rule themselves. There is no middle ground; a defeated Germany would eventually get rid of its Kaiser; a victorious Germany would keep its Kaiser—and keep him over US. Every American who likes to walk Potsdam has a chance if enjoying himself in that manner so, so day—so long as there is a chance of Germany's winning the war.

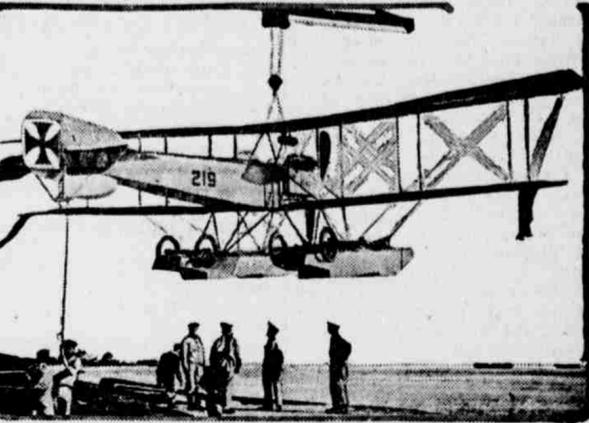

Timiskaming.
The name Timiskaming is from the word Timiskaming of the Nipissing Indians, the intrusive letter "s" being due to Canadian French. It is derived from timiw, "it is deep," and gaming, "in the water," meaning in "the deep water." It is the name of the lake lying between northwestern Quebec and northwestern Ontario, and through it flows the Ottawa river. Near its western shore is the Cogait district, famous for its rich silver mines. In places the waters of the lake are very deep, as the Indians evidently knew, for they gave it a name that means "in the deep water." A band of Algonquin Indians, known as the Timiskamings, and closely related to the Abitibi, once lived on the shore of the lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Silas Wood, former residents of this vicinity, arrived Saturday for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. George Walker, but finding the Walker home under quarantine they returned to Antioch Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. K. L. Pierce went down to Omaha Sunday, where we are informed Mrs. Pierce will undergo a very serious operation. We hope for Mrs. Pierce a speedy recovery and that she will return in a short time fully recovered.

Judge Tash and several others of Alliance patriotic people, came up Tuesday evening to assist in the reception tendered by our citizen to the boys who have answered their country's call. Judge Tash made a very interesting speech, as did several others. Several vocal selections and music was rendered by the orchestra and the Alliance-Hemingford Drum Corps, all of which was highly appreciated by all, after which refreshments were served after which came the "good-bye, God bless you" to the boys, all of which made the evening one long to be remembered.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy
This is not only one of the best and most efficient medicine for coughs, colds and croup, but is also pleasant and safe to take, which is important when medicine must be given to children. Many mothers have given it their unqualified endorsement.
